NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—The following rules for the guidance of Revenue Officers in certain matters connected with the enforcement of the Land Acquisition Act X of 1870, have been sanctioned by the Governor-General of India in Council, and are published for general information, in conformity with section 59 of the Act, and in supersession of the rules published at page 1921 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of November 1870:—

WHEREAS the basis of compensation to be awarded for revenue-paying lands taken up under the provisions of Act X of 1870 is intended by the said Act to be the actual price for which the land, subject to all its burdens, and among others to the burden of the payment of land revenue, would sell in the market, it is necessary that the exact amount of the revenue demand should be ascertained and recorded before the award of compensation can be determined; and whereas under the provisions of the existing law the revenue authorities, and none other, can regulate the amount of the revenue charge to be enforced against an estate, or a portion of an estate; and whereas some of the rules already promulgated under section 59 of the said Act proceed on assumptions which are at variance with the principle above enunciated, the following revised rules are issued by the Government of Bengal, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, in supersession of those previously in force:—

I.—Wherever any revenue-paying land shall be acquired under the Act, the proprietor shall, except as provided in Rule VI, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

II.—In such cases the Collector shall, before making a tender, or a reference to a court regarding compensation, ascertain in accordance with the following rule, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in event of a reference being made to a court, furnish the court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

III.—If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

IV.—If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules:—

1st.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of commencement of proceedings for acquisition of any land situate thereon, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under division under Regulation XIX of 1814, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or division proceedings.

2nd.—When there may have been no such settlement or division as aforesaid, then if the area of the estate is known with accuracy, the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the area of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the area of the whole estate.

3rd.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e. the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

V.—In determining the amount of compensation to be tendered, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land is acquired subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

VI.—In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount tendered on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed more than one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion, on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate without abatement; provided that in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e. the tender of compensation, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at 12 years' purchase, the capitalised value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than 12 years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

VII.—When there is any doubt whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall, before making the reference to the court, which under the circumstances he would be required to make by section 15 of the Act, determine the amount of revenue which would be deemed payable in respect of the land acquired, in the event of the land being adjudged by the court to be a portion of the revenue paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

VIII.—To enable the Collector to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 43 of the Act, and to enable him to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 24 of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land, and also the specific portion of the compensation which he may award for any houses, trees, or crops upon the land.

IX.—The procedure laid down for a reference under section 15 shall be held applicable to a reference under section 43.

X.—The procedure to be followed in the apportionment of the compensation awarded on account of lands taken up for temporary occupation shall be in accordance with the provisions of Part IV of the Act.

XI.—On the date on which payment of compensation in any case may become due under section 41 of the Act, the Collector shall tender the amount to such of the persons entitled to receive it as may be present at his office in person, or by agent duly authorized to receive the same, informing them at the same time that in the event of their refusal to accept the amount tendered, no claim to interest will be entertained. Should any such person be absent and have no authorized agent at the Collector's court, the Collector shall serve a notice upon him, calling upon him to attend in person or by agent, within one week of his receipt of the notice, to receive the amount due to him; and warning him that on failure to appear within the period abovenamed no interest whatever will be paid to him. Should such person neglect to appear within the time specified, the Collector shall, on being satisfied of the due service of the notice, invest the amount of the compensation money due to such person in Government securities, and hold the same in deposit until the amount shall be applied for by the person entitled to it.

On the application of such person, the Collector shall give him the option of receiving the Government securities plus any cash balance which has been too small for investment, or the sum which would have been paid to him had he come according to notice. The Collector shall follow the same course in regard to any compensation money which may be refused by a person entitled to receive it, provided that such investment shall be limited to even sums of Rs. 500, or multiples of Rs. 500. The amount of compensation, if less than Rs. 500, and any fractional part, if the compensation is above that sum, shall be held by the Collector in deposit.

Rules for the Grant of Ordinary Leases of Arable Land in the Western Dooars.

1. THE lands that will be generally available under these rules lie within that tract of country in the Western Dooars which extends in an easterly direction from the east bank of the river Teesta to the west bank of the river Sankos.

What land will ordinarily be available.

2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules:—

What lands will not ordinarily be available.

- (a) Lands which, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.
- (b) Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber (such as sâl, khair, chelownee, sisoo, &c.) in compact blocks or patches.
- (c) Lands in respect of which any person or persons, or any village community, possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as would, in the opinion of the local Government, render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons.
- (d) Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare. Provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed or shall be kept in repair from public funds, and that it be borne on the list of the district roads of the district within which the land above mentioned lies.
- (e) Lands which the local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules shall, in person, present an application on stamped paper of the value of eight annas to the tehsildar of the tehsil in which the land lies.

How and to whom application is to be made.

What the application is to specify.

4. The application shall specify—

- (a) The name, father's name, and address of the applicant.
- (b) The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for, as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.
- (c) A statement of the particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring the land applied for, or any part of it, within the exceptions mentioned in Rule 2. The application shall also state whether the land, or any part of it, is or has ever been cultivated in any manner.

5. Every lot applied for shall be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring fence, and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage shall not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

6. No application shall be received in respect of an area greater than 200 acres or less than 10 acres, and not more than this quantity of land shall be granted under these rules to any one lessee. But the Deputy Commissioner may grant larger areas under instructions from the Commissioner.

7. The tehsildar shall require the applicant to pay in a sum of three annas an acre on the area applied for to cover cost of survey and inquiry. No further sum shall be required, and no refund will be made.

8. The tehsildar shall then, in person or by an ameen, inspect the land and ascertain whether it is khas land and available under the above rules; and if it appear to be so, the ameen shall proceed to lay down the boundary and make a survey as follows.

9. The ameen shall fix the boundary, in accordance with the rules 5 and 6, as indicated by the applicant, and shall then clear it from end to end, and afterwards survey it with compass and chain, placing mounds of earth or stone not less than waist-high at every angle and at every point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other properties meet. One mound shall be not less than six feet high, and shall be marked on the map as the base mark; two bearings of which, or bearing and distance of which from good points of reference, shall be recorded on the map.

10. The ameen shall prepare a map, which shall show—

- (a) All natural features of the country lying within or on the boundaries fixed—such as khals, or the edge of forest, and also public pathways.
- (b) Such features of the country lying outside the boundary as may serve to identify the land, and connect it with the revenue survey, or with any other map made of other lands in the neighbourhood.

11. The map shall be on the scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the field-book shall be copied on the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book shall be attached to or accompany the map. In submitting his report, the ameen shall state whether he had a clear line for his compass from end to end of the boundary, and whether the mounds are erected as ordered.

12. The tehsildar shall then report the case to the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-divisional Officer, according to the tehsil in which the land lies, stating whether he is satisfied that the ameen's work has been properly done, and giving any further information which may be required.

13. The Deputy Commissioner or Sub-divisional Officer aforesaid shall consider the report and finally pass orders granting or refusing a lease.

14. The order on the case, and on any objection decided on by the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-divisional Officer, shall be appealable to the Commissioner within one month.

15. On receipt of an order to grant a lease, the tehsildar shall deliver to the applicant a preliminary lease in the form annexed signed by the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-divisional Officer as aforesaid, together with a copy of the map, and shall place him in possession by planting a bamboo or in any other way locally acknowledged, and shall report delivery and registration of the tenant in a separate register of preliminary lease-holders.

16. The Deputy Commissioner may, in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of leases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorized agent. In such case the agent must reside on or near to the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of the land.

Draft form of Preliminary Lease of Arable Land in the Western Dooms.

1. A preliminary lease for five entire years of land in _____, granted by the _____ of _____ to _____ of _____.

The lands covered by this lease are situated within the boundaries shown by the red lines in map No. _____, dated _____, and attached to this lease, and may be described as being bounded as follows:—

North East

West

2. The rights conveyed by this lease are heritable, but not otherwise transferable. After the expiry of this preliminary lease, no right shall be claimed otherwise than as expressly provided for hereinafter.

1st full year (from 1st April following date of entry)	Nil.
2nd year	3 annas per acre.
3rd "	6 " "

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

10. If, before the expiration of this preliminary lease, no application for a renewal of the lease shall have been made in accordance with the above provisions, the lessee may be allowed to hold on as a tenant-at-will, but not otherwise, until other arrangements may have been made by the Deputy Commissioner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant on condition of bringing his land into cultivation as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall be determined on the application of either party by the Deputy Commissioner, who has the power to fix equitable rates of rent as he has, under Sections 76 to 79 of Act X of 1859, to fix terms of pottah.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhiars, projahs, or other laborers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. The Government reserve power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause; and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance and to hold the land subject to such rules.

The following order, issued by the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, is republished for general information:—

No. 1254 G.—Simla, the 25th June 1875.—Notifications.—General.—The following order of Her Majesty in Council is republished in India for general information, from the London Gazette of the 14th May 1875:—

At the Court of Windsor, the 13th day of May 1875.

PRESENT:

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas Her Majesty the Queen has power and jurisdiction with in the Dominions of the Sublime Ottoman Porte:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf by the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts or otherwise in Her vested, is pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. This Order shall commence and have effect from and immediately after the expiration of thirty days from the date of its publication in the London Gazette.

2. Every Order in Council relating to the matters comprised in this Order is hereby repealed, but this repeal shall not affect any liability accrued under any such Order, or interfere with the institution or prosecution of any proceeding in respect of any such liability.

3. In this Order—

“The Ottoman Dominions” means the Dominions of the Sublime Ottoman Porte.

“Consul” includes Consul-General and Vice-Consul.

“British merchant ship” means a merchant ship being a British ship within “The Merchant Shipping Act, 1854” and the Acts amending the same.

4. Her Majesty's Consuls in the Ottoman Dominions may levy on British merchant ships entering ports in their respective Consulates, dues not exceeding the rate of twopence a ton.

5. The produce of the dues levied under this Order shall be applied towards the establishment, maintenance, and support, in the Ottoman Dominions of British hospitals; and the dues shall be called Hospital Dues.

6. One of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State may, from time to time, by writing under his hand, issue such instructions as to him seem fit, for the following purposes, or any of them; and may from time to time revoke or alter the same (that is to say)—

For fixing (within the limit of twopence a ton) the rate per ton at which dues are to be levied under this Order at any port :

For exempting any ship in respect whereof, within any defined period, dues have once been paid, from any further payment thereof :

For regulating the application of the produce of the dues :

For limiting the extent to which any Consul shall exercise jurisdiction over British subjects in the Ottoman Dominions in any matter relating to the dues :

And the Right Honourable the Earl of Derby, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

(First Publication.)

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875—Under Section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1871, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to approve of the following amended rules of the Registration Rules published at pages 1438 and 628 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th December 1873 and 25th March 1874, in modification of Rules 125, 129, and 145:—

Rule 125—A permanent advance, not exceeding Rs. 200, will be allowed for each District Registrar on account of (1) contingencies, (2) service postage, and (3) refund of registration fees; but he need not draw the full advance of Rs. 200 where his ordinary expenses fall much below that amount. The Registrar will apportion the amount drawn according to the requirements of each subordinate office, care being taken that for Rural Offices a sum is allowed sufficient to meet charges for refunds only; while in the case of other Sub-Registry Offices, it should be such as to cover charges for contingencies as well as refunds. In cases of the dismissal or death of Rural Sub-Registrars, the District Registrar will be held responsible for the amount of the advances made by him. At the close of each official year the District Registrar will send an acknowledgment of the entire advance to the Accountant-General, Bengal, in A. G. B. form No. 151, of which a supply should be kept at hand.

Rule 129—All official letters and covers sent by post from any Sub-Registry or District Registry office must be prepaid by service labels. These labels will be supplied to Sub-Registrars (on application) by District Registrars, who will disallow unreasonable and excessive demands. A monthly statement of the distribution of service labels should be submitted by each District Registrar for the information of the Inspector-General. The cost of these labels will be met from the consolidated advance mentioned in Rule 125. All bills for bearing covers must be accompanied by the covers on which the payments were made as vouchers. Service labels will be purchased by District Registrars as they require them, the expenditure being included in their monthly contingent bill, supported by the Treasury Officer's receipt as vouchers.

Rule 132.—The advance received by a Sub-Registrar will never be repaid into the Treasury, but recouped from time to time, when necessary, by the submission to the Registrar of an abstract bill or bills supported by needful vouchers. On the first Office day after the 25th March in each year, the officer receiving the advance will forward an acknowledgment of its receipt to the District Registrar. Whenever there is a change of incumbency the relieving officer shall also address to the Registrar an acknowledgment in the following form:—

To the Registrar of

We, the undersigned, have the honor to report that we have this day, at _____ o'clock in the forenoon (or afternoon), respectively delivered over and received charge of the office of

relieving officer.

And I the relieving officer acknowledge to have received Rupees _____ of the permanent advance of Rupees _____, and that the full amount of such advance is due from and to be accounted for by me.

Dated _____ the _____ 18 ____.

relieving officer.

Rule 145.—When the expenditure during any month on account of contingencies, service postage, and refunds, in any Registrar's Office exceeds the amount of the permanent advance, the amount expended may be drawn by an abstract bill or bills (see Accountant-General's form No. 119) submitted during the month under the Registrar's signature. But in such cases a detailed bill (see Accountant-General's form No. 138), accompanied by vouchers, must also be submitted to the Inspector-General at the end of the month.

No. 319.—Notification.—Under the authority vested in him by Section 97 of Act X (B. C.) of 1871, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to make the following rules in regard to the appointment, qualification, and discharge of persons employed under the abovenamed Act:—

I. No person shall be appointed to any office under any District Committee unless qualified under these rules, of good character, and physically fit for the situation to which he is appointed.

II. All officers, engineers, clerks, and servants, who may be employed by the District Committees for carrying out the purposes of the District Road Cess Act X of 1871, shall be included in one of the following classes:—

Executive Engineers.

Assistant Engineers.

Overseers.

Sub-Overseers.

Minor establishments, or those establishments employed in the execution of engineering works, whose salaries are less than Rs. 35 per mensem.

Accountants or officers in charge of the District Road Cess Accounts.

Office establishments in which are included all persons connected with the collection of the road cess, and all persons connected with engineering works, who are not employed in the execution of such works.

III. Minor and office establishments shall have such qualifications as may be considered necessary by the District Committee.

IV. Accountants or officers in charge of the District Road Cess Accounts shall be passed and approved by the Controller of Public Works Accounts, Bengal, as qualified to have charge of the accounts of the district concerned. Ordinarily they shall have the qualifications required in Accountants of the Public Works Department.

V. Executive Engineers, Assistant Engineers, Overseers, and Sub-Overseers, shall be passed and approved by the Chief Engineer of Bengal, and generally shall have the qualifications required for persons of the same designation in the Public Works Department; but proved practical efficiency may be taken as an equivalent for the prescribed tests.

VI. The District Engineer or principal officer under the District Committee in executive charge of engineering works in any district shall be passed and approved by the Chief Engineer of Bengal as possessing sufficient practical and theoretical qualifications for the post.

VII. The District Committee shall determine whether the persons specified in Rule III are properly qualified under these rules. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall determine in regard to the qualifications of all other persons, and may relax the qualifications in cases where it shall appear to him desirable to do so.

VIII. Qualification, agreeably to Rules III, IV, V, VI, and VII, shall be indispensable to holding any of the offices specified in Rule II, and shall be determined under Rule VII, prior to any appointment being made, unless an exception be permitted by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

IX. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may order the discharge of any person employed under the District Road Cess Act X of 1871 on due cause for the same appearing unto him.

X. The appointment of all persons under these Rules, except those specified in Rule III, shall be temporary until they have shown to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal that they can properly perform their duties. Temporary employment shall not be made permanent until after a period of one year nor shall it extend beyond a period of two years, after the persons temporarily appointed shall have entered upon the performance of such duties.

[N.B.—Advertisements, Notices, &c., intended for insertion in this part of the Gazette cannot be received after Noon on Monday.]

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary rights of Government, as specified in the condition of sale below, in the undermentioned estates situated in the district of Purneah, will be put up to sale at the Purneah Collectorate on Saturday, the 24th July 1875, corresponding with 9th Srabon 1282 B. S. and 6th Srabon 1282 P. S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

1st.—The purchasers of these estates will be considered as the proprietors of the estates, and the entire proprietary rights of Government in such estates will be transferred to them, the only right reserved by Government being the right of revising the jumma at the conclusion of the term of the present settlement, and on the expiration of all future settlements. If, on re-settlement, they should refuse to engage, they will be entitled to malikana. The estates will be sold, subject, up to the expiry of the existing settlement, with year ending 31st March 1902 A.D., to the Government revenue against them, to the highest bidders above the upset price.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases, and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force; the purchasers to be bound to respect the right of resident cultivators, who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the under-mentioned estate, situate in the district of Monghyr, will be put up to sale at the Monghyr Collectorate on the 28th September 1875, corresponding with 13th Assin 1283 F. S.

The purchaser of this estate will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

1st.—The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, the only right reserved by Government being the right of revising the jumma at the conclusion of the term of the present settlement, and on the expiration of all future settlements.

If, on re-settlement, he should refuse to engage, he will be entitled to malikana. The estate will be sold, subject, up to the expiry of the existing settlement, in the year ending 31st March 1902 A.D., to the Government revenue against it, to the highest bidder above the upset price.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases, and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators, who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to the Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after the advertisement, as in the case of the original sale.

The Hymns of the Rig-Veda, in the Samhita and Pada Text, by Professor F. Max Müller, M.A., in two Volumes. Price Rs. 24; packing and postage, Re. 1-12

* * * The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholarlike knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

DARJEELING LINE.

DURING the present season the experiment will be tried of offering the public a less expensive mode of conveyance to Darjeeling.

2. A limited number of wagonettes have been built, which are so constructed as to enable two passengers to lie down at full length. They are provided with cushions and hoods, and drawn by two horses, but they are not sufficiently protected from the weather to make them good for ladies or invalids. These are available at cheaper rates than the ordinary carriages, viz. 4 annas a mile for each passenger, or Rs. 25 for the through journey.

3. A wagonette will start from Karagola every day except Sunday and Monday, leaving on the arrival of the steamer, and will return from Silligoree every day except Monday and Tuesday, starting at 11 a.m.

4. No luggage can be carried except a hand-bag, which should not weigh more than five seers. This rule is necessary and must not under any circumstances be infringed, as these vehicles convey the parcel mail. One traveller who, by the payment of Rs. 50 engages a whole wagonette, can take two maunds of luggage with him free.

5. Applications for wagonettes should be made in the usual way to Post-Master, Purneah, and should state which of the other forms of accommodation the traveller wishes in case a wagonette is not available.

PART III.

Act of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

THE following Act passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 20th February 1875, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor-General on the 25th June 1875, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. IV of 1875.

An Act to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans made by the Government during the late Famine operations.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans of money and grain made by the Government to zemindars and ryots during the years one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four: It is enacted as follows:—

1. Any sum payable to the Government by any person or collection of persons in respect of any loan of money or grain made to him or them, or to any other person on his or their security, by the Government, shall be deemed to be a demand within the meaning of Bengal Act No. VII of 1868 (to make further provision for the recovery of Arrears of Land Revenue and Public Demands recoverable as Arrears of Land Revenue); and an arrear of such demand shall, as far as possible, be recoverable in the manner provided in the said Act for the realization of arrears of demand; and all provisions in the said Act relating to the realization of arrears of demand shall, as far as possible, be applicable to all proceedings under this section, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

2. When any landholder, or any collection of villagers, has become security for the repayment of money payable in respect of any such loan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and such landholder, or collection of villagers, or any villager being one of such collection, has in consequence made to the Government payment of any sum of money due from any person liable to repay such loan, such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, may give to the Collector of the District in which such person resides a notice in writing in the form in Schedule (B) annexed to the said Bengal Act No. VII of 1868, showing the amount due to him or them in respect of such payment; and if the Collector have reason to believe that any sum is due to such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, in respect of such payment, he may make under his hand a certificate of the sum due in a form similar to that in Schedule (A) to the said Act annexed, and shall cause the same to be filed in his office, and every certificate so made shall be deemed to be a certificate made in pursuance of section nineteen of the said Act;

and in respect of the sum so certified to be due, such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, shall, as assignee or assignees of the Government, be deemed to be the plaintiff or plaintiffs in the place of the Government within the meaning of section twenty of the said Act; and all provisions in the said Act relating to the realization of arrears of demand shall, as far as possible, be applicable to all proceedings under this section, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

3. This Act shall apply only to loans of money or grain made during the twelve months preceding the first day of November one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

4. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, the said Bengal Act No. VII of 1868.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta, together with the amended Bill, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of the

From Vice-Chairman, Calcutta Port Commissioners, dated 13th January 1875, and enclosure.

From Secretary, Bonded Warehouse Association, dated 29th May 1875.

Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making laws and regulations, to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

1. We have carefully considered the minute of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor dated 2nd April last, but we are not prepared to recommend any change in the constitution of the Municipality.

2. We have repealed four enactments in addition to those specified in the ninth schedule of the original Bill. Section 49 of Act III of 1874 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs and Howrah, because we have provided that carts used in the suburbs and Howrah are to be registered at the office of the Justices. This practice at present obtains as far as regards the suburbs; and now that Calcutta and Howrah are connected by the Hooghly Bridge, it becomes necessary to make one registration for Calcutta, its suburbs, and Howrah, the proceeds of the registration fees being divided between the three municipalities, for which we have also provided. Act VII of 1865 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs, because it has been practically inoperative as regards the suburbs, owing to an arrangement entered into, with the approval of Government, between the Justices and the Municipality of the suburbs, under which no place can be used as a slaughter-house in the suburbs unless a license for its use has been obtained from the Justices. The introduction of a new chapter on markets into the amended Bill has rendered necessary the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II (B.C.) of 1874.

3. In section 8 we have altered the definitions of "carriage," "cart," and "street," and have introduced definitions of "drug," "public street," "slaughter-house," and "the suburbs." The insertion of two new sections in Chapter XII, with regard to the inspection of drugs, renders a definition of "drug" necessary. The "suburbs" have been defined because we have provided that carts used within the suburbs are to be registered in the office of the Justices. The effect of the other alterations and additions will be to remove certain ambiguities from the Bill.

4. In section 9 we have provided that the Justices may, at a special general meeting, appoint a proper person to two or more of the appointments mentioned in the section; and section 10 allows the Vice-Chairman to hold any other office to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting of the Justices.

5. In section 16 we have provided that the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may grant pensions or gratuities to their officers. As the section stood in the original Bill, the power was practically vested in the Chairman. And here we may remark that throughout the whole Bill, whenever a question of principle, and not a mere executive act, is involved, we have made the determination of it rest, not with the Chairman, but with the Justices in meeting.

6. We have raised the number necessary to form a quorum of Justices—in the case of an ordinary meeting, from three or six;

in the case of a special meeting, from seven to nine;

in the case of a special general or quarterly meeting, from fifteen to eighteen.

We have also inserted a proviso that no business is to be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting unless ten Justices are present.

7. We have provided that a declaration by the President, at a meeting, that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, if no poll be demanded. Under the original Bill the President had to call on each Justice to vote in order of seniority on the roll of the Justices. We have omitted this in the amended Bill.

8. The second proviso in section 32 of the amended Bill is new. In cases where the Chairman and the majority of a committee differ on any matter, no action is to be taken until the matter is disposed of by the Justices at a meeting.

9. In the original Bill the Local Government was empowered to appoint auditors of the receipts and expenditure of the Justices, the said auditors receiving such remuneration as the Justices, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall determine. To guard against the appointments being made ex-officio appointments, we have empowered the Justices to appoint, subject to the sanction of the Local Government, their own auditors.

10. We have allowed an appeal against the assessment in respect to licenses for all the trades, professions, and callings mentioned in the second schedule, to three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices. In the original Bill the final decision rested with the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

11. We have recast Part 1 of Chapter IV, and have made several alterations in it. For "land-rate" we have substituted the word "house-rate;" the former is a new term, whereas the latter is already in common use in Calcutta. We have provided that the Justices may impose a water-rate not exceeding six per cent. of the annual value when the house is situated in a street supplied with filtered water, and not exceeding five per cent. when the house is situated in a street not so supplied. As the Bill stood before, a uniform water-rate could be levied on all houses and land within the town, and we considered it unfair that those who had not the benefit of the water should pay as high a water-rate as those who had. We have made the police and lighting rates, as well as the water-rate, payable in advance. The lighting-rate, which originally stood at two-and-a-half per cent., we have reduced to two per cent.

12. Section 68 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for a remission of the house-rate when a house has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during the year. The date of vacancy is to be calculated from the delivery of a notice to that effect at the office of the Justices. This latter provision is repeated in sections 73, 74, and 77 of the amended Bill, which deal with refund of the water, police, and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied. We have also limited the time for an application for a refund under sections 74 and 77 to six months from the date of the vacancy of the house in respect of which the application is made.

13. Section 67 of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of better arrangement, to Part 1 of Chapter XI, which deals with the streets. As the police and lighting rates are made payable in advance, section 68 of the original Bill becomes unnecessary, and we have therefore omitted it. Section 77 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for the refund of the police and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied.

14. In section 81 of the amended Bill we have made special provision for the assessment of the unoccupied lands of the Port Commissioners; and in section 82 we have extended the period for which assessments are made by the Justices from three to six years.

15. Section 84 of the amended Bill is entirely new. It has been framed to meet the case of injury to immovable property through accident. When a house has received substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices are to re-assess it on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier.

16. The most important alteration in Chapter V is the introduction of a new system of appeals against assessments. In the Bill referred to us appeals against assessments had to be made to the Justices, the Chairman and Vice-Chairman not being precluded from hearing such appeals. Many complaints have been made against this system, and we have accordingly allowed an appeal from the assessment made by the executive officers of the Justices, either to a Board of not less than three Justices, not being executive officers of the municipality, or to the Small Cause Court. The appellant is not allowed to appeal from the Board of three Justices to the Small Cause Court, but he can make his choice of the two tribunals. If he appeals to the Board of three Justices, their decision will be final. Or he can carry his case straight to the Small Cause Court, and the decision of that Court will be final. Persons who give notice of appeal must at the same time inform the Justices whether they intend to appeal to the Board of Justices or to the Small Cause Court. Every appeal to the Small Cause Court must be presented to the Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice of appeal at the office of the Justices. The original Bill provided that no appeal should be heard "unless the amount of the rate had been deposited with the Justices." We have substituted the words "unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices."

17. In Chapter VI we have provided that all sales of property after distress are to be regulated by the procedure of the Small Cause Court as to sale after distress.

18. We have made many additions to Chapter VII (of the water supply), which are mainly intended to prevent the waste of water so prevalent in the town.

Sections 110, 111, 112, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125 and 126 are new.

Section 108 of the amended Bill provides that the Justices must keep up a pressure of ten feet for the supply of water between 6 A.M. and 9 P.M., and a pressure of fifty feet between 7 A.M. and 9 A.M., and between 5 P.M. and 6 P.M.

Section 110 limits the supply of filtered water to any one house to one thousand gallons for every rupee paid as water-rate on account of the house. If the Justices think that any house takes more than this allowance, they can attach a meter to the water-pipes of the house, and charge the occupants for any water used in excess of the above allowance at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Section 111 directs that the Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and section 112 enjoins owners of houses to put up, at their own cost, cisterns in latrines and water-closets supplied with filtered or unfiltered water.

By section 118 we have provided that the occupier of any house in which water supplied by the Justices, is wasted from negligence or other causes under the control of the occupier, or in whose house the works for the supply of water are found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Section 119 makes any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Section 120 empowers the Justices to allow any person residing within the limits of the town to take water for his domestic use on certain terms, and to impose a fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, on any person who takes, for use outside the limits of the town, water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices.

Section 121 enacts that persons executing works for the laying on of water must hold a license from the Justices to act as a plumber, and provides for the imposition of a fine on any person so licensed who breaks the rules of his license.

Section 122 provides that any owner or occupier of a house who causes works for the laying on of water to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Justices, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Justices' service-pipes.

Section 123. The Engineer of the Justices is to inspect the works before any connection with the service-pipes of the Justices is sanctioned. The cost of inspection is to be paid by the person applying for the connection; and until the Engineer certifies that the works have been properly executed, a connection is not to be permitted.

Section 124. Connection with the service-pipes of the Justices and the laying of supply pipes under a road are to be executed only by an officer of the Justices.

Section 125 provides a fine for a licensed plumber who executes works in a negligent manner or makes use of bad materials or fittings.

Section 126 provides for the imposition of a fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, on any person who unlawfully takes water from any water-works belonging to, or under the control of, the Justices.

19. In section 142 we have expressed more clearly the intention of the clause in section 56 of the original Bill, with regard to the application of the proceeds of the police rate.

20. We have provided that the Justices shall appoint a Sub-Registrar at each burning ghât and native burial ground for the registration of all corpses brought for cremation or interment. Every Sub-Registrar is to dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or burial ground for which he is appointed, and the Justices are to publish a list of such Registrars and Sub-Registrars.

In section 151 of the amended Bill we have inserted a proviso that, in the case of persons dying in hospital, the medical officer in charge shall send a notice in writing to the Justices in the form prescribed in the eighth schedule. By section 153, the registration of a death occurring in a hospital is deemed to be complete on the receipt by the Justices of such written notice.

Section 154 makes it unlawful for a sexton or keeper of a cemetery, burial-ground or burning ghat, to bury or burn a corpse unless it is accompanied by a proper certificate.

21. For section 145 of the original Bill we have substituted another section (176 in the amended Bill), which is identical with section 125 of the old Act (VI of 1863, B.C.), and empowers the Justices to remove only obstructions or encroachments erected in any public street subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any obstruction of this nature, at whatever time erected.

We have made an alteration in section 155 of the original Bill by providing (section 185 of the amended Bill) that the Justices may cause the removal of any obstruction placed against, or in front of any house subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any such obstruction, at whatever time erected.

We have limited the power conferred on the Justices by section 156 of the original Bill to the removal of obstructions placed in front of any house previous to the 1st of June 1863 (section 186 of the amended Bill).

22. Sections 149, 150, 159, and 160 in Part I; sections 169, 171, 172 in Part II; and sections 188, 190, 191, 192, 193, and 207 in Part III, of Chapter XI of the original Bill have all been thrown together for the sake of convenience, and now constitute Part IV of Chapter XI, under the title of "Building Regulations." Three new sections (248, 249 and 250) have been inserted in this part, which direct that new huts shall be erected under the control of the Justices, lay down rules for their erection, empower the Justices to remove them if they are erected contrary to such rules, and prescribe a penalty for breach of the rules. These sections are substituted for sections 186 and 187 of the original Bill, and give the Justices ample control over the arrangement of any new villages that may be erected in future.

In section 219 we have provided that no person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices.

23. In Part I of Chapter XII we have inserted two new sections—one for the registration of places kept for the sale of drugs, and another for the inspection of drugs. Every place kept for the sale of drugs must be registered within two months after the Act comes into force. Non-registration will render the keeper of such place liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees. Power is given to the Justices to enter into shops for the purpose of inspecting drugs, and to remove any drugs they suspect to be adulterated. Clauses are added to provide for the giving of compensation to the owner of the drug if it is found to be not adulterated, and he has sustained any loss by the removal.

We have allowed the Justices in meeting, other than ordinary meeting, to provide slaughter-houses without the sanction of the Local Government.

Section 213 in Part I of Chapter XII of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of convenience, to the new chapter on markets.

24. We have added a chapter on markets to the Bill. This chapter embraces the law as it now stands without any important alteration or addition, and its introduction involves the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II of 1874 (B.C.)

25. We have omitted the last clause of section 233 of the original Bill, which provided that the powers given to the Justices with respect to railways, should not be exercised without the sanction of the Local Government.

26. In the Bill referred to us all penalties were collected in one chapter. This was found to be very inconvenient for the purpose of reference, and we have therefore returned to the plan of the old Acts, according to which each penalty is placed immediately after the subject to which it belongs.

27. We have altered the wording in the first part of Class IV of the second Schedule. According to the Bill referred to us, a person whose shop or place of business was located in a brick-house, and who did not fall under Class II or III, was liable to be assessed at Rs. 12 per annum. As we considered that the fact of a business being carried on in a brick-house a too uncertain test for the purposes of taxation, we have provided that all persons mentioned in Class IV of the second schedule shall pay Rs. 12 for their trade-license if their shop or place of business is assessed under Chapter V at ten rupees and upwards, but at less than twenty-five rupees a month.

28. In the fifth schedule we have lowered the scale of fees payable in distrains under Chapter VI.

29. We have made other alterations in form and words.

DISSENT.

WHILE signing the report of the Select Committee we desire to record this our dissent on points on which we disagree with our colleagues.

I.—The water, police, and lighting rates have been made payable in advance. The first is payable by the owner; the last two by the occupier. At present the water-rate alone is paid in advance; but considering the pressure of municipal taxation in this town we are of opinion that the payment in advance is attended with hardship to the poorer class of rate-payers, and that the system ought not to be extended to the lighting and police rates as proposed. No branch of imperial revenue, we believe, is recovered in advance, and we are satisfied that there is no good reason why municipal taxes should be made payable in advance. It was urged by our colleagues that the municipality incurred a considerable loss of revenue by reason of frequent changes in the occupation of houses by tenants, which its officers had no means of knowing in time, and that even if they did know they could not realize the rate, which was payable in arrear. This remark does not apply to the water-rate, which is recoverable from the owner. As the owner is identified with the land or house he owns or occupies, the house-rate is made payable in arrear. On the same principle the water-rate ought to be made payable in arrear.

II.—For the purpose of the house-rate and the water-rate the owner of the land is declared to be the owner of the house thereon, and will be charged with the house-rate and water-rate respectively, and also with the lighting and police rates where the assessed annual value of the house is less than Rs. 200, with power to recover the amount so paid as an addition to rent. We object to these provisions as unconstitutional and unfair. The theory of municipal constitution is that no person should be called upon to pay at a higher rate or undertake greater responsibilities than his neighbour for municipal purposes. The owners of houses when liable to any rate or tax should pay the same, just as much and in the same manner as owners of lands; and if there be greater risk of collection in one case than in another, it is what those who have to receive the rate or tax should submit to. To shift that risk on any particular section of the community for the benefit of the Municipality and to afford perfect immunity from the trouble and annoyance of summary distress and warrant to those who are likely to be defaulters, involves denial of justice and fair play, and this is made the more glaring by the proviso that owners of only those plots of land, the assessed value of the houses whereon should be less than Rs. 200 per annum, should be subjected to the risk, and not those lands which bear more highly assessed property. In other words, the Municipality should collect directly from those who are substantial and from whom it is easy to collect, and through the agency of the landlord from those who are poor and from whom it is consequently difficult to realize, though he is not to be remunerated for his trouble, risk, and responsibility. If it be a duty on the part of landlords to pay the taxes due for the property of their tenants, it should apply to all landlords alike without reference to the value of the houses on their lands. In equity, however, it applies to none, and none therefore should be subjected to so unequal a law. It is true that the existing law has a provision of this kind with reference to the police and lighting rates, limited to houses assessed at or under an annual value of Rs. 100, but it is founded on no principle of justice, and its operation has proved oppressive. The loss sustained by landlords in realizing through their own servants and the Small Cause Court the rate due to the Municipality from the owners of small houses, which the Justices cannot realize satisfactorily through the more summary process of warrant, distraint, and sale, is great; and to apply the rule to all kinds of taxes and rates would increase the loss manifold. A percentage of loss is inevitable in collecting money from a large number of rate-payers, and there is no principle of equity and justice under which the payee may be allowed to shift that loss in certain cases on third parties. This injustice we feel will be made the more oppressive on account of the difficulties under which the landlord labors in realizing his legitimate rent. The complaint is that the recent ruling of the High Court that a hut is removable, but immovable for purposes of distraint, has interposed great difficulty in the way of the recovery of rent, and it cannot therefore be just to make him liable for all the occupier's rates, and to direct him to recover his dues from the tenant as an addition to rent. Nor will the evil be confined to landlords alone; tenants will equally suffer from it, inasmuch as the poorer and more ignorant classes of tenants will be subjected to extortion and oppression at the hands of unscrupulous landlords and their servants. It is generally believed that under the existing law many landlords realize from their tenants the whole of the water-rate instead of the three-fourths prescribed by it. The duty of realizing the rates and taxes belongs legitimately to the Municipality, which has a large and highly paid establishment for the recovery of arrears and we see no reason why it should be relieved of its legitimate duty.

III.—Unoccupied lands are at present not assessed. There are lands in the town which have rarely been occupied, and it is not to be supposed that the owner would wilfully leave them unoccupied if he could find tenants. As the Bill provides, the owner must keep them in good order. This obligation, we are of opinion, would be a sufficient motive to him for letting them out. It would press unduly upon the owner, if he were made to pay half rates for unoccupied lands, which derive no benefit from the Municipality and entail no additional duty on it, and which lie unoccupied from no fault of his. We may add that however necessary the busti regulations may be, they are stringent and may lead to desertion from the town, and in that case it would be a double hardship to the owner if he should lose rent and be made to pay the rates.

IV.—It is provided that the supply of water for domestic consumption may be charged at the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee whenever it is in excess of the quantity covered by the amount of the water-rate paid by the occupier so calculated; and that the Justices, that is the Chairman, may put on a water meter for the ascertainment of such quantity. The object of this provision is to prevent wanton waste of water. We are fully alive to the necessity of checking waste, but we believe that infinitely more water is wasted on the streets than in private houses, by the bursting of service pipes, and by reason of defective stand-posts and of wayfarers neglecting to close them, than by reason of defective fittings in houses, or neglect in securing water—not to say that the necessity of keeping houses dry operates as a check upon many householders; but as regards private houses, the regulation of the size of the ferrule, the periodical inspection of fittings by municipal officers, and the penalties prescribed for the occupier and plumber in case of neglect to prevent waste, are calculated to promote to a considerable extent economy in the use of water. It might be that the introduction of the water meter would not be made general; but as the whole matter would be left to the discretion of the executive, the temptation for having a general recourse to it might prove too great for them, if they should find the scheme remunerative. But to charge for water for domestic consumption in excess of regulation supply when the supply is obtained by a heavy compulsory taxation, we hold is on principle unsound and unfair. In respect of the water-supply the Justices resemble a large co-operative society, each member of which contributes towards the object according to a fixed assessment, on the understanding that he will take such a supply as he may require for domestic consumption. If the Justices are empowered to make an additional charge on the pretext of greater consumption by one person than by another, then the principle of compulsory taxation ought, in all fairness, to be abandoned, and the system of taxation according to consumption ought to be substituted instead. Then if a charge is to be made for excess consumption, justice requires that a proportionate reduction should be allowed to those rate-payers who might not consume the regulation quantity. Besides, the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee is founded on no correct principle. The Justices are not a trading body; and we are of opinion that it would not be consistent with right principle to allow them to charge a fancy price for water for domestic consumption from those whose contributions have secured the supply and who have a common interest in it. The actual cost of the water is less than four annas per one thousand gallons; and we think all charges in excess of that rate, or whatever the cost price may be, would amount to an extraordinary indirect tax, which, as long as the express understanding is that the water-supply is intended for the ordinary domestic consumption of the rate-payers and the public purposes of conservancy and the watering of roads, would be unjust. The Municipality is not and should not be let at liberty to look to gain by sale of water as long as the aforesaid domestic and public purposes for which the water-rate is imposed are not met. As for the unfiltered supply, it cannot be available at all hours, inasmuch as it will not be given at constant pressure—not to say that the two-fold supply would entail upon the house-owner double cost in laying on the water.

Then latrines and water-closets are not to be provided with constant supply of water, but should be provided with cisterns. As a diffuse supply of water is essential to the successful working of the drainage system, we are not satisfied that the cisterns would answer the purpose. To compel the house-owners to connect their privies with the new sewers and to stint them the supply of water would be inconsistent. Besides, privies in native houses, we are informed, are too small for the convenient admission of the cistern; and as such houses have generally several privies, the cost to the owner or occupier for introducing the system of cisterns would be great. Indeed, taking the charges for water—firstly, for connection for filtered supply; secondly, for unfiltered supply; thirdly, for cisterns; and, fourthly, for domestic supply in excess of regulation quantity—we are of opinion that the pressure of taxation would fall very heavily upon the poorer classes of tax-payers. It is also open to question whether it is consistent with the functions of the legislature to provide for cisterns when the system has not been discussed or adopted by the Justices.

V.—We object to the provisions made for the passing of the police budget. They are calculated to reduce the Justices to the position of message-bearer only. As the Bill is framed, the Justices are simply to receive the budget from the Commissioner of Police and to transmit the same to the Lieutenant-Governor. This change in the law is recommended on the ground that the regulation, management, and control of the police ought to be vested in the Government. Such is now practically the case. The Commissioner of Police under orders of Government determines the strength and organization of the police; and although the Justices have power to reduce or cancel any part of the police budget, they have never exercised that power to the detriment of the efficiency of the police. The existence of the power has, however, a wholesome influence on the Commissioner of Police and conduces to the advantage of the town. If the Justices have never exercised the power in question, they may do so at any time, and this circumstance tends to make him cautious, moderate, and economical. The Justices are responsible to the rate-payers for the due application of the funds they collect; and as they are charged with the collection of the police rate, it is both necessary and meet that they should have a voice in the administration of the police fund. It was urged that should the Justices and the local Government disagree on any point, things would come to a dead-lock. Such a crisis has never arisen, though the power under notice has been vested in the Justices since 1866; but should such a crisis arise, the difference might be settled by the Government of India, whose decision should be final, as the control of the police is vested in it in the last degree. The majority of the Committee, did not, however, agree to this proposal. This is a constitutional question of great importance, and we are of opinion that if the legislature is not prepared to continue the power hitherto possessed by the Justices, the corporation should be relieved of the invidious duty of imposing and collecting the police rate, in the disbursement of which it is to be allowed no control. In London, the city police, which is analogous to the metropolitan police of Calcutta, is, we believe, completely under the control of the City Corporation. If it be the object of the Government to give the rate-payers the privilege of self-government, it cannot be consistent with that object to deprive the Justices of their present power to control police expenditure.

VI.—While we support the provisions made for the clearance and improvement of bustis, we do not consider it fair to compel the owner of the land to construct privies for the benefit of the occupier. There should be a broad line of distinction between the sanitary requirements of the land owned by the landlord and those of private houses built thereon by tenants. The former obligation belongs to the landlord, and the latter to the tenant; and the respective duties of the two parties cannot be confounded without entailing injustice on one or the other. The practice in this town is for the tenant to build his own habitation and the appurtenances belonging thereto; and as tenants, particularly with families, do not frequent a common latrine, the landlord would be put to considerable cost in building a privy for each tenant. The improvement of the bustis will entail heavy expenses upon the owner, and it cannot be fair to saddle him with this cost. Where common latrines may be needed, the owner may be required to provide them, but not otherwise.

We object to this provision, the more because we are convinced that no cost for improvement will be incurred except with a view to realize a return; and if the tenants be made to pay the interest on the outlay by way of increased rent, the evil will recoil on them in a way which those who wish to benefit them cannot but feel to be grievous. Living for poor people in the town has already become very difficult, and the multiplication of taxes and outlay on improvements cannot but increase that evil. Sanitary improvement, however salutary, is dearly purchased where the means of subsistence are injuriously reduced; and it is the bounden duty of the legislature, in our opinion, to prevent so serious a mischief. The idea that the owners of lands will themselves defray the cost of all improvements from purely sanitary or humane motives is delusive. The effect of such improvements is sure sooner or later to tell against the tenants, who contribute by way of rent the means which the owners are called upon to lay out, and we desire that this truism may not be lost sight of in revising the municipal law. We are constrained to say that it has been overlooked in the matters above set forth, and in several other minor subjects.

As material alterations have been introduced in the Bill, we would recommend that the amended Bill with the Report of the Select Committee and this Dissent be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1875."

Short title.

It shall come into force on the first day of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, which date is hereinafter referred to as the commencement of this Act.

2. The enactments specified in the ninth schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third

This repeal shall not revive any office, authority, or thing abolished by any such enactment, or affect the validity of any thing done or suffered, or any right, title, obligation, or liability accrued before the commencement of this Act.

And all rules prescribed, assessments, valuations, measurements, divisions, and appointments made, powers conferred, and notifications published under any such enactment, and all other rules (if any) now in force and relating to the matters hereinafter dealt with, shall (so far as they are consistent with this Act) be deemed to have been respectively prescribed, made, conferred, and published hereunder

And all references made to any such enactment shall, as far as may be practicable, be deemed to be made to this Act.

And all proceedings now pending, which may have been commenced under any such enactment, shall be deemed to be commenced under this Act.

3. In this Act—unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

Interpretation clause.

"Animal" means a horse, pony or mule.

"Bazar" means any place of trade, where there is a collection of shops and warehouses, and any place where a market is held.

"Carriage" means any wheeled vehicle with springs used for the conveyance of human beings.

"Cart" means any cart, hackery, or wheeled vehicle with or without springs not included in the definition of carriage.

"Chapter" means Chapter of this Act.

"Commissioner of Police" means the officer so styled and appointed under section four of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866.

"Court of Small Causes" means the Court of Small Causes for the time being established by law in Calcutta.

"Drug." "Drug" includes medicine for internal or external use.

"House" includes any hut, building, or shed.

"Immovable property" and "land" respectively mean land, benefits to arise out of land, anything attached to the earth, or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth.

"Movable property" means property of every description, except immovable property.

"Local Government" means the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the time being, or the person acting in that capacity.

"Owner" "Owner" includes—

- (a) the person entitled for the time being to receive the rent of the land in respect of which the word is used;
- (b) an agent of such person;
- (c) a trustee for such person;

But no such agent or trustee shall be liable to do anything required by this Act to be done by the owner, nor shall he be subject to any fine for omitting to do such thing, unless he have sufficient funds in his hands, as such agent or trustee, to do such thing.

"Police Force" means the Police Force as constituted under section eight of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866.

"Public Street" means any road, street, square, court, alley, or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not, over which the public have a right of way, and also the roadway over any public bridge or causeway, and also the footway attached to any street, public bridge (other than the Hooghly bridge) or causeway within the Town.

"Street" means any road, street, square, court, alley, or passage, not included in the definition of public street.

"Schedule" means schedule annexed to this Act.

"Section" means section of this Act.

"Slaughter-house" means any place used for the slaughter of cows, or bullocks, or sheep, or goats, or pigs, or kids, for the purpose of selling the same as meat.

"The Suburbs" mean the Suburbs of Calcutta as defined by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, under the provisions of Act III of 1874 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, or of any other Act for the time being in force.

"The Justices" means the Corporation of "the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta."

"The Town" includes all places within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, but not

- (a) Fort William;

(b) The Esplanade; or

(c) Coolie Bazar, now called Hastings, except such portion as is bounded on the north by Clyde Row, on the south by Tolly's Nullah, on the east by the road leading from Kidderpore bridge to Clyde Row, and on the west by the Strand Road.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES.

PART I.—Of the Constitution of the Corporation and Municipal Fund.

4. All Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta shall, by the name of "the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta," be a body corporate, and have perpetual succession and a common seal, and by such name shall sue and be sued.

5. All property, movable and immovable, and all interest of whatsoever nature and kind therein, now vested in or held in trust for the Justices, with all rights of whatsoever description now used, enjoyed, or possessed by the Justices, shall become vested in the Justices for the purposes of this Act.

6. All sums received by the Justices, and all fines levied under this Act, and all sums which may be assigned by the Government for the purposes of conservancy or improvement in the Town, shall constitute a fund, which shall be called the Municipal Fund of Calcutta, and shall, together with all property which may become vested in the Justices, be under their control, and shall be applied by them as trustees for the purposes of this Act.

PART II.—Of the Officers of the Corporation.

7. The Local Government shall from time to time appoint one of the said Justices of the Peace to be Chairman of the Justices.

Such Chairman shall be removable from office by the Local Government if his removal be recommended by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at a special general meeting of the Justices shall have voted, but not otherwise.

8. The Justices, at a special general meeting to be held for that purpose, may from time to time appoint a proper person to be Vice-Chairman of the Justices.

Such appointment shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government.

9. The Justices may, at a special general meeting, from time to time, appoint proper persons, for such period as they may think fit, to the several offices of Secretary, of Engineer, of Surveyor, of Health Officer, of Collector of Taxes, and of Assessor, for the Town, or may appoint a proper person to two or more of such appointments or to one

Every person so appointed, and also the Vice-Chairman, shall, in all things, be under the immediate orders of the Chairman, and shall perform such duties as shall be assigned by him, and may be removed by the Justices by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at a special general meeting shall have voted, and another person may be appointed in his place.

10. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall reside within the Town, and each of them shall devote his whole time to the duties of his office; and no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall have or engage in any other profession, trade, or business whatsoever:
Provided that—

- (a) Any Civil or Military Officer in the service of the Government may hold the office of Chairman or Vice-Chairman, so long as such Officer shall fill no other appointment than those specified in this section.
- (b) The Chairman may also hold the office of Commissioner of Police, or of Commissioner as interpreted in section one of Bengal Act No. V of 1870 (to appoint Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta):
- (c) The Chairman may also be a member of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations.
- (d) The Vice-Chairman may be appointed to and may hold any other office in the employ of the Justices to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting.

11. The Chairman and the Vice-Chairman respectively, may receive such allowances out of the Municipal Fund as shall be, from time to time, fixed by the Justices at a special general meeting.
Such allowance shall not exceed—

- (a) for the Chairman three thousand rupees a month (exclusive of house-rent, which may or may not in the discretion of the Justices be allowed):
- (b) for the Vice-Chairman twelve hundred rupees a month.

12. Every Secretary, Engineer, Surveyor, Health Officer, Collector of Taxes, and Assessor, appointed as hereinbefore provided, may receive such allowance out of the Municipal Fund as shall be from time to time fixed by the Justices at a special general meeting.

13. The Chairman may from time to time appoint all such Overseers, Clerks, Subordinate Officers, and servants, as he shall think necessary and proper to assist in carrying out this Act, and may from time to time remove any of such persons and appoint others in their place; and may, with the sanction of the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, pay out of the Municipal Fund such allowances to the said persons respectively, or, in case of absence on leave, such portion thereof as he shall think reasonable; Provided that the allowances of the offices filled by the said persons shall have been sanctioned in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting.

But no person shall be appointed to, or removed from, any office the monthly salary of which exceeds two hundred rupees, without the sanction of the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting.

14. The Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, grant such leave of absence to the Chairman or any Officer appointed under sections eight and nine, and may make such arrangements for the carrying on the duties of his office during his absence on leave as shall to them seem proper.

In any case in which leave of absence shall be granted to the Chairman, the Local Government shall appoint one of the Justices of the Peace to act as Chairman in his place, or shall make such other arrangements for carrying on the duties of the office as to it shall seem proper.

Any person appointed under this section to act for the Chairman or any other Officer shall, while so acting, have all the powers and be liable to all the restrictions, limitations, and provisions, which the Chairman or other Officer for whom he may be appointed to act would, under this Act, have or be liable to.

15. In any case in which leave of absence shall be granted under the last preceding section, the Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at the meeting shall have voted, with the sanction of the Local Government, out of the Municipal Fund, pay to the Chairman or other Officer aforesaid such allowance during absence on leave as shall to them seem proper.

16. The Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at such meeting shall have voted, from time to time make rules for pensions and gratuities to be granted, and to be paid out of the Municipal Fund, to their Officers and servants, and may repeal, alter, or add to such rules.

No rule, and no repeal, or alteration of, or addition to any rule, shall have effect until the same has been confirmed by the Local Government and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, from time to time, in accordance with such rules for the time being in force, grant such pensions or gratuities to any of their officers or servants as to the Justices may seem fit.

17. No Chairman or Vice-Chairman, or other Officer or servant of the Justices, shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract made with the Justices; and if any such person be so interested, he shall become incapable of continuing in office or in employment as such Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or other Officer or servant, and shall forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred rupees, which may be recovered by suit brought by or on behalf of the Justices.

Provided that no person shall, by reason of being a shareholder in, or a member of, any incorporated or registered Company, be deemed interested in any contract entered into between such Company and the Justices.

18. If any person employed under this Act (not being a public servant within the meaning of Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code) shall accept or obtain, or agree to accept, or attempt to obtain, from any person, for himself or for any other person, any gratification whatever, other than legal remuneration, as a reward for doing, or forbearing to do, any official act, or for showing or forbearing to show, in the exercise of his official functions, favor or disfavor to any person, or for rendering or attempting to render any service or disservice to any person, with the Justices, or with any public servant, or with the Government, as such, he shall be punished with imprisonment, either simple or rigorous as provided in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to three years, or with a fine not exceeding five thousand rupees, or with both.

PART III.—Of the Mode of transacting Business and entering into Contracts.

19. The Justices shall provide and keep an office within the Town, and shall at such office, and during all days of business, keep open a book in which shall be entered all reasonable complaints made, orally or by letter, by any inhabitant, or the owner, or occupier of any land within the Town, of any matter cognizable by the Justices :

and the proper Officer of the Justices shall forthwith enquire into the truth of all such complaints, and report thereon to the Justices ; and such report shall be entered in the said book and such book shall be open, at all reasonable times, to any inhabitant, or owner, or occupier of land within the Town.

20. There shall be four quarterly meetings in every year, and one ordinary meeting in every month, at which the Justices shall meet for the transaction of general business.

The quarterly meetings shall be held in the months of January, April, July, and October, or in any month to which the quarterly meetings first called for the months of January, April, July, and October may be adjourned, and the ordinary meetings at such dates as the Justices in meeting may from time to time direct.

Provided that no ordinary meeting need be called if there be no business to be laid before it by the Chairman or by any of the Justices of the Peace.

21. The Justices shall, from time to time, as occasion may require, at a special meeting to be convened for that purpose or at some adjournment thereof, fix and determine the kind of business that may be transacted at the said ordinary and quarterly meetings : and no business, save such kind of business, shall be transacted at such meetings :

But the Chairman may postpone the discussion of any question that may be raised at any such meeting, and refer the determination thereof to a special or special general meeting to be convened within fourteen days thereafter.

22. The Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, may, when-Special, and special general meetings may be called. ever he thinks fit, and shall, upon a requisition made in writing by any ten Justices of the Peace, call a special or special general meeting of the Justices.

Previous to any such meeting at least five days' clear notice, specifying the time and place of such intended meeting, and the purpose for which it is to be held, shall be given by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published within the Town.

23. No business shall be brought before, or transacted at, any special or special general meeting other than the business specified in the notice given under the last preceding section :

Provided that any Justice of the Peace may submit to a special or special general meeting any resolution beyond the matters mentioned in the notice given of such meeting, if he shall have given not less than two clear days' previous notice of his intention so to do, by leaving a copy of the resolution at the office of the Justices.

24. All acts authorized or required to be done by the Justices, and all questions to be decided at meetings by a majority of votes. All questions to be done by the Justices, and decided at meetings by all questions which may come before them for decision, shall, save as is herein otherwise provided, be done, and decided by, a majority of the Justices of the Peace present at the meeting before which the matter may be brought.

25. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall attend all meetings of the Justices held under this Act, unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause ; and the Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, shall preside at every such meeting, and shall have a second or casting vote in all cases of equality of votes.

In the absence of both the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, the Justices of the Peace present at any meeting shall choose some one of their number to preside, who shall, in case of equality of votes, have a second or casting vote.

The President of any meeting at which a quorum of the Justices of the Peace shall be present, may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn the meeting from time to time, and from place to place ; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting, other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which such adjournment took place.

26. No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless a quorum of Justices of the Peace be present at such meeting, that is to say :—

- (a) At an ordinary meeting at least six ;
- (b) At a special meeting at least nine ;
- (c) At a special general, or quarterly meeting, at least eighteen.

Provided that, if at any meeting there shall not be a sufficient number of Justices of the Peace present to form a quorum as above mentioned, the President (whether he be the Chairman or not) shall adjourn the meeting to such convenient time and place as he shall think fit ; and the business which should have been brought before the original meeting had there been a quorum present, shall be brought before, and disposed of by the adjourned meeting in the usual manner, whether there be a quorum present at such adjourned meeting or not;

Provided also that no business shall be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting, unless there are at least ten Justices present at such adjourned meeting.

27. Minutes of the proceedings of all meetings shall be drawn up and fairly entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall be signed by the President after each meeting; and minutes of each meeting shall be laid on the table at the next subsequent meeting, and the said Minutes shall, at all reasonable times, be open at the office of the Justices to the inspection of any Justice of the Peace without charge, and of any other person on payment of a fee of eight annas.

28. At any special general or quarterly meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least five Justices of the Peace, and at any special or ordinary meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least three Justices of the Peace, a declaration by the President that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings of the Justices shall, for the purposes of this Act, be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favor of, or against such resolution.

29. If a poll be demanded as in the last preceding section mentioned, the votes of all the Justices of the Peace present who desire to vote shall be taken under the direction of the President, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Justices at such meeting.

30. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall, except upon such holidays as shall be allowed by the Government, and unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause, attend daily at the office of the Justices for the transaction of business connected with or arising under this Act, and, when so attending, shall have all the powers vested by this Act in the Justices; and they may respectively exercise the like powers at all times in carrying out the orders of the Justices, or in executing any work sanctioned by them, and generally in the management of the business aforesaid:

Provided that no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall act in opposition to, or contravention of, any order of the Justices, or exercise any power which by this Act is directed to be exercised only by the Justices in meeting.

31. The Justices may enter into and perform all such contracts as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect.

Every contract made on behalf of the Justices in respect of any sum exceeding five hundred rupees, or in respect of any property exceeding five hundred rupees in value, shall be in writing, and signed by the Chairman (or, in his absence, by the Vice-Chairman), and two other Justices of the Peace, and shall be sealed with the seal of the Justices.

Unless so executed it shall not be binding on the Justices.

The Justices may compound with any contractor or other person in respect of any penalty or damages incurred by reason of the non-performance of any contract entered into as aforesaid, whether such penalty be mentioned in any such contract or otherwise, for such sums of money or other recompense as to the Justices may seem proper.

32. The Justices in meeting may from time to time appoint, from among the Justices of the Peace, such and so many Committees, either of a general or of a special nature, and consisting of such number of persons as they may think fit, for the purpose of inquiring into, and reporting upon, any matter connected with the conservancy or improvement of the Town, or of advising and aiding the Chairman in the discharge of any portion of his executive duties, which in the discretion of the Justices would be better regulated or managed with the advice and aid of any such Committee:

Provided that the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be a member of every such Committee, and that the proceedings of every such Committee shall be submitted to the Justices at a meeting;

Provided also that in cases where the Chairman and the majority of the Committee differ on any matter, no action shall be taken in respect of such matter until it be disposed of by the Justices in meeting.

PART IV.—Of the Estimates of Income, Expenditure, and Audit.

33. At the quarterly meeting to be held in the month of October in each year, the Chairman shall lay before the Justices a Budget or Estimate, prepared by him, of the income and expenditure of the Justices for the year commencing on the first day of January then next succeeding, in such detail and form as the Justices shall from time to time, by order passed at a quarterly or special general meeting, direct.

Such Budget shall be completed and printed, and a copy thereof, as far as may be practicable, sent by post or otherwise to each of the Justices of the Peace resident within twenty miles of Government House, at least seven days prior to the meeting before which the Budget is to be laid.

34. The Budget shall show what expenditure it is proposed to incur during the period to which it relates, and the manner in which it is proposed to meet such expenditure.

35. It shall be in the discretion of the Justices at the meeting referred to in section thirty-three, to pass, or to reject, or to modify, the estimates of all or any sums entered in the Budget.

No new work or series of works, the entire estimated cost of which shall exceed fifty thousand rupees, shall be commenced without the sanction of the Local Government.

36. The accounts of the receipts and expenditure of the Justices shall be audited and examined at least once in every year at such time and by such auditors as shall, from time to time, be appointed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, subject to the sanction of the Local Government.

37. For the purposes of any audit and examination of accounts under this Act, the auditors may, by summons in writing, require the production before them of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, and all other documents and papers which they may deem necessary, and may require any person holding or accountable for any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, to appear before them at any such audit and examination, or adjournment thereof, and to make and sign a declaration with respect to the same.

38. If any such person neglect or refuse to make or sign such declaration, or to produce any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, or to make or sign such declaration, he shall be liable for every neglect or refusal to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

39. All auditors acting under this Act shall, in respect of each audit, be paid out of the Municipal Fund such reasonable remuneration as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time determine.

40. Before each audit and examination of accounts, the Justices shall give ten days' notice of the time and place at which the same will be made, by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers, published in Calcutta; and a copy of the accounts to be audited and examined shall be deposited in the office of the Justices, and be open during office hours thereat, to the inspection of all persons interested for seven days before the audit and examination, and all such persons shall be at liberty to take copies of, or extracts from, the same, without the payment of any fee; and within fourteen days after the audit and examination shall have been completed, the auditors shall report upon the accounts audited and examined, and shall deliver such report to the Justices at a meeting, who shall cause the same to be deposited in the office of the Justices, and to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

PART V.—Of the Fixing of Rates.

41. At the quarterly meeting to be held in the month of October in each year as aforesaid, the Justices shall fix the rates at which the rates and taxes hereinafter mentioned shall be imposed for the year commencing on the first day of January then next ensuing, and the rate so fixed shall not be altered before the quarterly meeting held in the next succeeding month of October, except by a resolution passed by the Justices at a special general meeting.

CHAPTER III.

OF TAXES.

PART I.—Of the Tax on Carriages and Animals.

42. A tax at a rate not exceeding the rates specified in the first schedule shall be imposed upon all carriages and animals kept within the Town, and shall be payable in advance. But it shall not be imposed on—

- (a) animals belonging to Officers doing regimental duty at the Presidency, at the rate of one animal for each Officer;
- (b) animals exempt from any municipal tax under section twenty-five of the Indian Volunteers' Act, 1869;
- (c) carriages or animals belonging to the Government or to the Justices;
- (d) carriages, the wheels of which do not exceed twenty-four inches in diameter;
- (e) animals under eleven hands in height;
- (f) carriages kept for sale by bona fide dealers in such carriages and not used for any other purpose;
- (g) animals used by, or in, any cavalry regiment, or by the Police force.

43. The person in possession of every carriage or animal kept within the Town shall, on or before the first day of January and the first day of July in each year, forward to the office of the Justices, a statement in writing signed by him, containing a description of the carriages and animals in his possession liable to the tax.

Such person shall at the same time pay to the Justices such sum as shall be payable by him for the half-year commencing on the first day of January or July (as the case may be) for the carriages and animals specified in such statement, according to the rates given in the first schedule.

Any person becoming possessed between the first day of January and the first day of July, or between the first day of July and the first day of January, of any carriage or animal so kept, shall, within a week of becoming so possessed, send to the office of the Justices a similar statement, together with the amount payable for the whole of the then current half-year, according to the rates specified in the first schedule.

The Justices may, if they are satisfied that any such carriage or animal has been kept for only a portion of the then current half-year, remit the whole, or such portion thereof as they may think fit, of the amount so payable.

For the purposes of this section a livery stable-keeper shall be deemed to be possessed of every animal in his stables.

44. Whenever any person shall pay to the Justices the amount of the tax which under the two last preceding sections shall be payable by him in respect of all carriages and animals kept within the Town, the Justices shall grant to such person a license to keep within the Town such carriages and animals during the current half-year ending upon the first day of January, or the first day of July which shall occur next after the grant of such license, and no longer.

45. Whoever keeps or is in possession of any carriage or animal without the license required by the two last preceding sections, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable.

46. The Justices, at their discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable-keepers, and other persons keeping carriages for hire, or animals for sale or hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages or animals so kept by such persons, in lieu of the taxes specified in the first schedule.

47. Whoever, having compounded for the payment of a certain sum under the last preceding section, refuses to pay such sum, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such composition, exclusive of the amount so payable.

48. The Justices may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require any person who shall carry on the trade or business of a livery stable-keeper, to produce, for the inspection of the Justices, or of any person authorized by them in that behalf, all books and accounts relating to the business of a livery stable-keeper carried on by the person so carrying on the trade or business.

49. The Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between sunrise and sunset, enter and inspect any stable or carriage-house, or any place wherein they may have reason to believe that there is any carriage or animal liable to taxation; and the Justices may summon any person whom they have reason to believe to be liable to the payment of any tax under sections forty-two and forty-three, or any servant of such person, and may examine such person or servant as to the number and description of the horses and carriages in respect of which such person is liable to be taxed.

50. Whoever neglects or refuses to comply with a notice served under section forty-eight, and whoever hinders or obstructs the Justices or any person appointed by them, from or in entering or inspecting any stable, coach-house, or place, in the manner provided in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

51. The Justices shall, from time to time, cause to be prepared and entered in distinct columns, in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, and to be open to the inspection of any person who shall apply for leave to inspect the same, a list of the persons to whom during the then current period of six months a license has been granted under section forty-four, and of the carriages and animals in respect of which the same has been granted.

PART II.—Of the Tax on Professions, Trades, and Callings.

52. Every person who shall, within the Town, exercise any of the professions, trades, or callings specified in the second schedule, shall yearly take out a license, and shall pay for the same such sum as is in the second schedule mentioned.

The Justices may in their discretion remit any portion of the sum so payable if they are satisfied that any such person has exercised any such profession, trade, or calling, for a portion of the year only.

53. The license mentioned in the last preceding section shall be granted by the Justices, or by some person authorized by them in that behalf, and shall specify, the date of the grant thereof, the name of the person to whom the license is granted, the profession, trade, or calling for which the license is granted, and the sum paid for such license.

Such license shall have effect and continue in force from the commencement of the year in which it is granted until the thirty-first day of December next after the day of the granting thereof, and no longer.

54. Whoever exercises any trade, profession, or calling without the license required by section fifty-two, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable.

55. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall determine under which of the classes mentioned in the second schedule, every person to whom a license may be granted shall be assessed, and may in his discretion remit the payment of license tax either in whole or in part to any person classified under Classes 5 or 6 of the second schedule.

56. Any person may, within fourteen days of the date of his being informed of the class under which he has been assessed as determined in the last preceding section, appeal against such assessment by delivering at the office of the Justices an application in writing stating the grounds of appeal; and such appeal shall be heard and determined by not less than three Justices of the Peace other than Executive Officers of the Justices.

No such appeal shall be heard unless the amount of the license assessed as aforesaid has been deposited with the Justices.

If no appeal be made within the time limited as aforesaid, the decision of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be final.

57. The Justices may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require the occupier of any house to forward to them a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons residing in such house, and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations.

58. Whoever being the occupier of any house, fails to forward such list when required to do so under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding hundred rupees.

59. As soon as may be after the first day of January in every year, the Chairman shall prepare a list of the persons licensed Justices may compound for carriages with livery stable-keepers and others.

Power to compel production of the books of livery stable-keepers.

Power to inspect stable, &c., and to summon persons liable to the payment of the tax.

List of persons licensed to be entered in a book.

Persons exercising certain professions, trades, and callings in the Town, to take out a license.

License to be granted by Justices, and to specify particulars.

Chairman or Vice-Chairman to classify all persons required by this Act to be licensed.

Appeals against assessment of licenses.

Justices may require list of persons in any house.

Penalty

Chairman to prepare a list of all persons required by this Act to be licensed.

under sections fifty-two and fifty-three which shall state the profession, trade, or calling of every such person therein named;

the class under which he is assessed;
and the sum paid by him in respect of his license;
and such list shall be kept in the office of the Justices, and be open to public inspection at all reasonable times.

PART III.—Of the Registration of Carts.

60. Every cart kept or used within the Town, or the Suburbs, or Howrah, shall be registered in the office of the Justices with the name and residence of the owner, and shall have affixed thereto the number of such registration in such manner as the Justices shall direct.

61. Whoever keeps or is in possession of a cart not duly registered as required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such registration, exclusive of the amount so payable; and whoever, being the owner or driver of any cart, shall fail to affix the registration number required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

62. The registration of carts, under the last preceding section, shall be made and the numbers assigned half-yearly, on or after the first day of January and the first day of July in each year, upon such days as the Justices shall appoint, and a fee of four rupees shall be paid for each registration.

The Justices may in their discretion remit any portion of the fee so payable if they are satisfied that the cart hereinbefore required to be registered has been kept or used as in the last preceding section mentioned for a portion of the half-year only.

When any registered cart is transferred within any half-year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred; and a fee of four annas shall be paid for every such last mentioned registration.

One-sixth of the total net proceeds of the fees half-yearly received by the Justices for the registration of carts, after deducting charges incurred in and about such registration, shall be paid half-yearly by the Justices to the municipality of the Suburbs, and one-twelfth of such proceeds to the municipality of Howrah.

Provided that it shall be in the discretion of the Local Government, from time to time, to alter the proportion of the said proceeds required by this section to be paid by the Justices to the municipalities of the Suburbs and of Howrah respectively, and to prescribe such other proportions as to it shall seem proper.

63. The last two preceding sections shall not apply to carts—

- (a) which are the property of the Government,
- (b) which are the property of the Justices, the Municipal Commissioners of the Suburbs, or of Howrah.
- (c) or which are kept at any place more than eight miles distant from Government House, and are only temporarily and casually used within the Town, the Suburbs, or Howrah.

64. If any person owns or keeps any cart hereinbefore required to be registered, without having caused the same to be registered, the Justices or any Officer authorized by them in that behalf, may seize such cart (provided the same be not employed at the time of the seizure in the conveyance of passengers or goods), together with the animals or cattle drawing the same, and may detain them;

On failure to register, the Justices may seize and sell cart and animals.

and all Police Officers shall, on the application of the Justices or their Officers as aforesaid, seize and detain any such cart, animals, or cattle.

If the cart, animals, or cattle so seized be not claimed within ten days, they may be sold by auction by order of a Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied to the expenses incurred on account of the seizure, detention, and sale; and the surplus (if any), if not claimed within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Municipal Fund of Calcutta.

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE RATES.

PART I.—Of Imposing the Rates.

65. The Justices shall, as provided in section forty-one, impose upon all houses and land within the Town the following annual rates, which shall be calculated on the annual value of the said houses and land—

- (a) a House-rate, not exceeding ten per cent.;
- (b) a Water-rate, not exceeding six per cent. when the houses and land are situated in streets supplied with filtered water in the manner provided by section one hundred and six, and not exceeding five per cent. when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied.
- (c) a Police rate, not exceeding three per cent.;
- (d) a Lighting rate, not exceeding two per cent.

The Justices may impose upon all houses and land situated within the boundaries notified under section one hundred and forty-five an annual Drainage rate, not exceeding two and a half per cent. of their annual value.

The House-rate, Water-rate, and Drainage-rate shall be payable by the owners of the houses and land.

The Police and Lighting rates shall be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land.

All the rates hereinbefore mentioned shall be payable by quarterly instalments.

The House-rate shall be payable on the first of April, the first of July, the first of October, and the first of January, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

The Police, Lighting, and Water-rates shall be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarters.

PART II.—Of the Owner's Rates.

66. If the annual value of any land as assessed under Chapter V, shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference.

If assessment be made at a higher annual value than the amount paid by the occupier, owner may recover difference from him.

between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

67. For the purposes of the House-rate and Water-rate, the owner of any land upon which any house is situated shall be deemed to be the owner of such house, and shall be liable to the House-rate and Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

68. Where any house or land, whereon the rate is assessed under section sixty-five, has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person assessed to the said rate shall be entitled to a remission of so much thereof, not exceeding one-half of the rate for that year, as shall be proportionate to the number of days such house or land has been vacant, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Provided that no remission shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

69. Whenever the person from or by whom the Water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the occupier of the house or land in respect of which the Water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may, if there be but one occupier of such house or land, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the Water-rate so paid, and if there be more than one occupier, may recover from each of such occupiers, such sum as shall bear to three-fourths of the entire amount of Water-rate so paid, the same proportion as the value of the portion of such house or land in the occupation of such occupier, bears to the entire value of such house or land.

70. Whenever the owner of any land on which any house is situated shall not be the owner of such house, and shall have paid the House-rate or Water-rate for such land and for such house, he may recover from the owner of such house the entire amount of the House-rate or Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

71. Every person who, under either of the two last preceding sections, or under section sixty-six, may be entitled to recover any sum from any occupier or other person, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house or land in respect of which such sum is payable.

72. Whenever any person holding any house or land at a rent from the person liable to pay the Water-rate has or may sublet the same to different persons holding in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

73. Three-fourths of the Water-rate payable in respect of any house or land shall be remitted for the period during which such house or land may remain unoccupied, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

74. Whenever any quarterly instalment of Water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such Water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

75. Whenever any house or land, which shall have been unoccupied, shall be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable in respect of such house or land, such amount of Water-rate as shall bear to the entire quarterly instalment of Water-rate for such house or land, the same proportion as the residue of such quarter, after such house or land shall be occupied, bears to an entire quarter.

76. Whenever the occupier of any house or land shall, pending any quarter, cease to occupy the house or land, he shall be liable to repay to the person by whom the Water-rate of the house or land is payable, such part only of the quarterly instalment of Water-rate payable in respect of such quarter, as shall bear to three-fourths of such quarterly instalment the same proportion as the period which shall have elapsed from the first day of such quarter till he cease to occupy shall bear to the entire quarter; and in case he shall have repaid to the person who shall have paid such quarterly instalment to the Justices any sum greater than such part, he shall be entitled to recover from such person any sum which he may have paid in excess of such part, or to deduct the same from any rent due to such person.

PART III.—Of the Occupier's Rates.

77. The Police-rate and the Lighting-rate shall be payable by the occupier of the house or land on which the said rates shall have been assessed, and the said rates shall be payable in advance by the said occupier on the dates mentioned in section sixty-five.

Whenever any quarterly instalment of the said rates shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such instalment shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

78. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Justices may impose the Police and Lighting-rates upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

79. If the Police and Lighting-rates are paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier the entire amount of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

80. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

81. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land, liable to rate under this Act, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body.

82. All assessments made by the Justices prior to the passing of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Justices, and such land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

83. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house or land, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though such period has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment.

84. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in section eighty-two, any such house or land shall receive substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices shall, as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house or land, cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though the current period of assessment has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment;

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section eighty-three.

85. The annual value assessed by the Justices as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

- (a) the name of the owner;
- (b) the name of the occupier, if the occupier is the person liable to pay the rate;
- (c) a designation of the property, sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;
- (d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon; and
- (e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

86. The Justices shall from time to time make a valuation or measurement of all houses and land within the Town, and for such purpose may divide the Town into such and so many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.
 87. The Justices may require the owner or occupier of any house or land to furnish them with returns of the measurements and of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between the hour of seven in the forenoon and sunset enter on to, and inspect, survey, and measure such house or land.

Penalty.
 88. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required so to do, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Justice of the Peace, or any person appointed by the Justices as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such house or land, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.
 89. When the valuation or measurement of any of the districts of the Town, into which it may have been divided by the Justices, shall have been completed, the Justices shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book, or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the English daily newspapers, and in two vernacular newspapers, published within the Town, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the Town; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be, shall permit every person being the owner or occupier of any house or land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person not being such owner or occupier, to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

Notice when valuation made for first time or increased.
 90. The Justices shall, in all cases in which any house or land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any house or land previously assessed is increased, give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same, and when the valuation is increased as aforesaid, the said notice shall state the grounds of such increase.

Appeals.
 91. Appeals against any assessment made by the Justices under this Chapter shall lie

- (a) to not less than three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices;
- (b) to the Court of Small Causes.

Notice to be given by person appealing
 92. Any person desiring to appeal against any assessment made under this chapter, shall, within fifteen days of the notice referred to in section eighty-nine, deliver at the office of the Justices a notice in writing, stating the grounds of appeal, and also informing the Justices whether he intends to appeal under clause (a) or (b) of the last preceding section.

No appeal shall lie as hereinbefore provided unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices; and unless the appeal is preferred by the person who, at the time the appeal is made, shall be recorded in the said book as the owner of the house or land to which the appeal refers, or by the occupier thereof, or by the agent of either of them.

Notice of day for hearing appeals.
 93. The Justices shall give notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to hear the appeals under clause (a).

Every appeal under clause (b) shall be presented to the Small Cause Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice at the office of the Justices under the last preceding section.

Assessment by Justices when to be final.
 94. The assessment by the Justices of any rate, when no appeal therefrom is made as hereinbefore provided, and the adjudication of any appeal under the two last preceding sections, shall be final and conclusive.

Assessments to be entered in assessment book.
 95. The assessments made by the Justices in accordance with the provisions of section eighty-six, subject to such alterations as may from time to time thereafter be duly made on appeal, shall be entered in the assessment book, and the rate calculated on the said assessment shall, subject to such alterations as aforesaid, be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated; and until such date the old assessment shall continue in force, notwithstanding that the period for which the old assessment was made may have expired.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.
 96. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any house or land liable to the rate, after giving notice, to any person interested in the making of the amendment, of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice, when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person or any house or land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the assessment, without notice:

and if any amendment shall be made, in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Justices, to be left at their office three clear days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment; and the provisions of sections ninety-one and ninety-two, shall, so far as may be practicable, apply to such appeal.

New assessment book need not be prepared every three years.
 97. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may adopt the valuation or measurement and assessment contained in any assessment book for any previous period, with such alterations as may, in particular cases, be deemed necessary, as the valuation, or measurement and assessment for the period next following;

Provided that sections eighty-seven, eighty-nine, ninety, ninety-one, ninety-two, ninety-three, ninety-four and ninety-five shall, as far as may be practicable, be applicable to such valuation or measurement and assessment, and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

CHAPTER VI.

OF LEVYING THE RATES.

98. When any rate is due, the Justices shall cause to be presented, to the person liable to the payment thereof, a bill for the sum due, which shall also contain a statement of the period, and a description of the property for which the rate is charged.

Provided that whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessment on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

99. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Justices may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the third schedule, or to the like effect; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Justices, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Justices.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Justices shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee, not exceeding one rupee, shall be paid by such person.

Such fee shall be added to the amount of the rate in respect of which the notice is given, and if not duly paid, shall be levied in the same manner as such rate may be levied.

100. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing, in the form contained in the fifth schedule, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

101. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Justices, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Justices, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

All sales of property under this section shall, so far as may be practicable, be regulated by the procedure now in force or hereafter to be in force of the Court of Small Causes with respect to sale after distress.

Fees shall be payable upon distrains under this Act according to the rates set forth in the Table of Fees in the fifth schedule.

102. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

103. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house or land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Justices may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the house or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him.

Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any house or land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

104. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any court of competent jurisdiction.

105. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

106. The Justices shall provide a supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such main and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets of the Town, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town for domestic purposes.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

107. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals, or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for fountains, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

108. The Justices shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and nine in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain in their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than ten feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall daily, from the hour of seven in the forenoon to nine in the forenoon, and from the hour of five in the afternoon to six in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced, to a height of not less than fifty feet.

109. The Justices may supply water through a meter, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Justices in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Justices may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works, of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Justices.

110. The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, one thousand gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Justices as Water rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Justices for domestic use through a ferrule of such size as the Justices may determine. If the Justices have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Justices to provide a water-meter at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid, shall be paid for by him at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Justices for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section.

111. It shall be at the option of the Justices to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and where-Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for latrines.
 ever filtered water has been already supplied to such latrines or water-closets, it shall be lawful for the Justices, at their own expense, and not otherwise, to stop the supply of filtered water, and in lieu thereof to provide unfiltered water for such latrines and water-closets.

112. All latrines and water-closets now supplied, or hereafter to be supplied, with water, filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Justices shall direct; and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

113. Every person paying the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Justices, for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use; provided that the Justices shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

The communication-pipes leading the water from the service pipes of the Justices into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and material as the Justices shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

114. The communication-pipes and all fittings thereon leading water from the service pipes of the Justices into any house or land, and the pipes, works, and fittings inside the house or land, must in all cases be executed subject to the inspection and to the satisfaction of the Justices.

Such communication-pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Justices, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Justices and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Justices;

and the Justices may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed;

and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water rate.

115. The Officer authorised in that behalf by the Justices may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid, in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain if there be any waste or misuse of such water;

and if such Officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the Justices may forthwith turn off the water from such house or land.

116. In the event of any pipes, works, or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land, being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Justices authorised in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Justices may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land.

117. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Justices may turn off the water Communication-pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions and at expense of householder.

Communication-pipes, &c., must be made to satisfaction of Officer of the Justices.

Power to enter premises.

When pipes are out of repair, Justices may turn off water.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

from the house or land in respect of which such rate or charge is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such house or land, or by such means as the Justices may think fit, and may recover the expenses of turning off the water from such person;

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may otherwise have incurred.

118. The occupier of any house or land in which water supplied by the Justices under this Act is, from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier, wasted, or in whose house or land the pipes, works, and fittings for the supply of water shall be found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

119. Any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

120. It shall be within the discretion of the Justices to allow any person, not residing within the limits of the Town, to take or be supplied with water for his domestic use on such terms as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time prescribe. And any person taking or causing to be taken for use outside the limits of the Town water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

121. It shall not be lawful for any person to execute any work in connection with the laying on of water from any service pipes of the Justices to any house or land, unless he shall hold a license from the Justices authorising him to act as a plumber under such rules and regulations as the Justices may from time to time lay down, and which shall be printed on the back of his license. Any person licensed by the Justices as a plumber, who shall infringe or break any rules or regulations under which he holds his license, shall be liable to have his license at once cancelled by the Justices; and shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

122. Any owner or occupier of any house or land who shall cause or allow works, pipes, or fittings for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Justices to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Justices, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Justices' service pipes.

123. Before a connection for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Justices to any house or land is sanctioned by the Justices, the Engineer of the Justices shall cause all the works, pipes, and fittings within the said house or land to be inspected by a duly qualified officer; and the cost of such inspection shall be payable in advance at such rates as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct, by the person applying for the said connection; and until the Engineer of the Justices shall have certified that the said works, pipes, and fittings have been executed and put up in a satisfactory manner, a connection with the Justices' service pipes shall not be permitted.

124. The connection with the service pipes of the Justices, as also the laying of supply pipes under any public road or thoroughfare, shall be executed by an officer of the Justices authorised in that behalf and by no other person; and the expense of making such connection shall be payable in advance by the person applying for the same, at such rates as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct.

125. When the Engineer of the Justices shall certify that any licensed plumber has executed any works or put up any fittings within any house or land for the supply of water from the pipes of the Justices in a careless and negligent manner, or made use of bad materials or fittings, the said licensed plumber shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and upon a third conviction shall be liable to have his license cancelled at the discretion of the Justices.

126. Any person who shall unlawfully flush, draw off, divert, or take water from any water-works belonging to or under the management or control of the said Justices, or from any water or streams by which such water-works are supplied, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

127. Any occupier holding direct from the owner of any house may, by notice in writing signed by him, require the owner of such house to perform all such necessary works as may be required for bringing into such house a supply of water for domestic use.

Every such notice shall contain an agreement on the part of such occupier to pay interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, calculated from the date of the completion of the works, on the cost of such works during the residue of his term of occupation.

Provided that, if the house and the premises belonging thereto shall not abut upon some street in which there is a supply-main, such occupier shall, in the agreement, undertake to pay the cost of connecting the house with the nearest supply-main.

128. If any owner shall not, within the space of three months from the service of such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, cause such necessary works as aforesaid to be completed, the occupier, who shall have given such notice, may cause the same to be completed, and may deduct from the rent payable by him the cost of such works, save so much of such cost as may be incurred in connecting with a supply-main any house and premises belonging thereto which may not abut upon a street in which there may be a supply-main; and such deduction shall be made by six equal monthly instalments.

Interest on each such instalment shall be payable to the owner by the occupier at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, from the time when it shall have been so deducted.

129. The supply of water to a house shall not be deemed sufficient for domestic use unless it provides two taps in each floor of such house, one other such tap in the cookroom of or attached to such house, and one other such tap in the premises, or in or near the stables belonging to such house, and the necessary works for such taps.

But if the annual rent of such house, with the land attached thereto, shall be less than three hundred rupees, it shall be sufficient to provide one tap only within the said premises, and the necessary works for the same.

130. No works for introducing a supply of water to any house shall be commenced by the owner without sending a specification and estimate of the cost thereof to the occupier, nor by the occupier without sending such specification and estimate to the owner.

131. In case there shall be any difference between the owner and the occupier respecting the cost or the sufficiency of the proposed works, either the owner or the occupier may refer such difference to the Justices, and the written award of the Engineer of the Justices, or of any officer authorized by them in that behalf, shall be binding on the owner and the occupier.

132. There shall be payable to the Justices in respect of every such reference a fee at the rate of two rupees for every hundred rupees of the monthly rent of the land in respect of the water-supply to which the difference may have arisen:—

Provided that such fee shall in no case exceed ten rupees, and shall be paid by the person making the reference.

133. Any occupier, on whose requisition as aforesaid any works for the supply of water shall have been introduced to any house, shall, during his term of occupancy, bear the expense of keeping such works in substantial repair.

134. Any owner to whom any sum is payable under sections one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house in respect of which the expenses have been incurred.

135. All public tanks, reservoirs, cisterns, wells, aqueducts, conduits, tunnels, pipes, pumps, and other water-works, whether made, laid, or erected at the cost of the Justices or otherwise, and all bridges, buildings, engines, works, materials, and things connected therewith, or appertaining thereto, and also any adjacent land (not being private property) appertaining to any public tank, shall become vested in the Justices.

Water fouled by offensive trades.

136. If any person, being the proprietor of any gas-works, or being engaged or employed in the manufacture or supply of gas, or being the occupier or owner of any place where an offensive trade or manufacture is carried on, wilfully does any act connected with the said business whereby the water in any stream, tank, reservoir, well, cistern, conduit, aqueduct, or other water-works belonging to the Justices is fouled or corrupted, the Justices may, after twenty-four hours' notice in writing, lay open and examine any pipes, conduits, and works belonging to such person;

and if, upon such examination, it appears that the water has been fouled or corrupted by anything proceeding from, or contained in, the pipes, conduits, or works examined, the expenses of such examination shall be paid by the person to whom such pipes, conduits, or works belong, or under whose management or control they may be;

137. The water-rate and all monies collected, received, or recovered for or in respect of the supply of water or the execution of works, and all fines connected therewith; or in any respect relating to the water-supply, shall be applied by the said Justices in defraying the expense of making, extending, or maintaining the said water-works, in paying the interest of money borrowed for the said water-works, and in the liquidation of debts incurred connected therewith, or for some other purpose connected with the supply of water.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF THE POLICE BUDGET.

138. The Commissioner of Police shall, on or before the first day of September in each year, transmit to the Justices a Budget or Estimate of the expense of the Police Force for the year commencing on the first day of January then next ensuing.

139. The Police Budget shall show the various heads of the estimated expenditure of the Police Force, and the intended distribution of the Police Force during the year to which it relates.

140. The Chairman shall forthwith, upon the receipt of any such Budget, cause the same to be printed, and a copy thereof, as far as may be practicable, sent by post or otherwise to each of the Justices of the Peace resident within twenty miles of Government House; and shall lay every such Budget before the Justices at the next quarterly meeting of the Justices, or at a special general meeting.

The Justices shall thereupon forward such Budget to the Local Government, with such remarks as to them may seem fit, and it shall be in the discretion of the Local Government to pass, or to reject, or to modify, the estimates of all or any sums entered in the same.

141. If during any period for which a Power to bring in a Police Budget shall have supplemental Budget. been passed and submitted as aforesaid, it shall appear that the amount provided by such Budget is insufficient to defray the necessary expense of the Police Force for such period, the Commissioner of Police may prepare a supplemental Budget for such period, and the provisions of the last three preceding sections shall apply to such supplemental Budget.

142. The amount of the estimates passed shall, Amount of estimates to be paid to Government. after deducting therefrom such amount as may from time to time be allowed by the Government from the General Revenues towards the maintenance of the Police Force, be paid to the Local Government, or to such Officer as the Local Government may from time to time direct, by the Justices out of the annual proceeds of the Police rate; and it shall not be lawful for the Justices to expend from the said proceeds any sums for purposes other than those provided in the Budget of the Commissioner of Police and duly sanctioned by the Local Government under section one hundred and forty.

143. On or before the first day of April in every year, the Commissioner of Police shall present to the Chairman, to be laid before the Justices at their next monthly meeting, an account of the expense of the Police Force for the year ending the thirty-first day of December then next preceding, and in case the amount, which shall during such year have been paid to the Local Government under the provisions hereinbefore contained, shall not have been expended in the maintenance of the Police Force, the balance remaining unexpended shall be deemed to have been paid by the Justices in or towards discharging the expense of the Police Force during the ensuing year.

OF THE SYSTEM OF DRAINAGE FOR THE TOWN AND ITS ENVIRONS.

144. The Justices may carry out such a complete system of sewerage and drainage within the Town as they may think fit, subject to the approval of the Local Government, and to such alterations as may from time to time be ordered by it.

145. The Local Government may determine what portions, if any, of the environs of the Town shall be included in the said system of sewerage and drainage, and may declare the boundaries thereof in the Calcutta Gazette, and for the purposes of the Drainage rate the land within such boundaries as aforesaid shall be deemed to be part of the Town.

CHAPTER X.

OF THE REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

146. The Justices shall keep in their office a Register of all births and deaths in the Town, and for this purpose shall divide the Town into such and so many districts as they shall think fit, and for every such district shall appoint a person to be a Registrar of births and deaths within such district; and the Justices shall at each burning ghât and native burial ground appoint a Sub-Registrar for the registration of all corpses brought to such burning ghât or burial ground for cremation or interment.

147. Every Registrar shall dwell within the district of which he is Registrar, and every Sub-Registrar shall dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or native burial ground for which he is appointed; and they shall cause their names, with the addition of Registrar for the district, or Sub-Registrar for the burning ghât or native burial ground for which they shall be so appointed, to be placed in some conspicuous place on or near the outer door of their own dwelling-houses; and the Justices shall cause to be printed and published a list containing the name and place of abode of every Registrar and Sub-Registrar in the Town.

148. The Justices shall cause to be prepared and printed a sufficient number of Register books for making entries of all births and deaths which may take place in the Town, according to the forms prescribed in the seventh and eighth schedules, and the pages of such book shall be numbered progressively from the beginning to the end.

149. Every Registrar shall inform himself of every birth and of every death which shall happen in his district, and shall ascertain and register, as soon as conveniently may be after the event, without fee or reward, the particulars required to be registered according to the forms in the seventh and eighth schedules respectively, touching every such birth and every such death, as the case may be, which shall not have been already registered, every such entry being made in order from the beginning to the end of the book.

150. The father or mother of every child born in the Town, or in the case of the death, illness, or absence, or inability of the father and mother, the occupier of the house in which such child shall have been born, shall, within eight days after the day of the birth, give information to the Registrar of the district, according to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, of the several particulars by this Act required to be known and registered touching the birth of such child.

151. Some one of the persons present at the death, or in attendance during the last illness, of every person dying in the Town, or, in case of the death, illness, inability or default of all such persons, the occupier of the house, or if the occupier be the person who shall have died, some person living in the house in which such death shall have happened, shall forthwith give information to the Registrar of the district, or Sub-Registrar at the burning ghât or burial ground, according to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, of the several particulars hereby required to be known and registered touching the death of such person:

Provided that, in lieu of the information hereinbefore stated, in the case of persons dying in any hospital it shall be the duty of the Medical Officer in charge forthwith to send a notice in writing to the Justices in the form prescribed in the eighth schedule of the occurrence of any death in the hospital under his charge.

152. Any person whose duty it shall be to give information to a Registrar or Sub-Registrar under the two last preceding sections, who shall refuse or neglect to give such information, or who shall give false information, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

153. Every person by whom the information contained in any Register of births or deaths under this Act shall have been given, shall sign in the Register his name, description, and place of abode; and no such registration shall be deemed to be complete or of any effect until such person shall have so signed it:

Person giving information to sign the Register.

Provided that the Registrar may fill up and sign the Register for any person who is unable to write:

Provided further that in the case of a person dying in any hospital the registration of the death shall be deemed to be complete on receipt by the Justices of the written notice from the Medical Officer in charge of the said hospital prescribed in section one hundred and fifty-one.

154. It shall not be lawful for any sexton, keeper of a cemetery, burial ground, or burning ghât to bury, burn, or allow to be buried or burned, any corpse, unless the said corpse is accompanied by a certificate in the form specified in the eighth schedule: and signed by a Registrar or Sub-Registrar appointed under section one hundred and forty-six, or by a Medical Officer.

Corpse must be accompanied by a certificate before it is buried or burnt.

155. Whoever buries, burns, or allows to be buried or burnt, a corpse without the certificate mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Penalty.

OF TAKING A CENSUS.

156. At such times and in such manner as the Justices may from time to time appoint, an account shall be taken of the number of persons who, at the time of taking such account, shall be within the Town, and the persons employed in taking such account shall set down the several particulars respecting the same which are hereinafter prescribed.

Account of population to be taken.

157. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall superintend the taking of such account, and shall cause to be prepared and issued, for the use of the persons to be employed, such forms and instructions as he shall, with the sanction of the Local Government, deem necessary; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Chairman or Vice-Chairman to superintend the taking an account of the population.

158. Each Police division of the Town shall be formed into one or more enumeration districts.

Enumeration Districts.

159. At such times as shall be appointed under section one hundred and fifty-six, and as shall be notified in the Calcutta Gazette by the Local Government, every occupier of a dwelling-house, or of any part of a dwelling-house distinctly occupied, and every person to whom a form, as mentioned in section one hundred and sixty-one, may have been delivered, shall afford such information in regard to all persons who were abiding in his house, or in the place under his charge, on the night immediately preceding, and in such manner as may under this Act be required of them.

160. The Chairman shall select a sufficient number of competent persons to act as enumerators;

Persons to be employed as enumerators and every such enumerator, under the direction of the Chairman, shall visit every house within his district, and, except as hereinafter provided, shall take an account in writing of the name, sex, age, caste, nationality, and occupation of every living person who shall abide therein on the night immediately preceding the day appointed as aforesaid, and shall also take an account of the occupied houses, and the houses then being built and therefore uninhabited, and also of all other uninhabited houses within his district, and in all respects conform to, and obey, the instructions which may be issued to him by the Chairman in this behalf.

Provided that, in the case of females, no account shall be taken either of their name or age.

161. The Chairman, when he deems such a course to be advisable, may cause such a form as shall be sanctioned by the Justices in meeting, subject to the approval of the Local Government, to be delivered to any occupier of any dwelling-house who may be able to write, and such occupier shall fill in all the particulars required in the form on the day to be appointed, and shall deliver the same to the person authorized to demand the same.

Forms for Census.

162. Any military or naval Officers in command of bodies of military or naval men, or of vessels of war, or any master of a merchant vessel, or captain of a vessel or boat, or any person in charge of a lunatic asylum, hospital, or prison, or of any public or private charitable or scholastic institution, or any keepers of hotels or lodging-houses, shall, if required, act as enumerators for the purpose of taking account of persons under their command or charge, or abiding in their houses, on the night immediately preceding the day to be appointed.

Military and naval officers and certain others, if required, to act as enumerators

163. Whoever, being required under section one hundred and sixty-one to fill in any form, or under section one hundred and sixty to act as an enumerator, fails so to do, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence.

Penalty.

Every person so required to act as an enumerator shall receive and conform to all instructions in writing which may be issued to him by the Chairman in that behalf.

164. The Chairman shall obtain, by such ways and means as shall appear to him best adapted for the purpose, and as shall be sanctioned by the Justices in meeting, returns of the particulars required by this Act with respect to all houseless persons, and all persons who, during the said night preceding the day to be appointed, were on out-door night duty, or for any other reason were not abiding in any house of which account is to be taken by the enumerators.

165. The enumerators shall fill in all forms for those persons who are unable to write.

Enumerators to fill in for those unable to write.

CHAPTER XI.

OF CONSERVANCY AND IMPROVEMENT.

PART I.—Of the Streets.

166 All public streets in the Town (not being the property and kept under the control of the Government) and the pavements, stones, and other materials thereof, and also all erections, materials, implements, and other things provided for such streets shall vest in and belong to the Justices.

167. The Justices, making due compensation to the owners and occupiers of any houses or land which may be required for any such purposes, may

- (a) lay out and make new streets;
- (b) build and construct new bridges;
- (c) turn, divert, discontinue, or stop up any public street; and
- (d) widen, open, enlarge, or otherwise improve any such street.

For the purposes of this section the Justices in meeting may purchase any land necessary for houses and buildings to form any public street, or for the improvement of any public street.

168. The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, from time to time cause the public streets to be maintained and repaired, and for such purpose may do all things necessary for the public safety and convenience.

169. The Justices shall cause the public streets of the Town to be sufficiently lighted; and the sum applicable annually to the current expenses of lighting the said streets shall be the gross proceeds of the said Lighting-rate and no more; but the Justices may expend, out of the Municipal Fund such further sums as may from time to time be requisite for the purchase, setting up, cleaning and maintenance of lamps, lamp-posts, pipes, and other necessary apparatus.

170. The Justices shall cause the public streets to be regularly swept and cleansed; and the dust, dirt, filth, and refuse of every kind whatsoever found thereon to be collected and removed.

171. The Justices may cause any number of moveable or fixed dust-boxes or other convenient receptacles, wherein dust, dirt, filth, and refuse, arising from the ordinary domestic use of houses, may be temporarily deposited until removed and carried away, to be provided and placed in proper and convenient situations, and may require the occupiers of house in public streets to cause all such matter as aforesaid to be deposited daily, or otherwise periodically, in such receptacles and between such hours as they may from time to time direct.

172. Every person who, after such receptacles have been provided, and after such requisition as above mentioned, shall deposit, or cause or permit to be deposited, any such matter in any public street, except in such receptacles, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

173. Whoever deposits, or suffers to be deposited, any dust, dirt, filth, or refuse of any kind whatsoever, in any public street, or on any public quay, jetty, ghaut, or landing place, or on any part of a river bank, whether above or below high-water mark, except in such places, and in such manner, and at such hours, as shall be fixed by the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every such offence.

Penalty.

174. Whoever causes or allows the water of any sink or sewer, or any other offensive liquid matter belonging to him or being in his house or land, to run, drain, or be thrown or put upon any street (public or otherwise), or causes or allows any offensive matter from any sewer or privy, to run, drain, or be thrown into, a surface drain in any street (public or otherwise), shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every such offence.

175. The Justices, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, and so far as they may deem requisite for the public convenience, shall cause the chief public streets to be watered; and for that purpose may provide such works and engines as they may think necessary.

Penalty for allowing sewerage to flow on streets.

176 Whoever builds any wall, or erects, or sets up any fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment, in any public street, or in or over any drain, sewer, or aqueduct, after the commencement of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and the Justices shall have power to remove any such obstruction or encroachment, as also all walls, fences, rails, posts, or other obstruction or encroachment erected in any public street, or in or over any open drain, sewer, or aqueduct, subsequent to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the person erecting the same, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.

Penalty for making obstructions in public streets.

Power to remove.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the Justices from allowing any temporary erections in any public street on occasions of festivals and ceremonies, or for building purposes.

177 Every person who wishes to make or lay out any new street, shall give notice in writing thereof to the Justices, showing the intended level and width of such street; and the level and width of every such street shall be fixed or approved by the Justices; and the Justices may, if they think fit, cause any such street laid out or made at a level or width otherwise than in accordance with the level or width so fixed or approved as aforesaid, to be altered; or may cause any house, erected in any such street, otherwise than in accordance with such level and width, to be altered, or, if necessary, removed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person offending.

Penalty for persons laying out new streets.

If no such level or width be fixed, and no approval or disapproval of the level or width proposed be signified by the Justices within one month from the delivery of the aforesaid notice at the office of the Justices, the intended street may be laid out and made upon the level and of the width specified in the notice.

178. Whoever lays out, makes, or builds upon, any such street, otherwise than in accordance with the level and width so fixed or approved, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

179. If any street or any part thereof, be not levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Justices, they may, by notice in writing to the respective owners or occupiers of the land fronting, adjoining, or abutting upon, such parts thereof as may need to be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered, require them to level, metal, pave, flag, channel, and sewer the same within a time to be specified in such notice; and upon non-compliance, the Justices may, if they think fit, execute the works mentioned or referred to therein:

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners in default according to the frontage of their respective lands, and in such proportion as shall be settled by the Justices, or, in case of dispute, as shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses;

Provided that, after such street shall have been so levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled and sewered, on the requisition of the Justices, or by the Justices as aforesaid, at the expense of the owners, such owners shall have a right to require that the street shall be declared a public street, to be from time to time repaired by the Justices out of the Municipal Fund.

180. If any street be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Justices, they may, if they think fit, by notice in writing put up in any part of such street, declare the same to be a public street, and thereupon the same shall become a public street, and be from time to time repaired by them out of the Municipal Fund.

181. The Justices in meeting shall, from time to time, cause to be put up or painted on a conspicuous part of some house, wall, or place, at or near each end, corner, or entrance of every public street, the name by which such street is to be known; and whoever destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such name, or puts up any name different from that put up by order of the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

182. The Justices may, from time to time, fix a number in a conspicuous place on the outer side of any house or at the entrance of the enclosure thereof; and whoever destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such number, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

183. All doors, gates, bars, and ground-floor windows (whether hung or placed before or after the commencement of this Act), which open upon any public street, shall be hung or placed so as not to open outwards and cause obstruction;

and if any such door, gate, bar, or window be hung or placed so as to open outwards on any such public street, the owner of the house or land to which the same is attached shall, within eight days after notice from the Justices to that effect, cause the same to be altered so as not to open outwards; and if he neglects so to do, the Justices may make such alteration, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by such owner.

184. The owner of every house in any public street shall, within fifteen days after notice from the Justices, put up, and keep in good condition, proper troughs and pipes for catching and carrying the water from the roof and other parts of such house and for discharging the same in such manner as the Justices shall direct; and in default of compliance with such notice within the period aforesaid, such owner shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every day that he shall so make default.

185. The Justices may give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of any house to remove or alter any projection, encroachment, or obstruction, which, after the commencement of this Act, shall be erected or placed against or in front of such house or which has been so erected or placed subsequent to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and such owner or occupier shall within fifteen days after the service of such notice upon him, remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, or alter the same in such manner as shall have been directed by the Justices, and in default thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees; and the Justices in such case may remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction; and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the owner or occupier so making default, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.

Provided that, when the expense shall have been paid by the occupier, except in the case in which such projections, encroachments, or obstructions were made or put up by him, such occupier shall be entitled to deduct the expense of removing or altering the same from the rent payable by him to the owner of the house.

186. The Justices may cause any such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, erected or placed against or in front of any house in any public street, previous to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, to be removed, or altered as they think fit; provided that they give notice of such intended removal or alteration to the occupier of the house against or in front of which such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall be, thirty days before such alteration or removal is begun; and if such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall have been lawfully made, they shall make reasonable compensation to every person who suffers damage by such removal or alteration; and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

187. The Justices may give permission in writing to the owners or occupiers of houses abutting on any public street, or drain or sewer to put up verandahs, balconies, sunshades, weatherframes, and the like, to project from any upper story thereof over any public street, or drain or sewer.

Justices may allow certain projections from houses.

188. The external roofs and walls of huts or other buildings erected or renewed within the Town, after the commencement of this Act, shall not be made of grass, leaves, mats, or other such inflammable materials; and it shall not be lawful for the owner of any hut or other building, in or near any street (public or otherwise), now having an external roof or wall made of any such material, and which is contiguous to or adjoining to any other building, to suffer such roof or wall to remain after the commencement of this Act unless with the consent in writing of the Justices; and whoever makes any external roof or wall of such materials, or suffers any roof or wall made of such materials to continue contrary to the provisions herein contained, and who shall not remove or alter the same within one month after notice given to him for that purpose by the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every day that such roof or wall shall continue.

Roofs and external walls of huts not to be made of inflammable materials.

Penalty.

189. The Justices may give notice to the owner or occupier of any house or land to trim or prune the hedges thereof bordering on any public street to a height not exceeding seven feet; to cut and trim trees overhanging any public street and obstructing the same or causing damage thereto;

and if such notice is not complied with within three days from the date thereof, the Justices may cause such hedges and trees to be cut in the manner required, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the house or land.

190. No person shall deposit any building materials, or make a hole in any public street, without the permission of the Justices in writing; and when such permission is granted to any person, he shall, at his own expense, cause such materials, or such hole, to be sufficiently fenced and enclosed, until the materials are removed or the hole is filled up and otherwise made secure; and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted at night.

No one to deposit materials or make hole in the street.

Penalty.

191. Whoever deposits materials, or makes a hole, without such permission, or fails to fence or enclose, and light, such materials or hole, or does not remove such materials, or fill up such hole, when the permission has been withdrawn, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART II.—Of the Drains.

192. All public sewers and drains, and all sewers, drains, tunnels, and culverts, in, alongside, or under the public streets, whether made at the cost of the Justices or otherwise, and all works, materials, and things appertaining thereto, shall become vested in the Justices.

Public sewers, drains, &c., vested in the Justices.

193. The Justices in making any main or other sewers for the drainage of the Town, may, if necessary, carry such sewers through, across, or under any public street, or any place laid out as, or intended for, a street, or any cellar or vault which may be under any of the public streets, and (after reasonable notice in writing in that behalf) into, through, or under any land whatsoever, making full compensation for any damage done thereby; and if any dispute shall arise with respect to the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Powers of Justices in making public sewers.

194. The Justices shall maintain, and from time to time repair, and as they think fit, enlarge, alter, arch over, or otherwise improve all or any of the sewers and drains vested in them:

and may discontinue, close up, or destroy such of them as they may deem useless or unnecessary.

If by reason of anything done under this section, any person is deprived of the lawful use of any sewer or drain, the Justices shall, at a place within one hundred feet of the sewer or drain, of the use of which he is deprived, provide the means of drainage into some public sewer, tidal river, or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers, and thereupon the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as the Justices shall direct:

and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

195. The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, cause the sewers and drains vested in them to be so constructed, maintained, and kept, as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and to be properly cleared, cleaned, and emptied;

and for the purpose of flushing, cleansing, and emptying the same, may construct and place, either above or underground, such reservoirs, sluices, engines, and other necessary works;

and may also, with the sanction of the local Government, cause all or any of such sewers and drains to communicate with, and be emptied into, any tidal river or other fit place, or cause the refuse from such sewers and drains to be conveyed by a proper channel to the most convenient site for its deposit, and may sell the same for any agricultural or other purpose as may be deemed most expedient, but so that the same shall not become a nuisance.

196. When the contents of any sewer or drain, or any other flow of filth or refuse, are discharged into any river or stream, in the up, or not to be made, the Justices may cause such amendment or alteration to be made in any such drain, privy, or cess-pool, as they think fit;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool was improperly constructed, re-built, or unstopped.

207. Whoever constructs any such drain, privy, or cess-pool, after the commencement of this Act, contrary to the directions and regulations of the Justices, or contrary to the provisions of this Act, or, without the consent of the Justices, constructs, re-builds, or unstops any drain, privy, or cess-pool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up, or not to be made, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Penalty for persons making or altering drains, contrary to the orders of the Justices.

208. The Justices, or any Officer authorized by them in that behalf, may inspect any branch-drain, privy, or cess-pool, and for that purpose, at any time between sunrise and sunset, after one hour's notice in writing to the occupier of the house or land to which such drain, privy, or cess-pool is attached, may enter upon such house or land with such assistants and workmen as are necessary, and cause the ground to be opened where they or he may think fit, doing as little damage as may be;

and if, upon such inspection, it appears that such drain, privy, or cess-pool is not in good order and condition, or that it has been constructed contrary to the provisions of this Act, the expenses of such inspection shall be paid by the person to whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool may belong;

but if the drain, privy, or cess-pool be found to be in proper order and condition, and not to have been constructed in violation of the provisions of this Act, the Justices or Officer as aforesaid shall cause the ground to be closed and made good as soon as may be, and the expenses of opening, closing, and making good such drain, privy, or cess-pool, shall in that case be paid by the Justices.

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by the custom of the country is considered private, except by the agency of women.

209. Whoever throws or puts, or permits his Penalty for throwing rubbish into sewers.

servants to throw or put, any earth, dirt, ashes, garden, kitchen, or stable refuse, or any broken glass or earthen-ware, or other rubbish, or, until suitable sewers shall be provided, any night-soil, into any sewer or drain belonging to the Justices, or into any drain communicating therewith, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

210. No person shall, without the permission of the Justices in writing

No latrine to be constructed within fifty feet of a tank.

construct or keep any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle for filth, sewage, house-drainage, or other offensive matter, within fifty feet of any public tank, or a tank which the inhabitants of any locality are entitled to use. Any person upon whose land any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle so situated shall be now existing or hereafter constructed, shall remove the same within forty-eight hours of the receipt of a written notice from the Justices.

211. Any person failing to comply with the notice mentioned in the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding three rupees, for every day that the latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle remains within the limits aforesaid.

PART III.—Of General Conservancy.

Removal of night-soil.

212. The Justices, from time to time, may appoint

- (a) the hours within which night-soil or other offensive matter may be removed;
- (b) the kind of cart or other receptacle in which it may be removed;
- (c) the route by which such cart or receptacle shall proceed.

213. When the Justices have fixed such hours and given public notice thereof, whoever removes or causes to be removed along any street (public or otherwise) any such offensive matter at any time, except within the hours so fixed, and also, whoever at any time, whether such hours have been fixed by the Justices or not, uses for any such purpose any cart, carriage, or other receptacle or vessel, other than that approved and sanctioned by the Justices, or slops or spills any such offensive matter in the removal thereof, or does not carefully sweep and clean every place in which any such offensive matter has been slopped or spilled, or places or sets down in any public place any vessel containing such offensive matter, or drives, or takes, or causes to be driven, or taken, any cart, carriage, receptacle, or vessel used for any such purpose as aforesaid, through any street (public or otherwise), or by any route other than, from time to time, by public notice appointed for that purpose by the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every such offence.

Penalty.

214. The Justices shall, from time to time,

Places of deposit for filth.

appoint or provide places for the deposit of dust, dirt, filth, and any other refuse whatsoever collected and removed in accordance with this Act;

and for keeping all cattle, carts, implements, and other things required for the above or any of the purposes of this Act.

215. Whoever, being the occupier of any house

Penalty. or land, keeps or suffers to be kept any dirt, dust, filth, or refuse of any kind whatsoever for more than twenty-four hours, otherwise than in a proper receptacle, or suffers such receptacle to be in a filthy or noxious state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

216. All dirt, dust, filth, and any other refuse whatsoever, collected from the streets (public or otherwise), houses, privies, sewers, and cess-pools shall belong to the Justices, who may sell or dispose of the same as they may think proper, and the money arising from the sale thereof shall form part of the Municipal Fund.

217. If any house or land, by reason of abandonment, or of disputed ownership, or other cause, shall remain untenanted, and thereby become a resort of idle and disorderly persons; or become in a filthy or unwholesome state; or be complained of by any two or more of the neighbours as a nuisance, the Justices, after due enquiry, may cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, or to the person claiming, or believed to be the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door of the house or some conspicuous part of the land, requiring the persons concerned therein, whoever they may be, to secure, enclose, clean, or clear the same;

and if such notice shall not be complied with within eight days, the Justices shall cause the necessary work to be executed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner, or, in case of abandonment or disputed ownership, by the sale of any material found upon such house or land, and the provisions of section two hundred and forty-four shall be applicable to such sales.

218. The Justices may provide and maintain in proper and convenient situations, so as not to create a nuisance, common necessities and urinals, and shall cause the same, when provided, to be kept in proper order and to be daily cleansed.

219. The Justices may license, for any period not exceeding one year, such necessities for public accommodation, and such tola mehters' depôts as they may, from time to time, think proper; and may at any time, on giving one month's notice, cancel any license granted under this section, if it shall seem proper to them to cancel it.

No person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices.

220. Whoever keeps any public necessary, or any tola mehters' depôt, without a license, as mentioned in the last preceding section, or having a license, suffers such public necessary or tola mehters' depôt to be in a filthy or noxious state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one-hundred rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence; and whoever shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

221. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published within the Town and by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout the Town, or any portion thereof, declare that the duties usually performed by tola mehters within the boundaries specified in the aforesaid advertisement shall be performed by an establishment under the control of the Justices, and the Justices shall make suitable provision accordingly.

When the Justices have made such provision, the occupier of any house or land in respect of which such duties are performed shall be liable to pay in respect of the same such fees as may be imposed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting; and the said fees shall be recovered from such occupier as a rate under Chapter VI.

222. The owner or occupier of any land having a privy on it shall have such privy shut out by a sufficient roof, and wall or fence, from the view of persons passing by or residing in the neighbourhood: and no person shall keep a privy with a door or trap-door opening on to any street (public or otherwise) or drain.

Every owner or occupier who shall omit to comply with, or shall commit any breach of, any of the provisions of this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding five rupees, for each day the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence. Provided that the Justices may, in their discretion, permit the continuance, for such time as they may fix, of any such privy with a door or trap-door opening on to any street (public or otherwise) where such privy already exists and does not create a nuisance.

223. If the Justices think that any privy or additional privy should be provided for any house or land, the owner of such house or land shall, within fourteen days after notice in that behalf by the Justices, cause such privy, together with the necessary pipes, drains, and water-supply, to be constructed in accordance with the requisition of such notice; and if such privy be not so constructed to the satisfaction of the Justices within such period, the Justices may cause such privy, together with the necessary pipes, drains, and water-supply, to be so constructed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

224. No milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages shall keep any animals, sheep, goats, or horned cattle within the Town for the purposes of trade or business except in a place licensed by the Justices.

Such license shall be taken out half-yearly, on the first day of January and the first day of July in every year.

It shall be in the discretion of the Justices in meeting to grant any such license subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and impose a fee not exceeding five rupees in respect of the same.

225. Whoever, being a milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages, keeps any animals, sheep, goats, or horned cattle without such license, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

226. Whoever, being the holder of a license under section two hundred and twenty-four, breaks the conditions of such license, ground, or any waste or stagnant water, being within any private enclosure, appears to the Justices to be injurious to health or to be offensive to the neighbourhood, the Justices may require, by notice in writing, the owner of the same to cleanse or fill up such tank or marshy ground, or to drain off or remove such stagnant water; and if he shall refuse or neglect to comply with such requisition during eight days from the service thereof, the Justices, their Officers, and workmen, may enter into the said premises, and do all necessary acts for all or any of the purposes aforesaid as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

235. Whoever, being an owner of land, fails to comply with the requisition mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

236. The Justices may from time to time, as they shall think fit, drain off into any sewers belonging to them, and cleanse and fill up or otherwise abate, any stagnant pool, ditch, tank, pond, or other receptacle of water (the same not being within any private enclosure), which shall appear to them to be useless or unnecessary, or likely to prove injurious to the health of the inhabitants, whether the same be the private property of any person or otherwise; and the Justices, their Officers, and workmen, may do all necessary acts for effecting any of the purposes aforesaid.

237. The Justices, in executing any works under this Act, shall provide and make, at their own expense, a sufficient number of convenient ways, water-courses, drains, and channels, in the place of such as may be interrupted, injured, or rendered useless by reason of the execution of such works; and if any difference arises between the Justices and the persons affected thereby, such difference shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

238. The Justices shall, during the construction or repair by them of any of the streets, sewers, or drains vested in or belonging to them, take proper precaution for guarding against accident, by shoring up and protecting the adjoining houses; and shall cause such bars, chains, or posts to be fixed across or in any street (public or otherwise), to prevent the passage of carriages, carts, cattle, or animals, while such works are carried on, as to them shall seem proper;

and shall cause any sewer or drain, or other works in streets (public or otherwise), during the construction or repair thereof by them, to be sufficiently lighted and guarded during the night.

239. If any building, tank, well, or hole, or other place be, for want of sufficient repair, protection, or enclosure, dangerous to passengers or to persons living in the neighbourhood, the Justices may, by notice in writing, require the owner of the land to repair, protect, or enclose the same; and if he fails to comply with such requisition during eight days from the service thereof, the Justices shall cause the same to be repaired, protected, or enclosed, so as to prevent danger therefrom;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the property so repaired, protected, or enclosed.

240. Whoever, being an owner of land, fails to comply with the requisition mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART IV.—Of Building Regulations.

241. The Justices may, upon such terms as they shall think fit, allow any house to be set forward for improving the line of any public street in which such house is situated.

242. When any house, any part of which projects beyond the regular line of a public street, or beyond the front of the house on either side thereof, has been taken down in order to be re-built or altered, the Justices may require the same to be set back to or towards the line of the street or the line of the adjoining houses.

Provided that the Justices shall make full compensation to the owner of any such house for any damage he may thereby sustain, and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

243. If any house, or wall, or anything affixed thereon, be deemed by the Justices to be in a ruinous state, or likely to fall, or in any way dangerous to the inhabitants of such house or to the neighbouring houses, or to the occupiers thereof, or to passengers, they shall immediately, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a proper hoard or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and shall cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door or other conspicuous part of such house, or otherwise to be given to the occupier thereof (if any), requiring such owner or occupier forthwith to take down, repair, or secure, such house, wall, or thing affixed thereon as the case shall require.

If such owner or occupier do not begin to take down, repair, or secure the same within three days after such notice, and complete such work with due diligence, the Justices shall cause all or so much of such house, wall, or thing as they shall think necessary, to be taken down, repaired, or otherwise secured; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

244. If any such house, or wall, as is mentioned in the last preceding section, or any part of the same, be taken down as in such section mentioned, the Justices may sell the materials thereof, or so much of the same as shall be taken down, and apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the expenses incurred, and shall restore any surplus arising from such sale to the owner of such house, or wall, on demand.

The Justices shall have the same remedies for compelling the payment of so much of the said expenses as may remain due after the application of the proceeds of such sale as by this Act are given to them for compelling the payment of the whole of the said expenses.

245. No house shall be newly erected over any sewer or drain belonging to the Justices without their written consent; and if any house be so erected, the Justices may cause such house to be pulled down or otherwise dealt with as they may think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person so erecting the house.

246. No house shall be built within the Town upon a lower level than will allow of the drainage of such house or building being led into some public sewer then existing or projected, or into some tidal river or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers.

247. If any house newly erected or re-built within the Town have such means of drainage, as in the last preceding section mentioned, existing within one hundred feet thereof, the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto from the site of such house of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as the Justices may direct; and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

248. It shall not be lawful for any person to erect a hut, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or to add any hut or shed to any range or block already existing at the commencement of this Act, without previous notice to the Justices, and the Justices may require such huts or sheds to be built so that they may stand in regular lines, with a free passage or way in front of and between every two lines, of such width as they may think proper for ventilation and to facilitate scavengering, and with such number of privies and with such means of drainage as to them may seem necessary, and at such a level as will admit of such drainage, and with a plinth at least two feet above the level of the nearest public street.

249. If any such huts or sheds be built without giving such notice to the Justices or otherwise than as required by the Justices, the Justices may give notice to the owner or occupier thereof, or of the ground upon which the same are erected or being erected, by affixing a notice to some conspicuous part of some one of such huts or sheds, to take down and remove the same within one month, or to effect such alterations as they may deem necessary; and it shall be lawful for the Justices, if they shall think fit so to do, to cause the same to be taken down and removed, and the expense incurred in doing so shall be paid by the said owner or occupier thereof, or of the ground upon which the same shall be erected, and shall be recoverable as herein-after provided.

250. Whoever erects a hut or any range or block of huts or shed, or adds to any hut or shed, or to any range or block already existing, contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and forty-eight, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

251. Whenever the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the Town is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease, or prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause a notice to be fixed to some conspicuous part of such block of huts, requiring the owners or occupiers thereof, or, at the option of the Justices, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Justices for that purpose, to cause such huts to be removed, and such roads and drains to be made and the low lands to be filled up, and to execute such other operations as the Justices may deem necessary for the avoidance of such risk.

And in case such owners or occupiers, or the owner of the land, shall refuse or neglect to execute such operations within the time appointed, the Justices may cause such huts to be taken down, or such operations to be performed as the Justices may deem necessary to prevent such risk, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the land.

If such huts be pulled down, the Justices shall cause the materials of each hut to be sold separately, if such sale can be effected; and the proceeds shall be paid to the owner of the hut, or if the owner be unknown, or the title disputed, shall be held in deposit by the Justices, until the person interested therein shall obtain the order of a competent Court for the payment of the same.

The Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent Court for that purpose.

252. Before beginning, within the Town, to build or re-build any house, the person intending to build or re-build such house shall give to the Justices notice thereof in writing, and shall accompany such notice with a plan, showing the levels and width at which the foundation and lowest floor of such house are proposed to be laid, by reference to some level ascertained under the direction of the Justices.

253. Within fourteen days after receiving such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Justices shall signify their approval of the proposed levels and width of foundation, or, if they disapprove thereof, they shall fix other levels and width of foundation in lieu thereof within the same time.

254. If such building as is mentioned in the two last preceding sections be begun or made without sending such notice and plan as are mentioned in section two hundred and fifty-two, or at any levels different from those fixed by the Justices within the said fourteen days, or in any other respect contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Justices may, if necessary, cause such building to be altered or demolished as the case may require ;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the provisions aforesaid.

255. If the Justices fail to signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and to fix other levels and width of foundation within fourteen days after receiving such notice and plan as aforesaid, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or re-build the house therein referred to, according to the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan ;

Provided that such building or re-building be otherwise in accordance with this Act.

The word "house" in this and the three last preceding sections does not include a hut.

256. Every person intending to build or take down any house, or to alter or repair the outward part of any house, where any public street will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up, in order to separate the house where such works are being carried on from the street, and shall keep such hoard or fence standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Justices, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night.

Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Justices, and shall not keep up the said hoard or fence for a time longer than allowed in the said written permission.

257. Every person, who begins to build, or to take down or alter, or repair, any house contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, or who, without license, erects or sets up any hoards, scaffolding, or fence whatsoever, or who, being licensed, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to continue the same standing, or to maintain the same in good condition, or who does not, while the said hoards or fences are standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted during the night, or who does not remove the same, when directed by the Justices, within eight days, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

CHAPTER XII.

OF SANITARY MATTERS.

PART I.—(Of Slaughter-houses, food, drink, drugs, and offensive trades.

258. No place shall be used as a slaughter-house within the Town or Suburbs unless a license in writing for the use thereof as a slaughter-house has

No place shall be used as a slaughter-house without a license from the Justices.

259. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, from time to time, if they shall think fit, provide places within or without the Town for the purpose of being used as slaughter-houses; and all places within or without the Town heretofore provided by the Justices for the purpose of being used as slaughter-houses shall be deemed to have been provided under this section.

260. Every owner, or occupier, or farmer, of any place for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, or vegetables, or of any slaughter-house, within the Town, shall cause such drains to be made therein as shall be considered sufficient by the Justices, and (if required so to do by the Justices) shall cause all the floors and drains to be paved with stone or burnt brick, and shall also cause a supply of water to be provided, sufficient for keeping such place, shop, or slaughter-house in a clean and wholesome state.

261. If such owner, occupier, or farmer, after notice in writing given to him by the Justices that such market or slaughter-house is defective in any of the said particulars, and requiring him to remedy the defect specified within not less than thirty days, makes default therein, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which such default is continued.

262. Any Justice of the Peace, on the application of the Justices or any of their Officers, setting forth that there is just cause to believe that any article which has been rendered or has become noxious or unfit for use as food or drink for man, is in the possession of any person for the purpose of being sold or offered or exposed for sale within the Town as food or drink for man, may grant a warrant to enter upon the premises of such person, and to search for and seize such article ;

263. The Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any market, building, shop, stall, or place used for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, vegetables, corn, bread, flour, wine, spirits, or other food or drink, or as a slaughter-house, and may examine any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink which may be therein; and in case any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink appear to be intended for the food or drink of man, and to be unfit for such food or drink, may seize the same ;

and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace that any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink is unfit for the food or drink of man, he shall order the same to be destroyed, or to be so disposed of as to prevent its being exposed for sale or used for such food.

Power to Justices to enter and inspect markets, shops, &c., and to seize unwholesome articles exposed for sale.

264. Any Justice of the Peace, before whom any person is convicted of an offence contrary to the provisions of this Act relating to slaughter-houses, or of the non-observance of any of the bye-laws relating thereto made under this Act, in addition to the fine which may be imposed on such person under this Act, may suspend, for any period not exceeding two months, the license granted to him under section two hundred and fifty-eight;

and the Justices, upon the conviction of any person for a second or other subsequent like offence, may cancel his license.

265. Whoever, during the period for which any such license is suspended, or after the same is cancelled as aforesaid, slaughters cattle, or allows cattle to be slaughtered in the slaughter-house to which such license relates, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

266. No place shall be kept for the sale of drugs unless the same shall have been registered in the office of the Justices. Any keeper of such place failing to register the same within two months after the commencement of this Act shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

267. The Justices or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any place kept for the sale of drugs, or in which drugs are sold, and if they have reason to suspect that any drug in the said place is adulterated in such a manner as to lessen its efficacy, to change its operation, or to render it noxious, may remove the same on giving a receipt, specifying the nature and quantity of the drug removed, and its approximate value; and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace that the said drug removed as aforesaid is adulterated as aforesaid, he may order the same to be destroyed or to be so disposed of as to him may seem fit; if it shall appear to the said Justice that the drug so removed is not adulterated as aforesaid, the person from whose shop or place it has been taken shall be entitled to have it restored to him, and it shall be in the discretion of the said Justice to award him such compensation as he may think proper, not exceeding the actual loss which has been sustained.

If the drug removed as aforesaid is not brought before a Justice of the Peace, it shall be restored to the person from whose shop or place it was taken, and such person shall be entitled to compensation for any actual loss which he may have sustained by the removal of the said drug.

Any dispute which may arise touching the amount of compensation to be given under this section shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

268. The owner or occupier of every place within the Town, used for any of the following purposes, namely—

Certain offensive and dangerous trades carried on within the Town to be registered.

- (a) melting tallow;
- (b) boiling offal or blood;
- (c) as a soap-house;
- (d) oil-boiling-house;
- (e) dyeing-house;
- (f) tannery;
- (g) brick-pottery, or lime-kiln;
- (h) sago-manufactory;
- (i) manufactory or place of business from which offensive or unwholesome smells arise;
- (j) or as a yard or depôt for hay, straw, wood, or coal;

shall register the same at the office of the Justices, in a book to be kept by them for that purpose.

269. No place shall be newly used within the Town for any of the purposes mentioned in the last preceding section except under a license from the Justices, who may, at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

270. Whoever, without a license, uses any such place for such purpose, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the said offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

271. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Justices that any place, licensed under section two hundred and fifty-eight, or two hundred and sixty-nine, or registered under section two hundred and sixty-eight, is a nuisance to the neighbourhood, they may give notice to the occupier to discontinue the use of such place within one month after the date of such notice.

272. Whoever, after the expiration of such time, uses such place, or permits it to be used, in such a manner as to be a nuisance to the neighbourhood, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART II.—Of Burial and Burning Grounds.

273. The Justices may, if they think fit, cause a survey and measurement to be made of every burial and burning ground and every place used as such; and every burial and burning ground, and every place used as such, shall be registered by the owner or the person having the control thereof, or, if there be no owner or person authorized to control the same, by order of the Justices, in a book to be kept by them for that purpose.

Burial and burning grounds to be registered.

274. Whoever uses any such place as is mentioned in the last preceding section without the same being registered, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

275. Whoever knowingly buries or burns, or causes, procures, or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse in or on any ground, not registered as a burial or burning ground, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

276. No vault or grave shall be made within the walls of, or underneath, any church, chapel, or other place of public worship, and no burial or burning ground, whether public or private, shall be opened, made, or formed, otherwise than by, or under the authority of, the Local Government, without a license, describing the extent and boundaries thereof, first obtained from the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, who may at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

277. Whoever shall bury or burn, or cause permit, or suffer to be buried or burned, any corpse in any vault, grave, or burial or burning ground, opened, made or formed without such license, or contrary to the terms thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

278. If the Justices, in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall certify, in manner hereinafter provided, that any burial ground or place of burial, or that any place used for the burning of corpses, is in such a state as to be dangerous to the health of persons living in the neighbourhood thereof, or that any church or other place of public worship is dangerous to the health of persons frequenting the same, by reason of the state of the vaults or graves within the walls of, or underneath, the same, or in any church-yard or burial ground adjacent thereto, and shall also certify that a fitting place for interment or burning (as the case may be) exists within a convenient distance and is available, no person shall, after a time (not less than two months) to be named in such certificate, bury or burn, or permit or suffer to be buried or burned any corpse in, upon, within, or under the ground, church, or place of worship to which the certificate relates, except in so far as may be allowed by such certificate.

Every such certificate shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a translation thereof in Bengalee shall, in the case of a burial or burning ground, be affixed conspicuously on some part of the said ground.

279. Whoever, after due publication of such certificate, buries or burns, or causes, permits, or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse contrary to this enactment, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

280. Notwithstanding any certificate under the last preceding section, where, by usage or otherwise, there is any right of interment in or under any church or chapel, or in any vault of such church or chapel, or of any church-yard, burial ground, or place of burial affected by such certificate, or where any exclusive right of interment, or any exclusive right to ground for the purpose of interment has been purchased or acquired, the Justices may, if, on application made to them, they are satisfied that the exercise of such right, or the use of such ground will not be injurious to health, grant a license for such exercise or use, during such time and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they may think fit.

281. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time, out of the Municipal Fund, with the sanction of the Local Government, provide fitting places to be used as burial or burning grounds.

CHAPTER XIII

OF MARKETS.

282. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time, if they shall think fit, with the sanction of the Local Government, provide places within the Town for the purpose of being used as Municipal Markets, and the Justices may charge such rents, tolls, and fees as to them may seem fit for the use of, or right to expose goods for sale in such markets, and for the use of shops, stalls, and standings therein.

283. All such rents, tolls, and fees, which shall be imposed, shall be recoverable by the Justices, from the persons liable to pay the same, as if the amounts payable in respect thereof were rates due to the Justices from such persons under the provisions of Chapter VI.

284. It shall be lawful for the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, from time to time, if they shall think fit, with the sanction of the Local Government, to acquire land by purchase, lease, or otherwise, in order to provide places within the Town for the purpose of being used as Municipal Markets, and for the like purpose to purchase or take on lease any land now used within such limits as a market, or registered as such, upon such terms, or subject to such conditions as they may consider necessary, and to appropriate any land now vested in or belonging to them, and to set out the whole or such parts thereof as they may think necessary for the purposes of such Municipal Markets, and theroupon from time to time to build and maintain such Municipal Markets and such stalls, sheds, pens, and other buildings or conveniences for the use of the persons frequenting such Municipal Markets, and for the weighing and measuring goods sold in such Municipal Markets, and on such land as aforesaid, or on other land purchased for that purpose, to make and maintain all such and to make bye-laws. roads and approaches thereto as they may think necessary, and from time to time, in addition to the bye-laws provided in Chapter XVI, to make such bye-laws as they may think fit for all or any of the following purposes:—

(a) for regulating the control and use of such markets, and the buildings, stalls, pens, and standings therein, and for preventing nuisances or obstructions therein, or in the immediate approaches thereto.

(b) for preventing the use therein of false or defective weights, scales, or measures.

(c) for preventing the sale, or exposure for sale therein, of unwholesome meat, fish, or provisions.

(d) for the establishment and publication of a price-current, and for prescribing the mode of sale of articles, whether by measure, weight, tale, or piece.

(e) for keeping such markets in a cleanly and proper state, and for removing filth and refuse therefrom.

285. It shall be lawful for the Justices to Power to expel persons breaking regulations. expel from any such Municipal Market any person who, or whose servants, may be convicted of disobeying any such bye-law, and to prevent such person, by himself or his servants, further carrying on any trade or business in such market, or occupying any stall or shop therein, and to determine any lease or tenure which such person may have in any such stall or shop.

286. Whoever shall, after such notification, cause any obstruction or encroachment in or on any such approaches, roads, paths, or ways, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for every day such obstruction or encroachment is continued after notice from the Justices to remove or discontinue the same.

293. Whenever any person who shall have been convicted of any offence under this Chapter, or against any of the bye-laws made or to be made under this Chapter in respect to markets, shall again be convicted of an offence against the same provision, the fine to be inflicted for the first of such subsequent offences shall not be less than one moiety of the maximum fine provided for such offence, and for the second and every subsequent offence shall not be less than such maximum fine.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF THE GENERAL POWERS OF THE JUSTICES.

PART I.—Of Rights of Entry.

294. The Justices shall, for the purposes of this Act, have power, by themselves or their Officers, between sunrise and sunset, to enter upon any house or land, as well for the purpose of making any inspection, survey, or measurement, as for the purpose of executing any work authorized by this Act to be executed by them, without being liable to any legal proceedings or molestation whatsoever on account of such entry, or of anything done on such house or land in pursuance of this Act.

Provided that, except as herein otherwise provided, the Justices or their Officers shall not enter upon any house or land which may be occupied at the time, unless with the consent of the occupier thereof, without previously giving the said occupier twenty-four hours' notice of their intention to do so.

295. The Justices, or their Officers or servants, may enter upon the land of any person adjoining to, or being within the distance of one hundred yards of any works by this Act authorized to be made, for the purpose of depositing upon such land, any soil, gravel, sand, lime, brick, stone, or other materials, or for any other purposes connected with the formation of the said works, without making any previous payment, tender, or deposit, doing as little damage as may be in the exercise of the several powers hereby granted to them, and making compensation for such temporary occupation of, or temporary damage to, the said land to the owner and occupier thereof, from time to time, and as often as any such temporary occupation shall be taken, or such temporary damage done, and making compensation to the owner also for the permanent injury (if any) to such land;

Provided that, before the Justices make any such temporary use as aforesaid of any land adjoining or lying near to the said works, they shall give three days' notice of such their intention to the owner and occupier of such land, and shall set apart, by sufficient fences, so much of the land as shall be required to be used as aforesaid from the other land adjoining thereto.

296. For the purpose of laying pipes or constructing aqueducts for bringing water into the Town from any place without the limits thereof, or for the purpose of making sewers or drains to communicate with, or empty themselves into, any public sewer, lake, stream, canal, or water-course without the said limits, the Justices, their Officers, and servants may, whenever a plan for laying down any such pipes or constructing any such aqueduct, sewer, or drain, shall have been approved by the local Government, exercise, in the laying of such pipes and construction of such aqueduct, sewer, or drain throughout the line of country through which the said pipes, aqueduct, sewer, or drain, are to run, all the powers which by this Act they may exercise within the Town, and which may be necessary for the laying of such pipes, or the construction of such aqueduct, sewer, or drain, without being subject to any action or molestation whatever for so doing;

and the Magistrate of any district through which the said pipes, aqueduct, sewer, or drain, are to run, may exercise, in respect thereof, the like powers and jurisdiction within the limits of his own district as a Justice of the Peace may under this Act exercise in respect of any work to be executed by the Justices within the Town.

297. Whoever at any time obstructs or molests any person employed by the Justices (not being a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code), or any person with whom they may have contracted under the provisions of this Act, in the performance and execution of their or his duty, or of anything which they are respectively empowered or required to do by virtue or in consequence of this Act; or removes any mark set up for the purpose of indicating any level or direction necessary to the execution of works authorized by this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, or in the discretion of the Justice of the Peace before whom he is convicted, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two months.

PART II.—Of the Purchase and Sale of Land.

298. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may purchase land, whether within or without the Town, for any of the purposes of this Act, and may sell any land vested in them and not required for the purposes of this Act, or may dispose of the same on lease; and the Justices may receive the rent of the same on such terms as they may think fit.

299. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time pay rent for, or take on lease, on such terms as they may think fit, any land required for the purposes of this Act.

Justices may rent and take on lease land.

300. Any land required for the purposes of this Act may be acquired under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, and on payment by the Justices out of the Municipal Fund of the compensation payable under such Act, the land shall vest in them for the purposes of this Act.

Land may be acquired under Land Acquisition Act.

PART III.—Of Railways.

301. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, upon any of the public streets in the Town or upon any land within or without the said Town, which is vested in the Justices, construct or maintain any railway which to the Justices may appear to be useful or necessary for the purposes of this Act, and use and employ upon any such railway, by them heretofore constructed or hereafter to be constructed, such locomotive engines or other moving power and such carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, carry and convey upon such railway all such passengers and goods as shall be offered to them for that purpose, and make such reasonable charges in respect thereof as they may from time to time determine upon.

302. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, from time to time may enter into any contract with any person, for the passage over any railway already constructed by the Justices or hereafter to be constructed by them, of the engines, wagons, or other carriages of such person, upon the payment of such tolls or rent and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon.

Power to permit carriages to run on railway.

303. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may lease any railway constructed or to be constructed by them under the provisions hereinbefore contained to any person upon such terms and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon, and every person to whom any such railway shall be so leased by the Justices shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions as aforesaid, have all such and the same powers of maintaining the same, and for using and employing thereupon locomotive engines and other moving power, and carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and for carrying and conveying thereupon passengers, and goods, and making charges in respect thereof, as the Justices would have had if such railway had not been leased.

The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, from time to time, enter into any contract with any person for the purpose of the construction of any railway within or without the Town, and for the purpose of maintaining and working of the same.

PART IV.—Of Hospitals.

304. The Justices may, in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, apply such sum as to them may seem proper in or towards the maintenance and support of such hospitals for such purposes as they may think fit.

Power to support hospitals.

CHAPTER XV.

OF THE MUNICIPAL DEBT.

305. For the construction of works of a permanent nature under this Act, the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, with the sanction of the Local Government, from time to time, borrow by way of debenture on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, or of a portion of them, and at such rate of interest, and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the Local Government may approve, any sums of money the Justices may require for the objects aforesaid.

Power to Justices to borrow on the security of rates and taxes.

306. All the debentures aforesaid, issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the sixth schedule, and shall be transferable by endorsement, and the right to sue in respect of the monies secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

307. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may at any time, with the sanction of the Local Government, raise, by the issue of new debentures, any money that may be required to pay any monies for the time being due on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed.

Payment of monies due on old debentures by issue of fresh debentures.

308. The Justices shall set aside yearly, out of their annual income, before making any disbursements in respect thereof, a sum of not less than two per cent. on the total sum borrowed by the Justices for the purposes of any enactment hereby expressly repealed, exclusive of the sum now due, or of any sum which may hereafter become due, by them to the Secretary of State for India in Council, and shall appropriate the same, so far as it is required or will extend, to repay the amount (if any) of such loans or debentures issued by them as shall fall due in the course of the year.

Establishment of reserve fund.

And they shall invest the surplus (if any) of the said sum after repayment as aforesaid, or in case there has not been any amount due or paid in respect of such loans or debentures during the year, then they shall invest the whole of the said sum in Government securities, or in any securities guaranteed by Government, or in Calcutta municipal debentures, in the names of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department and the Accountant-General of Bengal respectively for the time being, to be by them held as Trustees for the purpose of repaying at due date from time to time the several loans contracted or debentures issued by the Justices.

And all moneys and securities now held by any Trustees for the Justices for the purpose of paying off any sum borrowed by them, shall be held by them upon the trusts hereinbefore declared.

All interest accruing due to the Trustees shall also from time to time be invested by them in like manner and held upon the like trust.

309. The Trustees shall from time to time, whenever any loans or debentures shall fall due by the Justices, realize the whole or a sufficient portion of the securities held by them as aforesaid, and appropriate the sale proceeds thereof, so far as the same will extend, to satisfy such loans or debentures.

310. The Trustees shall, at the end of every year, submit a statement to the Justices showing the amount which has been invested during the year under section three hundred and eight, and setting forth the date of the last investment made previous thereto, and also the aggregate amount of the securities then in their hands, and the aggregate amount which has up to the date thereof been paid off in respect of the said debentures and loans.

Such statement shall be laid before the Justices and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

CHAPTER XVI.

OF BYE-LAWS.

311. The Justices may from time to time make bye-laws, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, to regulate—

- (a) all matters and things connected with the supply and use of water;
- (b) the time and places of bathing for persons of each sex in places provided or set apart for bathing purposes;
- (c) the deposit of dirt, dust, filth, and refuse of any kind whatsoever, for removing and carrying away the same, and for charging the person making the deposit with the expenses of removing it;
- (d) the duties to be performed by tolak melters under section two hundred and twenty-one, and the boundaries within which they are to be performed;
- (e) the management and charges for places provided for slaughter-houses under section two hundred and fifty-nine;
- (f) the inspection and management of and conduct of business in markets and slaughter-houses, and for keeping the same in a proper and cleanly state;
- (g) the inspection of places used for any of the purposes mentioned in section two hundred and sixty-eight, and for the management and conduct of business within the same;

- (h) the inspection and management of burial and burning grounds;
- (i) and generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

312. The Justices may from time to time repeal, alter, or add to their bye-laws.

313. No bye-law, and no repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall have effect until the same has been confirmed by the Local Government.

314. No bye-law, and no repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall be confirmed until the same has been published in the English and Bengalee Government Gazettes at least three times, nor till one month has elapsed from the date of the first publication, during which period a copy of such proposed bye-law, or the repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall be kept at the office of the Justices; and all persons may at any time between ten o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the afternoon inspect such copy without fee.

315. Every bye-law, and every repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law, when confirmed, shall be published in the English and Bengalee Government Gazettes, and a copy thereof in English and Bengali shall be painted or placed on boards, which shall be hung up in some conspicuous part of the office of the Justices.

316. Whoever infringes any bye-law made and confirmed under this Act shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

CHAPTER XVII.

OF PROSECUTIONS.

317. The Justices may direct any prosecution for any public nuisance whatsoever, and may order proceedings to be taken for the punishment of any person offending against any of the provisions of this Act, and for the recovery of any fines imposed under this Act, and may order the expenses of such prosecutions and proceedings to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall preclude any person from instituting a prosecution for nuisance, or from giving information and instituting a prosecution under section three hundred and eighteen.

318. Every prosecution under this Act, except as provided in section three hundred and twenty, may be instituted before any Justice of the Peace;

and every fine imposed under this Act may be recovered by a summary proceeding before any Justice of the Peace upon an information exhibited by order of the Justices, and in default of payment of such fine, the same may be levied under the warrant of such Justice of the Peace by distress and sale of the moveable property of the offender, with all such powers for the issuing of such warrant, and upon the return thereof, as are exercised by a Magistrate of Police under the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the Police of the Town of Calcutta.

And if the fine cannot be so levied, the offender may be punished by such Justice of the Peace with rigorous or simple imprisonment, as provided in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term not exceeding two months.

319. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person shall not so appear, such Justice of the Peace may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

Such Justice of the Peace may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning, and enforcement of the attendance, of witnesses, and the production of documents, as are conferred on a Magistrate by the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the procedure of the Police Magistrates' Courts.

320. Every prosecution under section eighteen shall be instituted before such Magistrate or Court as would have jurisdiction to entertain a charge of the nature described in section 161 of the Indian Penal Code.

321. The Justice of the Peace by whom any fine is imposed under this Act, may award any portion, not being more than one-half thereof, to the informer, and shall order the remainder, or, if he make no award to the informer, the whole of such fine, to be paid to the Municipal Fund.

322. No person shall be liable to any fine under this Act for any offence cognizable by a Justice of the Peace unless the complaint respecting such offence shall have been made before a Justice of the Peace, within two months next after the commission of such offence:

Provided that the failure to take out any license under this Act shall be deemed to be a continuing offence until the expiration of the period for which such license is required to be taken out.

323. If through any act, neglect, or default on account whereof any person shall have been fined under this Act, any damage to the property of the Justices shall have been committed by such person, he shall be liable to make good such damage as well as to pay such fine;

and the amount of such damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Justice of the Peace by whom such person has been fined; and on default of payment of the amount of such damage on demand, the same may be levied in the same manner as a fine.

CHAPTER XVIII.

OF THE RECOVERY OF DAMAGES AND EXPENSES.

324. Where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this Act directed to be paid, the amount and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by the Court of Small Causes.

Provided that when any work is executed by the Justices under this Act in default of the owner or occupier of the house or land doing such work, the expenses thereby incurred may be recovered by the Justices as a rate under Chapter VI.

325. In any case referred to the Court of Small Causes under this Act, the said Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, the said Court may hear and determine such question, and, for that purpose, may examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath; and the costs of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of the said Court, which shall determine the amount thereof.

326. If the amount of damages, costs, or expenses, ascertained in the manner above described, be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered, under a warrant of the said Court, by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

327. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, and in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or any part of any expenses, charges, or damages awarded under the provisions of this Act, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER XIX.

MISCELLANEOUS.

328. No suit shall be brought against the Justices, or any of their officers, or any person acting under their direction, for any thing done under this Act, until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the Office of the Justices, or at the place of abode of such person, stating the cause of suit, and the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff.

Unless such notice be proved, the Court shall find for the defendant.

Every such suit shall be commenced within three months next after accrual of the right to sue, and not afterwards.

If any person to whom such notice of suit is given shall, before the suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover in any such action when brought; and if no such tender shall have been made, it shall be lawful for the defendant in such action, by leave of the Court where such action shall be pending, at any time before issue joined, to pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into Court.

329. The Justices may make compensation out of the Municipal fund to all persons sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers vested in the Justices, their officers, or servants under this Act.

330. When any license is granted under section two hundred and nineteen or two hundred and fifty-eight authorizing the use of any place for any of the purposes therein described, and when permission is given under section one hundred and eighty-seven for putting up any projection, the Justices may charge a fee not exceeding one hundred rupees for such license or permission.

When permission is given under section one hundred and seventy-six to make any temporary erection, the Justices may charge a daily fee not exceeding one hundred rupees for such permission.

331. When permission is given under section one hundred and ninety or section two hundred and fifty-six, the Justices may charge rent for any land made use of in pursuance of such permission.

332. Every person to whom a license has been granted under this Act shall, at all reasonable times while such license shall remain in force, if thereunto required by the Justices, or by any person authorized by them in that behalf, produce such license to the Justices, or to the person so authorized.

333. Whoever fails to produce his license when required to do so as aforesaid, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

334. Every notice, bill, form, summons, or notice of demand under this Act may be served personally on or presented to the person to whom the same is addressed, or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or at his place of business with some clerk of the office, or if it cannot be so served or presented, may be put on some conspicuous part of his place of abode, or of his place of business, or of the house or land in respect of which the notice, bill, form, summons, or notice of demand is intended to be served.

335. Where any notice is required to be given to the owner or occupier of any house or land, such notice addressed to the owner or occupier, as the case may require, may be served on the occupier of such house or land, or otherwise in the manner in the last preceding section mentioned.

Provided that when the owner and his place of abode are known to the Justices, they shall, if such place of abode be within the limits of their authority, cause every notice required to be given to the owner of any house or land to be served on such owner or left with some adult male member or servant of his family, and if the place of abode of the owner be not within such limits, they shall send every such notice by post addressed to his place of abode, and the same shall be deemed to be good service of the notice.

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him as "the owner" or "the occupier" of the house or land in respect of which the notice is served.

336. Whenever any work is required by this Act to be executed by the owner or occupier of any house or land, and default is made in the execution of such work, the Justices, whether any penalty is or is not provided for such default, may cause such work to be executed; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such work ought to have been executed, and in default of payment thereof the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI.

337. If the defaulter, as mentioned in the last preceding section, be the owner of any house or land, the Justices may, by way of additional remedy, whether any suit or proceeding has been brought or taken against any such owner or not, require the payment of all or any part of the expenses payable by the owner for the time being, from the person who then, or at any time thereafter, occupies the house or land under such owner, and in default of payment thereof by such occupier on demand, the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI;

338. No occupier of any house or land shall be liable to pay more money, in respect of any expenses charged by this Act on the owner thereof, than the amount of rent due from him, for the house or land in respect of which such expenses are payable, at the time of the demand made upon him, or which at any time after such demand has accrued and become payable by him, unless he neglect or refuse; upon a requisition made to him for that purpose by the Justices, truly to disclose the amount of his rent and the name and address of the person to whom such rent is payable;

but nothing in this section shall affect any special contract made between any such owner or occupier, respecting the payment of the expenses of any such works as aforesaid.

339. Whenever default is made by the owner of any house or land, in the execution of any work required to be executed by him, the occupier of such house or land may, with the approval of the Justices, cause such work to be executed, and the expense thereof shall be paid to him by the owner, or the amount may be deducted out of the rent from time to time becoming due from him to such owner.

340. If the occupier of any house or land prevent the owner thereof from carrying into effect, in respect of such house or land, any of the provisions of this Act, after notice of his intention so to do has been given by the owner to such occupier, any Justice of the Peace may, in writing, require such occupier to permit the owner to execute all such works, with respect to such house or land, as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect ;

and if after the expiration of eight days from the date of the order such occupier continue to refuse to permit such owner to execute such works, every such owner, during the continuance of the refusal, shall be discharged from liability to any fines to which he might otherwise have become liable by reason of default in executing such works.

341. Whoever, being the occupier of any house or land, fails to comply with any requisition made by a Justice of the Peace under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

342. No tax or rate on property made under this Act shall be invalid for defect of form, and it shall be enough in any such tax or rate, or any assessment of value for the purpose of making such tax or rate, if the property rated or assessed is so described as to be generally known, and it shall not be necessary to name the owner or occupier thereof.

343. Whenever the Justices shall have incurred any expenses in the execution of any of the works which under sections one hundred and seventy-seven, two hundred and forty-five, two hundred and forty-seven, two hundred and forty-nine, and two hundred and fifty-one, the owners of any houses or lands are required to execute, the Justices may either recover the amount of such expenses in the manner therein provided, or if they think fit, may take engagements from the said owner, for the quarterly payment of such sums as will be sufficient to defray the whole amount of the said expenses, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum, within a period not exceeding five years, and such sums, when due, may be recovered as rates under Chapter VI.

344. All Police Officers shall give immediate information to the Justices of any offence committed against this Act.

Any Police Officer may arrest any person committing in his view any offence against this Act, if the name and address of such person be unknown to him, or if such person decline to give his name and address, or if the Police Officer shall have reason to doubt the accuracy of such name and address, if given.

And such person may be detained at the Station House until his name and address shall be correctly ascertained, or may be brought up at once before a Justice of the Peace.

345. If the Local Government shall have determined that any portion of the environs of the Town shall be included in the system of sewerage and drainage authorized by this Act, and if the Local Government shall have declared the boundaries thereof by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, then sections one hundred and ninety-two to two hundred and eleven both inclusive, shall have effect within the boundaries so declared ;

and all such expenses and compensation as, under the said sections and by the provisions of this Act, may be determined by the Court of Small Causes, may be ascertained and determined by any Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction within such boundaries ; and all fines payable in respect of such sections, and under this Act, shall be enforced in the manner prescribed by section 307 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by the Magistrate having jurisdiction within such boundaries.

346. Houses used exclusively for purposes of public worship shall be exempt from all rates and taxes which under this Act may be imposed upon houses and land within the Town.

347. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to

(a) render lawful any act or omission on the part of any person, which, but for this Act, would by law be deemed to be a nuisance :

(b) exempt any person guilty of nuisance from a suit in respect thereof :

(c) affect any enactment not hereby expressly repealed.

TEXT-BOOKS FOR VERNACULAR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated Darjeeling, the 28th June 1875.

IN my Minute of the 3rd May 1875 on the subject of "Scholarships for Vernacular Education and Encouragement of Elementary Practical Science," I examined the style of text-books prescribed for each of the several subjects of the standard for the Vernacular Scholarships, and expressed my satisfaction with some of those already in use, and amongst others with Mr. Clarke's History of the World, and Mr. Lethbridge's History and Geography of Bengal, both of which were written in English, and have been translated into Bengalee. I adopted these two books, because these were understood to be standard works already in use, and accepted as such. Not having heard of any better works on the same subjects, and as the time had arrived when notice must be given for the ensuing year, I followed on these points that practice which I found in existence. The changes ordered in that Minute related to other branches.

2. Since the appearance of that Minute, I have seen it stated that the translations of the above-mentioned text-books are defective; that really good books, composed by native authors and adapted to the capacity of native students, have been overlooked or excluded, and that this selection of English works, translated into Bengalee, will be damaging to the cause of vernacular literature.

3. It has not been suggested what Bengalee works should take the places of these particular text-books to which objections have been made, and I know not whether any books, written by native authors in the vernacular, exist which would be suitable as substitutes. I have little doubt but that, with the progress of education, we shall before long see original compositions of merit in these particular branches, history and geography; but at present I do not find that such original compositions are forthcoming, or that, if forthcoming, they have been accepted as standard works. When such works are presented, I shall be glad to see them prescribed as text-books in future years. Meanwhile, these translations have been made from manuals specially prepared by experienced officers for this country. If there are mistakes in the translations, they can be corrected without much difficulty in future editions.

4. In the vernacular education of the natives, I think it right that, if possible, original vernacular works by native authors should be used in preference to translations from European works. Cæteris paribus an original native work should certainly be preferred for this purpose. But while laying down this principle, I would not adopt such works at Government schools unless they were at least of nearly equal merit with works translated from the English.

5. I wish, then, that the Director of Public Instruction may be requested to look into this matter and see whether there are any original vernacular compositions which could properly be substituted for the works named above; and if any native gentleman, author or otherwise, has any such book to produce, he would do well to communicate with the Director of Public Instruction, who will be able to give it his consideration, and to submit the matter for the orders of Government if necessary.

SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT VACCINATION IN BENGAL.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 28th June 1875.

IN reference to the correspondence before the Government of Bengal, regarding our system of vaccination by the State, I have had the advantage of considering the subject in consultation with Dr. Lidderdale, the Superintendent of the North Bengal or Darjeeling Circle of Vaccination, and I desire to record the following remarks.

2. It has always appeared to me that there is a danger of our operations in the way of vaccination being too desultory. To vaccinate a few hundreds of persons in a particular place, or a few thousands in a particular district, may be, I presume must be, beneficial to the persons vaccinated; but will do little, perhaps almost nothing, to ward off small-pox from that place or that district. Whereas, according to my apprehension of the case, the real object is, or should be, to take up a locality and to go on vaccinating there till all the residents—first children, then adults—have been vaccinated; till all the people there have thus received the protection which vaccination is scientifically proved to afford; then to make arrangements for vaccinating those children who may be subsequently born, and all new-comers and immigrants. If this be thoroughly done, we may believe that small-pox will be banished from that locality.

3. It may be very well to afford the protection of vaccination to so many hundreds and so many thousands of persons out of a great population, which is all that we effect by scattered or desultory operations. We cannot, however, measure the real amount of good done in this way, because, after all, the individuals vaccinated might have escaped small-pox even without vaccination. Our purpose should be much larger than this: namely, to prevent altogether the occurrence of small-pox, a disease which year by year causes much of death and misery among the people; and this can be done only by concentrated vaccination as above described. If after such persistent and sustained effort having been exerted in a particular district, it is found that during several consecutive years small-pox has failed to appear in that district, then we may measure the good that has been done by the vaccination; for it is humanly certain that without the vaccination the disease must, at some season or other, have made its appearance. Therefore the proper, perhaps the only, test of success in vaccination is the total disappearance of small-pox. If after our perseverance in this work the disease ceases to occur, then indeed we may point to success. If not, that is if the disease continues to occur, then it is vain to point to the statistical returns of the numbers vaccinated.

4. Again, it is only by the attainment of such practical and demonstrable success that the people will be induced to believe in the efficacy of vaccination; and unless such popular belief shall be brought about, it is difficult to see how so great a population as that of Bengal can ever be brought under vaccination. And unless this can ultimately be done, that is unless the people at large are vaccinated, there is no hope that small-pox can ever be suppressed in the country. The Government may, and will, make a beginning with vaccination, point the way for prosecuting the work, and demonstrate its benefits to the people; but the Government can hardly undertake to vaccinate so many millions of people, or to maintain the great establishments which would be required for such a purpose. If the people at large are ever to be vaccinated, it must mainly be by their own exertions, prompted by their own belief in the efficacy of vaccination. They may indeed look to the Government for scientific guidance, for support, and co-operation; but the work in the main must be done by themselves, if it is to be done at all.

5. But it is not to be expected that the people will have faith in vaccination until they see for themselves that it actually succeeds in warding off small-pox from the country. The Europeans and the educated classes of natives may believe in the scientifically ascertained fact that vaccination prevents small-pox; but the mass of the people will not, it is to be feared, believe this until they see that the disease actually is prevented. Once they see that, then probably they will not be slow to adopt vaccination extensively or universally; and then, but not till then, will success be attained. Now, scattered or desultory operations do not at all tend to produce such belief; but, on the contrary, tend rather to prevent its arising at all, or to weaken it when it may have begun to arise. The people see vaccination going on to a certain limited extent year after year; they further see that, notwithstanding all this, small-pox recurs much the same as before. They have no scientific knowledge that they should see the real merits of the case, and they draw the inference that vaccination is not of any practical use. If, under such circumstances, their inference should be in this wise, we need hardly feel surprise.

6. On the other hand, there is reason to suppose that the people are disposed to seek for protection against small-pox, if they can only find any means which may command their confidence; for they already resort to some extent to the partial protection afforded by the scientifically obsolete method of inoculation. As is well known, the benefit of this inoculation is not at all in the warding off of small-pox from the individual who has been inoculated, but only in producing a mild attack of the disease itself, and which prevents its occurrence in a severer form. Further, this remedy not only does nothing to keep off small-pox from the neighbourhood, but actually introduces the disease in what may be called an artificial manner. And small-pox thus introduced, in however mitigated a form, sets up all the infectious and contagious influences which would ordinarily arise from a spontaneous outbreak of the disease. Consequently the result of inoculation can at the best be but slightly beneficial. The faith in it, however, languidly survives. The people apparently suppose it to be better than nothing. Probably they esteem vaccination as hardly more efficacious. And, unless we render our vaccination more demonstrably successful in its general result, they will hardly believe in its superiority to inoculation.

7. We have power by law to prohibit the practice of inoculation. We do not enforce this prohibition in any districts save those where vaccination is going on; but wherever the vaccination is effectually diffused, there inoculation must be prohibited. This done, the persons who have been wont to practice as inoculators, who form a class of rural practitioners, may probably be converted into vaccinators. They may be instructed in vaccination, and when qualified may be licensed by the Government officers to practice as vaccinators. They would not receive any salary from Government, but would have to look to their earnings as vaccinators, instead of their former earnings as inoculators. Occasionally they might, however, receive rewards at the discretion of the Government officers. The existence of such a class should supply, with good management, a ready-made machinery for carrying on the work of vaccination among the mass of the people. These men must, however, be properly supervised in their work, and I am quite prepared to concur in the maintenance of a special staff of supervisors for this purpose, to be paid by Government.

8. It appears to me then that the Superintendent of Vaccination should take up a particular part of the country, and concentrate his efforts upon that until he has done with it. Then, and not till then, should he move on to the next tract, which he would treat in the same manner, and so on. By concentration of efforts I understand the following measures in the tract selected. First, inoculation is to be prohibited. Then every person, of whatsoever age, who will consent to be vaccinated, should be vaccinated. No effort should be spared to persuade the people to be vaccinated, both themselves and their children especially. The object should be not to vaccinate a few here and there, but, if possible, every one without exception. Not until this is accomplished can success be said to be completely attained. If this shall be fortunately accomplished, then the Superintendent should quit that locality and carry his Government establishment on to the next place, leaving the old ex-inoculators, who will meanwhile have been trained as vaccinators, in charge of the current work of vaccination, that is the vaccinating of new-comers and of children who may subsequently be born. Thus the protection against small-pox, which will have been afforded by the visit of the Superintendent, will be permanently maintained.

9. It is a great satisfaction to me to find that the principle of concentration, as above explained, is fully concurred in by Dr. Lidderdale, and that he is already acting upon it. At present he has selected the area on the right bank of the Brahmapootra (or more properly to be called the Juboona) river in the district of Bogra. When he is satisfied with that area, he will proceed to the Dinagapore district. He seems to have made progress in winning the people to faith in the beneficence of the measure. I would accord to him high commendation for his efforts; and I would sanction occasional rewards to those members of his native establishment who have distinguished, or may yet distinguish, themselves by practical success.

10. The principle, as above laid down, is of course equally applicable to the other vaccination circles besides that of North Bengal: namely, the Eastern or Dacca Circle, the Central or Presidency Circle, and the Circle of Calcutta.

11. I may take this opportunity of observing that no circle for vaccination has yet been established either in Behar or in Orissa. I desire that a communication be made to the Commissioners of the Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions with this view, and that the Commissioner of Orissa be also addressed on the subject. I understand it to be the opinion of the local authorities in Orissa that vaccination is not likely to be appreciated by the people there; but it is difficult to perceive the reason for this view, if, as is probably the case, small-pox afflicts Orissa in common with other provinces. Naturally, if the people of Orissa were to find, after actual experience, that vaccination affords protection against that disease, they would be willing, or desire to be vaccinated. If this be so, then it would hardly be consistent with the policy of Government to debar them from this advantage, merely because they, having no means of knowing, by practical demonstration, the efficacy of vaccination, do not as yet appreciate the beneficence of that measure. I desire that the Commissioner of Orissa be addressed further on this subject.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 3rd July 1875.

No.	District and date of return	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIV.	1 Burdwan, July 5,* '75	1.41	Rainfall at Ranegunge 1.18, Bood-bood 1.10, Cutwa 1.54. Rainy weather. Prospects of aus , or early rice, are favorable. Transplantation of aman , or late rice seedlings, is being pushed on. State of sugarcane is same as last week; e.g., rather backward owing to excess of rain. General health continues good.
	2 Bankoora, „ 3, „	3.65	Rainy weather. Agricultural operations are going on in all directions. The standing crops are doing well.
	3 Beerbhoom, „ 3, „	2.35	Showery weather. State and prospects of the crops continue good.
	4 Midnapore, „ 3, „	2.43	Showers fall almost daily, and the weather is seasonable. The prospects of all the crops are above average. The early rice is very promising.
	5 Hooghly, „ 3, „	2.72	Weather wet and damp, with occasional sunshine. State and prospects of the crops are better than usual. Sugarcane forward; jute and aus rice looking very well; pine-apple crop being gathered. District generally healthy.
	Howrah, „ 3 „	1.41	There has been rain throughout the district during the week. All crops are in a satisfactory condition.
Central Districts
PRESIDENCY DIV.	6 24-Pergunnahs, July 5,† '75	1.92	Warm and rainy weather. The early rice and jute look promising. Transplantation of the late rice progressing fairly. Fever decreasing at Barripore.
	7 Nuddea, „ 3 „	1.40	Seasonable weather. Rain has fallen. Some of the early rice is beginning to come out in ear. The rice crops generally are promising. It is feared that indigo will not be a good crop this year.
	8 Jessore, „ 3, „	1.83	Weather cloudy, but not much rain. Prospects of the crops continue good.
	9 Moorshadabad, „ 3, „	2.79	Rainfall at Lalbagh 3.98, Ramporehaut 3.51, and Jungypore 0.94 inches. Weather variable, hot at one time, cool in the next. There is nothing calling for report, the weather being nearly the same as last week. The soil is in excellent condition for ploughing and cultivation. Transplantation of hemant , or late rice, is going on satisfactorily. Aus rice is being cut in places. Indigo, mulberry, sugarcane, and other crops now in the ground, are favorably described. Prices steady. Small-pox at Dhunigram. Cholera still in Soojagunge and Gora-bazar, but in a mild form. River rising.
RAJSHAHY DIV.	10 Dinagepore, „ 2, „	2.57	Strong wind from east, and much rain. Transplanting of winter rice commenced. Ploughing going on. Prospects of other crops are good.
	11 Maldah, „ 3, „	3.70	The 2nd of July was fine, but rain for the rest of the week was incessant. The bhadoi , or early rice, at head-quarters was injured by the heavy rains, but is favorably reported of, from other thanas. There are good accounts of other rice crops, and of indigo and mulberry. Three-fourths of the silk-worms in the Sibgunge thana are said to have died.
	12 Rajshahye, „ 3, „		There has been a good deal of rain all over the district. The rain of the last week has been most beneficial to the crops, which are all doing well. No sickness prevalent.
	13 Rungpore, „ 2, „	1.57	Weather clearing. State of crops is good.
	14 Bogra, „ 3, „	1.54	Greater part of the week was rainy. Fair at the time of report. Crops promising. Sowing of the late rice is progressing. More rain needed.
	15 Pubna, „ 3, „	1.78	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of both early and late rice are very good, if the rivers do not rise too rapidly. The outturn of the indigo is reported to be poor.

* Telegram of the 5th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 5th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.—(Contd.)
Central Districts.—(Contd.)
COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	16 Darjeeling, July 3, '75	10.31	Frequent heavy falls of rain have continued throughout the week. Indian-corn and the millets, cowpeas and murwa , are ripening in the hills with good prospects. All the other crops in the hills and in the plains are progressing very favorably.
	17 Julpigoree, „ 3, „	3.60	Weather fine, with occasional heavy passing showers of rain. Prospect of crops is good. Cholera is still prevalent, but is fast decreasing.
	Cooch Behar, „ 1, „	3.47	During some days of the week the weather has been hot and cloudy. There were subsequently heavy showers of rain. The prospects of the late rice and the jute crop continue favorable. Cholera has ceased nearly altogether.
Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN.	18 Dacca, July 5,* '75	2.04	Seasonable weather. State of crops is very good. A little damage done to late aus in lowest parts of Bikrampore by rise of rivers. Early aus all cut there.
	19 Fureedpore, „ 3, „	1.95	Alternate sunshine and rain during the week. The crops are doing well in all but the Muksoodpore and Gopalgunge stations, where the aus and raida crops in the low lands have suffered more, or less by considerable rain in previous weeks. General health continues good.
	20 Backergunge, „ 1, „	2.79	Seasonable weather. All is well.
	21 Mymensingh, „ 2, „	5.00	The rainfall at head-quarters is greater than at any of the sub-divisions by from 1 to 2½ inches. The young jute crop appears to have been injured by heavy rains in many parts. The bawa , or long-stemmed rice now growing, is reported to have been over-topped by the floods in the east of the district, and to have been much injured. Other crops of rice are promising. The rainfall in the week ending 19th June, in the western and eastern sub-divisions of the district, was 13 and 11 inches respectively, and not 13 and 11 inches, as published in the Gazette of the 23rd idem.
CHITTAGONG DIVN.	22 Chittagong, „ 1, „	8.91	Weather gusty and rainy. The crops generally want a short cessation of rain and a little sunshine.
	23 Nonkholly, „ 1, „	6.67	Weather cloudy and gloomy almost all the week; strong south and south-easterly wind. The early rice crops are going on well. Towards Onrubad in the north, transplantation of the late rice has been stopped owing to water lying deep in the fields. The paddy already transplanted there has perished. More heavy rain is likely to injure the crops much. In other parts winged insects have attacked the blades rather more than usual. Cholera in the interior of the district. Six fatal cases in Rangunge station.
	24 Tipperah, „ 2, „	10.89	Rainfall at Brahmunberiah 2.37. Heavy rain during the week; cloudy and stormy weather. The winter rice on the low grounds has been somewhat damaged by the inundation caused by the heavy rain. The rice in the higher grounds, however, has much benefited by the copious rainfall.
	25 Chittagong Hill Tracts, June 29, „	8.7	Continued rains throughout the whole week. Weather cool and pleasant. Sowing nearly finished. The young paddy and cotton in the jooms are thriving. and prospects good throughout the whole district.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 30, „	4.7	It has rained more or less throughout the week, though not heavily. The weather is favorable for the amun sowing, which still continues, and for the aus crop, which has germinated.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN.	26 Patna, July 5,* „	6.97	Rain at intervals throughout the week. Prospects of crops favorable. Cholera disappearing.
	27 Gya, „ 3, „	7.10	Heavy rain all over the district during the week. Highest reading of dry maximum thermometer 98°. Agricultural operations were going on actively. Heavy rains have temporarily stopped this, as portions of country have been flooded. Prospects favorable. Cholera hanging on at various parts of the district.
	28 Shahabad, „ 3, „	2.59	Weather cloudy, and heavy rain for short periods during one or two days. Sowing of the bhados and late rice crops going on. Much sugarcane in cultivation.
	29 Durbhunga „ „ „	Return not received.

* Telegrams of the 5th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR —(Contd.)
PATNA DIVN. —(Contd.)	30 Mozufferpore, July 3, '75	4.46	Weather hot and rainy. The rainfall in the Hajipore sub-division during the week was 1.92, and in Seetamurhee 1.87 inches. More rain is wanted in the latter sub-division. Transplantation of rice is going on rapidly. Bhadoi crops are progressing well.
	31 Saran, „ 3, „	4.04	Weather damp and cloudy, with frequent heavy showers of rain. Clear at the time of report. There has been heavy rain throughout the week, which has benefited the crops. Ploughing and sowing going on briskly. A break in the weather is desirable to admit of the maka sowings being completed, and the bhadoi fields being weeded. Manufacture of indigo going on, but the outturn has been small on account of continuous rain. State and prospects of crops are very favorable. General health good. Cholera abating.
	32 Chumparan, „ 2, „	2.45	The weather during the early part of the week was close and hot, and the rain of the 1st did not come before it was wanted. The fall up to the present moment has been ample for all requirements. The prospects of the crops continue excellent.
BHAGELPORE DIVN.	33 Monghyr, „ 3, „	7.48	Weather cloudy. Very heavy rain during the week. Fine weather is wanted.
	34 Bhagulpore, „ 5,* „	2.18	Rain of the 30th June has been very favorable to transplanting paddy in Muddehpooora. Prospects so far appear good. Some damage from inundation is reported from Banka sub-division. Fever has broken out in Muddehpooora. Rainfall reports from Soopool and Banka not received.
	35 Purneah, „ 3, „	2.70	Stormy weather. Though the rainfall up to date is far below the average, the prospects of the rice and jute crops continue good. The small rainfall has been very favorable for indigo.
	36 Sonthal Pergas „ 3, „	4.23	Rain heavy and constant everywhere; not much damage done yet, but young janera millet wants sun. State and prospects of the crops are generally good.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION.	37 Cuttack, June 26, „	4.34	Weather cloudy and cool, with occasional rain, but 25th and 26th June have been fine. Crops everywhere coming up well. A little cholera in the north-east and east of the district.
	38 Pooree, July „	.89	Rainy and cloudy weather. Tillage and sowing are going on well. The prospects are fair. Miscellaneous crops are doing well.
	39 Balasore, „ 2, „	Rainfall at Bhudruk 2.82 inches. Young crops strong and healthy. Sowing finished: weeding commenced. Severe cholera has broken out in the south of the district, along the pilgrim route.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
	40 Hazareebagh, July. 2, '75	4.62	Rain more or less for five days out of seven; cloudy and gloomy weather. The wet and gloomy weather has hindered the growth of the bhadoi considerably, though no actual damage has yet been done. Fine weather anxiously looked for, and much wanted.
	41 Lohardugga „ „	Return not received.
	42 Singbhoom, „ 2, „	3.08	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are very favorable. District is healthy.
	43 Manbhoom, „ 3, „	2.25	Weather favourable generally. Too much rain reported from Govindpore. The district officer says that, judging from what he himself saw, and from what the police generally report, all crops were flourishing. The officer at Govindpore, however, reports that the people of that part of the district consider the late rain prejudicial to the biree pulse and Indian-corn crops now in the ground.

* Telegram of the 5th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—The following rules for the guidance of Revenue Officers in certain matters connected with the enforcement of the Land Acquisition Act X of 1870, have been sanctioned by the Governor-General of India in Council, and are published for general information, in conformity with section 59 of the Act, and in supersession of the rules published at page 1921 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of November 1870:—

WHEREAS the basis of compensation to be awarded for revenue-paying lands taken up under the provisions of Act X of 1870 is intended by the said Act to be the actual price for which the land, subject to all its burdens, and among others to the burden of the payment of land revenue, would sell in the market, it is necessary that the exact amount of the revenue demand should be ascertained and recorded before the award of compensation can be determined; and whereas under the provisions of the existing law the revenue authorities, and none other, can regulate the amount of the revenue charge to be enforced against an estate, or a portion of an estate; and whereas some of the rules already promulgated under section 59 of the said Act proceed on assumptions which are at variance with the principle above enunciated, the following revised rules are issued by the Government of Bengal, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, in supersession of those previously in force:—

I.—Wherever any revenue-paying land shall be acquired under the Act, the proprietor shall, except as provided in Rule VI, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

II.—In such cases the Collector shall, before making a tender, or a reference to a court regarding compensation, ascertain in accordance with the following rule, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in event of a reference being made to a court, furnish the court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

III.—If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

IV.—If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules:—

1st.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of commencement of proceedings for acquisition of any land situate thereon, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under division under Regulation XIX of 1814, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or division proceeding.

2nd.—When there may have been no such settlement or division as aforesaid, then if the area of the estate is known with accuracy, the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the area of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the area of the whole estate.

3rd.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e. the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

V.—In determining the amount of compensation to be tendered, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land is acquired subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

VI.—In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount tendered on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed more than one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion, on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate without abatement; provided that in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e. the tender of compensation, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at 12 years' purchase, the capitalised value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than 12 years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

VII.—When there is any doubt whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall, before making the reference to the court, which under the circumstances he would be required to make by section 15 of the Act, determine the amount of revenue which would be deemed payable in respect of the land acquired, in the event of the land being adjudged by the court to be a portion of the revenue-paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

VIII.—To enable the Collector to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 42 of the Act, and to enable him to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 24 of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land, and also the specific portion of the compensation which he may award for any houses, trees, or crops upon the land.

IX.—The procedure laid down for a reference under section 15 shall be held applicable to a reference under section 43.

X.—The procedure to be followed in the apportionment of the compensation awarded on account of lands taken up for temporary occupation shall be in accordance with the provisions of Part IV of the Act.

XI.—On the date on which payment of compensation in any case may become due under section 41 of the Act, the Collector shall tender the amount to such of the persons entitled to receive it as may be present at his office in person, or by agent duly authorized to receive the same, informing them at the same time that in the event of their refusal to accept the amount tendered, no claim to interest will be entertained. Should any such person be absent and have no authorized agent at the Collector's court, the Collector shall serve a notice upon him, calling upon him to attend in person or by agent, within one week of his receipt of the notice, to receive the amount due to him; and warning him that on failure to appear within the period abovenamed no interest whatever will be paid to him. Should such person neglect to appear within the time specified, the Collector shall, on being satisfied of the due service of the notice, invest the amount of the compensation money due to such person in Government securities, and hold the same in deposit until the amount shall be applied for by the person entitled to it.

On the application of such person, the Collector shall give him the option of receiving the Government securities plus any cash balance which has been too small for investment, or the sum which would have been paid to him had he come according to notice. The Collector shall follow the same course in regard to any compensation money which may be refused by a person entitled to receive it, provided that such investment shall be limited to even sums of Rs. 500, or multiples of Rs. 500. The amount of compensation, if less than Rs. 500, and any fractional part, if the compensation is above that sum, shall be held by the Collector in deposit.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875 —It is hereby notified for general information that under Section 85 of Act III (B.C.) of 1861, the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to approve of and confirm the following—

Bye-laws prepared and passed by the Municipal Commissioners of Dacca, for the Regulation and Cleansing of Private Privies and Premises situated within the limits of that Town.

Whenever it shall appear to the Municipal Commissioners to be advisable that they should, through servants appointed by them, undertake the disposal of night-soil of any portion or portions of the town of Dacca, they shall give public notice, by advertisement or otherwise, that they will, from and after a certain date, not less than one month after date of issue of notice, undertake the disposal thereof, subject to such conditions as may seem fit.

2. The Municipal Commissioners shall, after giving notice as aforesaid, make arrangements for the removal of all night-soil from all private privies within such portion or portions of the town as aforesaid.

3. Any person who wishes to undertake the cleaning of his own premises may apply to the Municipal Commissioners for exemption from the above rule. If the Municipal Commissioners are satisfied that the applicant is competent to make arrangements for cleaning his own premises, they may exempt him from the operation of the above bye-law. Occupiers of privies who have not been so exempted shall pay to the Municipal Commissioners quarterly, in advance, at the following rates per mensem, viz. eight annas per mensem if the house occupied along with the privy be built in whole or in part of burned bricks, and two annas per mensem if it be not so built, in accordance with the provisions of Section 11 of Act VII of 1870.

4. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises liable to the rate, shall give free access to the servants of the municipality to his house, land, or premises for the removal of any night-soil or filth, within such hours as may have been fixed on by the Municipal Commissioners.

5. Every person shall construct his privy above ground, and shall provide his privy or premises with a suitable moveable receptacle of tin, iron, or earthenware.

Penalty for infringement after notice, Rs. 20.

6. No householder having made payment as aforesaid shall, during the continuance of the period for which such payment has been made, be subject to any domiciliary visit of inspection of his privy or premises by any overseer or other officer of the municipality unless he neglects to comply with the provisions of bye-law 5: provided always that any overseer or other officer of the municipality shall be at liberty to inspect any privy or premises during the hours fixed for the removal of night-soil.

7. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises in or on which any privy may be situated, the disposal of whose night soil the municipality may not have undertaken, shall, after 6 hours' notice, give free access to his house, land, or premises to any officer, not under the rank of an overseer, who may wish to inspect the same, within such hours as the municipality may from time to time determine.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 5.

8. On receipt of a notice from the Municipal Commissioners, every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises, in or on which any well, privy, or other noxious or improperly constructed privy may be situated, shall fill up, close, or otherwise alter the construction of the said privy as may be directed in the notice; and if the orders contained in the notice be not carried out within 15 days, the Commissioners may fill up, close, or otherwise alter the said privy, and any expense incurred in so doing shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

9. No owner or occupier of any house, land or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, shall allow night-soil or filth of any kind to flow or be discharged from such privy into any drain, water-course, river, tank, hollow, or excavation (or any place containing waste and stagnant water), or into any other receptacle but one of the nature described in bye-law 5.

10. No person shall throw, deposit, or discharge any night-soil, sewage, or the contents of any drain, privy, or cesspool, into any river, tank, khal, water-course, or receptacle for water, or dispose of the above-mentioned kinds of offensive matters in any other way than as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 20.

11. The Municipal Commissioners may direct the use of lime, coal—tar, carbolic acid, or other deodorants or disinfectants in any privy or premises if at any time it seem to them necessary for the preservation of public health, or for the prevention of infection or spread of disease: provided that the Municipal Commissioners shall be bound to supply such deodorants, &c., at cost price, and the price shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

12. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to charge a fee, at a rate to be fixed hereafter by the Municipal Commissioners, according to circumstances, for the reception of night-soil to be deposited at their depôts by any mehler or person other than their own servants, and such fee shall be paid in advance for not less than one month. Unless such charge be paid, the soil will not be received.

13. No person shall carry night-soil through the streets otherwise than in a closely covered receptacle, of such description and pattern as shall be required from time to time by the Municipal Commissioners, and between such hours as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

3. A journal recording accurately and briefly all the occurrences of each day of the voyage must be regularly kept, and on the return voyage, delivered to the Embarkation Agent last concerned in the embarkation of the emigrants under conveyance, for perusal and transmission, through any other Embarkation Agent concerned, to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.
4. At the close of the voyage, the disembarkation officer must be requested to examine the surplus stores as to quality and quantity, and thereafter to countersign the Provision list, as required by Rule 152 of the Rules regulating emigration to the labour districts.
5. The emigrants during the winter months must be made to wear the additional warm clothing then supplied to them, and must be narrowly watched to see that they wear them continuously.
6. The effects of the emigrants under conveyance to the labour districts must be searchingly examined, under personal supervision, not only as soon as possible after embarkation and at intervals during the voyage, but also before embarkation, and all improper articles of food and dirty rags found amongst them must be at once removed and destroyed.
7. Every care must be taken to secure the serving out of properly cooked food to the emigrants, and a constant supply of good drinking water, as required by Rule 151.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—Under Section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1871, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to approve of the following amended rules of the Registration Rules published at pages 1438 and 628 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th December 1873 and 25th March 1874, in modification of Rules 125, 129, and 145 :—

Rule 125.—A permanent advance, not exceeding Rs. 200, will be allowed for each District Registrar on account of (1) contingencies, (2) service postage, and (3) refund of registration fees; but he need not draw the full advance of Rs. 200 where his ordinary expenses fall much below that amount. The Registrar will apportion the amount drawn according to the requirements of each subordinate office, care being taken that for Rural Offices a sum is allowed sufficient to meet charges for refunds only; while in the case of other Sub-Registry Offices, it should be such as to cover charges for contingencies as well as refunds. In cases of the dismissal or death of Rural Sub-Registrars, the District Registrar will be held responsible for the amount of the advances made by him. At the close of each official year the District Registrar will send an acknowledgment of the entire advance to the Accountant-General, Bengal, in A. G. B. form No. 151, of which a supply should be kept at hand.

Rule 129.—All official letters and covers sent by post from any Sub-Registry or District Registry office must be prepaid by service labels. These labels will be supplied to Sub-Registrars (on application) by District Registrars, who will disallow unreasonable and excessive demands. A monthly statement of the distribution of service labels should be submitted by each District Registrar for the information of the Inspector-General. The cost of these labels will be met from the consolidated advance mentioned in Rule 125. All bills for bearing covers must be accompanied by the covers on which the payments were made as vouchers. Service labels will be purchased by District Registrars as they require them, the expenditure being included in their monthly contingent bill, supported by the Treasury Officer's receipt as vouchers.

Rule 132.—The advance received by a Sub-Registrar will never be repaid into the Treasury, but recouped from time to time, when necessary, by the submission to the Registrar of an abstract bill or bills supported by needful vouchers. On the first Office day after the 25th March in each year, the officer receiving the advance will forward an acknowledgment of its receipt to the District Registrar. Whenever there is a change of incumbency, the relieving officer shall also address to the Registrar an acknowledgment in the following form :—

To the Registrar of

relieved officer.

relieving officer.

And I the relieving officer acknowledge to have received Rupees of the permanent advance of Rupees , and that the full amount of such advance is due from and to be accounted for by me.

Dated the 18 relieving officer.

Rule 145.—When the expenditure during any month on account of contingencies, service postage, and refunds, in any Registrar's Office exceeds the amount of the permanent advance, the amount expended may be drawn by an abstract bill or bills (see Accountant-General's form No. 119) submitted during the month under the Registrar's signature. But in such cases a detailed bill (see Accountant-General's form No. 138), accompanied by vouchers, must also be submitted to the Inspector-General at the end of the month.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 338.

The 12th July 1875.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of Dacca, Furreedpore, Backergunge, and Mymensingh, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1873-74, together with the review thereon by the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Captain, M.S.C.,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.

No. 129, dated Dacca, the 14th December 1874.

From—D. R. LYALL, Esq., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Dacca,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report on the works done by the District Road Cess Committee during the cess year 1873-74, and those proposed during the year 1874-75.

2.—WORKS DONE IN 1873-74.

(1.) The two pucca bridges on the Manickgunge Shealo road, left partially unfinished last year, have been completed this year at a cost of Rs. 4,612-13-11, including the last year's outlay; and of the remaining twelve bridges, the bridges in the Shadkha bheel (two spans of ten feet), the Bogadur bheel (two spans of ten feet), over the Rethoora halut (one span of ten feet), in Geelando bheel (one span of four feet), and over Jokah halut (one span of four feet), have been completed; whilst the bridges over the Baniajoori khall (two spans of fifteen feet) and Andhar Manick khall (one span of fifteen feet) have been more than half completed. Altogether about 31,000 out of 50,000 cubic feet of masonry estimated have been actually executed. The total expenditure incurred on them is Rs. 13,098-15-1. The reason of the whole not being done is that the brick contractor failed to supply bricks. A number were damaged owing to the early rains, and one kiln turned out useless, as reported to you in my letter No. 481, dated 27th July last.

During the year under report the entrance of the excavation at Shealo has been also closed by a bund.

(2.) The Pannia khall—about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles has been excavated at an outlay of Rs. 19,898-5-5. Owing to the early rain, water broke in when about a foot remained to be excavated; but it is believed that the khall has deepened of itself, and that little or nothing will remain to be done except to clear away a bar at the mouth.

(3.) The Dussorah khall has been levelled and surveyed, and the Kantabutty khall partly surveyed during the year, at a cost of Rs. 331-14 and Rs. 80 respectively.

(4.) The excavation of the Meerkadim khall has been also done at a cost of Rs. 7,859-8, out of which Rs. 5,476-8 have been paid by the Road Cess Committee. This khall was done by private enterprise, and the funds were supplemented by private subscription. It has afforded additional means of communication to the people of Bickrampore.

(5.) Nearly two-thirds of earthwork of the Bujrojuqui road, which was commenced last year, has been completed this year at a cost of Rs. 1,500. This expenditure has been defrayed by Baboo Kali Kishore Guha, a zemindar, by whom the work was undertaken, and who has applied for a similar grant from road cess funds to finish the construction of the remaining part of the road, together with three wooden bridges situated thereon.

(6.) In addition to the above, a tank has been also dug at Jola Meherpore Khas Mehal at a cost of Rs. 1,019-8, including the price of a pump. This is not strictly road cess work, and has been done from a special grant made by Government from Provincial Reserve Fund.

(7.) Annual repairs have been effected to the Goalundo or Shealo Manickgunge road, which has stood the rains very well, and, though in places damaged by rats, is on the whole in a satisfactory state. The total cost under this head is Rs. 1,088-13-9.

(8.) A new bridge on the 7th mile of the Naraingunge road, in addition to the one erected last year, has been built with four feet more waterway than the old one, at a cost of Rs. 1,588-14-9. Two drains on the 1st mile were renewed at Rs. 22-15-3; and the iron suspension bridge and the bamboo spur work at Pagla, on the 1st and 4th miles respectively, were also repaired during the year at an expenditure of Rs. 167-13-6 and Rs. 70.

(9.) A portion of the Naraingunge road, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles in extent, has been also metalled at an outlay of Rs. 7,066-1-7.

(10.) Repairs have been done to the Kolatya, Joinshur, and a part of Srinaggar roads, at a cost of Rs. 1,810, Rs. 50, and Rs. 3,264-12 respectively.

(11.) The road from Dacca to Toke, commonly called the Mymensingh road, has been cleared of jungles and fully repaired; 23 wooden platform and 49 masonry bridges have been also repaired. The total outlay incurred is Rs. 8,919-15-3. The bridges on this road were found worse than was expected, and a sum in excess of the estimate has been expended. This was unavoidable in order to keep the road fit for traffic.

(12.) Petty village works were also carried on by the Branch Road Committees of the Sudder, Manickgunge, and Moonsheegunge sub-divisions; but as they are mere petty works, I do not think it necessary to notice them separately in this report. The total expenditure under this head was Rs. 3,817-11-9.

3. During the whole year the works of the Committee were managed by the Public Works Department under the supervision of the District Engineer, and I had several times brought to your notice the inadequacy of the establishment of the department to execute all the works of the Committee with due despatch.

4. The works carried on during the year under report were paid from the revenue derived under the Act from ferry ghâts, from Government grant, and other miscellaneous sources.

5. Five meetings of the Committee were held during the year to transact business, and the members attended regularly and took a lively interest in their business.

6.—WORKS PROPOSED FOR 1874-75.

(1.) Repairs to the road from Moonsheegunge to Srinaggar and bridges situated on the line.

(2.) Three miles of the Naraingunge road to be metalled, and repairs to be done to bridges and to spurs at Pagla. New wing walls of a bridge will be also constructed, and petty repairs to road up to Bydebazar will be carried on.

(3.) The Kolatya road to be repaired, and temporary bridges to be constructed thereon.

(4.) Petty repairs to be done to the Goalundo road and to the Toke road and bridges.

(5.) The Goalundo line of road from Phulbariah to Dacca to be extended.

(6.) Petty village works will be undertaken by the Branch Committees, for which Rs. 6,000 have been allotted.

(7.) On arrival of the steam dredger, dredging operations in rivers to be carried on.

7. All the works of the Committee will be met from the proceeds of the Road Cess Fund of the year, which is to be derived from the following sources :—

1. Cess on lands,

2. Cess on houses,

3. Ferry tolls,

4. One per cent. road cess,

5. Government grant,

6. Other miscellaneous, and which is expected to amount to Rs. 1,09,600.

8. A detailed account of receipts and disbursements of the past year 1873-74 have been submitted to you with my letter No. 78, dated 20th ultimo.

D. R. LYALL,
Chairman.

No. 22C., dated Fureedpore, the 7th December 1874.

From—W. S. WELLS, Esq., Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Fureedpore,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

THERE has been a little unavoidable delay in submitting the local improvement report, as the one prepared by the Executive Engineer of Backergunge and Fureedpore is too brief and scanty, and the Vice-Chairmen to the Road Cess Committee have been frequently changed; Baboo Jadab Chandra Gossammi having been removed to Dinagepore for relief purposes, and Mr. A. J. Fraser transferred at the end of October to Dacca. I, too, was absent on leave till the 16th ultimo, and my locum tenens left the matter until my return to the district. I am therefore writing the report myself.

2. All works over Rs. 1,000 have been executed under the supervision of the Executive Engineer of Backergunge and Fureedpore districts through the local establishment, Public Works Department, entertained in this district. The works under Rs. 1,000 were executed by the same establishment, but under the direct orders of the Committee. I have more than once advocated the amalgamation of Fureedpore to Dacca, as Burrisal, the head-quarters of the Executive Engineer under present arrangement, is out of the way,—only accessible by the great river, and distant by post, taking at least a week to obtain a reply. This transfer is, I believe, going to be made.

3. The total income for the last year was as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cess on lands	24,070	3	3
Cess on houses	1,144	12	3
Fines under the Act	844	8	1
Other cesses	810	11	11
Ferry tolls	1,370	4	3
Grants-in-aid	15,000	0	0
Sales of produce and stores	5	4	0
Fines and refunds	1,059	2	0
Miscellaneous (including private donations)	6,361	7	7
Total	50,666	5	4

4. Out of the aggregate net income of Rs. 50,666-5-4, Rs. 11,062-9-3 were expended by the Collector in maintaining throughout the year under review the road cess establishment necessary for cess operations in the sub-division of Madaripore, lately made over to this district from Backergunge, and to complete the statistical information called for by Government in Circular No. 2400, dated 22nd August 1873.

5. Under orders conveyed in Government Circular No. 32, dated 27th September 1873, Rs. 2,600 were granted to sub-divisional committees of Goalundo and Madaripore to be spent on village inter-communications.

6. This left Rs. 37,003-12-1 available for district thoroughfares.

7. There are no imperial roads in this district, every communication being constructed and kept up from these funds. It is not easy to find means to carry out original works. The roads often suffer serious injury from the ordinary annual floods, and are frequently cut by villagers for irrigation purposes, which makes the calls on our limited resources for each year's repairs somewhat heavy. I am happy, however, to be able to report that they have been less injured than is usually the case during the past rains. It may be said that it is far from creditable to the police and executive that the roads should be so frequently cut by the villagers. But the nature of the country must be taken into consideration. Wherever a road is made, it becomes in the rains an embankment which interferes with the general drainage of the country; and when the inundation is high and almost tops the bund, if ever so small a ditch is cut the water will do the rest for itself, and before daylight a large gap will be formed. No vigilance can meet such circumstances; and as all gain during a drought by the irrigation thus effected, it is impossible to ascertain the culprits. On the other hand, the expense of furnishing culverts and bridges, which would make it optional with cultivators to irrigate their grounds at pleasure, only required during abnormally dry weather, would be an expense which would make the laying out and retaining any roads impossible.

8. It is for this reason that the making of any new thoroughfare, however useful and necessary, is a very slow proceeding; and so the road between the Rajbari railway-station and Fureedpore has been on the stocks a long time. At present every rupee we can spare is laid out in buying up the ground and gradually progressing with this important work. Some 12 years ago it was the intention of Government to make this an imperial road, but it was ultimately left to the Ferry Fund, and subsequently to the Road Cess Fund.

9. The line of road originally planned by Mr. Donzelle, the Executive Engineer, ran in a somewhat straight line from a point about two miles down the Jessore road near the Goalchamut bridge, not far beyond the municipal precincts, through thana Belgatchi (Humdum-pore), vid Alladipore to Rajbari.

10. I found, however, that a road had been already constructed from Fureedpore to Kristopore, on the banks of what was then the Maraganga, a silted up branch of the river Pudda, and from Kristopore it ran close alongside the Maraganga to Chandpur, in all a distance of seven miles.

11. This roadway was unbridged, and since taking charge I have bridged it throughout, except the broad khall at Gopalpore.

12. I regret to state, however, that the Ganges has set steadily on to this shore, and has cut away, say, 300 yards of the elbow at Kristopore.

13. Happily I spent a large portion of last year's money on the Rajbari-end, and have completed the embankment for $3\frac{1}{4}$ miles, to Alladipore.

14. The Committee at the last meeting, held on the 26th ultimo, has decided, and I think the decision good, to carry the road on the line made by Mr. Donzelle, and abandon the road alongside the Maraganga, as it will probably all be washed away if the river continues to impinge on this shore.

15. I explained these plans to you verbally on your late visit to this station, and it has, I believe, met with your approval. The road will be pushed on as far as possible, though of course the estimates lately sent you no longer apply, and much more money will be necessary.

16. Both lines of road are about the same length, from Fureedpore court-house to Rajbari railway-station, but the inner line which we have now adopted is only 16 miles from the point where it leaves the Jessore road.

17. The land will be taken up for the new road with as little delay as possible.

18. The Committee, with your sanction, has determined to devote Rs. 21,884 for the construction of this road during the year now commencing; and we have Rs. 8,022 in the hands of the Collector, which were made over to purchase land this side Alladipore. During the year under review we have made upwards of $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles of earthwork and turfing, devoting a large portion of the money, as before stated Rs. 8,022, to purchase land. The Committee is fully sensible of the paramount necessity of a road to the railway, which is at the same time one to the sub-divisional head-quarters at Goalundo; and every effort is made to save as much as we can fairly do, and to devote all we can spare to have a good thoroughfare practicable all the year round to the railway, as speedy postal communications with Calcutta and Dacca also depends on this being done. I propose to ask you in a separate communication to place the importance of this railway feeder before His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, and obtain the consent of Government to a small loan to enable us to buy the land and complete the earthwork this year. The loan could be repaid next year, and this road, it must be borne in mind, was once deemed of imperial importance and classed as an imperial work. It will form a portion of the thoroughfare to Madaripore and Burrisal.

19. The Belgatchi road runs from a village where the thana of that name was situated. The thana is now ten miles distant, at a village called Humdumpore, which is more central within its jurisdiction. This road between Alladipore and Phultola, on the banks of the Maraganga, was part of the Rajbari feeder route now given up by the Committee. It will, however, be kept up as a fair-weather communication with Goalundo.

20. Before the inner Rajbari route was adopted, and during the past year, we built a bridge 12 feet span at Malhabari, on the road to Chandpur.

21. The Fureedpore Ghat road, connecting the abandoned Rajbari road with Fureedpore, was raised sufficiently just before the rains to form a good pathway during the inundation. As this will still be an important thoroughfare, this connecting link will be completed.

22. We now come to repair works.

23. The Pangsa road was received, when the thana came over to us in 1871, in a very deplorable condition. It was cut to pieces during the inundation that year, and every bridge was found to be old and broken down.

24. There is an English school at Pangsa, and the people are fully alive to their interests. They sent petition after petition to every public paper, to the Commissioner, to Government, and to this Committee, until, considerably against my inclination, we were forced to put their road into repair at a cost of Rs. 12,000, of which Rs. 5,823 are spent,—money which I hold should have been spent on the Rajbari road, which is much more important if the general interests of the district are considered.

25. This road is 27 miles in length, with 28 bridges to repair, or, in most cases, to construct a new as regards the whole upper portion.

26. When we have sufficient funds available, it will be of course a great advantage to carry the Pangsa road, which passes through Baliakandi to Madhukali, a place of commercial importance, on to Kanaipur, on the Jessore road; but we should confine our present resources to the completion of the Rajbari railway feeder, undoubtedly the first work on the list.

27. The Jessore road runs straight across the district, and was the old Grand Trunk Road, the main thoroughfare from Calcutta to Dacca eastward. We have not yet set straight the damage done by the inundations of 1870-1871. The three most important bridges, Goalchamat, Moozurdia, and Mysala, all fell in, of which the first only and smallest has been repaired.

28. Ferries meantime over the latter khalls serve every purpose.

29. Petty repairs were done to the whole length, 19 miles, and the earthwork throughout has been well kept up.

30. The Madhukhali road is in a very bad state, and nothing was done to it. It is not at present of importance, until the Pangsa road is repaired down to it.

31. The Talma road is 10 miles in length from Fureedpore to Maniknagar southward. Mention of this road is made in this office No. 687, dated 2nd instant, when reporting the best way of improving communications with Madaripore. It is made of light, friable soil, is close to the Ganges, and consequently cuts and fritters away every year. The embankment, however, is always thoroughly repaired each season, as the road is an important one, communicating with Talma and large places intended to be carried on to the Situl Luckya at thana Aimpore.

32. The old Talma road runs on the west side of the Dhol Somoodra, and was, I understand, abandoned, as the waves on the lake used to beat it to pieces. This, I think, is a matter for regret, as a fringe of dhonchia (a strong reed) would have effectually defended it. This road has been partially repaired, as it runs through a populous tract.

33. The bund over Fureedpore khall, which protects the town and bridge from the violence of the stream in this waterway during the inundation, was repaired. The water was very high at one time, and flooded a portion of Gonalchamat, very nearly topping the bund.

34. The Haturia road has been constructed under the Executive Engineer's supervision. The land for this thoroughfare was never legally acquired, and this is now being done. The work was taken over from Backergunge. This road is being constructed entirely at the charge of Baboo Kali Kisto Thakur, of Calcutta.

35. Golam Ali Choudhuri is anxious to make a branch road to meet the Hatooria road at his own expense; but the consideration of his offer is postponed till the completion of the Hatooria road. This gentleman, in fact, first offered to bear the cost of the construction of the Hatooria road.

36. The private ferries in this district are, as a rule, very unsatisfactorily worked by private proprietors; and the Committee, with your predecessor's approval, purchased the ferries at Fureedpore and Gopalpore. It is a matter for consideration whether the former should not be made free, or at all events the toll on passenger traffic be reduced, as many who come daily to business in Fureedpore live across the khall, and many who attend the bi-weekly market or seek labour in the municipality are charged one pice either way for being ferried across the khall.

37. This concludes my general remarks. The figured details of income and expenditure will furnish every other information needed which is not already given in previous annual reports.

38. The actual income from ferries is shown as Rs. 1,370-4-3 out of Rs. 1,426 which were budgeted, which means that the Rs. 1,370 odd were realized up to the 30th October, when this account was made up.

39. I attach the sub-divisional reports in original.

40. The Goalundo Committee was granted Rs. 4,000 on receipt of the Government circular directing 10 per cent. to be devoted to village thoroughfares under local management. I very properly considered the fair-weather road towards Fureedpore of the first importance, as the traffic on it, both pedestrian and cart, is very large. The other three undertakings were completely local in their nature, and affected only the interests in the immediate vicinity.

41. Goalundo receives a very large portion of our funds for the Rajbari feeder; the Pangsa and Belgatchi roads are all mainly within this sub-division.

42. None of the cess income was spent on Madaripore, as the Act is not yet enforced in that sub-division. The assessment operations are, however, being carried on as fast as the law permits.

43. We received Rs. 800 from Backergunge, which we gave to the Madaripore Committee. This year we have received nothing from Government for this sub-division. Act VI (B.C.) of 1868 will shortly be extended to the town of Madaripore, chiefly inhabited by a very prosperous commercial community; and I trust the sub-divisional officers will be able to complete with town funds the works which the local committee undertook, as cess money, when it comes, could not be utilised to carry them on.

44. As this report exhausts all that we have done, and contains all that we hope to do, I conclude that no separate annual report is now necessary.

No. 363, dated Goalundo, the 9th November 1874.

From—W. R. DAVIES, Esq., Deputy Magistrate of Goalundo,
To—The Magistrate of Fureedpore.

It was not until late in the season I became aware of the fact that Rs. 4,000 had been sanctioned out of the road cess for works in this sub-division.

The Sub-Committee held three meetings, and the following works were decided upon:—

- No. 1.—Repair of Fureedpore road to Panchooriya.
- No. 2.—Repair of road to Hoomoriya Ghât.
- No. 3.—Excavation of Rampore Khal.
- No. 4.—Excavation of Pangsa Khal.

					Rs.
No. 1	was commenced in April	and completed in June	at a cost of	...	1,325
No. 2	ditto	May	ditto	ditto	180
Total					1,505

The Sub-Committee had no overseer, could get no contractors to undertake the excavation of the two khals for which Rs. 800 and Rs. 1,000 were respectively allotted, and these works were not therefore done. A balance of Rs. 2,495 is available for the present year.

The work done in Nos. 1 and 2 was simply levelling the uneven surface and filling up the ruts and holes on these kutchra roads; but as the entire line of country from Goalundo to Panchooriya is below flood-level, and the roads were for upwards of four months under water, there has been very little good done.

During my cold-weather tour I saw the localities through which the two khals run, and am of opinion that no money should be laid out in deepening them until they are surveyed and proper levels are taken; and if a competent overseer were allowed me for a month, I could have this done early in the cold season to insure the excavations being completed before the close of the hot season.

No. 466, dated Madareepore, the 19th November 1874.

From—MOULVIE SYUD TUJUMMUL ALLY, Deputy Magistrate of Madareepore,
To—The Magistrate of Fureedpore.

With reference to your No. 1069, dated the 7th instant, I have the honor to submit my report on the subject of local improvement, as required in paragraph 2, clause 5, of Government circular No. 8, dated the 6th March 1873.

(a.) Rupees 500 were assigned by the District Road Committee of Backergunge for the local works of this sub-division for the year 1873-74, i.e. from 1st October 1873 to 30th September 1874.

(b.) The amount was expended in repairing the main road at the sub-divisional headquarters leading from the moonsif's cutchery to the Madareepore bazar; making an embankment at the river Coomar, just opposite the sub-divisional court-house, and clearing jungles at the head-quarters. All the works were done by coolies under my supervision. I regret to say that none of these works have been completed on account of the fund being limited. I shall have to work on them again this year, for which a separate estimate will be submitted.

J. NUJENT,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 99, dated Burrisal, the 13th November 1874.

From—E. J. BARTON, Esq., Officiating Magistrate of Backergunge,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the local improvement report as called for by your No. 533L, of the 2nd instant.

1st.—The principal works of the year have been the extension of the Gaurnadi road (formerly known as the Madaripore road) and the construction of the Backergunge and Basauda roads. The Gaurnadi road will be completed to Gaurnadi this year.

2nd.—The Jhalakathi and the Nalchitti roads have been repaired, but some bridges ought to be constructed on both of these roads. The Dabdia road ought also to be completed to Backergunge.

3rd.—The Tarki and the Kasipur khalls have been excavated, and the Lakhutia khall partially deepened. The Jhopkhali khall requires excavation, and the Lakhutia a further improvement and excavation.

4th.—In the town of Burrisal the road leading to Kalibari is in course of construction, and many others, such as the Bagura Jail and Strand roads, &c., have been repaired and retalled. Others, such as the South Bagura road, the Rajah Bahadur's road, &c., require repairing and retalling; but as the Town Committee have not adequate funds in hand, these works cannot be undertaken unless a liberal contribution be made from the District Road Fund.

5th.—The Jail khall has been deepened, and the Bhatta khall and the Line's tank have been partially deepened. Many tanks, such as the tank to the east of Mr. De'Silva's house, the Bibi's tank, &c., require re-excavation and deepening.

6th.—Many bridges and culverts have been and are being constructed in the town of Burrisal; others, such as the bazar bridge, the school bridge, &c., require repairs.

7th.—In the sub-division of Daulatkhan, the station road has been repaired. A bridge ought to be constructed there. The Bhola khall has been excavated.

8th.—In Patuakhali, the Mirzaganj road has been constructed and the sub-divisional station road has been repaired.

9th.—In Perozepore the sub-divisional station road has been repaired and retalled.

No. 195, dated Mymensingh, the 19th December 1874.

From—R. H. PAWSEY, Esq., Officiating Magistrate of Mymensingh,

To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

In compliance with your No. 533L, dated 1st November last, I have the honor to forward herewith the local improvement report called for, and to submit an account exhibiting the receipts and expenditure in detail.

The following works have been undertaken during the year:—

The Road from Mymensingh to Toke.—Two culverts built, one of 3 feet span and one of 8 feet; twenty-two bridges repaired, and bricks manufactured for a bridge at Rowha of 8 feet span; 280,000 cubic feet of earthwork executed in repairs; 12 miles and 86,380 superficial feet of surface dressing of crown done; and 15 miles of jungle cleared; 170,000 cubic feet of earthwork remain to be done, and the building of the bridge at Rowha. Toke road is 42 miles long. The whole was put generally into fair order.

Ramgopalpore and Gouripore Road.—The repairs done to this road during the year were 444,000 cubic feet of earthwork, 222,000 superficial feet of crown dressed, two small bridges built and one of 7 feet span in hand. 192,720 cubic feet of earthwork remain to be done. This road is 16 miles long. It was all kept in fair order during the year.

Shubarncolly Road.—Six wooden bridges repaired between Mooktagachha and Gaptullee, seven wooden bridges re-planked between Madhupore and Shubarncolly by Mr. Kallanos, 4,320 cubic feet of masonry built in well foundations for the Aeman bridge, and three-fourth mile of road metalled. Gaptullee jungle was cleared. 1,780,000 cubic feet of earthwork was done in repairs at Mooktagachha and between Mymensingh and the road to Bygambari. From Madhupore to Shubarncolly, fourteen miles, the earthwork was got done by Mr. Kallanos. Repairs to Madhupore bridge, for which bricks have been burnt, will be taken in hand after the cessation of the rains. The Aeman bridge is in hand. The Lengra Bazar bridge, of 30 feet waterway, was completed in the early part of the year. The Shubarncolly Road is 54 miles long. It was maintained in fair order during the year.

Jamalpore Road.—The whole of this road was put in good repair from the junction with the Shubarncolly Road to Jamalpore. Two wooden bridges were re-planked. Sherocolly planked bridge, 64 feet long, was put into good repair. The Jamalpore road is 36 miles long.

In addition to the above, the road from Hushenpore to Kishoregunge has been kept in repair, and three bridges built thereon by the Deputy Magistrate of Kishoregunge; and the road from Jamalpore to Sherepore has been maintained in good order under the supervision of the Deputy Magistrate of Jamalpore.

The sum of Rs. 3,000 has been allotted to the branch committees at sub-divisions for expenditure on village roads.

The works proposed during the whole of the present year have not been arranged for at present, but application has been made to Government for a loan of Rs. 60,000 for carrying out the following works during the six months from 1st October last to 31st March 1875 :—

J. PRATT,
For Offg. Magistrate.

No. 496R., dated Dacca, the 19th February 1875.

From—F. B. PEACOCK, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Public Works Department.

WITH reference to your circular No. 51, dated 8th August last, I have the honor to submit the following local improvement report of this division for the year ending 30th September 1874, together with the District Committees' reports of Dacca, Fureedpore, Backergunge, and Mymensingh. The reports from Sylhet and Cachar, transferred to the Assam Commissionership during the year, have not, though repeatedly called for, as yet been received. I have not therefore considered it advisable to delay the submission of this report further in consequence of their non-receipt. These reports will be transmitted as soon as they are received.

2. The marginal memorandum shows the numbers and dates of this office endorsements with which the annual accounts of the several districts of the division were forwarded to the Controller of Public Works Accounts. The Sylhet account has not as yet been received.

Dacca, with this office No. 333R., dated 1st December 1874.
Fureedpore, ditto " 425R., " 15th January 1875.
Backergunge, ditto " 385R., " 24th December 1874.
Mymensingh, ditto " 442R., " 28th January 1875.
Cachar, ditto " 379R., " 23rd December 1874.

3. Having assumed charge of the division long after the close of the year to which this report relates, my remarks must be confined to the records of the office only.

4. The only districts of the division in which the road cess on lands and houses was collected during the year were Dacca and Fureedpore. In Mymensingh, though the Road Cess Act was introduced from September 1872, yet no collection could be made; the work of valuation not having been completed within the year. In Backergunge the Act was not introduced until after the close of the year, and it has not as yet been applied to Sylhet and Cachar.

5. Thus, in Dacca and Fureedpore the road fund consisted of road cess on lands and houses and tolls on ferries, while in the other districts it consisted of tolls on ferries alone, besides Government grant from provincial fund allowed to all districts.

6. The Government grant or advance for the several districts of the division for the past year (1873-74) was—

* Of the Rs. 40,000 granted by Government resolution dated 24th January 1874, and Rs. 25,000 under Government order No. 3738, dated 17th July 1873.
 † Granted by Government order No. 3738, dated 17th July 1873, for the year 1873-74.

8. Of the original works undertaken at a cost of Rs. 50,048-0-6, the following deserve notice :—

- (1)—Construction of 14 masonry bridges on the road from Manickgunge to Goalundo (sanctioned by Government No. 1909, dated 24th March 1874) at a cost of Rs. 14,647.
- (2)—Excavation of Panya khall, connecting the rivers Booreegunga and Dhullessary, and thereby saving a circuitous journey of nearly a day, at a cost of Rs. 19,898. (Sanctioned under Government order No. 1819, dated 20th March 1874)
- (3)—Excavation of Murkadim khall, passing through several populous villages of pergunnah Bickrampur, and connecting the river Dhullessary with that flowing up to the police-station at Rajahbaree, thereby reducing the distance between these two rivers by twelve miles, at a cost of Rs. 7,859, of which more than Rs. 2,000 were contributed by the villagers.

9. The following form the bulk of the works under the head of “Repairs,” costing Rs. 25,461-4-2 :—

- (1)—Metalling a portion (4½ miles) and general repairs of the road from the town of Dacca to Naraingunge, the large and well-known jute mart, at a cost of Rs. 7,066-1-7.
- (2)—Repairing the road from Dacca to Toke, commonly known as Mymensingh road,* including repairs of 23 wooden platform and 49 masonry bridges, at a cost of Rs. 8,919-15-3.
- (3)—Repairing bridges, &c, on the Naraingunge road, at a cost of Rs. 3,159-13-7.
- (4)—Repairs to Goalundo road, at Rs. 1,088-13-9.
- (5)—Repairing the road from Thannah Sreenagur to the head-quarters of the Moonsheegunge sub-division, at Rs. 3 264-12-0.
- (6)—Repairing two village roads, at Rs. 1,860.

10. The works proposed for the current year are—

- (1)—Construction of a portion of the Goalundo road, viz. from Phulbaree to Dacca, a distance of about twelve miles.
- (2)—General repairs of all existing roads and bridges.
- (3)—Petty village works to be undertaken by Sub-divisional Branch Committees at a cost of Rs. 6,000.
- (4)—Operations of the dredging machine, &c., &c., at an estimated cost of upwards of Rs. 60,000.

11. In Fureedpore the receipts from all sources amounted as per margin to Rs. 50,665-11-11, of which Rs. 33,087-11-9 have been expended, leaving a balance of Rs. 17,578-0-2 at the close of the year under report.

12. Of the sum of Rs. 33,087-11-9 spent during the year, Rs. 11,062-9-3 have been expended in establishments and contingencies for the road cess work and collections.

Rs. 700-15-3	have been expended in refunds.
„ 14,434-10-6	ditto ditto original works.
„ 6,783-10-9	ditto ditto repairs.
„ 105-14-0	ditto ditto tools and plant.

Total ... Rs. 33,087-11-9

13. The charge under the head of establishment and contingencies compared with the road cess collections, amounting to Rs. 26,059-7-7, appears to be disproportionately heavy; but it must be borne in mind that it includes the cost of work of the Madareepore sub-division transferred within the year from Backergunge, from which no collections could be made until after the close of the year.

14. The original works, costing Rs. 11,434-10-6, consist of the construction of a portion of road* from Fureedpore to Rajbaree railway-station, at a cost of Rs. 10,951-2-2; of a road from the river Hatooria to Boorirhat police-station, at Rs. 2,355-12-6;† and of minor works, at Rs. 1,127-11-10.

15. Under the head of repairs, the only work on which a large amount was spent is the Pangsha road, 27 miles in length, with 28 bridges, which was received by transfer in very bad condition from the district of Pubna.

16. The following works are proposed to be undertaken during the current year:—

- (1)—Construction of Rajbaree and Hatooria roads, at a cost of above Rs. 26,000.
- (2)—Repairs of Pangsha, Talma, and Jessore roads, at a cost of about Rs. 4,000.
- (3)—Works in the sub-divisions of Goalundo and Madareepore and village roads at a cost of about Rs. 7,000.

17. Backergunge.—The total receipts of this district, including the balance of the preceding year (1872-73), amounted to Rs. 51,991-10-7, of which—

Rs. 278-2-0 have been expended in establishment and contingencies.

„ 28,551-13-4 have been expended in original works.

„ 18,782-9-8 have been expended in repairs, making a total charge of Rs. 47,612-9-0, thus leaving a balance of Rs. 4,379-1-7 at the close of the year.

18. Of the amount spent in original works—

Rs. 8,747-10-2 have been expended in the construction of a portion of the road from the town of Burisal to thaannah Gourandi, commonly called the Madareepore road. (Sanctioned by Government order No. 2633, dated 15th June 1871.)

Rs. 10,173-1-1 have been expended in the widening and deepening of the Bhola and Dowlatkhan khall, in the sub-division of Dukhun-shahbazzore, with a view to facilitate communication between the head-quarters of the sub-division and its neighbouring villages, and to shorten the distance between Calcutta and Noakhally. In 1871-72 a new khall joining the old khall at Bhola and that at Dowlatkhan was made; but in the following year it silted up in many places, and it was then determined to widen and deepen it with the view of keeping it navigable throughout the year for ordinary-sized boats. The people subscribed Rs. 3,000. The original estimate was less than Rs. 6,000, but the actual expenditure amounted to more than Rs. 10,000. This is the reason why the sanction of Government was not obtained before commencing the work.

Rs. 9,631-2-1 have been expended in several other minor works throughout the district.

19. Under the head of repairs, Rs. 18,782-9-8 have been spent in repairing all the existing roads and bridges of the district; the heaviest charges being in the roads and bridges of the Burrisal sub-division and in the roads from the town of Burrisal to the police-stations at Nulehittes and Jhulokutty, which are places of considerable trade in rice.

20. The following is a list of works proposed to be undertaken during the current year 1874-75 :—

New Works.

	Rs.
1. Construction of roads and bridges, at a cost of 6,000
2. Repairs to existing roads and bridges in all sub-divisions, at a cost of upwards of 20,000

21. Mymensingh.—In this district the amount available for expenditure was Rs. 40,201-8-10, and the charges incurred during the year amounted to Rs. 41,687-11-8, being Rs. 1,486-2-10 in excess of the receipts.

22. Of the sum of Rs. 41,687-11-8 expended—

Rs. 16,660-7-8 have been spent in original works.

„ 16,372-9-6	ditto	in repairs.
„ 233-7-8	ditto	in establishment and tools.
„ 6,715-9-8	ditto	in establishment and contingencies for road cess work.
„ 95-1-0	ditto	in refunds.
„ 1,610-8-2	ditto	in advances made for works.

23. Of the sum of Rs. 16,660-7-8, the outlay on original works, nearly Rs. 14,000 have been spent in the construction of bridges and metalling of Soobunkhali road; and of the amount incurred in repairs, upwards of Rs. 12,000 have been expended in the three important roads of Toke, Gowripoora, and Soobunkhali.

24. The District Committee proposes to undertake several original works and repairs during the current year, at a cost of above Rs. 35,000.

25. In all districts a very considerable portion of the works has been executed under the supervision of the officers of the Public Works Department. In Dacca and Fureedpore more work* might have been done had the working establishment been sufficiently strong to meet the requirements of the districts. The inadequacy of the staff has been repeatedly brought to the notice of Government, and the correspondence, terminated with your No. 6812, dated 30th November 1874, which, while fully recognising the need of additional assistance for the former district, stated that until the relief work establishments were set free there was little chance of the staff being increased. It was, however, added that the requirements of the district would not be lost sight of in the event of any opportunity occurring. The Chairman of the Fureedpore Committee frequently complained of the want of supervision by the Executive Engineer, whose head-quarters are at Backergunge, which circumstance entails delay in correspondence.

* Hence large unexpended balance in both Dacca and Fureedpore.

25. On the whole, all the District Committees appear to have worked satisfactorily, and to have expended the funds at their disposal with care and judgment.

The Hymns of the Rig-Veda, in the Samhita and Pada Text, by Professor F. Max Müller, M.A., in two Volumes. Price Rs. 24; packing and postage, Re. 1-12.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholarlike knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

POSTAL NOTICES.

No. 7586—L. M. 6 No. 8.
DARJEELING LINE.

DURING the present season the experiment will be tried of offering the public a less expensive mode of conveyance to Darjeeling.

2. A limited number of wagonettes have been built, which are so constructed as to enable two passengers to lie down at full length. They are provided with cushions and hoods, and drawn by two horses, but they are not sufficiently protected from the weather to make them good for ladies or invalids. These are available at cheaper rates than the ordinary carriages, viz. 4 annas a mile for each passenger, or Rs. 25 for the through journey.

3. A wagonette will start from Karagola every day except Sunday and Monday, leaving on the arrival of the steamer, and will return from Silligoree every day except Monday and Tuesday, starting at 11 A.M.

4. No luggage can be carried except a hand-bag, which should not weigh more than five seers. This rule is necessary and must not under any circumstances be infringed, as these vehicles convey the parcel mail. One traveller who, by the payment of Rs. 50 engages a whole wagonette, can take two maunds of luggage with him free.

5. Applications for wagonettes should be made in the usual way to Post-Master, Purneah, and should state which of the other forms of accommodation the traveller wishes in case a wagonette is not available.

Act of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication.]

THE following Act passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 20th February 1875, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor-General on the 25th June 1875, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. IV OF 1875.

An Act to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans made by the Government during the late Famine operations.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans of money and grain made by the Government to zemindars and ryots during the years one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four: It is enacted as follows:—

1. Any sum payable to the Government, by any person or collection of persons in respect of any loan of money or grain made to him or them, or to any other person on his or their security, by the Government, shall be deemed to be a demand within the meaning of Bengal Act No. VII of 1868 (to make further provision for the recovery of Arrears of Land Revenue and Public Demands recoverable as Arrears of Land Revenue); and an arrear of such demand shall, as far as possible, be recoverable in the manner provided in the said Act for the realization of arrears of demand;

and all provisions in the said Act relating to the realization of arrears of demand shall, as far as possible, be applicable to all proceedings under this section, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

2. When any landholder, or any collection of villagers, has become security for the repayment of money payable in respect of any such loan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and such

Made of recovery by landholders, &c., of money for which they have become security.

landholder, or collection of villagers, or any villager being one of such collection, has in consequence made to the Government payment of any sum of money due from any person liable to repay such loan, such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, may give to the Collector of the District in which such person resides a notice in writing in the form in Schedule (B) annexed to the said Bengal Act No. VII of 1868, showing the amount due to him or them in respect of such payment; and if the Collector have reason to believe that any sum is due to such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, in respect of such payment, he may make under his hand a certificate of the sum due in a form similar to that in Schedule (A) to the said Act annexed, and shall cause the same to be filed in his office, and every certificate so made shall be deemed to be a certificate made in pursuance of section nineteen of the said Act;

and in respect of the sum so certified to be due, such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, shall, as assignee or assignees of the Government, be deemed to be the plaintiff or plaintiffs in the place of the Government within the meaning of section twenty of the said Act:

and all provisions in the said Act relating to the realization of arrears of demand shall, as far as possible, be applicable to all proceedings under this section, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

3. This Act shall apply only to loans of money or grain made during the twelve months preceding the first day of November one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

4. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, the said Bengal Act No. VII of 1868.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta, together with the amended Bill, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE, the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of the

From Vice-Chairman, Calcutta Port Commissioners, dated 13th January 1875, and enclosure.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 2nd April 1875.

From Secretary, Bonded Warehouse Association, dated 29th May 1875.

Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making laws and regulations, to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

1. We have carefully considered the minute of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor dated 2nd April last, but we are not prepared to recommend any change in the constitution of the Municipality.

2. We have repealed four enactments in addition to those specified in the ninth schedule of the original Bill. Section 49 of Act III of 1864 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs and Howrah, because we have provided that carts used in the suburbs and Howrah are to be registered at the office of the Justices. This practice at present obtains as far as regards the suburbs; and now that Calcutta and Howrah are connected by the Hooghly Bridge, it becomes necessary to make one registration for Calcutta, its suburbs, and Howrah, the proceeds of the registration fees being divided between the three municipalities, for which we have also provided. Act VII of 1865 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs, because it has been practically inoperative as regards the suburbs, owing to an arrangement entered into, with the approval of Government, between the Justices and the Municipality of the suburbs, under which no place can be used as a slaughter-house in the suburbs unless a license for its use has been obtained from the Justices. The introduction of a new chapter on markets into the amended Bill has rendered necessary the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II (B.C.) of 1874.

3. In section 3 we have altered the definitions of "carriage," "cart," and "street," and have introduced definitions of "drug," "public street," "slaughter-house," and "the suburbs." The insertion of two new sections in Chapter XII, with regard to the inspection of drugs, renders a definition of "drug" necessary. The "suburbs" have been defined because we have provided that carts used within the suburbs are to be registered in the office of the Justices. The effect of the other alterations and additions will be to remove certain ambiguities from the Bill.

4. In section 9 we have provided that the Justices may, at a special general meeting, appoint a proper person to two or more of the appointments mentioned in the section ; and section 10 allows the Vice-Chairman to hold any other office to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting of the Justices.

5. In section 16 we have provided that the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may grant pensions or gratuities to their officers. As the section stood in the original Bill, the power was practically vested in the Chairman. And here we may remark that throughout the whole Bill, whenever a question of principle, and not a mere executive act, is involved, we have made the determination of it rest, not with the Chairman, but with the Justices in meeting.

6. We have raised the number necessary to form a quorum of Justices—in the case of an ordinary meeting, from three or six ;

in the case of a special meeting, from seven to nine ;

in the case of a special general or quarterly meeting, from fifteen to eighteen.

We have also inserted a proviso that no business is to be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting unless ten Justices are present.

7. We have provided that a declaration by the President, at a meeting, that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, if no poll be demanded. Under the original Bill the President had to call on each Justice to vote in order of seniority on the roll of the Justices. We have omitted this in the amended Bill.

8. The second proviso in section 32 of the amended Bill is new. In cases where the Chairman and the majority of a committee differ on any matter, no action is to be taken until the matter is disposed of by the Justices at a meeting.

9. In the original Bill the Local Government was empowered to appoint auditors of the receipts and expenditure of the Justices, the said auditors receiving such remuneration as the Justices, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall determine. To guard against the appointments being made ex-officio appointments, we have empowered the Justices to appoint, subject to the sanction of the Local Government, their own auditors.

10. We have allowed an appeal against the assessment in respect to licenses for all the trades, professions, and callings mentioned in the second schedule, to three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices. In the original Bill the final decision rested with the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

11. We have recast Part 1 of Chapter IV, and have made several alterations in it. For "land-rate" we have substituted the word "house-rate;" the former is a new term, whereas the latter is already in common use in Calcutta. We have provided that the Justices may impose a water-rate not exceeding six per cent. of the annual value when the house is situated in a street supplied with filtered water, and not exceeding five per cent. when the house is situated in a street not so supplied. As the Bill stood before, a uniform water-rate could be levied on all houses and land within the town, and we considered it unfair that those who had not the benefit of the water should pay as high a water-rate as those who had. We have made the police and lighting rates, as well as the water-rate, payable in advance. The lighting-rate, which originally stood at two-and-a-half per cent., we have reduced to two per cent.

12. Section 68 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for a remission of the house-rate when a house has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during the year. The date of vacancy is to be calculated from the delivery of a notice to that effect at the office of the Justices. This latter provision is repeated in sections 73, 74, and 77 of the amended Bill, which deal with refund of the water, police, and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied. We have also limited the time for an application for a refund under sections 74 and 77 to six months from the date of the vacancy of the house in respect of which the application is made.

13. Section 67 of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of better arrangement, to Part 1 of Chapter XI, which deals with the streets. As the police and lighting rates are made payable in advance, section 68 of the original Bill becomes unnecessary, and we have therefore omitted it. Section 77 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for the refund of the police and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied.

14. In section 81 of the amended Bill we have made special provision for the assessment of the unoccupied lands of the Port Commissioners ; and in section 82 we have extended the period for which assessments are made by the Justices from three to six years.

15. Section 84 of the amended Bill is entirely new. It has been framed to meet the case of injury to immovable property through accident. When a house has received substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices are to re-assess it on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier.

16. The most important alteration in Chapter V is the introduction of a new system of appeals against assessments. In the Bill referred to us appeals against assessments had to be made to the Justices, the Chairman and Vice-Chairman not being precluded from hearing such appeals. Many complaints have been made against this system, and we have accordingly allowed an appeal from the assessment made by the executive officers of the Justices, either to a Board of not less than three Justices, not being executive officers of the municipality, or to the Small Cause Court. The appellant is not allowed to appeal from the Board of three Justices to the Small Cause Court, but he can make his choice of the two tribunals. If he appeals to the Board of three Justices, their decision will be final. Or he can carry his case straight to the Small Cause Court, and the decision of that Court will be final. Persons who give notice of appeal must at the same time inform the Justices whether they intend to appeal to the Board of Justices or to the Small Cause Court. Every appeal to the Small Cause Court must be presented to the Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice of appeal at the office of the Justices. The original Bill provided that no appeal should be heard "unless the amount of the rate had been deposited with the Justices." We have substituted the words "unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices."

17. In Chapter VI we have provided that all sales of property after distress are to be regulated by the procedure of the Small Cause Court as to sale after distress.

18. We have made many additions to Chapter VII (of the water supply), which are mainly intended to prevent the waste of water so prevalent in the town.

Sections 110, 111, 112, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125 and 126 are new.

Section 108 of the amended Bill provides that the Justices must keep up a pressure of ten feet for the supply of water between 6 A.M. and 9 P.M., and a pressure of fifty feet between 7 A.M. and 9 A.M., and between 5 P.M. and 6 P.M.

Section 110 limits the supply of filtered water to any one house to one thousand gallons for every rupee paid as water-rate on account of the house. If the Justices think that any house takes more than this allowance, they can attach a meter to the water-pipes of the house, and charge the occupants for any water used in excess of the above allowance at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Section 111 directs that the Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and section 112 enjoins owners of houses to put up, at their own cost, cisterns in latrines and water-closets supplied with filtered or unfiltered water.

By section 118 we have provided that the occupier of any house in which water supplied by the Justices, is wasted from negligence or other causes under the control of the occupier, or in whose house the works for the supply of water are found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Section 119 makes any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Section 120 empowers the Justices to allow any person residing within the limits of the town to take water for his domestic use on certain terms, and to impose a fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, on any person who takes, for use outside the limits of the town, water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices.

Section 121 enacts that persons executing works for the laying on of water must hold a license from the Justices to act as a plumber, and provides for the imposition of a fine on any person so licensed who breaks the rules of his license.

Section 122 provides that any owner or occupier of a house who causes works for the laying on of water to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Justices, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Justices' service-pipes.

Section 123. The Engineer of the Justices is to inspect the works before any connection with the service-pipes of the Justices is sanctioned. The cost of inspection is to be paid by the person applying for the connection; and until the Engineer certifies that the works have been properly executed, a connection is not to be permitted.

Section 124. Connection with the service-pipes of the Justices and the laying of supply pipes under a road are to be executed only by an officer of the Justices.

Section 125 provides a fine for a licensed plumber who executes works in a negligent manner or makes use of bad materials or fittings.

Section 126 provides for the imposition of a fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, on any person who unlawfully takes water from any water-works belonging to, or under the control of, the Justices.

19. In section 142 we have expressed more clearly the intention of the clause in section 56 of the original Bill, with regard to the application of the proceeds of the police rate.

20. We have provided that the Justices shall appoint a Sub-Registrar at each burning ghât and native burial ground for the registration of all corpses brought for cremation or interment. Every Sub-Registrar is to dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or burial ground for which he is appointed, and the Justices are to publish a list of such Registrars and Sub-Registrars.

In section 151 of the amended Bill we have inserted a proviso that, in the case of persons dying in hospital, the medical officer in charge shall send a notice in writing to the Justices in the form prescribed in the eighth schedule. By section 153, the registration of a death occurring in a hospital is deemed to be complete on the receipt by the Justices of such written notice.

Section 154 makes it unlawful for a sexton or keeper of a cemetery, burial-ground or burning ghat, to bury or burn a corpse unless it is accompanied by a proper certificate.

21. For section 145 of the original Bill we have substituted another section (176 in the amended Bill), which is identical with section 125 of the old Act (VI of 1863, B.C.), and empowers the Justices to remove only obstructions or encroachments erected in any public street subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any obstruction of this nature, at whatever time erected.

We have made an alteration in section 155 of the original Bill by providing (section 185 of the amended Bill) that the Justices may cause the removal of any obstruction placed against, or in front of any house subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any such obstruction, at whatever time erected.

We have limited the power conferred on the Justices by section 156 of the original Bill to the removal of obstructions placed in front of any house previous to the 1st of June 1863 (section 186 of the amended Bill).

22. Sections 149, 150, 159, and 160 in Part I; sections 169, 171, 172 in Part II; and sections 188, 190, 191, 192, 193, and 207 in Part III, of Chapter XI of the original Bill have all been thrown together for the sake of convenience, and now constitute Part IV of Chapter XI, under the title of "Building Regulations." Three new sections (248, 249 and 250) have been inserted in this part, which direct that new huts shall be erected under the control of the Justices, lay down rules for their erection, empower the Justices to remove them if they are erected contrary to such rules, and prescribe a penalty for breach of the rules. These sections are substituted for sections 186 and 187 of the original Bill, and give the Justices ample control over the arrangement of any new villages that may be erected in future.

In section 219 we have provided that no person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices.

23. In Part I of Chapter XII we have inserted two new sections—one for the registration of places kept for the sale of drugs, and another for the inspection of drugs. Every place kept for the sale of drugs must be registered within two months after the Act comes into force. Non-registration will render the keeper of such place liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees. Power is given to the Justices to enter into shops for the purpose of inspecting drugs, and to remove any drugs they suspect to be adulterated. Clauses are added to provide for the giving of compensation to the owner of the drug if it is found to be not adulterated, and he has sustained any loss by the removal.

We have allowed the Justices in meeting, other than ordinary meeting, to provide slaughter-houses without the sanction of the Local Government.

Section 213 in Part I of Chapter XII of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of convenience, to the new chapter on markets.

24. We have added a chapter on markets to the Bill. This chapter embraces the law as it now stands without any important alteration or addition, and its introduction involves the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II of 1874 (B.C.)

25. We have omitted the last clause of section 233 of the original Bill, which provided that the powers given to the Justices with respect to railways, should not be exercised without the sanction of the Local Government.

26. In the Bill referred to us all penalties were collected in one chapter. This was found to be very inconvenient for the purpose of reference, and we have therefore returned to the plan of the old Acts, according to which each penalty is placed immediately after the subject to which it belongs.

27. We have altered the wording in the first part of Class IV of the second Schedule. According to the Bill referred to us, a person whose shop or place of business was located in a brick-house, and who did not fall under Class II or III, was liable to be assessed at Rs. 12 per annum. As we considered that the fact of a business being carried on in a brick-house a too uncertain test for the purposes of taxation, we have provided that all persons mentioned in Class IV of the second schedule shall pay Rs. 12 for their trade-license if their shop or place of business is assessed under Chapter V at ten rupees and upwards, but at less than twenty-five rupees a month.

28. In the fifth schedule we have lowered the scale of fees payable in distrainments under Chapter VI.

29. We have made other alterations in form and words.

DISSENT.

WHILE signing the report of the Select Committee we desire to record this our dissent on points on which we disagree with our colleagues.

I.—The water, police, and lighting rates have been made payable in advance. The first is payable by the owner; the last two by the occupier. At present the water-rate alone is paid in advance; but considering the pressure of municipal taxation in this town we are of opinion that the payment in advance is attended with hardship to the poorer class of rate-payers, and that the system ought not to be extended to the lighting and police rates as proposed. No branch of imperial revenue, we believe, is recovered in advance, and we are satisfied that there is no good reason why municipal taxes should be made payable in advance. It was urged by our colleagues that the municipality incurred a considerable loss of revenue by reason of frequent changes in the occupation of houses by tenants, which its officers had no means of knowing in time, and that even if they did know they could not realize the rate, which was payable in arrear. This remark does not apply to the water-rate, which is recoverable from the owner. As the owner is identified with the land or house he owns or occupies, the house-rate is made payable in arrear. On the same principle the water-rate ought to be made payable in arrear.

II.—For the purpose of the house-rate and the water-rate the owner of the land is declared to be the owner of the house thereon, and will be charged with the house-rate and water-rate respectively, and also with the lighting and police rates where the assessed annual value of the house is less than Rs. 200, with power to recover the amount so paid as an addition to rent. We object to these provisions as unconstitutional and unfair. The theory of municipal constitution is that no person should be called upon to pay at a higher rate or undertake greater responsibilities than his neighbour for municipal purposes. The owners of houses when liable to any rate or tax should pay the same, just as much and in the same manner as owners of lands; and if there be greater risk of collection in one case than in another, it is what those who have to receive the rate or tax should submit to. To shift that risk on any particular section of the community for the benefit of the Municipality and to afford perfect immunity from the trouble and annoyance of summary distress and warrant to those who are likely to be defaulters, involves denial of justice and fair play, and this is made the more glaring by the proviso that owners of only those plots of land, the assessed value of the houses whereon should be less than Rs. 200 per annum, should be subjected to the risk, and not those lands which bear more highly assessed property. In other words, the Municipality should collect directly from those who are substantial and from whom it is easy to collect, and through the agency of the landlord from those who are poor and from whom it is consequently difficult to realize, though he is not to be remunerated for his trouble, risk, and responsibility. If it be a duty on the part of landlords to pay the taxes due for the property of their tenants, it should apply to all landlords alike without reference to the value of the houses on their lands. In equity, however, it applies to none, and none therefore should be subjected to so unequal a law. It is true that the existing law has a provision of this kind with reference to the police and lighting rates, limited to houses assessed at or under an annual value of Rs. 100, but it is founded on no principle of justice, and its operation has proved oppressive. The loss sustained by landlords in realizing through their own servants and the Small Cause Court the rate due to the Municipality from the owners of small houses, which the Justices cannot realize satisfactorily through the more summary process of warrant, distraint, and sale, is great; and to apply the rule to all kinds of taxes and rates would increase the loss manifold. A percentage of loss is inevitable in collecting money from a large number of rate-payers, and there is no principle of equity and justice under which the payee may be allowed to shift that loss in certain cases on third parties. This injustice we feel will be made the more oppressive on account of the difficulties under which the landlord labors in realizing his legitimate rent. The complaint is that the recent ruling of the High Court that a hut is removable, but immovable for purposes of distraint, has interposed great difficulty in the way of the recovery of rent, and it cannot therefore be just to make him liable for all the occupier's rates, and to direct him to recover his dues from the tenant as an addition to rent. Nor will the evil be confined to landlords alone; tenants will equally suffer from it, inasmuch as the poorer and more ignorant classes of tenants will be subjected to extortion and oppression at the hands of unscrupulous landlords and their servants. It is generally believed that under the existing law many landlords realize from their tenants the whole of the water-rate instead of the three-fourths prescribed by it. The duty of realizing the rates and taxes belongs legitimately to the Municipality, which has a large and highly paid establishment for the recovery of arrears, and we see no reason why it should be relieved of its legitimate duty.

III.—Unoccupied lands are at present not assessed. There are lands in the town which have rarely been occupied, and it is not to be supposed that the owner would wilfully leave them unoccupied if he could find tenants. As the Bill provides, the owner must keep them in good order. This obligation we are of opinion, would be a sufficient motive to him for letting them out. It would press unduly upon the owner, if he were made to pay half rates for unoccupied lands, which derive no benefit from the Municipality and entail no additional duty on it, and which lie unoccupied from no fault of his. We may add that however necessary the hasty regulations may be, they are stringent and may lead to desertion from the town, and in that case it would be a double hardship to the owner if he should lose rent and be made to pay the rates.

IV.—It is provided that the supply of water for domestic consumption may be charged at the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee whenever it is in excess of the quantity covered by the amount of the water-rate paid by the occupier so calculated; and that the Justices, that is the Chairman, may put on a water meter for the ascertainment of such quantity. The object of this provision is to prevent wanton waste of water. We are fully alive to the necessity of checking waste, but we believe that infinitely more water is wasted on the streets than in private houses, by the bursting of service pipes, and by reason of defective stand-posts and of wayfarers neglecting to close them, than by reason of defective fittings in houses, or neglect in securing water—not to say that the necessity of keeping houses dry operates as a check upon many householders; but as regards private houses, the regulation of the size of the ferrule, the periodical inspection of fittings by municipal officers, and the penalties prescribed for the occupier and plumber in case of neglect to prevent waste, are calculated to promote to a considerable extent economy in the use of water. It might be that the introduction of the water meter would not be made general; but as the whole matter would be left to the discretion of the executive, the temptation for having a general recourse to it might prove too great for them, if they should find the scheme remunerative. But to charge for water for domestic consumption in excess of regulation supply when the supply is obtained by a heavy compulsory taxation, we hold is on principle unsound and unfair. In respect of the water-supply the Justices resemble a large co-operative society, each member of which contributes towards the object according to a fixed assessment, on the understanding that he will take such a supply as he may require for domestic consumption. If the Justices are empowered to make an additional charge on the pretext of greater consumption by one person than by another, then the principle of compulsory taxation ought, in all fairness, to be abandoned, and the system of taxation according to consumption ought to be substituted instead. Then if a charge is to be made for excess consumption, justice requires that a proportionate reduction should be allowed to those rate-payers who might not consume the regulation quantity. Besides, the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee is founded on no correct principle. The Justices are not a trading body; and we are of opinion that it would not be consistent with right principle to allow them to charge a fancy price for water for domestic consumption from those whose contributions have secured the supply and who have a common interest in it. The actual cost of the water is less than four annas per one thousand gallons; and we think all charges in excess of that rate, or whatever the cost price may be, would amount to an extraordinary indirect tax, which, as long as the express understanding is that the water-supply is intended for the ordinary domestic consumption of the rate-payers and the public purposes of conservancy and the watering of roads, would be unjust. The Municipality is not and should not be let at liberty to look to gain by sale of water as long as the aforesaid domestic and public purposes for which the water-rate is imposed are not met. As for the unfiltered supply, it cannot be available at all hours, inasmuch as it will not be given at constant pressure—not to say that the two-fold supply would entail upon the house-owner double cost in laying on the water.

Then latrines and water-closets are not to be provided with constant supply of water, but should be provided with cisterns. As a dilute supply of water is essential to the successful working of the drainage system, we are not satisfied that the cisterns would answer the purpose. To compel the house-owners to connect their privies with the new sewers and to stint them the supply of water would be inconsistent. Besides, privies in native houses, we are informed, are too small for the convenient admission of the cistern; and as such houses have generally several privies, the cost to the owner or occupier for introducing the system of cisterns would be great. Indeed, taking the charges for water—firstly, for connection for filtered supply; secondly, for unfiltered supply; thirdly, for cisterns; and, fourthly, for domestic supply in excess of regulation quantity—we are of opinion that the pressure of taxation would fall very heavily upon the poorer classes of tax-payers. It is also open to question whether it is consistent with the functions of the legislature to provide for cisterns when the system has not been discussed or adopted by the Justices.

V.—We object to the provisions made for the passing of the police budget. They are calculated to reduce the Justices to the position of message-bearer only. As the Bill is framed, the Justices are simply to receive the budget from the Commissioner of Police and to transmit the same to the Lieutenant-Governor. This change in the law is recommended on the ground that the regulation, management, and control of the police ought to be vested in the Government. Such is now practically the case. The Commissioner of Police under orders of Government determines the strength and organization of the police; and although the Justices have power to reduce or cancel any part of the police budget, they have never exercised that power to the detriment of the efficiency of the police. The existence of the power has, however, a wholesome influence on the Commissioner of Police and conduces to the advantage of the town. If the Justices have never exercised the power in question, they may do so at any time, and this circumstance tends to make him cautious, moderate, and economical. The Justices are responsible to the rate-payers for the due application of the funds they collect; and as they are charged with the collection of the police rate, it is both necessary and meet that they should have a voice in the administration of the police fund. It was urged that should the Justices and the local Government disagree on any point, things would come to a dead-lock. Such a crisis has never arisen, though the power under notice has been vested in the Justices since 1866; but should such a crisis arise, the difference might be settled by the Government of India, whose decision should be final, as the control of the police is vested in it in the last degree. The majority of the Committee, did not, however, agree to this proposal. This is a constitutional question of great importance, and we are of opinion that if the legislature is not prepared to continue the power hitherto possessed by the Justices, the corporation should be relieved of the invidious duty of imposing and collecting the police rate, in the disbursement of which it is to be allowed no control. In London, the city police, which is analogous to the metropolitan police of Calcutta, is, we believe, completely under the control of the City Corporation. If it be the object of the Government to give the rate-payers the privilege of self-government, it cannot be consistent with that object to deprive the Justices of their present power to control police expenditure.

VI.—While we support the provisions made for the clearance and improvement of bustis, we do not consider it fair to compel the owner of the land to construct privies for the benefit of the occupier. There should be a broad line of distinction between the sanitary requirements of the land owned by the landlord and those of private houses built thereon by tenants. The former obligation belongs to the landlord, and the latter to the tenant; and the respective duties of the two parties cannot be confounded without entailing injustice on one or the other. The practice in this town is for the tenant to build his own habitation and the appurtenances belonging thereto; and as tenants, particularly with families, do not frequent a common latrine, the landlord would be put to considerable cost in building a privy for each tenant. The improvement of the bustis will entail heavy expenses upon the owner, and it cannot be fair to saddle him with this cost. Where common latrines may be needed, the owner may be required to provide them, but not otherwise.

We object to this provision, the more because we are convinced that no cost for improvement will be incurred except with a view to realize a return; and if the tenants be made to pay the interest on the outlay by way of increased rent, the evil will recoil on them in a way which those who wish to benefit them cannot but feel to be grievous. Living for poor people in the town has already become very difficult, and the multiplication of taxes and outlay on improvements cannot but increase that evil. Sanitary improvement, however salutary, is dearly purchased where the means of subsistence are injuriously reduced; and it is the bounden duty of the legislature, in our opinion, to prevent so serious a mischief. The idea that the owners of lands will themselves defray the cost of all improvements from purely sanitary or humane motives is delusive. The effect of such improvements is sure sooner or later to tell against the tenants, who contribute by way of rent the means which the owners are called upon to lay out, and we desire that this truism may not be lost sight of in revising the municipal law. We are constrained to say that it has been overlooked in the matters above set forth, and in several other minor subjects.

As material alterations have been introduced in the Bill, we would recommend that the amended Bill with the Report of the Select Committee and this Dissent be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

A Bill to Consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1875."

Short title.

It shall come into force on the first day of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, which date is hereinafter referred to as the commencement of this Act.

2. The enactments specified in the ninth schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof.

This repeal shall not revive any office, authority, or thing abolished by any such enactment; or affect the validity of any thing done or suffered, or any right, title, obligation, or liability accrued before the commencement of this Act.

And all rules prescribed, assessments, valuations, measurements, divisions, and appointments made, powers conferred, and notifications published under any such enactment, and all other rules (if any) now in force and relating to the matters hereinafter dealt with, shall (so far as they are consistent with this Act) be deemed to have been respectively prescribed, made, conferred, and published hereunder.

And all references made to any such enactment shall, as far as may be practicable, be deemed to be made to this Act.

And all proceedings now pending, which may have been commenced under any such enactment, shall be deemed to be commenced under this Act.

3. In this Act—unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

Interpretation clause

"Animal"

"Animal" means a horse, pony or mule.

"Bazar" means any place of trade, where there is a collection of shops and warehouses, and any place where a market is held.

"Carriage" means any wheeled vehicle with springs used for the conveyance of human beings.

"Cart" means any cart, hackery, or wheeled vehicle with or without springs not included in the definition of carriage.

"Chapter" means Chapter of this Act.

"Commissioner of Police" means the officer so styled and appointed under section four of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866.

"Court of Small Causes" means the Court of Small Causes for the time being established by law in Calcutta.

"Court of Small Causes."

"Drug." "Drug" includes medicine for internal or external use.

"House." "House" includes any hut, building, or shed.

"Immovable property" and "land" respectively mean land, benefits to arise out of land, anything attached to the earth, or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth.

"Movable property" means property of every description, except immovable property.

"Local Government" means the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the time being, or the person acting in that capacity.

"Owner." "Owner" includes—

- (a) the person entitled for the time being to receive the rent of the land in respect of which the word is used;
- (b) an agent of such person;
- (c) a trustee for such person;

But no such agent or trustee shall be liable to do anything required by this Act to be done by the owner, nor shall he be subject to any fine for omitting to do such thing, unless he have sufficient funds in his hands, as such agent or trustee, to do such thing.

"Police Force" means the Police Force as constituted under section eight of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866.

"Public Street" means any road, street, square, court, alley, or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not, over which the public have a right of way, and also the roadway over any public bridge or causeway, and also the footway attached to any street, public bridge (other than the Hooghly bridge) or causeway within the Town.

"Street" means any road, street, square, court, alley, or passage, not included in the definition of public street.

"Railway" includes a tramway.

"Schedule." "Schedule" means schedule annexed to this Act.

"Section." "Section" means section of this Act.

"Slaughter-house" means any place used for the slaughter of cows, or bullocks, or sheep, or goats, or pigs, or kids, for the purpose of selling the same as meat.

"The Suburbs" mean the Suburbs of Calcutta as defined by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, under the provisions of Act III of 1874 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, or of any other Act for the time being in force.

"The Justices" means the Corporation of the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta.

"The Town" includes all places within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, but not—

- (a) Fort William;

- (b) The Esplanade; or

- (c) Coolie Bazar, now called Hastings, except such portion as is bounded on the north by Clyde Row, on the south by Tolly's Nullah, on the east by the road leading from Kidderpore bridge to Clyde Row, and on the west by the Strand Road.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES.

PART I.—Of the Constitution of the Corporation and Municipal Fund.

4. All Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta shall, by the name of "the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta," be a body corporate, and have perpetual succession and a common seal, and by such name shall sue and be sued.

5. All property, movable and immovable, Property to vest in and all interest of whatsoever nature and kind of the Justices for the purposes of this Act. therein, now vested in or held in trust for the Justices, with all rights of whatsoever description now used, enjoyed, or possessed by the Justices, shall become vested in the Justices for the purposes of this Act.

6. All sums received by the Justices, and all fines levied under this Act. Municipal Fund. and all sums which may be assigned by the Government for the purposes of conservancy or improvement in the Town, shall constitute a fund, which shall be called the Municipal Fund of Calcutta, and shall, together with all property which may become vested in the Justices, be under their control, and shall be applied by them as trustees for the purposes of this Act.

PART II.—Of the Officers of the Corporation.

7. The Local Government shall from time to time appoint one of the said Appointment and removal of Chairman of the Justices. Justices of the Peace to be Chairman of the Justices.

Such Chairman shall be removable from office by the Local Government if his removal be recommended by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at a special general meeting of the Justices shall have voted, but not otherwise.

8. The Justices, at a special general meeting to be held for that purpose, Appointment of Vice-Chairman. may from time to time appoint a proper person to be Vice-Chairman of the Justices.

Such appointment shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government.

9. The Justices may, at a special general meeting, from time to time, Appointment of Secretary, Engineer, Surveyor, Health Officer, Collector of Taxes, and Assessor. appoint proper persons, for such period as they may think fit, to the several offices of Secretary, of Engineer, of Surveyor, of Health Officer, of Collector of Taxes, and of Assessor, for the Town, or may appoint a proper person to two or more of such appointments or to one.

Every person so appointed, and also the Vice-Chairman, shall, in all things, be under the immediate orders of the Chairman, and shall perform such duties as shall be assigned by him, and may be removed by the Justices by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at a special general meeting shall have voted, and another person may be appointed in his place.

10. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall reside within the Town, and each of them shall devote his whole time to the duties of his office; and no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall have or engage in any other profession, trade, or business whatsoever:
Provided that—

- (a) Any Civil or Military Officer in the service of the Government may hold the office of Chairman or Vice-Chairman, so long as such Officer shall fill no other appointment than those specified in this section.
- (b) The Chairman may also hold the office of Commissioner of Police, or of Commissioner as interpreted in section one of Bengal Act No. V of 1870 (to appoint Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta):
- (c) The Chairman may also be a member of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations.
- (d) The Vice-Chairman may be appointed to and may hold any other office in the employ of the Justices to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting.

11. The Chairman and the Vice-Chairman respectively, may receive such allowances out of the Municipal Fund as shall be, from time to time, fixed by the Justices at a special general meeting.
Such allowance shall not exceed—

- (a) for the Chairman three thousand rupees a month (exclusive of house-rent, which may or may not in the discretion of the Justices be allowed):
- (b) for the Vice-Chairman twelve hundred rupees a month.

12. Every Secretary, Engineer, Surveyor, Health Officer, Collector of Taxes, and Assessor, appointed as hereinbefore provided, may receive such allowance out of the Municipal Fund as shall be from time to time fixed by the Justices at a special general meeting.

13. The Chairman may from time to time appoint all such Overseers, Clerks, Subordinate Officers, and servants, as he shall think necessary and proper to assist in carrying out this Act, and may from time to time remove any of such persons and appoint others in their place;

and may, with the sanction of the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, pay out of the Municipal Fund such allowances to the said persons respectively, or, in case of absence on leave, such portion thereof as he shall think reasonable; Provided that the allowances of the offices filled by the said persons shall have been sanctioned in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting.

But no person shall be appointed to, or removed from, any office the monthly salary of which exceeds two hundred rupees, without the sanction of the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting.

14. The Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, grant such leave of absence to the Chairman or any Officer appointed under sections eight and nine, and may make such arrangements for the carrying on the duties of his office during his absence on leave as shall to them seem proper.

In any case in which leave of absence shall be granted to the Chairman, the Local Government shall appoint one of the Justices of the Peace to act as Chairman in his place, or shall make such other arrangements for carrying on the duties of the office as to it shall seem proper.

Any person appointed under this section to act for the Chairman or any other Officer shall, while so acting, have all the powers and be liable to all the restrictions, limitations, and provisions, which the Chairman or other Officer for whom he may be appointed to act would, under this Act, have or be liable to.

15. In any case in which leave of absence shall be granted under the last preceding section, the Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at the meeting shall have voted, with the sanction of the Local Government, out of the Municipal Fund, pay to the Chairman or other Officer aforesaid such allowance during absence on leave as shall to them seem proper.

16. The Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices of the Peace present at such meeting shall have voted, from time to time make rules for pensions and gratuities to be granted, and to be paid out of the Municipal Fund, to their Officers and servants, and may repeal, alter, or add to such rules.

No rule, and no repeal, or alteration of, or addition to any rule, shall have effect until the same has been confirmed by the Local Government and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Justices may in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, from time to time, in accordance with such rules for the time being in force, grant such pensions or gratuities to any of their officers or servants as to the Justices may seem fit.

17. No Chairman or Vice-Chairman, or other Officer or servant of the Justices, shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract made with the Justices; and if any such person be so interested, he shall become incapable of continuing in office or in employment as such Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or other Officer or servant, and shall forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred rupees, which may be recovered by suit brought by or on behalf of the Justices.

Provided that no person shall, by reason of being a shareholder in, or a member of, any incorporated or registered Company, be deemed interested in any contract entered into between such Company and the Justices.

18. If any person employed under this Act (not being a public servant within the meaning of Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code) shall accept or obtain, or agree to accept, or attempt to obtain, from any person, for himself or for any other person, any gratification whatever, other than legal remuneration, as a reward for doing, or forbearing to do, any official act, or for showing or forbearing to show, in the exercise of his official functions, favor or disfavor to any person, or for rendering or attempting to render any service or disservice to any person, with the Justices, or with any public servant, or with the Government, as such, he shall be punished with imprisonment, either simple or rigorous as provided in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to three years, or with a fine not exceeding five thousand rupees, or with both.

PART III.—Of the Mode of transacting Business and entering into Contracts.

19. The Justices shall provide and keep an office within the Town, and shall at such office, and during all days of business, keep open a book in which shall be entered all reasonable complaints made, orally or by letter, by any inhabitant, or the owner, or occupier of any land within the Town, of any matter cognizable by the Justices;

and the proper Officer of the Justices shall forthwith enquire into the truth of all such complaints, and report thereon to the Justices; and such report shall be entered in the said book and such book shall be open, at all reasonable times, to any inhabitant, or owner, or occupier of land within the Town.

20. There shall be four quarterly meetings in every year, and one ordinary meeting in every month, at which the Justices shall meet for the transaction of general business.

The quarterly meetings shall be held in the months of January, April, July, and October, or in any month to which the quarterly meetings first called for the months of January, April, July, and October may be adjourned, and the ordinary meetings at such dates as the Justices in meeting may from time to time direct.

Provided that no ordinary meeting need be called if there be no business to be laid before it by the Chairman or by any of the Justices of the Peace.

21. The Justices shall, from time to time, as occasion may require, at a special meeting to be convened for that purpose or at some adjournment thereof, fix and determine the kind of business that may be transacted at the said ordinary and quarterly meetings: and no business, save such kind of business, shall be transacted at such meetings:

But the Chairman may postpone the discussion of any question that may be raised at any such meeting, and refer the determination thereof to a special or special general meeting to be convened within fourteen days thereafter.

22. The Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, may, whenever he thinks fit, and shall, upon a requisition made in writing by any ten Justices of the Peace, call a special or special general meeting of the Justices.

Previous to any such meeting at least five days' clear notice, specifying the time and place of such intended meeting, and the purpose for which it is to be held, shall be given by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published within the Town.

23. No business shall be brought before, or transacted at, any special or special general meeting other than the business specified in the notice given under the last preceding section:

Provided that any Justice of the Peace may submit to a special or special general meeting any resolution beyond the matters mentioned in the notice given of such meeting, if he shall have given not less than two clear days' previous notice of his intention so to do, by leaving a copy of the resolution at the office of the Justices.

24. All acts authorized or required to be done by the Justices, and all questions which may come before them for decision, shall, save as is herein otherwise provided, be done, and decided by, a majority of the Justices of the Peace present at the meeting before which the matter may be brought.

25. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall attend all meetings of the Justices held under this Act, unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause; and the Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, shall preside at every such meeting, and shall have a second or casting vote in all cases of equality of votes.

In the absence of both the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, the Justices of the Peace present at any meeting shall choose some one of their number to preside, who shall, in case of equality of votes, have a second or casting vote.

The President of any meeting at which a quorum of the Justices of the Peace shall be present, may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn the meeting from time to time, and from place to place; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting, other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which such adjournment took place.

26. No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless a quorum of Justices of the Peace be present at such meeting, that is to say:—

- (a) At an ordinary meeting at least six;
- (b) At a special meeting at least nine;
- (c) At a special general, or quarterly meeting, at least eighteen.

Provided that, if at any meeting there shall not be a sufficient number of Justices of the Peace present to form a quorum as above mentioned, the President (whether he be the Chairman or not) shall adjourn the meeting to such convenient time and place as he shall think fit; and the business which should have been brought before the original meeting had there been a quorum present, shall be brought before, and disposed of by the adjourned meeting in the usual manner, whether there be a quorum present at such adjourned meeting or not;

Provided also that no business shall be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting, unless there are at least ten Justices present at such adjourned meeting.

27. Minutes of the proceedings of all meetings shall be drawn up and fairly entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall be signed by the President after each meeting; and minutes of each meeting shall be laid on the table at the next subsequent meeting, and the said Minutes shall, at all reasonable times, be open at the office of the Justices to the inspection of any Justice of the Peace without charge, and of any other person on payment of a fee of eight annas.

28. At any special general or quarterly meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least five Justices of the Peace, and at any special or ordinary meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least three Justices of the Peace, a declaration by the President that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings of the Justices shall, for the purposes of this Act, be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favor of, or against such resolution.

29. If a poll be demanded as in the last preceding section mentioned, the votes of all the Justices of the Peace present who desire to vote shall be taken under the direction of the President, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Justices at such meeting.

30. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall, except upon such holidays as shall be allowed by the Government, and unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause, attend daily at the office of the Justices for the transaction of business connected with or arising under this Act, and, when so attending, shall have all the powers vested by this Act in the Justices; and they may respectively exercise the like powers at all times in carrying out the orders of the Justices, or in executing any work sanctioned by them, and generally in the management of the business aforesaid:

Provided that no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall act in opposition to, or contravention of, any order of the Justices, or exercise any power which by this Act is directed to be exercised only by the Justices in meeting.

31. The Justices may enter into and perform all such contracts as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect.

Every contract made on behalf of the Justices in respect of any sum exceeding five hundred rupees, or in respect of any property exceeding five hundred rupees in value, shall be in writing, and signed by the Chairman (or, in his absence, by the Vice-Chairman), and two other Justices of the Peace, and shall be sealed with the seal of the Justices.

Unless so executed it shall not be binding on the Justices.

The Justices may compound with any contractor or other person in respect of any penalty or damages incurred by reason of the non-performance of any contract entered into as aforesaid, whether such penalty be mentioned in any such contract or otherwise, for such sums of money or other recompense as to the Justices may seem proper.

32. The Justices in meeting may from time to time appoint, from among the Justices of the Peace, such and so many Committees, either of a general or of a special nature, and consisting of such number of persons as they may think fit, for the purpose of inquiring into, and reporting upon, any matter connected with the conservancy or improvement of the Town, or of advising and aiding the Chairman in the discharge of any portion of his executive duties, which in the discretion of the Justices would be better regulated or managed with the advice and aid of any such Committee.

Provided that the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be a member of every such Committee, and that the proceedings of every such Committee shall be submitted to the Justices at a meeting;

Provided also that in cases where the Chairman and the majority of the Committee differ on any matter, no action shall be taken in respect of such matter until it be disposed of by the Justices in meeting.

PART IV.—Of the Estimates of Income, Expenditure, and Audit.

33. At the quarterly meeting to be held in the month of October in each year, the Chairman shall lay before the Justices a Budget or Estimate, prepared by him, of the income and expenditure of the Justices for the year commencing on the first day of January then next succeeding, in such detail and form as the Justices shall from time to time, by order passed at a quarterly or special general meeting, direct.

Such Budget shall be completed and printed, and a copy thereof, as far as may be practicable, sent by post or otherwise to each of the Justices of the Peace resident within twenty miles of Government House, at least seven days prior to the meeting before which the Budget is to be laid.

34. The Budget shall show what expenditure it is proposed to incur during the period to which it relates, and the manner in which it is proposed to meet such expenditure.

35. It shall be in the discretion of the Justices at the meeting referred to in section thirty-three, to pass, or to reject, or to modify, the estimates of all or any sums entered in the Budget.

No new work or series of works, the entire estimated cost of which shall exceed fifty thousand rupees, shall be commenced without the sanction of the Local Government.

36. The accounts of the receipts and expenditure of the Justices shall be audited and examined at least once in every year at such time and by such auditors as shall, from time to time, be appointed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, subject to the sanction of the Local Government.

37. For the purposes of any audit and examination of accounts under this Act, the auditors may, by summons in writing, require the production before them of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, and all other documents and papers which they may deem necessary, and may require any person holding or accountable for any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, to appear before them at any such audit and examination, or adjournment thereof, and to make and sign a declaration with respect to the same.

38. If any such person neglect or refuse to make or sign such declaration, or to produce any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, or to make or sign such declaration, he shall be liable for every neglect or refusal to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

39. All auditors acting under this Act shall, in respect of each audit, be paid out of the Municipal Fund such reasonable remuneration as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time determine.

40. Before each audit and examination of accounts, the Justices shall give ten days' notice of the time and place at which the same will be made, by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers, published in Calcutta; and a copy of the accounts to be audited and examined shall be deposited in the office of the Justices, and be open during office hours thereat, to the inspection of all persons interested for seven days before the audit and examination, and all such persons shall be at liberty to take copies of, or extracts from, the same, without the payment of any fee; and within fourteen days after the audit and examination shall have been completed, the auditors shall report upon the accounts audited and examined, and shall deliver such report to the Justices at a meeting, who shall cause the same to be deposited in the office of the Justices, and to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

PART V.—Of the Fixing of Rates.

41. At the quarterly meeting to be held in the month of October in each year as aforesaid, the Justices shall fix the rates at which the rates and taxes hereinafter mentioned shall be imposed for the year commencing on the first day of January then next ensuing, and the rate so fixed shall not be altered before the quarterly meeting held in the next succeeding month of October, except by a resolution passed by the Justices at a special general meeting.

CHAPTER III.

OF TAXES.

PART I.—Of the Tax on Carriages and Animals

42. A tax at a rate not exceeding the rates specified in the first schedule shall be imposed upon all carriages and animals kept within the Town, and shall be payable in advance. But it shall not be imposed on—

- (a) animals belonging to Officers doing regimental duty at the Presidency, at the rate of one animal for each Officer;
- (b) animals exempt from any municipal tax under section twenty-five of the Indian Volunteers' Act, 1869;
- (c) carriages or animals belonging to the Government or to the Justices;
- (d) carriages, the wheels of which do not exceed twenty-four inches in diameter;
- (e) animals under eleven hands in height;
- (f) carriages kept for sale by bonâ fide dealers in such carriages and not used for any other purpose;
- (g) animals used by, or in, any cavalry regiment, or by the Police force.

43. The person in possession of every carriage or animal kept within the Town shall, on or before the first day of January and the first day of July in each year, forward to the office of the Justices, a statement in writing signed by him, containing a description of the carriages and animals in his possession liable to the tax.

Such person shall at the same time pay to the Justices such sum as shall be payable by him for the half-year commencing on the first day of January or July (as the case may be) for the carriages and animals specified in such statement, according to the rates given in the first schedule.

Any person becoming possessed between the first day of January and the first day of July, or between the first day of July and the first day of January, of any carriage or animal so kept, shall, within a week of becoming so possessed, send to the office of the Justices a similar statement, together with the amount payable for the whole of the then current half-year, according to the rates specified in the first schedule.

The Justices may, if they are satisfied that any such carriage or animal has been kept for only a portion of the then current half-year, remit the whole, or such portion thereof as they may think fit, of the amount so payable.

For the purposes of this section a livery stable-keeper shall be deemed to be possessed of every animal in his stables.

44. Whenever any person shall pay to the Justices the amount of the tax which under the two last preceding sections shall be payable by him in respect of all carriages and animals kept within the Town, the Justices shall grant to such person a license to keep within the Town such carriages and animals during the current half-year ending upon the first day of January, or the first day of July which shall occur next after the grant of such license, and no longer.

45. Whoever keeps or is in possession of any carriage or animal without the license required by the two last preceding sections, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable.

46. The Justices, at their discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable-keepers, and other persons keeping carriages for hire, or animals for sale or hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages or animals so kept by such persons, in lieu of the taxes specified in the first schedule.

47. Whoever, having compounded for the payment of a certain sum under the last preceding section, refuses to pay such sum, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such composition, exclusive of the amount so payable.

48. The Justices may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require any person who shall carry on the trade or business of a livery stable-keeper, to produce, for the inspection of the Justices, or of any person authorized by them in that behalf, all books and accounts relating to the business of a livery stable-keeper carried on by the person so carrying on the trade or business.

49. The Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between sunrise and sunset, enter and inspect any stable or carriage-house, or any place wherein they may have reason to believe that there is any carriage or animal liable to taxation; and the Justices may summon any person whom they have reason to believe to be liable to the payment of any tax under sections forty-two and forty-three, or any servant of such person, and may examine such person or servant as to the number and description of the horses and carriages in respect of which such person is liable to be taxed.

50. Whoever neglects or refuses to comply with a notice served under section forty-eight, and whoever hinders or obstructs the Justices or any person appointed by them, from or in entering or inspecting any stable, coach-house, or place, in the manner provided in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

51. The Justices shall, from time to time, cause to be prepared and entered in distinct columns, in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, and to be open to the inspection of any person who shall apply for leave to inspect the same, a list of the persons to whom during the then current period of six months a license has been granted under section forty-four, and of the carriages and animals in respect of which the same has been granted.

PART II.—Of the Tax on Professions, Trades, and Callings.

52. Every person who shall, within the Town, exercise any of the professions, trades, or callings specified in the second schedule, shall yearly take out a license, and shall pay for the same such sum as is in the second schedule mentioned.

The Justices may in their discretion remit any portion of the sum so payable if they are satisfied that any such person has exercised any such profession, trade, or calling, for a portion of the year only.

53. The license mentioned in the last preceding section shall be granted by the Justices, or by some person authorized by them in that behalf, and shall specify, the date of the grant thereof, the name of the person to whom the license is granted, the profession, trade, or calling for which the license is granted, and the sum paid for such license.

Such license shall have effect and continue in force from the commencement of the year in which it is granted until the thirty-first day of December next after the day of the granting thereof, and no longer.

54. Whoever exercises any trade, profession, or calling without the license required by section fifty-two, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable.

55. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall determine under which of the classes mentioned in the second schedule, every person to whom a license may be granted shall be assessed, and may in his discretion remit the payment of license tax either in whole or in part to any person classified under Classes 5 or 6 of the second schedule.

56. Any person may, within fourteen days of the date of his being informed of the class under which he has been assessed as determined in the last preceding section, appeal against such assessment by delivering at the office of the Justices an application in writing stating the grounds of appeal; and such appeal shall be heard and determined by not less than three Justices of the Peace other than Executive Officers of the Justices.

No such appeal shall be heard unless the amount of the license assessed as aforesaid has been deposited with the Justices.

If no appeal be made within the time limited as aforesaid, the decision of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be final.

57. The Justices may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require the occupier of any house to forward to them a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons residing in such house, and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations.

58. Whoever being the occupier of any house, fails to forward such list when required to do so under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding hundred rupees.

59. As soon as may be after the first day of January in every year, the Chairman shall prepare a list of the persons licensed

under sections fifty-two and fifty-three which shall state

the profession, trade, or calling of every such person therein named;
the class under which he is assessed;
and the sum paid by him in respect of his license;
and such list shall be kept in the office of the Justices, and be open to public inspection at all reasonable times.

PART III.—Of the Registration of Carts.

60. Every cart kept or used within the Town, or the Suburbs, or Howrah, shall be registered in the office of the Justices with the name and residence of the owner, and shall have affixed thereto the number of such registration in such manner as the Justices shall direct.

61. Whoever keeps or is in possession of a cart not duly registered as required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such registration, exclusive of the amount so payable; and whoever, being the owner or driver of any cart, shall fail to affix the registration number required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

62. The registration of carts, under the last preceding section, shall be made and the numbers assigned half-yearly, on or after the first day of January and the first day of July in each year, upon such days as the Justices shall appoint, and a fee of four rupees shall be paid for each registration.

The Justices may in their discretion remit any portion of the fee so payable if they are satisfied that the cart hereinbefore required to be registered has been kept or used as in the last preceding section mentioned for a portion of the half-year only.

When any registered cart is transferred within any half-year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred; and a fee of four annas shall be paid for every such last mentioned registration.

One-sixth of the total net proceeds of the fees half-yearly received by the Justices for the registration of carts, after deducting charges incurred in and about such registration, shall be paid half-yearly by the Justices to the municipality of the Suburbs, and one-twelfth of such proceeds to the municipality of Howrah.

Provided that it shall be in the discretion of the Local Government, from time to time, to alter the proportion of the said proceeds required by this section to be paid by the Justices to the municipalities of the Suburbs and of Howrah respectively, and to prescribe such other proportions as to it shall seem proper.

63. The last two preceding sections shall not apply to carts—

- (a) which are the property of the Government,
- (b) which are the property of the Justices, the Municipal Commissioners of the Suburbs, or of Howrah.
- (c) or which are kept at any place more than eight miles distant from Government House, and are only temporarily and casually used within the Town, the Suburbs, or Howrah.

64. If any person owns or keeps any cart hereinbefore required to be registered, without having caused the same to be registered, the Justices or any Officer authorized by them in that behalf, may seize such cart (provided the same be not employed at the time of the seizure in the conveyance of passengers or goods), together with the animals or cattle drawing the same, and may detain them;

On failure to register, the Justices may seize and sell cart and animals.

and all Police Officers shall, on the application of the Justices or their Officers as aforesaid, seize and detain any such cart, animals, or cattle.

If the cart, animals, or cattle so seized be not claimed within ten days, they may be sold by auction by order of a Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied to the expenses incurred on account of the seizure, detention, and sale; and the surplus (if any), if not claimed within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Municipal Fund of Calcutta.

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE RATES.

PART I.—Of Imposing the Rates.

65. The Justices shall, as provided in section forty-one, impose upon all houses and land within the Town the following annual rates, which shall be calculated on the annual value of the said houses and land—

- (a) a House-rate, not exceeding ten per cent.;
- (b) a Water-rate, not exceeding six per cent. when the houses and land are situated in streets supplied with filtered water in the manner provided by section one hundred and six, and not exceeding five per cent. when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied.
- (c) a Police rate, not exceeding three per cent.;
- (d) a Lighting rate, not exceeding two per cent.

The Justices may impose upon all houses and land situated within the boundaries notified under section one hundred and forty-five an annual Drainage rate, not exceeding two and a half per cent. of their annual value.

The House-rate, Water-rate, and Drainage-rate shall be payable by the owners of the houses and land.

The Police and Lighting rates shall be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land.

All the rates hereinbefore mentioned shall be payable by quarterly instalments.

The House-rate shall be payable on the first of April, the first of July, the first of October, and the first of January, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

The Police, Lighting, and Water-rates shall be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarters.

PART II.—Of the Owner's Rates.

66. If the annual value of any land as assessed under Chapter V, shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

It assessment be made at a higher annual value than the amount paid by the occupier, owner may recover difference from him.

67. For the purposes of the House-rate and Water-rate, the owner of any land upon which any house is situated shall be deemed to be the owner of such house, and shall be liable to the House-rate and Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

68. Where any house or land, whereon the rate is assessed under section sixty-five, has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person assessed to the said rate shall be entitled to a remission of so much thereof, not exceeding one-half of the rate for that year, as shall be proportionate to the number of days such house or land has been vacant, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Provided that no remission shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

69. Whenever the person from or by whom the Water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the occupier of the house or land in respect of which the Water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may, if there be but one occupier of such house or land, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the Water-rate so paid, and if there be more than one occupier, may recover from each of such occupiers, such sum as shall bear to three-fourths of the entire amount of Water-rate so paid, the same proportion as the value of the portion of such house or land in the occupation of such occupier, bears to the entire value of such house or land.

70. Whenever the owner of any land on which any house is situated shall not be the owner of such house, and shall have paid the House-rate or Water-rate for such land and for such house, he may recover from the owner of such house the entire amount of the House-rate or Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

71. Every person who, under either of the two last preceding sections, or under section sixty-six, may be entitled to recover any sum from any occupier or other person, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house or land in respect of which such sum is payable.

in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

73. Three-fourths of the Water-rate payable in respect of any house or land shall be remitted for the period during which such house or land may remain unoccupied, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

74. Whenever any quarterly instalment of Water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such Water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

75. Whenever any house or land, which shall have been unoccupied, shall be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable in respect of such house or land, such amount of Water-rate as shall bear to the entire quarterly instalment of Water-rate for such house or land, the same proportion as the residue of such quarter, after such house or land shall be occupied, bears to an entire quarter.

76. Whenever the occupier of any house or land shall, pending any quarter, cease to occupy the house or land, he shall be liable to repay to the person by whom the Water-rate of the house or land is payable, such part only of the quarterly instalment of Water-rate payable in respect of such quarter, as shall bear to three-fourths of such quarterly instalment the same proportion as the period which shall have elapsed from the first day of such quarter till he cease to occupy shall bear to the entire quarter; and in case he shall have repaid to the person who shall have paid such quarterly instalment to the Justices any sum greater than such part, he shall be entitled to recover from such person any sum which he may have paid in excess of such part, or to deduct the same from any rent due to such person.

PART III.—Of the Occupier's Rates.

77. The Police-rate and the Lighting-rate shall be payable by the occupier of the house or land on which the said rates shall have been assessed, and the said rates shall be payable in advance by the said occupier on the dates mentioned in section sixty-five.

Whenever any quarterly instalment of the said rates shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such instalment shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

78. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Justices may impose the Police and Lighting-rates upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

79. If the Police and Lighting-rates are paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier the entire amount of the rate so paid by such owner;

and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

80. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

81. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land, liable to rate under this Act, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body.

82. All assessments made by the Justices prior to the passing of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Justices, and such land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

83. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house or land, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though such period has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment.

84. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in section eighty-two, any such house or land shall receive substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices shall, as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house or land, cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though the current period of assessment has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment;

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section eighty-three.

85. The annual value assessed by the Justices as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

- (a) the name of the owner;
- (b) the name of the occupier, if the occupier is the person liable to pay the rate;
- (c) a designation of the property, sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;
- (d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon, and
- (e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

86. The Justices shall from time to time make a valuation or measurement of all houses and land within the Town, and for such purpose may divide the Town into such and so many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

87. The Justices may require the owner or occupier of any house or land to furnish them with returns of the measurements and of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between the hour of seven in the forenoon and sunset enter on to, and inspect, survey, and measure such house or land.

88. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required so to do, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Justice of the Peace, or any person appointed by the Justices as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such house or land, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence.

89. When the valuation or measurement of any of the districts of the Town, into which it may have been divided by the Justices, shall have been completed, the Justices shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book, or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the English daily newspapers, and in two vernacular newspapers, published within the Town, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the Town; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be, shall permit every person being the owner or occupier of any house or land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person not being such owner or occupier, to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

90. The Justices shall, in all cases in which any house or land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any house or land previously assessed is increased, give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same, and when the valuation is increased as aforesaid, the said notice shall state the grounds of such increase.

91. Appeals against any assessment made by the Justices under this Chapter shall lie

- (a) to not less than three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices;
- (b) to the Court of Small Causes.

92. Any person desiring to appeal against any assessment made under this chapter, shall, within fifteen days of the notice referred to in section eighty-nine, deliver at the office of the Justices a notice in writing, stating the grounds of appeal, and also informing the Justices whether he intends to appeal under clause (a) or (b) of the last preceding section.

No appeal shall lie as hereinbefore provided unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices; and unless the appeal is proffered by the person who, at the time the appeal is made, shall be recorded in the said book as the owner of the house or land to which the appeal refers, or by the occupier thereof, or by the agent of either of them.

93. The Justices shall give notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to hear the appeals under clause (a).

Every appeal under clause (b) shall be presented to the Small Cause Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice at the office of the Justices under the last preceding section.

94. The assessment by the Justices of any rate, when no appeal therefrom is made as hereinbefore provided, and the adjudication of any appeal under the two last preceding sections, shall be final and conclusive.

95. The assessments made by the Justices in accordance with the provisions of section eighty-six, subject to such alterations as may from time to time thereafter be duly made on appeal, shall be entered in the assessment book, and the rate calculated on the said assessment shall, subject to such alterations as aforesaid, be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated; and until such date the old assessment shall continue in force, notwithstanding that the period for which the old assessment was made may have expired.

96. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any house or land liable to the rate, after giving notice, to any person interested in the making of the amendment, of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice, when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person or any house or land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the assessment, without notice; and if any amendment shall be made, in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Justices, to be left at their office three clear days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment; and the provisions of sections ninety-one and ninety-two, shall, so far as may be practicable, apply to such appeal.

97. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.

Penalty.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.

Notice of day for hearing appeals.

Assessment by Justices when to be final.

Assessments to be entered in assessment book.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.

Appeals

Notice when valuation made for first time or increased.

Notice to be given by person appealing

New assessment book need not be prepared every three years.

may adopt the valuation or measurement and assessment contained in any assessment book for any previous period, with such alterations as may, in particular cases, be deemed necessary, as the valuation, or measurement and assessment for the period next following ;

Provided that sections eighty-seven, eighty-nine, ninety, ninety-one, ninety-two, ninety-three, ninety-four and ninety-five shall, as far as may be practicable, be applicable to such valuation or measurement and assessment, and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

CHAPTER VI.

OF LEVYING THE RATES.

98. When any rate is due, the Justices shall cause to be presented, to the person liable to the payment thereof, a bill for the sum due, which shall also contain a statement of the period, and a description of the property for which the rate is charged.

Provided that whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessment on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

99. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Justices may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the third schedule, or to the like effect ; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Justices, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Justices.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Justices shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee, not exceeding one rupee, shall be paid by such person.

Such fee shall be added to the amount of the rate in respect of which the notice is given, and if not duly paid, shall be levied in the same manner as such rate may be levied.

100. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing, in the form contained in the fifth schedule, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

101. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Justices, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Justices, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs ; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

All sales of property under this section shall, so far as may be practicable, be regulated by the procedure now in force or hereafter to be in force, of the Court of Small Causes with respect to sale after distress.

Fees shall be payable upon distrains under this Act according to the rates set forth in the Table of Fees in the fifth schedule.

102. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

103. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house or land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Justices may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the house or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him.

Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any house or land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

104. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him ; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any court of competent jurisdiction.

105. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

106. The Justices shall provide a supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets of the Town, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town for domestic purposes.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

107. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals, or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for fountains, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

108. The Justices shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and nine in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain in their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than ten feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall daily, from the hour of seven in the forenoon to nine in the forenoon, and from the hour of five in the afternoon to six in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced, to a height of not less than fifty feet.

109. The Justices may supply water through a meter, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Justices in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Justices may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works, of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Justices.

110. The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, one thousand gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Justices as Water rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Justices for domestic use through a ferrule of such size as the Justices may determine. If the Justices have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Justices to provide a water-meter at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid, shall be paid for by him at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Justices for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section.

111. It shall be at the option of the Justices to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and, wherever filtered water has been already supplied to such latrines or water-closets, it shall be lawful for the Justices, at their own expense, and not otherwise, to stop the supply of filtered water, and in lieu thereof to provide unfiltered water for such latrines and water-closets.

112. All latrines and water-closets now supplied, or hereafter to be supplied, with water, filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Justices shall direct; and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

113. Every person paying the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Justices, for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use; provided that the Justices shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

The communication-pipes leading the water from the service pipes of the Justices into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and material as the Justices shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

114. The communication-pipes and all fittings thereon leading water from the service pipes of the Justices into any house or land, and the pipes, works, and fittings inside the house or land, must in all cases be executed subject to the inspection and to the satisfaction of the Justices.

Such communication-pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Justices, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Justices and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Justices;

and the Justices may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed;

and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water rate.

115. The Officer authorised in that behalf by the Justices may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid, in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain if there be any waste or misuse of such water;

and if such Officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the Justices may forthwith turn off the water from such house or land.

116. In the event of any pipes, works, or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land, being at any time found at examination by any officer of the Justices authorised in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Justices may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land.

117. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Justices may turn off the water from the house or land in respect of which such rate or charge is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such house or land, or by such means as the Justices may think fit, and may recover the expenses of turning off the water from such person;

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may otherwise have incurred.

118. The occupier of any house or land in which water supplied by the Justices under this Act is, from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier, wasted, or in whose house or land the pipes, works, and fittings for the supply of water shall be found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

119. Any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

120. It shall be within the discretion of the Justices to allow any person, not residing within the limits of the Town, to take or be supplied with water for his domestic use on such terms as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time prescribe. And any person taking or causing to be taken for use outside the limits of the Town water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

121. It shall not be lawful for any person to execute any work in connection with the laying on of water from any service pipes of the Justices to any house or land, unless he shall hold a license from the Justices authorising him to act as a plumber under such rules and regulations as the Justices may from time to time lay down, and which shall be printed on the back of his license. Any person licensed by the Justices as a plumber, who shall infringe or break any rules or regulations under which he holds his license, shall be liable to have his license at once cancelled by the Justices; and shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

122. Any owner or occupier of any house or land who shall cause or allow works, pipes, or fittings for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Justices to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Justices, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Justices' service pipes.

123. Before a connection for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Justices to any house or land is sanctioned by the Justices, the Engineer of the Justices shall cause all the works, pipes, and fittings within the said house or land to be inspected by a duly qualified officer; and the cost of such inspection shall be payable in advance at such rates as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct, by the person applying for the said connection; and until the Engineer of the Justices shall have certified that the said works, pipes, and fittings have been executed and put up in a satisfactory manner, a connection with the Justices' service pipes shall not be permitted.

124. The connection with the service pipes of the Justices, as also the laying of supply pipes under any public road or thoroughfare, shall be executed by an officer of the Justices authorised in that behalf and by no other person; and the expense of making such connection shall be payable in advance by the person applying for the same, at such rates as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct.

125. When the Engineer of the Justices shall certify that any licensed plumber has executed any works or put up any fittings within any house or land for the supply of water from the pipes of the Justices in a careless and negligent manner, or made use of bad materials or fittings, the said licensed plumber shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and upon a third conviction shall be liable to have his license cancelled at the discretion of the Justices.

126. Any person who shall unlawfully flush, draw off, divert, or take water from any water-works belonging to or under the management or control of the said Justices, or from any water or streams by which such water-works are supplied, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

127. Any occupier holding direct from the owner of any house may, by notice in writing signed by him, require the owner of such house to perform all such necessary works as may be required for bringing into such house a supply of water for domestic use.

Every such notice shall contain an agreement on the part of such occupier to pay interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, calculated from the date of the completion of the works, on the cost of such works during the residue of his term of occupation.

Provided that, if the house and the premises belonging thereto shall not abut upon some street in which there is a supply-main, such occupier shall, in the agreement, undertake to pay the cost of connecting the house with the nearest supply-main.

128. If any owner shall not, within the space of three months from the service of such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, cause such necessary works as aforesaid to be completed, the occupier, who shall have given such notice, may cause the same to be completed, and may deduct from the rent payable by him the cost of such works, save so much of such cost as may be incurred in connecting with a supply-main any house and premises belonging thereto which may not abut upon a street in which there may be a supply-main; and such deduction shall be made by six equal monthly instalments.

Interest on each such instalment shall be payable to the owner by the occupier at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, from the time when it shall have been so deducted.

129. The supply of water to a house shall not be deemed sufficient for domestic use unless it provides two taps in each floor of such house, one other such tap in the cookroom of or attached to such house, and one other such tap in the premises, or in or near the stables belonging to such house, and the necessary works for such taps.

But if the annual rent of such house, with the land attached thereto, shall be less than three hundred rupees, it shall be sufficient to provide one tap only within the said premises, and the necessary works for the same.

130. No works for introducing a supply of water to any house shall be commenced by the owner without sending a specification and estimate of the cost thereof to the occupier, nor by the occupier without sending such specification and estimate to the owner.

131. In case there shall be any difference between the owner and the occupier respecting the cost or the sufficiency of the proposed works, either the owner or the occupier may refer such difference to the Justices, and the written award of the Engineer of the Justices, or of any officer authorized by them in that behalf, shall be binding on the owner and the occupier.

132. There shall be payable to the Justices in respect of every such reference a fee at the rate of two rupees for every hundred rupees of the monthly rent of the land in respect of the water-supply to which the difference may have arisen:—

Provided that such fee shall in no case exceed ten rupees, and shall be paid by the person making the reference.

133. Any occupier, on whose requisition as aforesaid any works for the supply of water shall have been introduced to any house, shall, during his term of occupancy, bear the expense of keeping such works in substantial repair.

134. Any owner to whom any sum is payable under sections one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house in respect of which the expenses have been incurred.

135. All public tanks, reservoirs, cisterns, wells, aqueducts, conduits, tunnels, pipes, pumps, and other water-works, whether made, laid, or erected at the cost of the Justices or otherwise, and all bridges, buildings, engines, works, materials, and things connected therewith, or appertaining thereto, and also any adjacent land (not being private property) appertaining to any public tank, shall become vested in the Justices.

Water fouled by offensive trades.

136. If any person, being the proprietor of any gas-works, or being engaged or employed in the manufacture or supply of gas, or being the occupier or owner of any place where an offensive trade or manufacture is carried on,

wilfully does any act connected with the said business whereby the water in any stream, tank, reservoir, well, cistern, conduit, aqueduct, or other water-works belonging to the Justices is fouled or corrupted, the Justices may, after twenty-four hours' notice in writing, lay open and examine any pipes, conduits, and works belonging to such person;

and if, upon such examination, it appears that the water has been fouled or corrupted by anything proceeding from, or contained in, the pipes, conduits, or works examined, the expenses of such examination shall be paid by the person to whom such pipes, conduits, or works belong, or under whose management or control they may be;

but if it appear that the water has not been so fouled or corrupted, then such expenses, and all damages occasioned by the examination, shall be paid by the Justices.

137. The water rate and all monies collected, received, or recovered for or in respect of the supply of water or the execution of works, and all fines connected therewith, or in any respect relating to the water-supply, shall be applied by the said Justices in defraying the expense of making, extending, or maintaining the said water-works, in paying the interest of money borrowed for the said water-works, and in the liquidation of debts incurred connected therewith, or for some other purpose connected with the supply of water.

CHAPTER VIII. OF THE POLICE BUDGET.

138. The Commissioner of Police shall, on or before the first day of September in each year, transmit to the Justices a Budget or Estimate of the expense of the Police Force for the year commencing on the first day of January then next ensuing.

139. The Police Budget shall show the various heads of the estimated expenditure of the Police Force, and the intended distribution of the Police Force during the year to which it relates.

140. The Chairman shall forthwith, upon the receipt of any such Budget, cause the same to be printed, and a copy thereof, as far as may be practicable, sent by post or otherwise to each of the Justices of the Peace resident within twenty miles of Government House; and shall lay every such Budget before the Justices at the next quarterly meeting of the Justices, or at a special general meeting.

The Justices shall thereupon forward such Budget to the Local Government, with such remarks as to them may seem fit, and it shall be in the discretion of the Local Government to pass, or to reject, or to modify, the estimates of all or any sums entered in the same.

141. If during any period for which a Power to bring in a Police Budget shall have supplemental Budget. been passed and submitted as aforesaid, it shall appear that the amount provided by such Budget is insufficient to defray the necessary expense of the Police Force for such period, the Commissioner of Police may prepare a supplemental Budget for such period, and the provisions of the last three preceding sections shall apply to such supplemental Budget.

142. The amount of the estimates passed shall, Amount of estimates to after deducting therefrom be paid to Government. such amount as may from time to time be allowed by the Government from the General Revenues towards the maintenance of the Police Force, be paid to the Local Government, or to such Officer, as the Local Government may from time to time direct, by the Justices out of the annual proceeds of the Police rate; and it shall not be lawful for the Justices to expend from the said proceeds any sums for purposes other than those provided in the Budget of the Commissioner of Police and duly sanctioned by the Local Government under section one hundred and forty.

143. On or before the first day of April in every year, the Commissioner of Police shall present to the Chairman, to be laid before the Justices at their next monthly meeting, an account of the expense of the Police Force for the year ending the thirty-first day of December then next preceding, and in case the amount, which shall during such year have been paid to the Local Government under the provisions hereinbefore contained, shall not have been expended in the maintenance of the Police Force, the balance remaining unexpended shall be deemed to have been paid by the Justices in or towards discharging the expense of the Police Force during the ensuing year.

CHAPTER IX.

OF THE SYSTEM OF DRAINAGE FOR THE TOWN AND ITS ENVIRONS.

144. The Justices may carry out such a complete system of sewerage and drainage within the Town as they may think fit, subject to the approval of the Local Government, and to such alterations as may from time to time be ordered by it.

145. The Local Government may determine what portions, if any, of the environs of the Town shall be included in the said system of sewerage and drainage, and may declare the boundaries thereof in the Calcutta Gazette, and for the purposes of the Drainage rate the land within such boundaries as aforesaid shall be deemed to be part of the Town.

CHAPTER X.

OF THE REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

146. The Justices shall keep in their office a Register of all births and deaths in the Town, and for this purpose shall divide the Town into such and so many districts as they shall think fit, and for every such district shall appoint a person to be a Registrar of births and deaths within such district; and the Justices shall at each burning ghât and native burial ground appoint a Sub-Registrar for the registration of all corpses brought to such burning ghât or burial ground for cremation or interment.

147. Every Registrar shall dwell within the district of which he is Registrar, and every Sub-Registrar shall dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or native burial ground for which he is appointed; and they shall cause their names, with the addition of Registrar for the district, or Sub-Registrar for the burning ghât or native burial ground for which they shall be so appointed, to be placed in some conspicuous place on or near the outer door of their own dwelling-houses; and the Justices shall cause to be printed and published a list containing the name and place of abode of every Registrar and Sub-Registrar in the Town.

148. The Justices shall cause to be prepared and printed a sufficient number of Register books for making entries of all births and deaths which may take place in the Town, according to the forms prescribed in the seventh and eighth schedules, and the pages of such book shall be numbered progressively from the beginning to the end.

149. Every Registrar shall inform himself of every birth and of every death which shall happen in his district, and shall ascertain and register, as soon as conveniently may be after the event, without fee or reward, the particulars required to be registered according to the forms in the seventh and eighth schedules respectively, touching every such birth and every such death, as the case may be, which shall not have been already registered, every such entry being made in order from the beginning to the end of the book.

150. The father or mother of every child born in the Town, or in the case of the death, illness, or absence, or inability of the father and mother, the occupier of the house in which such child shall have been born, shall, within eight days after the day of the birth, give information to the Registrar of the district, according to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, of the several particulars by this Act required to be known and registered touching the birth of such child.

151. Some one of the persons present at the death, or in attendance during the last illness, of every person dying in the Town, or, in case of the death, illness, inability or default of all such persons, the occupier of the house, or if the occupier be the person who shall have died, some person living in the house in which such death shall have happened, shall forthwith give information to the Registrar of the district, or Sub-Registrar at the burning ghât or burial ground, according to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, of the several particulars hereby required to be known and registered touching the death of such person:

Provided that, in lieu of the information hereinbefore stated, in the case of persons dying in any hospital it shall be the duty of the Medical Officer in charge forthwith to send a notice in writing to the Justices in the form prescribed in the eighth schedule of the occurrence of any death in the hospital under his charge.

152. Any person whose duty it shall be to give information to a Registrar or Sub-Registrar under the two last preceding sections, who shall refuse or neglect to give such information, or who shall give false information, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

153. Every person by whom the information contained in any Register of births or deaths under this Act shall have been given, shall sign in the Register his name, description, and place of abode; and no such registration shall be deemed to be complete or of any effect until such person shall have so signed it:

Provided that the Registrar may fill up and sign the Register for any person who is unable to write:

Provided further that in the case of a person dying in any hospital the registration of the death shall be deemed to be complete on receipt by the Justices of the written notice from the Medical Officer in charge of the said hospital prescribed in section one hundred and fifty-one.

154. It shall not be lawful for any sexton, keeper of a cemetery, burial ground, or burning ghāt to bury, burn, or allow to be buried or burned, any corpse, unless the said corpse is accompanied by a certificate in the form specified in the eighth schedule, and signed by a Registrar or Sub-Registrar appointed under section one hundred and forty-six, or by a Medical Officer.

155. Whoever buries, burns, or allows to be buried or burnt, a corpse without the certificate mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

OF TAKING A CENSUS.

156. At such times and in such manner as the Justices may from time to time appoint, an account shall be taken of the number of persons who, at the time of taking such account, shall be within the Town, and the persons employed in taking such account shall set down the several particulars respecting the same which are hereinafter prescribed.

157. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall superintend the taking of such account, and shall cause to be prepared and issued, for the use of the persons to be employed, such forms and instructions as he shall, with the sanction of the Local Government, deem necessary; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

158. Each Police division of the Town shall be formed into one or more enumeration districts.

159. At such times as shall be appointed under section one hundred and fifty-six, and as shall be notified in the Calcutta Gazette by the Local Government, every occupier of a dwelling-house, or of any part of a dwelling-house distinctly occupied, and every person to whom a form, as mentioned in section one hundred and sixty-one, may have been delivered, shall afford such information in regard to all persons who were abiding in his house, or in the place under his charge, on the night immediately preceding, and in such manner as may under this Act be required of them.

160. The Chairman shall select a sufficient number of competent persons to act as enumerators; and every such enumerator, under the direction of the Chairman, shall visit every house within his district, and, except as hereinafter provided, shall take an account in writing of the name, sex, age, caste, nationality, and occupation of every living person who shall abide therein on the night immediately preceding the day appointed as aforesaid, and shall also take an account of the occupied houses, and the houses then being built and therefore uninhabited, and also of all other uninhabited houses within his district, and in all respects conform to, and obey, the instructions which may be issued to him by the Chairman in this behalf.

Provided that, in the case of females, no account shall be taken either of their name or age.

161. The Chairman, when he deems such a course to be advisable, may cause such a form as shall be sanctioned by the Justices in meeting, subject to the approval of the Local Government, to be delivered to any occupier of any dwelling-house who may be able to write, and such occupier shall fill in all the particulars required in the form on the day to be appointed, and shall deliver the same to the person authorized to demand the same.

162. Any military or naval Officers in command of bodies of military or naval men, or of vessels of war, or any master of a merchant vessel, or nacadah, or tindal of a vessel or bout, or any person in charge of a lunatic asylum, hospital, or prison, or of any public or private charitable or scholastic institution, or any keepers of hotels or lodging-houses, shall, if required, act as enumerators for the purpose of taking account of persons under their command or charge, or abiding in their houses, on the night immediately preceding the day to be appointed.

163. Whoever, being required under section one hundred and sixty-one to fill in any form, or under section one hundred and sixty to act as an enumerator, fails so to do, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence.

Every person so required to act as an enumerator shall receive and conform to all instructions in writing which may be issued to him by the Chairman in that behalf.

164. The Chairman shall obtain, by such ways and means as shall appear to him best adapted for the purpose, and as shall be sanctioned by the Justices in meeting, returns of the particulars required by this Act with respect to all houseless persons, and all persons who, during the said night preceding the day to be appointed, were on out-door night duty, or for any other reason were not abiding in any house of which account is to be taken by the enumerators.

165. The enumerators shall fill in all forms for those persons who are unable to write.
Enumerators to fill in for those unable to write.

CHAPTER XI.

OF CONSERVANCY AND IMPROVEMENT.

PART I.—Of the Streets.

166. All public streets in the Town (not being the property and kept under the control of the Government) and the pavements, stones, and other materials thereof, and also all erections, materials, implements, and other things provided for such streets shall vest in and belong to the Justices.

167. The Justices, making due compensation to the owners and occupiers of any houses or land which may be required for any such purposes, may

- (a) lay out and make new streets;
- (b) build and construct new bridges;
- (c) turn, divert, discontinue, or stop up any public street; and
- (d) widen, open, enlarge, or otherwise improve any such street.

For the purposes of this section the Justices in meeting may purchase any land necessary for houses and buildings to form any public street, or for the improvement of any public street.

168. The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, from time to time cause the public streets to be maintained and repaired, and for such purpose may do all things necessary for the public safety and convenience.

169. The Justices shall cause the public streets of the Town to be sufficiently lighted; and the sum applicable annually to the current expenses of lighting the said streets shall be the gross proceeds of the said Lighting-rate and no more; but the Justices may expend, out of the Municipal Fund, such further sums as may from time to time be requisite for the purchase, setting up, cleaning and maintenance of lamps, lamp-posts, pipes, and other necessary apparatus.

170. The Justices shall cause the public streets to be regularly swept and cleansed; and the dust, dirt, filth, and refuse of every kind whatsoever found thereon to be collected and removed.

171. The Justices may cause any number of moveable or fixed dust-boxes or other convenient receptacles, wherein dust, dirt, filth, and refuse, arising from the ordinary domestic use of houses, may be temporarily deposited until removed and carried away, to be provided and placed in proper and convenient situations, and may require the occupiers of houses in public streets to cause all such matter as aforesaid to be deposited daily, or otherwise periodically, in such receptacles and between such hours as they may from time to time direct.

172. Every person who, after such receptacles have been provided, and after such requisition as above mentioned, shall deposit, or cause or permit to be deposited, any such matter in any public street, except in such receptacles, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

173. Whoever deposits, or suffers to be deposited, any dust, dirt, filth, or refuse of any kind whatsoever, in any public street, or on any public quay, jetty, ghaut, or landing place, or on any part of a river bank, whether above or below high-water mark, except in such places, and in such manner, and at such hours, as shall be fixed by the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every such offence.

174. Whoever causes or allows the water of any sink or sewer, or any other offensive liquid matter belonging to him or being in his house or land, to run, drain, or be thrown or put upon any street (public or otherwise), or causes or allows any offensive matter from any sewer or privy, to run, drain, or be thrown into, a surface drain in any street (public or otherwise) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every such offence.

175. The Justices, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, and so far as they may deem requisite for the public convenience, shall cause the chief public streets to be watered; and for that purpose may provide such works and engines as they may think necessary.

176. Whoever builds any wall, or erects, or sets up any fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment, in any public street, or in or over any drain, sewer, or aqueduct, after the commencement of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees; and the Justices shall have power to remove any such obstruction or encroachment, as also all walls, fences, rails, posts, or other obstruction or encroachment erected in any public street, or in or over any open drain, sewer, or aqueduct, subsequent to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the person erecting the same, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the Justices from allowing any temporary erections on occasions of festivals, &c. temporary erections in any public street on occasions of festivals and ceremonies, or for building purposes

177. Every person who wishes to make or lay out any new street, shall give notice in writing thereof to the Justices, showing the intended level and width of such street; and the level and width of every such street shall be fixed or approved by the Justices; and the Justices may, if they think fit, cause any such street laid out or made at a level or width otherwise than in accordance with the level or width so fixed or approved as aforesaid, to be altered;

or may cause any house, erected in any such street, otherwise than in accordance with such level and width, to be altered, or, if necessary, removed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person offending.

If no such level or width be fixed, and no approval or disapproval of the level or width proposed be signified by the Justices within one month from the delivery of the aforesaid notice at the office of the Justices, the intended street may be laid out and made upon the level and of the width specified in the notice.

178. Whoever lays out, makes, or builds upon, any such street, otherwise than in accordance with the level and width so fixed or approved, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

179. If any street or any part thereof, be not levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Justices, they may, by notice in writing to the respective owners or occupiers of the land fronting, adjoining, or abutting upon, such parts thereof as may need to be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered, require them to level, metal, pave, flag, channel, and sewer the same within a time to be specified in such notice; and upon non-compliance, the Justices may, if they think fit, execute the works mentioned or referred to therein:

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners in default according to the frontage of their respective lands, and in such proportion as shall be settled by the Justices, or, in case of dispute, as shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses;

Provided that, after such street shall have been so levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled and sewered, on the requisition of the Justices, or by the Justices as aforesaid, at the expense of the owners, such owners shall have a right to require that the street shall be declared a public street, to be from time to time repaired by the Justices out of the Municipal Fund.

180. If any street be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Justices, they may, if they think fit, by notice in writing put up in any part of such street, declare the same to be a public street, and thereupon the same shall become a public street, and be from time to time repaired by them out of the Municipal Fund.

181. The Justices in meeting shall, from time to time, cause to be put up or painted on a conspicuous part of some house, wall, or place, at or near each end, corner, or entrance of every public street, the name by which such street is to be known; and whoever destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such name, or puts up any name different from that put up by order of the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

182. The Justices may, from time to time, fix a number in a conspicuous place on the outer side of any house or at the entrance of the enclosure thereof; and whoever destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such number, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

183. All doors, gates, bars, and ground-floor windows (whether hung or placed before or after the commencement of this Act), which open upon any public street, shall be hung or placed so as not to open outwards and cause obstruction;

and if any such door, gate, bar, or window be hung or placed so as to open outwards on any such public street, the owner of the house or land to which the same is attached shall, within eight days after notice from the Justices to that effect, cause the same to be altered so as not to open outwards; and if he neglects so to do, the Justices may make such alteration, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by such owner.

184. The owner of every house in any public street shall, within fifteen days after notice from the Justices, put up, and keep in good condition, proper troughs and pipes for catching and carrying the water from the roof and other parts of such house and for discharging the same in such manner as the Justices shall direct; and in default of compliance with such notice within the period aforesaid, such owner shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every day that he shall so make default.

185. The Justices may give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of any house to remove or alter any projection, encroachment, or obstruction, which, after the commencement of this Act, shall be erected or placed against or in front of such house or which has been so erected or placed subsequent to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and such owner or occupier shall within fifteen days after the service of such notice upon him, remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, or alter the same in such manner as shall have been directed by the Justices, and in default thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees; and the Justices in such case may remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction; and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the owner or occupier so making default, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.

Provided that, when the expense shall have been paid by the occupier, except in the case in which such projections, encroachments, or obstructions were made or put up by him, such occupier shall be entitled to deduct the expense of removing or altering the same from the rent payable by him to the owner of the house.

186. The Justices may cause any such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, erected or placed against or in front of any house in any public street, previous to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, to be removed, or altered as they think fit; provided that they give notice of such intended removal or alteration to the occupier of the house against or in front of which such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall be, thirty days before such alteration or removal is begun; and if such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall have been lawfully made, they shall make reasonable compensation to every person who suffers damage by such removal or alteration; and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

187. The Justices may give permission in writing to the owners or occupiers of houses abutting on any public street, or drain or sewer to put up verandahs, balconies, sunshades, wetherframes, and the like, to project from any upper story thereof over any public street, or drain or sewer.

188. The external roofs and walls of huts or other buildings erected or renewed within the Town, after the commencement of this Act, shall not be made of grass, leaves, mats, or other such inflammable materials; and it shall not be lawful for the owner of any hut or other building in or near any street (public or otherwise), now having an external roof or wall made of any such material, and which is contiguous to or adjoining to any other building, to suffer such roof or wall to remain after the commencement of this Act unless with the consent in writing of the Justices; and whoever makes any external roof or wall of such materials, or suffers any roof or wall made of such materials to continue contrary to the provisions herein contained, and who shall not remove or alter the same within one month after notice given to him for that purpose by the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every day that such roof or wall shall continue.

189. The Justices may give notice to the owner or occupier of any house or land to trim or prune the hedges thereof bordering on any public street to a height not exceeding seven feet; to cut and trim trees overhanging any public street and obstructing the same or causing damage thereto; and if such notice is not complied with within three days from the date thereof, the Justices may cause such hedges and trees to be cut in the manner required, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the house or land.

190. No person shall deposit any building materials, or make a hole in any public street, without the permission of the Justices in writing; and when such permission is granted to any person, he shall, at his own expense, cause such materials, or such hole, to be sufficiently fenced and enclosed, until the materials are removed or the hole is filled up and otherwise made secure; and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted at night.

191. Whoever deposits materials, or makes a hole, without such permission, or fails to fence or enclose, and light, such materials or hole, or does not remove such materials, or fill up such hole, when the permission has been withdrawn, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART II.—Of the Drains.

192. All public sewers and drains, and all sewers, drains, tunnels, and culverts, in, alongside, or under the public streets, whether made at the cost of the Justices or otherwise, and all works, materials, and things appertaining thereto, shall become vested in the Justices.

193. The Justices in making any main or other sewers for the drainage of the Town, may, if necessary, carry such sewers through, across, or under any public street, or any place laid out as, or intended for, a street, or any cellar or vault which may be under any of the public streets, and (after reasonable notice in writing in that behalf) into, through, or under any land whatsoever, making full compensation for any damage done thereby; and if any dispute shall arise with respect to the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

194. The Justices shall maintain, and from time to time repair, and as they think fit, enlarge, alter, arch over, or otherwise improve all or any of the sewers and drains vested in them:

and may discontinue, close up, or destroy such of them as they may deem useless or unnecessary.

If by reason of anything done under this section, any person is deprived of the lawful use of any sewer or drain, the Justices shall, at a place within one hundred feet of the sewer or drain, of the use of which he is deprived, provide the means of drainage into some public sewer, tidal river, or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers, and thereupon the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as the Justices shall direct:

and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

195. The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, cause the sewers and drains vested in them to be so constructed, maintained, and kept, as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and to be properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied;

and for the purpose of flushing, cleansing, and emptying the same, may construct and place, either above or underground, such reservoirs, sluices, engines, and other necessary works;

and may also, with the sanction of the local Government, cause all or any of such sewers and drains to communicate with, and be emptied into, any tidal river or other fit place, or cause the refuse from such sewers and drains to be conveyed by a proper channel to the most convenient site for its deposit, and may sell the same for any agricultural or other purpose as may be deemed most expedient, but so that the same shall not become a nuisance.

196. When the contents of any sewer or drain, or any other flow of filth or refuse, are discharged into any river or stream, in the Justices may allow certain projections from houses.

Roofs and external walls of huts not to be made of inflammable materials.

Penalty.

Public sewers, drains, &c., vested in the Justices.

Powers of Justices in making public sewers.

Justices to repair and alter and close sewers.

Cleansing and emptying sewers.

No one to deposit materials or make hole in the street.

Penalty.

Bed of stream receiving sewerage to be cleared.

bed or channel of which the quantity of water at any season of the year is so much diminished, by natural or artificial causes, as to be insufficient to keep such channel clean or clear, the Justices, with the sanction of the Local Government, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, shall make such alteration in the bed of such river or stream as may prevent such sewer and drain-water from spreading over the surface of such bed, or from accumulating and stagnating in parts thereof, to the injury of health or the annoyance of the surrounding population.

197. If any person, without the written consent of the Justices first obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Justices, the Justices may cause such branch drain to be demolished, altered, re-made, or otherwise dealt with as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person making or altering such branch drain.

198. Whoever, without the written consent of the Justices first obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Justices by this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

199. If any house or land within the Town and within a reasonable distance of a sewer fit for use, or of some tidal river or other place at which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers, be at any time not drained to the satisfaction of the Justices by sufficient drains or pipes communicating with some sewer, tidal river, or other place as aforesaid, the Justices may, if the owner neglects to do so within fifteen days after notice, construct or lay through or from such house or land, covered drains, or pipes, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as they shall think necessary for the complete draining of such house or land; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

200. The Justices themselves may construct and lay down such portions of the drains mentioned in sections one hundred and ninety-four, one hundred and ninety-nine, two hundred and two, and two hundred and forty-seven, as may be carried through or under any public drain, aqueduct, or street, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

201. The Justices may cause the works mentioned in sections one hundred and ninety-four, one hundred and ninety-nine, and two hundred and two and two hundred and forty-seven to be supervised while in progress, and from time to time during their execution to order such reasonable alterations therein, additions thereto, and abandonment of part or parts thereof, as may to the Justices appear, on the fuller knowledge afforded by the opening of the ground, requisite to secure the complete and satisfactory execution of such works as aforesaid.

202. If it appear to the Justices that a group or block of houses may be drained or improved more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer of sufficient size already exists, or is about to be constructed, within one hundred feet of any part of such group or block of houses, the Justices may cause such group or block of houses to be drained and improved by a combined operation; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners of such houses in such proportions as shall to the Justices seem fit.

203. All sewers and drains in streets (public or otherwise), shall be provided by the Justices, or by the persons to whom they severally belong, with proper traps or other coverings or means of ventilation, so as to prevent stench.

If the owner of any private sewer or drain shall, for ten days after notice given to him by the Justices, neglect or delay to provide proper traps or coverings or means of ventilation as aforesaid, the Justices may forthwith provide and apply the same;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

204. The Justices may erect on, or fix to, any house such pipes as they may deem necessary for the proper ventilation of the sewers belonging to them, and such pipes shall be carried to a height of not less than six feet above the highest part of the house, and erected so as not to occasion any nuisance or inconvenience to any house in the neighbourhood.

205. All branch-drains, as well within as without the house or land to which they belong, and all privies and cess-pools within the Town, shall be under the survey and control of the Justices, and shall be altered, supplied with water, connected with a sewer, repaired, stopped up, demolished, and kept in proper order at the costs and charges of the owner of the house or land to which the same belong, or for the use of which they are constructed or continued; and if the owner of any house or land to which any such drain, privy, or cess-pool belongs, neglect, during eight days after notice in writing for that purpose, to alter, lay water to, connect with a sewer, repair, stop up, demolish, or put in good order the same, in the manner required by the Justices, the Justices may cause such drain, privy, or cess-pool to be altered, supplied with water, connected with a sewer, repaired, stopped up, demolished, or put in good order, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

206. If any branch-drain, privy, or cess pool be constructed contrary to the directions and regulations of the Justices, or contrary to the provisions of this Act, or if any person, without the consent of the Justices, constructs, re-builds, or unstops, any branch-drain, privy, or cess-pool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up, or not to be made, the Justices may cause such amendment or alteration to be made in any such drain, privy, or cess-pool, as they think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool was improperly constructed, re-built, or unstopped.

207. Whoever constructs any such drain, privy, or cess-pool, after the commencement of this Act, contrary to the directions and regulations of the Justices, or contrary to the provisions of this Act, or, without the consent of the Justices, constructs, re-builds, or unstops any drain, privy, or cess-pool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up, or not to be made, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

208. The Justices, or any Officer authorized by them in that behalf, may inspect any branch-drain, privy, or cess-pool, and for that purpose, at any time between sunrise and sunset, after one hour's notice in writing to the occupier of the house or land to which such drain, privy, or cess-pool is attached, may enter upon such house or land with such assistants and workmen as are necessary, and cause the ground to be opened where they or he may think fit, doing as little damage as may be:

and if, upon such inspection, it appears that such drain, privy, or cess-pool is not in good order and condition, or that it has been constructed contrary to the provisions of this Act, the expenses of such inspection shall be paid by the person to whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool may belong;

but if the drain, privy, or cess-pool be found to be in proper order and condition, and not to have been constructed in violation of the provisions of this Act, the Justices or Officer as aforesaid shall cause the ground to be closed and made good as soon as may be; and the expenses of opening, closing, and making good such drain, privy, or cess-pool, shall in that case be paid by the Justices.

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by the custom of the country is considered private, except by the agency of women.

209. Whoever throws or puts, or permits his servants to throw or put, any earth, dirt, ashes, garden, kitchen, or stable refuse, or any broken glass or earthen-ware, or other rubbish, or, until suitable sewers shall be provided, any night-soil, into any sewer or drain belonging to the Justices, or into any drain communicating therewith, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

210. No person shall, without the permission of the Justices in writing, construct or keep any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle for filth, sewage, house-drainage, or other offensive matter, within fifty feet of any public tank, or a tank which the inhabitants of any locality are entitled to use. Any person upon whose land any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle so situated shall be now existing or hereafter constructed, shall remove the same within forty-eight hours of the receipt of a written notice from the Justices.

211. Any person failing to comply with the notice mentioned in the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding three rupees, for every day that the latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle remains within the limits aforesaid.

PART III.—Of General Conservancy.

212. The Justices, from time to time, may appoint

- (a) the hours within which night-soil or other offensive matter may be removed;
- (b) the kind of cart or other receptacle in which it may be removed;
- (c) the route by which such cart or receptacle shall proceed.

213. When the Justices have fixed such hours and given public notice thereof, whoever removes or causes to be removed along any street (public or otherwise) any such offensive matter at any time, except within the hours so fixed, and also, whoever at any time, whether such hours have been fixed by the Justices or not, uses for any such purpose any cart, carriage, or other receptacle or vessel, other than that approved and sanctioned by the Justices, or slops or spills any such offensive matter in the removal thereof, or does not carefully sweep and clean every place in which any such offensive matter has been stopped or spilled, or places or sets down in any public place any vessel containing such offensive matter, or drives, or takes, or causes to be driven, or taken, any cart, carriage, receptacle, or vessel used for any such purpose as aforesaid, through any street (public or otherwise), or by any route other than, from time to time, by public notice appointed for that purpose by the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every such offence.

214. The Justices shall, from time to time, appoint or provide places for the deposit of dust, dirt, filth, and any other refuse whatsoever collected and removed in accordance with this Act;

and for keeping all cattle, carts, implements, and other things required for the above or any of the purposes of this Act.

215. Whoever, being the occupier of any house or land, keeps or suffers to be kept any dirt, dust, filth, or refuse of any kind whatsoever for more than twenty-four hours, otherwise than in a proper receptacle, or suffers such receptacle to be in a filthy or noxious state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

216. All dirt, dust, filth, and any other refuse whatsoever, collected from the streets (public or otherwise), houses, privies, sewers, and cess-pools shall belong to the Justices, who may sell or dispose of the same as they may think proper, and the money arising from the sale thereof shall form part of the Municipal Fund.

Filth and refuse to be the property of the Justices.

217. If any house or land, by reason of abandonment, or of disputed ownership, or other cause, shall remain untenanted, and thereby become a resort of idle and disorderly persons; or become in a filthy or unwholesome state ;

or be complained of by any two or more of the neighbours as a nuisance,

the Justices, after due enquiry, may cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, or to the person claiming, or believed to be the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door of the house or some conspicuous part of the land, requiring the persons concerned therein, whoever they may be, to secure, enclose, clean, or clear the same ;

and if such notice shall not be complied with within eight days the Justices shall cause the necessary work to be executed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner, or, in case of abandonment or disputed ownership, by the sale of any material found upon such house or land, and the provisions of section two hundred and forty-four shall be applicable to such sales.

218. The Justices may provide and maintain in proper and convenient situations, so as not to create a nuisance, common necessities and urinals, and shall cause the same, when provided, to be kept in proper order and to be daily cleansed.

Common necessities.

219. The Justices may license, for any period not exceeding one year, such necessities for public accommodation, and such tola mehters' depôts as they may, from time to time, think proper ; and may at any time, on giving one month's notice, cancel any license granted under this section, if it shall seem proper to them to cancel it.

No person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices.

220. Whoever keeps any public necessary, or any tola mehters' depôt, without a license, as mentioned in the last preceding section, or having a license, suffers such public necessary or tola mehters' depôt to be in a filthy or noxious state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one-hundred rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence ; and whoever shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Penalty.

221. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published within the Town and by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout the Town, or any portion thereof, declare that the duties usually performed by tola mehters within the boundaries specified in the aforesaid advertisement shall be performed by an establishment under the control of the Justices, and the Justices shall make suitable provision accordingly.

Justices may direct performance of duties usually performed by mehters.

When the Justices have made such provision, the occupier of any house or land in respect of which such duties are performed shall be liable to pay in respect of the same such fees as may be imposed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting ; and the said fees shall be recovered from such occupier as a rate under Chapter VI.

222. The owner or occupier of any land having a privy on it shall have such privy shut out by a sufficient roof, and wall or fence, from the view of persons passing by or residing in the neighbourhood : and no person shall keep a privy with a door or trap-door opening on to any street (public or otherwise) or drain.

Every owner or occupier who shall omit to comply with, or shall commit any breach of, any of the provisions of this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding five rupees, for each day the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence. Provided that the Justices may, in their discretion, permit the continuance, for such time as they may fix, of any such privy with a door or trap-door opening on to any street (public or otherwise) where such privy already exists and does not create a nuisance.

Penalty.

223. If the Justices think that any privy or additional privy should be provided for any house or land, the owner of such house or land shall, within fourteen days after notice in that behalf by the Justices, cause such privy, together with the necessary pipes, drains, and water-supply, to be constructed in accordance with the requisition of such notice ; and if such privy be not so constructed to the satisfaction of the Justices within such period, the Justices may cause such privy, together with the necessary pipes, drains, and water-supply, to be so constructed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Justices may cause additional privies to be provided for any land.

224. No milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages shall keep any animals, sheep, goats, or horned cattle within the Town for the purposes of trade or business except in a place licensed by the Justices.

Milkman, &c., not to keep animals or cattle without license.

Such license shall be taken out half-yearly, on the first day of January and the first day of July in every year.

It shall be in the discretion of the Justices in meeting to grant any such license subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and impose a fee not exceeding five rupees in respect of the same.

225. Whoever, being a milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages, keeps any animals, sheep, goats, or horned cattle without such license, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

226. Whoever, being the holder of a license under section two hundred and twenty-four, breaks the conditions of such license, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

227. No person shall keep any pig-stye within the Town to the front of any street (public or otherwise), not being shut out therefrom by a sufficient wall or fence, and no person shall keep within the town, without the permission of the Justices, more than ten pigs, or more than twenty sheep or goats.

Regarding pig-styes, sheep, and cattle.

228. Whoever keeps any pig-stye, pigs, sheep, or goats, contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

229. When the pavement or surface of any public street, or when any sewer or drain, shall be opened or broken up by the Justices, they shall, with all convenient speed, complete the work on account of which the same shall have been broken up, and fill in the ground, and make good the pavement and surface, and the sewer or drain so opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby; and shall, in the meantime, cause the place where such pavement or surface shall be so opened or broken up to be fenced and guarded and sufficiently lighted during the night.

Justices breaking up street to restore the same with all convenient speed.

230. If the Justices deem it necessary for the purposes of this Act to raise, sink, or otherwise alter the situation of any water-pipe or gas-pipe, or other water-works or gas-works, laid in any street, (public or otherwise) they may, from time to time, by notice in writing, require the person to whom any such pipes or works belong, or under whose control they may be, to cause forthwith, or as soon as conveniently may be, any such pipes or works to be raised, sunk, or otherwise altered in position, in such manner as the Justices direct.

Situation of gas and water-pipes may be altered by the Justices.

Such alteration shall not be such as permanently to injure such works, or to prevent the water or gas from flowing as freely and conveniently as before; and the expenses attending such raising, sinking, or altering, and full compensation for the damage done thereby, shall be paid by the Justices, as well to the persons to whom such pipes or works belong, as to all other persons.

Alteration not to permanently injure works, and to be done at Justices' expense.

And if any dispute shall arise touching the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Settlement of disputes.

231. If the person to whom any such pipes or works as are mentioned in the last preceding section belong, or under whose control they may be, do not proceed forthwith, or as soon as conveniently may be after the receipt of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section, to cause the same to be raised, sunk, or altered in such manner as the Justices require, the Justices may themselves cause such pipes or works to be raised, sunk, or altered, as they may think fit, provided that such works be not permanently injured thereby, or the water or gas prevented from flowing as freely and conveniently as before.

232. The Justices may, at their discretion, set apart any public ghât or place (not being private property, or part of the river or river bank of the Port of Calcutta), for the purpose of being used as a bathing place;

Justices may set apart bathing places, &c.

provide or set apart a sufficient number of convenient tanks, or runs of water, for the inhabitants to bathe in, and set apart tanks or reservoirs, or runs of water, for washing animals or clothes, or for any other purpose connected with the health, cleanliness, and comfort of the inhabitants.

233. Whoever bathes in any public place, except the places provided or set apart under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Penalty.

234. When any private tank or low marshy ground, or any waste or stagnant water, being within any private enclosure, appears to the Justices to be injurious to health or to be offensive to the neighbourhood, the Justices may require, by notice in writing, the owner of the same to cleanse or fill up such tank or marshy ground, or to drain off or remove such stagnant water; and if he shall refuse or neglect to comply with such requisition during eight days from the service thereof, the Justices, their Officers, and workmen, may enter into the said premises, and do all necessary acts for all or any of the purposes aforesaid as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Power to fill up unwholesome tanks, &c., on private premises.

235. Whoever, being an owner of land, fails to comply with the requisition mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

236. The Justices may from time to time, as they shall think fit, drain off into any sewers belonging to them, and cleanse and fill up or otherwise abate, any stagnant pool, ditch, tank, pond, or other receptacle of water (the same not being within any private enclosure), which shall appear to them to be useless or unnecessary, or likely to prove injurious to the health of the inhabitants, whether the same be the private property of any person or otherwise; and the Justices, their Officers, and workmen, may do all necessary acts for effecting any of the purposes aforesaid.

237. The Justices, in executing any works under this Act, shall provide and make, at their own expense, a sufficient number of convenient ways, water-courses, drains, and channels, in the place of such as may be interrupted, injured, or rendered useless by reason of the execution of such works; and if any difference arises between the Justices and the persons affected thereby, such difference shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

238. The Justices shall, during the construction or repair by them of any of the streets, sewers, or drains vested in or belonging to them, take proper precaution for guarding against accident, by shoring up and protecting the adjoining houses;

and shall cause such bars, chains, or posts to be fixed across or in any street (public or otherwise), to prevent the passage of carriages, carts, cattle, or animals, while such works are carried on, as to them shall seem proper;

and shall cause any sewer or drain, or other works in streets (public or otherwise), during the construction or repair thereof by them, to be sufficiently lighted and guarded during the night.

239. If any building, tank, well, or hole, or other place be, for want of sufficient repair, protection, or enclosure, dangerous to passengers or to persons living in the neighbourhood, the Justices may, by notice in writing, require the owner of the land to repair, protect, or enclose the same; and if he fails to comply with such requisition during eight days from the service thereof, the Justices shall cause the same to be repaired, protected, or enclosed, so as to prevent danger therefrom;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the property so repaired, protected, or enclosed.

240. Whoever, being an owner of land, fails to comply with the requisition mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART IV.—Of Building Regulations.

241. The Justices may, upon such terms as they shall think fit, allow any house to be set forward for improving the line of any public street in which such house is situated.

242. When any house, any part of which projects beyond the regular line of a public street, or beyond the front of the house on either side thereof, has been taken down in order to be re-built or altered, the Justices may require the same to be set back to or towards the line of the street or the line of the adjoining houses.

Provided that the Justices shall make full compensation to the owner of any such house for any damage he may thereby sustain, and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

243. If any house, or wall, or anything affixed thereon, be deemed by the Justices to be in a ruinous state, or likely to fall, or in any way dangerous to the inhabitants of such house or to the neighbouring houses, or to the occupiers thereof, or to passengers, they shall immediately, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a proper hoard or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and shall cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door or other conspicuous part of such house, or otherwise to be given to the occupier thereof (if any), requiring such owner or occupier forthwith to take down, repair, or secure, such house, wall, or thing affixed thereon as the case shall require.

If such owner or occupier do not begin to take down, repair, or secure the same within three days after such notice, and complete such work with due diligence, the Justices shall cause all or so much of such house, wall, or thing as they shall think necessary, to be taken down, repaired, or otherwise secured; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

244. If any such house, or wall, as is mentioned in the last preceding section, or any part of the same, be taken down as in such section mentioned, the Justices may sell the materials thereof, or so much of the same as shall be taken down, and apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the expenses incurred, and shall restore any surplus arising from such sale to the owner of such house, or wall, on demand.

The Justices shall have the same remedies for compelling the payment of so much of the said expenses as may remain due after the application of the proceeds of such sale as by this Act are given to them for compelling the payment of the whole of the said expenses.

245. No house shall be newly erected over any sewer or drain belonging to the Justices without their written consent; and if any house be so erected, the Justices may cause such house to be pulled down or otherwise dealt with as they may think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person so erecting the house.

246. No house shall be built within the Town upon a lower level than will allow of the drainage of such house or building being led into some public sewer then existing or projected, or into some tidal river or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers.

247. If any house newly erected or re-built within the Town have such means of drainage, as in the last preceding section mentioned, existing within one hundred feet thereof, the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto from the site of such house of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as the Justices may direct; and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

248. It shall not be lawful for any person to erect a hut, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or to add any hut or shed to any range or block already existing at the commencement of this Act, without previous notice to the Justices, and the Justices may require such huts or sheds to be built so that they may stand in regular lines, with a free passage or way in front of and between every two lines, of such width as they may think proper for ventilation and to facilitate scavengering, and with such number of privies and with such means of drainage as to them may seem necessary, and at such a level as will admit of such drainage, and with a plinth at least two feet above the level of the nearest public street.

249. If any such huts or sheds be built without giving such notice to the Justices or otherwise than as required by the Justices, the Justices may give notice to the owner or occupier thereof, or of the ground upon which the same are erected or being erected, by affixing a notice to some conspicuous part of some one of such huts or sheds, to take down and remove the same within one month, or to effect such alterations as they may deem necessary; and it shall be lawful for the Justices, if they shall think fit so to do, to cause the same to be taken down and removed, and the expense incurred in doing so shall be paid by the said owner or occupier thereof, or of the ground upon which the same shall be erected, and shall be recoverable as herein-after provided.

250. Whoever erects a hut or any range or block of huts or shed, or adds to any hut or shed, or to any range or block already existing, contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and forty-eight, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

251. Whenever the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the Town is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease, or prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause a notice to be fixed to some conspicuous part of such block of huts, requiring the owners or occupiers thereof, or, at the option of the Justices, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Justices for that purpose, to cause such huts to be removed, and such roads and drains to be made and the low lands to be filled up, and to execute such other operations as the Justices may deem necessary for the avoidance of such risk.

And in case such owners or occupiers, or the owner of the land, shall refuse or neglect to execute such operations within the time appointed, the Justices may cause such huts to be taken down, or such operations to be performed as the Justices may deem necessary to prevent such risk, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the land.

If such huts be pulled down, the Justices shall cause the materials of each hut to be sold separately, if such sale can be effected; and the proceeds shall be paid to the owner of the hut, or if the owner be unknown, or the title disputed, shall be held in deposit by the Justices, until the person interested therein shall obtain the order of a competent Court for the payment of the same.

The Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent Court for that purpose.

252. Before beginning, within the Town, to build or re-build any house, the person intending to build or re-build such house shall give to the Justices notice thereof in writing, and shall accompany such notice with a plan, showing the levels and width at which the foundation and lowest floor of such house are proposed to be laid, by reference to some level ascertained under the direction of the Justices.

253. Within fourteen days after receiving such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Justices shall signify their approval of the proposed levels and width of foundation, or, if they disapprove thereof, they shall fix other levels and width of foundation in lieu thereof within the same time.

254. If such building as is mentioned in the two last preceding sections be begun or made without sending such notice and plan as are mentioned in section two hundred and fifty-two, or at any levels different from those fixed by the Justices within the said fourteen days, or in any other respect contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Justices may, if necessary, cause such building to be altered or demolished as the case may require ;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the provisions aforesaid.

255. If the Justices fail to signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and to fix other levels and width of foundation within fourteen days after receiving such notice and plan as aforesaid, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or re-build the house therein referred to, according to the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan :

Provided that such building or re-building be otherwise in accordance with this Act.

The word "house" in this and the three last preceding sections does not include a hut.

256. Every person intending to build or take down any house, or to alter or repair the outward part of any house, where any public street will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up, in order to separate the house where such works are being carried on from the street, and shall keep such hoard or fence standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Justices, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night.

Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Justices, and shall not keep up the said hoard or fence for a time longer than allowed in the said written permission.

257. Every person, who begins to build, or to take down or alter, or repair, any house contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, or who, without license, erects or sets up any hoards, scaffolding, or fence whatsoever, or who, being licensed, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to continue the same standing, or to maintain the same in good condition, or who does not, while the said hoards or fences are standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted during the night, or who does not remove the same, when directed by the Justices, within eight days, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

CHAPTER XII.

OF SANITARY MATTERS.

PART I.—Of Slaughter-houses, food, drink, drugs, and offensive trades.

258. No place shall be used as a slaughter-house within the Town or Suburbs unless a license in writing for the use thereof as a slaughter-house has been obtained from the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, who may, at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

259. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, from time to time, if they shall think fit, provide places within or without the Town for the purpose of being used as slaughter-houses; and all places within or without the Town heretofore provided by the Justices for the purpose of being used as slaughter-houses shall be deemed to have been provided under this section.

260. Every owner, or occupier, or farmer, of any place for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, or vegetables, or of any slaughter-house, within the Town, shall cause such drains to be made therein as shall be considered sufficient by the Justices, and (if required so to do by the Justices) shall cause all the floors and drains to be paved with stone or burnt brick, and shall also cause a supply of water to be provided, sufficient for keeping such place, shop, or slaughter-house in a clean and wholesome state.

261. If such owner, occupier, or farmer, after notice in writing given to him by the Justices that such market or slaughter-house is defective in any of the said particulars, and requiring him to remedy the defect specified within not less than thirty days, makes default therein, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which such default is continued.

262. Any Justice of the Peace, on the application of the Justices or any of their Officers, setting forth that there is just cause to believe that any article which has been rendered or has become noxious or unfit for use as food or drink for man, is in the possession of any person for the purpose of being sold or offered or exposed for sale within the Town as food or drink for man, may grant a warrant to enter upon the premises of such person, and to search for and seize such article ; and if it appear to the said Justice that the same is noxious or unfit for such use, he shall order it to be forfeited and disposed of in such way as to him shall seem proper.

263. The Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any market, building, shop, stall, or place used for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, vegetables, corn, bread, flour, wine, spirits, or other food or drink, or as a slaughter-house, and may examine any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink which may be therein; and in case any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink appear to be intended for the food or drink of man, and to be unfit for such food or drink, may seize the same ;

and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace that any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink is unfit for the food or drink of man, he shall order the same to be destroyed, or to be so disposed of as to prevent its being exposed for sale or used for such food.

264. Any Justice of the Peace, before whom any person is convicted of an offence contrary to the provisions of this Act relating to slaughter-houses, or of the non-observance of any of the bye-laws relating thereto made under this Act, in addition to the fine which may be imposed on such person under this Act, may suspend, for any period not exceeding two months, the license granted to him under section two hundred and fifty-eight;

and the Justices, upon the conviction of any person for a second or other subsequent like offence, may cancel his license.

265. Whoever, during the period for which any such license is suspended, or after the same is cancelled as aforesaid, slaughters cattle, or allows cattle to be slaughtered in the slaughter-house to which such license relates, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

266. No place shall be kept for the sale of drugs unless the same shall have been registered in the office of the Justices. Any keeper of such place failing to register the same within two months after the commencement of this Act shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

267. The Justices or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any place kept for the sale of drugs, or in which drugs are sold, and if they have reason to suspect that any drug in the said place is adulterated in such a manner as to lessen its efficacy, to change its operation, or to render it noxious, may remove the same on giving a receipt, specifying the nature and quantity of the drug removed, and its approximate value; and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace that the said drug removed as aforesaid is adulterated as aforesaid, he may order the same to be destroyed or to be so disposed of as to him may seem fit; if it shall appear to the said Justice that the drug so removed is not adulterated as aforesaid, the person from whose shop or place it has been taken shall be entitled to have it restored to him, and it shall be in the discretion of the said Justice to award him such compensation as he may think proper, not exceeding the actual loss which has been sustained.

If the drug removed as aforesaid is not brought before a Justice of the Peace, it shall be restored to the person from whose shop or place it was taken, and such person shall be entitled to compensation for any actual loss which he may have sustained by the removal of the said drug; and any dispute which may arise touching the amount of compensation to be given shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

268. The owner or occupier of every place within the Town, used for any of the following purposes, namely—

Certain offensive and dangerous trades carried on within the Town to be registered.

- (a) melting tallow;
- (b) boiling offal or blood;
- (c) as a soap-house;
- (d) oil-boiling-house;
- (e) dyeing-house;
- (f) tannery;
- (g) brick-pottery, or lime-kiln;
- (h) sago-manufactory;
- (i) manufactory or place of business from which offensive or unwholesome smells arise;
- (j) or as a yard or dépôt for hay, straw, wood, or coal;

shall register the same at the office of the Justices, in a book to be kept by them for that purpose.

269. No place shall be newly used within the Town for any of the purposes mentioned in the last preceding section except under a license from the Justices, who may, at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

No such trades allowed without license.

270. Whoever, without a license, uses any such place for such purpose, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the said offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

271. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Justices that any place, licensed under section two hundred and fifty-eight, or two hundred and sixty-nine, or registered under section two hundred and sixty-eight, is a nuisance to the neighbourhood, they may give notice to the occupier to discontinue the use of such place within one month after the date of such notice.

272. Whoever, after the expiration of such time, uses such place, or permits it to be used, in such a manner as to be a nuisance to the neighbourhood, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

PART II.—Of Burial and Burning Grounds.

273. The Justices may, if they think fit, cause a survey and measurement to be made of every burial and burning ground and every place used as such; and every burial and burning ground, and every place used as such, shall be registered by the owner or the person having the control thereof, or, if there be no owner or person authorized to control the same, by order of the Justices, in a book to be kept by them for that purpose.

Burial and burning grounds to be registered.

274. Whoever uses any such place as is mentioned in the last preceding section without the same being registered, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

275. Whoever knowingly buries or burns, or causes, procures, or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse in or on any ground, not registered as a burial or burning ground, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Penalty.

276. No vault or grave shall be made within the walls of, or underneath, any church, chapel, or other place of public worship, and no burial or burning ground, whether public or private, shall be opened, made, or formed, otherwise than by, or under the authority of, the Local Government, without a license, describing the extent and boundaries thereof, first obtained from the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, who may at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

277. Whoever shall bury or burn, or cause permit, or suffer to be buried or burned, any corpse in any vault, grave, or burial or burning ground, opened, made or formed without such license, or contrary to the terms thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Penalty.

278. If the Justices, in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall certify, in manner hereinafter provided, that any burial ground or place of burial, or that any place used for the burning of corpses, is in such a state as to be dangerous to the health of persons living in the neighbourhood thereof, or that any church or other place of public worship is dangerous to the health of persons frequenting the same, by reason of the state of the vaults or graves within the walls of, or underneath, the same, or in any church-yard or burial ground adjacent thereto, and shall also certify that a fitting place for interment or burning (as the case may be) exists within a convenient distance and is available, no person shall, after a time (not less than two months) to be named in such certificate, bury or burn, or permit or suffer to be buried or burned any corpse in, upon, within, or under the ground, church, or place of worship to which the certificate relates, except in so far as may be allowed by such certificate.

Every such certificate shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a translation thereof in Bengalee shall, in the case of a burial or burning ground, be affixed conspicuously on some part of the said ground.

279. Whoever, after due publication of such certificate, buries or burns, or causes, permits, or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse contrary to this enactment, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Penalty.

280. Notwithstanding any certificate under the last preceding section, Justices may, in certain cases, permit interment in churches, &c. where, by usage or otherwise, there is any right of interment in or under any church or chapel, or in any vault of such church or chapel, or of any church-yard, burial ground, or place of burial affected by such certificate, or where any exclusive right of interment, or any exclusive right to ground for the purpose of interment has been purchased or acquired, the Justices may, if, on application made to them, they are satisfied that the exercise of such right, or the use of such ground will not be injurious to health, grant a license for such exercise or use, during such time and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they may think fit.

281. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time, out of the Municipal Fund, with the sanction of the Local Government, provide fitting places to be used as burial or burning grounds.

Justices may provide places to be used as burial or burning grounds.

CHAPTER XIII

OF MARKETS.

282. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time, if they shall think fit, with the sanction of the Local Government, provide places within the Town for the purpose of being used as Municipal Markets, and the Justices may charge such rents, tolls, and fees as to them may seem fit for the use of, or right to expose goods for sale in such markets, and for the use of shops, stalls, and standings therein.

Power to Justices to construct markets.

283. All such rents, tolls, and fees, which shall be imposed, shall be recoverable by the Justices, from the persons liable to pay the same, as if the amounts payable in respect thereof were rates due to the Justices from such persons under the provisions of Chapter VI.

Recovery of fees.

284. It shall be lawful for the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, from time to time, if they shall think fit, with the sanction of the Local Government, to acquire land by purchase, lease, or otherwise, in order to provide places within the Town for the purpose of being used as Municipal Markets, and for the like purpose to purchase or take on lease any land now used within such limits as a market, or registered as such, upon such terms, or subject to such conditions as they may consider necessary, and to appropriate any land now vested in or belonging to them, and to set out the whole or such parts thereof as they may think necessary for the purposes of such Municipal Markets, and

Power to Justices to acquire land for markets;

thereupon from time to time to build and maintain such Municipal Markets and such stalls, sheds, pens, and other buildings or conveniences for the use of the persons frequenting such Municipal Markets, and for the weighing and measuring goods sold in such Municipal Markets, and on such land as aforesaid, or on other land purchased for that purpose, to make and maintain all such and to make bye-laws, roads and approaches thereto as they may think necessary, and from time to time, in addition to the bye-laws provided in Chapter XVI, to make such bye-laws as they may think fit for all or any of the following purposes:—

(a) for regulating the control and use of such markets, and the buildings, stalls, pens, and standings therein, and for preventing nuisances or obstructions therein, or in the immediate approaches thereto.

(b) for preventing the use therein of false or defective weights, scales, or measures.

(c) for preventing the sale, or exposure for sale therein, of unwholesome meat, fish, or provisions.

(d) for the establishment and publication of a price-current, and for prescribing the mode of sale of articles, whether by measure, weight, tale, or piece.

(e) for keeping such markets in a cleanly and proper state, and for removing filth and refuse therefrom.

285. It shall be lawful for the Justices to expel from any such Municipal Market any person who, or whose servants, may be convicted of disobeying any such bye-law, and to prevent such person, by himself or his servants, further carrying on any trade or business in such market, or occupying any stall or shop therein, and to determine any lease or tenure which such person may have in any such stall or shop.

286. It shall be lawful for the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting to sell, or to let to tenants on lease or otherwise on such terms as they may think fit, any Municipal Market, or any part thereof, and to do all things necessary for carrying the provisions of this section into effect.

287. It shall be lawful for the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, to close any Municipal Market, or any part thereof, or to sell, or to let out to tenants, on lease or otherwise, any land heretofore used as a Municipal Market, or any part thereof, on such terms as they may think fit, and to do all things necessary for carrying the provisions of this section into effect.

288. It shall be lawful for the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, out of the Municipal Fund and out of the monies borrowed under the provisions of this Act, and out of monies derived from the rents of buildings, stalls, pens, or standings in any Municipal Market, and from any fees realized from any Municipal Market, to expend such sums of money as they may think necessary for the construction, maintenance, and keeping such Municipal Market in repair, and for any other purpose or purposes which the Justices may deem necessary for establishing or carrying on the same or conducive thereto.

289. It shall be within the discretion of the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, to grant licenses for the use of any place as a market for the sale of meat, fish, fruit, and vegetables within the Town, and every such license shall be in force until the first day of January next ensuing the day therein named for the commencement thereof.

290. Whoever wilfully or negligently permits any place within the Town to be used as a market for the sale of meat, fish, fruit, or vegetables, without a license under this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the said offence shall be continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

291. Whenever three convictions under the provisions of the last preceding section shall have been pronounced in respect of the same place, it shall be lawful for any Police Magistrate of Calcutta, on the application of the Justices, to order such place to be closed, and thereupon to appoint persons, or otherwise take order, to prevent such place being so used; and every person who shall sell or expose for sale meat, fish, fruit, or vegetables in any place which shall have been so closed, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

292. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may define, fix, and determine what portions of any market or bazar within the Town shall be thrown into, and made part of, the existing approaches, roads, paths, and ways in such market or bazar for the convenient use of persons resorting thereto; and shall signify the same by affixing or causing to be affixed in some conspicuous place or places in the market or bazar a notice signifying the limits and description of the parts of the said market or bazar so to be kept and used as part of the approaches, roads, paths, and ways.

The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, by notice in writing to the owner, proprietor, or lessee of any such market or bazar, require him within a time to be specified therein to execute the necessary works and take all necessary measures for the setting out, clearing, widening, and maintaining of the said approaches, roads, paths and ways; and may, in case of such default, by their servants and workmen, enter into and upon the said market or bazar, and clear, set out, and widen the said approaches, roads, paths, and ways, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person on whom the notice has been served.

The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time vary and alter the said approaches, roads, paths, and ways as occasion may require, signifying the same by a like notice.

Whoever shall, after such notification, cause any obstruction or encroachment in or on any such approaches, roads, paths, or ways, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for every day such obstruction or encroachment is continued after notice from the Justices to remove or discontinue the same.

293. Whenever any person who shall have been convicted of any offence under this Chapter, or against any of the bye-laws made or to be made under this Chapter in respect to markets, shall again be convicted of an offence against the same provision, the fine to be inflicted for the first of such subsequent offences shall not be less than one moiety of the maximum fine provided for such offence, and for the second and every subsequent offence shall not be less than such maximum fine.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF THE GENERAL POWERS OF THE JUSTICES.

PART I.—Of Rights of Entry.

294. The Justices shall, for the purposes of this Act, have power, by themselves or their Officers, between sunrise and sunset, to enter upon any house or land, as well for the purpose of making any inspection, survey, or measurement, as for the purpose of executing any work authorized by this Act to be executed by them, without being liable to any legal proceedings or molestation whatsoever on account of such entry, or of anything done on such house or land in pursuance of this Act.

Provided that, except as herein otherwise provided, the Justices or their Officers shall not enter upon any house or land which may be occupied at the time, unless with the consent of the occupier thereof, without previously giving the said occupier twenty-four hours' notice of their intention to do so.

295. The Justices, or their Officers or servants, may enter upon the land of any person adjoining to, or being within the distance of one hundred yards of any works by this Act authorized to be made, for the purpose of depositing upon such land, any soil, gravel, sand, lime, brick, stone, or other materials, or for any other purposes connected with the formation of the said works, without making any previous payment, tender, or deposit, doing as little damage as may be in the exercise of the several powers hereby granted to them, and making compensation for such temporary occupation of, or temporary damage to, the said land to the owner and occupier thereof, from time to time, and as often as any such temporary occupation shall be taken, or such temporary damage done, and making compensation to the owner also for the permanent injury (if any) to such land; and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Provided that, before the Justices make any such temporary use as aforesaid of any land adjoining or lying near to the said works, they shall give three days' notice of such their intention to the owner and occupier of such land, and shall set apart, by sufficient fences, so much of the land as shall be required to be used as aforesaid from the other land adjoining thereto.

296. For the purpose of laying pipes or constructing aqueducts for bringing water into the Town from any place without the limits thereof, or for the purpose of making sewers or drains to communicate with, or empty themselves into, any public sewer, lake, stream, canal, or water-course without the said limits, the Justices, their Officers, and servants may, whenever a plan for laying down any such pipes or constructing any such aqueduct, sewer, or drain, shall have been approved by the local Government, exercise, in the laying of such pipes and construction of such aqueduct, sewer, or drain throughout the line of country through which the said pipes, aqueduct, sewer, or drain, are to run, all the powers which by this Act they may exercise within the Town, and which may be necessary for the laying of such pipes, or the construction of such aqueduct, sewer, or drain, without being subject to any action or molestation whatever for so doing;

and the Magistrate of any district through which the said pipes, aqueduct, sewer, or drain, are to run, may exercise, in respect thereof, the like powers and jurisdiction within the limits of his own district as a Justice of the Peace may under this Act exercise in respect of any work to be executed by the Justices within the Town.

297. Whoever at any time obstructs or molests any person employed by the Justices (not being a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code), or any person with whom they may have contracted under the provisions of this Act, in the performance and execution of their or his duty, or of anything which they are respectively empowered or required to do by virtue or in consequence of this Act; or removes any mark set up for the purpose of indicating any level or direction necessary to the execution of works authorized by this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, or in the discretion of the Justice of the Peace before whom he is convicted, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two months.

PART II.—Of the Purchase and Sale of Land.

298. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may purchase land, whether within or without the Town, for any of the purposes of this Act, and may sell any land vested in them and not required for the purposes of this Act, or may dispose of the same on lease; and the Justices may receive the rent of the same on such terms as they may think fit.

299. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time pay rent for, or take on lease, on such terms as they may think fit, any land required for the purposes of this Act.

Justices may rent and take on lease land.

300. Any land required for the purposes of this Act may be acquired under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, and on payment by the Justices out of the Municipal Fund of the compensation payable under such Act, the land shall vest in them for the purposes of this Act.

Land may be acquired under Land Acquisition Act.

PART III.—Of Railways.

301. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, upon any of the public streets in the Town or upon any land within or without the said Town, which is vested in the Justices, construct or maintain any railway which to the Justices may appear to be useful or necessary for the purposes of this Act, and use and employ upon any such railway, by them heretofore constructed or hereafter to be constructed, such locomotive engines or other moving power and such carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, carry and convey upon such railway all such passengers and goods as shall be offered to them for that purpose, and make such reasonable charges in respect thereof as they may from time to time determine upon.

302. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, from time to time may enter into any contract with any person, for the passage over any railway already constructed by the Justices or hereafter to be constructed by them, of the engines, wagons, or other carriages of such person, upon the payment of such tolls or rent and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon.

Power to permit carriages to run on railway.

303. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may lease any railway constructed or to be constructed by them under the provisions hereinbefore contained to any person upon such terms and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon, and every person to whom any such railway shall be so leased by the Justices shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions as aforesaid, have all such and the same powers of maintaining the same, and for using and employing thereupon locomotive engines and other moving power, and carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and for carrying and conveying thereupon passengers, and goods, and making charges in respect thereof, as the Justices would have had if such railway had not been leased.

Power to lease railway.

The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, from time to time, enter into any contract with any person for the purpose of the construction of any railway within or without the Town, and for the purpose of maintaining and working of the same.

PART IV.—Of Hospitals.

304. The Justices may, in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, apply such sum as to them may seem proper in or towards the maintenance and support of such hospitals for such purposes as they may think fit.

Power to support hospitals.

CHAPTER XV.

OF THE MUNICIPAL DEBT.

305. For the construction of works of a permanent nature under this Act, the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, with the sanction of the Local Government, from time to time, borrow by way of debenture on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, or of a portion of them, and at such rate of interest, and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the Local Government may approve, any sums of money the Justices may require for the objects aforesaid.

306. All the debentures aforesaid, issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the sixth schedule, and shall be transferable by endorsement, and the right to sue in respect of the monies secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

Form of security.

307. The Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may at any time, with the sanction of the Local Government, raise, by the issue of new debentures, any money that may be required to pay any monies for the time being due on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed.

Payment of monies due on old debentures by issue of fresh debentures.

308. The Justices shall set aside yearly, out of their annual income, before making any disbursements in respect thereof, a sum of not less than two per cent. on the total sum borrowed by the Justices for the purposes of any enactment hereby expressly repealed, exclusive of the sum now due, or of any sum which may hereafter become due, by them to the Secretary of State for India in Council, and shall appropriate the same, so far as it is required or will extend, to repay the amount (if any) of such loans or debentures issued by them as shall fall due in the course of the year.

Establishment of reserve fund.

And they shall invest the surplus (if any) of the said sum after repayment as aforesaid, or in case there has not been any amount due or paid in respect of such loans or debentures during the year, then they shall invest the whole of the said sum in Government securities, or in any securities guaranteed by Government, or in Calcutta municipal debentures, in the names of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department and the Accountant-General of Bengal respectively for the time being, to be by them held as Trustees for the purpose of repaying at due date from time to time the several Surplus to be invested.

loans contracted or debentures issued by the Justices.

And all moneys and securities now held by any Trustees for the Justices for the purpose of paying off any sum borrowed by them, shall be held by them upon the trusts hereinbefore declared

All interest accruing due to the Trustees shall also from time to time be invested by them in like manner and held upon the like trust.

309. The Trustees shall from time to time, whenever any loans or debentures shall fall due by the Justices, realize the whole or a sufficient portion of the securities held by them as aforesaid, and appropriate the sale proceeds thereof, so far as the same will extend, to satisfy such loans or debentures.

310. The Trustees shall, at the end of every year, submit a statement to the Justices showing the amount which has been invested during the year under section three hundred and eight, and setting forth the date of the last investment made previous thereto, and also the aggregate amount of the securities then in their hands, and the aggregate amount which has up to the date thereof been paid off in respect of the said debentures and loans.

Such statement shall be laid before the Justices and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

CHAPTER XVI.

OF BYE-LAWS.

311. The Justices may from time to time make bye-laws, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, to regulate—

- (a) all matters and things connected with the supply and use of water;
- (b) the time and places of bathing for persons of each sex in places provided or set apart for bathing purposes;
- (c) the deposit of dirt, dust, filth, and refuse of any kind whatsoever, for removing and carrying away the same, and for charging the person making the deposit with the expenses of removing it;
- (d) the duties to be performed by tolah mehters under section two hundred and twenty-one, and the boundaries within which they are to be performed;
- (e) the management and charges for places provided for slaughter-houses under section two hundred and fifty-nine;
- (f) the inspection and management of and conduct of business in markets and slaughter-houses, and for keeping the same in a proper and cleanly state;
- (g) the inspection of places used for any of the purposes mentioned in section two hundred and sixty-eight, and for the management and conduct of business within the same;

- (h) the inspection and management of burial and burning grounds;
- (i) and generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

312. The Justices may from time to time And to repeal or alter them. repeal, alter, or add to their bye-laws.

313. No bye-law, and no repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall have effect until the same has been confirmed by the Local Government.

314. No bye-law, and no repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall be confirmed until the same has been published in the English and Bengalee Government Gazettes at least three times, nor till one month has elapsed from the date of the first publication, during which period a copy of such proposed bye-law, or the repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall be kept at the office of the Justices; and all persons may at any time between ten o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the afternoon inspect such copy without fee.

315. Every bye-law, and every repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law, when confirmed, shall be published in the English and Bengalee Government Gazettes, and a copy thereof in English and Bengali shall be painted or placed on boards, which shall be hung up in some conspicuous part of the office of the Justices.

316. Whoever infringes any bye-law made and confirmed under this Act shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

CHAPTER XVII.

OF PROSECUTIONS.

317. The Justices may direct any prosecution for any public nuisance whatsoever, and may order proceedings to be taken for the punishment of any person offending against any of the provisions of this Act, and for the recovery of any fines imposed under this Act, and may order the expenses of such prosecutions and proceedings to be paid out of the Municipal Fund. Provided that nothing herein contained shall preclude any person from instituting a prosecution for nuisance, or from giving information and instituting a prosecution under section three hundred and eighteen.

318. Every prosecution under this Act, except as provided in section three hundred and twenty, may be instituted before any Justice of the Peace;

and every fine imposed under this Act may be recovered by a summary proceeding before any Justice of the Peace upon an information exhibited by order of the Justices, and in default of payment of such fine, the same may be levied under the warrant of such Justice of the Peace by distress and sale of the moveable property of the offender, with all such powers for the issuing of such warrant, and upon the return thereof, as are exercised by a Magistrate of Police under the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the Police of the Town of Calcutta.

And if the fine cannot be so levied, the offender may be punished by such Justice of the Peace with rigorous or simple imprisonment, as provided in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term not exceeding two months.

319. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person shall not so appear, such Justice of the Peace may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

Such Justice of the Peace may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning, and enforcement of the attendance, of witnesses, and the production of documents, as are conferred on a Magistrate by the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the procedure of the Police Magistrates' Courts.

320. Every prosecution under section eighteen shall be instituted before such Magistrate or Court as would have jurisdiction to entertain a charge of the nature described in section 161 of the Indian Penal Code.

321. The Justice of the Peace by whom any fine is imposed under this Act, may award any portion, not being more than one-half thereof, to the informer, and shall order the remainder, or, if he make no award to the informer, the whole of such fine, to be paid to the Municipal Fund.

322. No person shall be liable to any fine under this Act for any offence cognizable by a Justice of the Peace unless the complaint respecting such offence shall have been made before a Justice of the Peace, within two months next after the commission of such offence:

Provided that the failure to take out any license under this Act shall be deemed to be a continuing offence until the expiration of the period for which such license is required to be taken out.

323. If through any act, neglect, or default on account whereof any person shall have been fined under this Act, any damage to the property of the Justices shall have been committed by such person, he shall be liable to make good such damage as well as to pay such fine;

and the amount of such damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Justice of the Peace by whom such person has been fined; and on default of payment of the amount of such damage on demand, the same may be levied in the same manner as a fine.

CHAPTER XVIII.

OF THE RECOVERY OF DAMAGES AND EXPENSES.

324. Where any damages, costs, or expenses, are by this Act directed to be paid, the amount and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by the Court of Small Causes.

Provided that when any work is executed by the Justices under this Act in default of the owner or occupier of the house or land doing such work, the expenses thereby incurred may be recovered by the Justices as a rate under Chapter VI.

325. In any case referred to the Court of Small Causes under this Act, the said Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, the said Court may hear and determine such question, and, for that purpose, may examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath; and the costs of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of the said Court, which shall determine the amount thereof.

326. If the amount of damages, costs, or expenses, ascertained in the manner above described, be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered, under a warrant of the said Court, by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

327. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, and in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or any part of any expenses, charges, or damages awarded under the provisions of this Act, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER XIX.

MISCELLANEOUS.

328. No suit shall be brought against the Justices, or any of their officers, or any person acting under their direction, for any thing done under this Act, until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the Office of the Justices, or at the place of abode of such person, stating the cause of suit, and the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff.

Unless such notice be proved, the Court shall find for the defendant.

Every such suit shall be commenced within three months next after accrual of the right to sue, and not afterwards.

If any person to whom any such notice of suit is given shall, before the suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover in any such action when brought; and if no such tender shall have been made, it shall be lawful for the defendant in such action, by leave of the Court where such action shall be pending, at any time before issue joined, to pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into Court.

329. The Justices may make compensation out of the Municipal fund to all persons sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers vested in the Justices, their officers, or servants under this Act.

330. When any license is granted under section two hundred and nineteen or two hundred and fifty-eight authorizing the use of any place for any of the purposes therein described, and when permission is given under section one hundred and eighty-seven for putting up any projection, the Justices may charge a fee not exceeding one hundred rupees for such license or permission.

When permission is given under section one hundred and seventy six to make any temporary erection, the Justices may charge a daily fee not exceeding one hundred rupees for such permission.

331. When permission is given under section one hundred and ninety or section two hundred and fifty-six, the Justices may charge rent for any land made use of in pursuance of such permission.

332. Every person to whom a license has been granted under this Act shall, at all reasonable times while such license shall remain in force, if thereunto required by the Justices, or by any person authorized by them in that behalf, produce such license to the Justices, or to the person so authorized.

333. Whoever fails to produce his license when required to do so as aforesaid, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

334. Every notice, bill, form, summons, or notice of demand under this Act may be served personally on or presented to the person to whom the same is addressed, or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or at his place of business with some clerk of the office, or if it cannot be so served or presented, may be put on some conspicuous part of his place of abode, or of his place of business, or of the house or land in respect of which the notice, bill, form, summons, or notice of demand is intended to be served.

335. Where any notice is required to be given to the owner or occupier of any house or land, such notice addressed to the owner or occupier, as the case may require, may be served on the occupier of such house or land, or otherwise in the manner in the last preceding section mentioned.

Provided that when the owner and his place of abode are known to the Justices, they shall, if such place of abode be within the limits of their authority, cause every notice required to be given to the owner of any house or land to be served on such owner or left with some adult male member or servant of his family, and if the place of abode of the owner be not within such limits, they shall send every such notice by post addressed to his place of abode, and the same shall be deemed to be good service of the notice.

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him as "the owner" or "the occupier" of the house or land in respect of which the notice is served.

336. Whenever any work is required by this Act to be executed by the owner or occupier of any house or land, and default is made in the execution of such work, the Justices, whether any penalty is or is not provided for such default, may cause such work to be executed; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such work ought to have been executed, and in default of payment thereof the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI.

337. If the defaulter, as mentioned in the last preceding section, be the owner of any house or land, the Justices may, by way of additional remedy, whether any suit or proceeding has been brought or taken against any such owner or not, require the payment of all or any part of the expenses payable by the owner for the time being, from the person who then, or at any time thereafter, occupies the house or land under such owner, and in default of payment thereof by such occupier on demand, the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI;

338. No occupier of any house or land shall be liable to pay more money, in respect of any expenses charged by this Act on the owner thereof, than the amount of rent due from him, for the house or land in respect of which such expenses are payable, at the time of the demand made upon him, or which at any time after such demand has accrued and become payable by him, unless he neglect or refuse, upon a requisition made to him for that purpose by the Justices, truly to disclose the amount of his rent and the name and address of the person to whom such rent is payable;

but nothing in this section shall affect any special contract made between any such owner or occupier, respecting the payment of the expenses of any such works as aforesaid.

339. Whenever default is made by the owner of any house or land, in the execution of any work required to be executed by him, the occupier of such Payment out of Municipal Fund for damage done by the Justices.

Fees for licenses under sections 219 and 258 and for permission given under section 187.

Daily fee for permission given under section 176.

Rent may be charged for permission in certain cases.

Every person to produce license if required.

Penalty.

How notice, &c., may be served.

Service of notice on owners and occupiers of houses and land.

Justices, in default of owner or occupier, may execute works and recover expenses.

Power to levy charges on occupier, who may deduct the same from his rent.

Occupier not to be liable for more than the amount of rent due.

Occupier, in default of owner, may execute works and deduct expenses from his rent.

house or land may, with the approval of the Justices, cause such work to be executed, and the expense thereof shall be paid to him by the owner, or the amount may be deducted out of the rent from time to time becoming due from him to such owner.

340. If the occupier of any house or land prevent the owner thereof from carrying into effect, in respect of such house or land, any of the provisions of this Act, after notice of his intention so to do has been given by the owner to such occupier, any Justice of the Peace may, in writing, require such occupier to permit the owner to execute all such works, with respect to such house or land, as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect;

and if after the expiration of eight days from the date of the order such occupier continue to refuse to permit such owner to execute such works, every such owner, during the continuance of the refusal, shall be discharged from liability to any fines to which he might otherwise have become liable by reason of default in executing such works.

341. Whoever, being the occupier of any house or land, fails to comply with any requisition made by a Justice of the Peace under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

342. No tax or rate on property made under this Act shall be invalid for defect of form, and it shall be enough in any such tax or rate, or any assessment of value for the purpose of making such tax or rate, if the property rated or assessed is so described as to be generally known, and it shall not be necessary to name the owner or occupier thereof.

343. Whenever the Justices shall have incurred any expenses in the execution of any of the works which under sections one hundred and seventy-seven, two hundred and forty-five, two hundred and forty-seven, two hundred and forty-nine, and two hundred and fifty-one, the owners of any houses or lands are required to execute, the Justices may either recover the amount of such expenses in the manner therein provided, or if they think fit, may take engagements from the said owner, for the quarterly payment of such sums as will be sufficient to defray the whole amount of the said expenses, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum, within a period not exceeding five years, and such sums, when due, may be recovered as rates under Chapter VI.

344. All Police Officers shall give immediate information to the Justices of any offence committed against this Act.

Any Police Officer may arrest any person committing in his view any offence against this Act, if the name and address of such person be unknown to him, or if such person decline to give his name and address, or if the Police Officer shall have reason to doubt the accuracy of such name and address, if given.

And such person may be detained at the Station House until his name and address shall be correctly ascertained, or may be brought up at once before a Justice of the Peace.

345. If the Local Government shall have determined that any portion of the environs of the Town shall be included in the system of sewerage and drainage authorized by this Act, and if the Local Government shall have declared the boundaries thereof by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, then sections one hundred and ninety-two to two hundred and eleven both inclusive, shall have effect within the boundaries so declared;

and all such expenses and compensation as, under the said sections and by the provisions of this Act, may be determined by the Court of Small Causes, may be ascertained and determined by any Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction within such boundaries; and all fines payable in respect of such sections, and under this Act, shall be enforced in the manner prescribed by section 307 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by the Magistrate having jurisdiction within such boundaries.

346. Houses used exclusively for purposes of public worship shall be exempt from all rates and taxes which under this Act may be imposed upon houses and land within the Town.

347. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to

(a) render lawful any act or omission on the part of any person, which, but for this Act, would by law be deemed to be a nuisance;

(b) exempt any person guilty of nuisance from a suit in respect thereof;

(c) affect any enactment not hereby expressly repealed.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE JUTE WAREHOUSE ACT IN HOWRAH DURING THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 301, dated Burdwan, the 22nd June 1875.

Memo. by—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

COPY forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Judicial Department for information.

Dated Howrah, the 9th June 1875.

From—F. W. V. PETERSON, Esq., C.S., Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners of Howrah,

To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

IN accordance with the provisions of section 31 of Act II of 1872 (B.C.), I have the honor to submit the following report on the working of the Jute Warehouses, Warehouses and Fire Brigade Act in this Municipality for the official year ending 31st March 1875.

2. During the year there were 52 Jute and Cotton Warehouses in the town, but only 28 of these were licensed, 9 were used only for storing screwed jute and cotton, and 15 were not used at all. A classified statement of the licensed Jute Warehouses is given in the Appendix A. annexed hereto.

3. Two new Jute Warehouses were constructed, of which the plans were submitted to the Commissioners in accordance with section 7 of the Act, and the buildings having been found to possess the requirements laid down in the law, were passed.

4. The total income during the year amounted to Rs. 13,482-10-9, of which the following are details :—

			Rs.	A.	P.
Balance of funds on 1st April 1874	3,802	1	9
License fees*	8,675	0	0
Fines†	440	0	0
Proceeds of sale of Fire Brigade stock‡	260	0	0
Refunds	305	9	0
Total	13,482	10	9

5. The Commissioners anticipated a net income of Rs. 15,000 during the year, the estimate being based on the fees leviable on all the warehouses in the town that were used for jute and cotton purposes, but, as explained before, a large number of them (chiefly screw-houses) were not licensed. The reason for this was that many steam presses were set up which undertook the work at much lower rates than the hand screws, and also pressed bales of cotton and jute to smaller dimensions, for which better prices were secured in the market. It appears, too, that from some cause or other there was a very great decrease in the jute trade during the year under report. It was the same with the cotton trade, so far as this part of the country was concerned, and the explanation offered of this is that the merchants found it more convenient and economical to send this material to Bombay for shipment than to bring it down here and ship in Calcutta.

6. The expenditure on the inspection of Jute Warehouses amounted to Rs. 3,096-11, which is made up as follows :—

			Rs.	A.	P.
Special Committee's inspection fees	144	0	0
	Inspection	Establishment.
1 Inspector	2,730	0	0
2 Peons	164	15	3
Contingencies	57	11	9
Total	3,096	11	0

7. Appendix B contains the prosecutions instituted under the Act.

8. From the statement of prosecutions, it will be perceived that the number of cases is small as compared with that of the previous year; this is owing to the simple fact that traders were more careful, and did not turn every 8th or 10th shop into a jute depôt as they did in the preceding year, and for which 17 of them were fined.

9. The operation of the Jute Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act* came into practical effect in Howrah in August 1873, i. e. it was from that date that the Commissioners commenced to derive an income from this source.

10. As stated in the last report, the Commissioners possessed one large and one small engine. During the year 3 more were purchased and brought out from England at a cost of Rs. 3,163-15-8, which amount was paid out of the balance of the funds of the preceding year; thus raising to five the number of efficient engines at the disposal of the Municipality.

11. The organization of a regular brigade commenced in April 1874, when the following staff was appointed :—

- 1 Coachman,
- 2 Syces, and
- 28 Khalassees.

Subsequently, on the arrival of the new engines from England, a complete establishment was entertained, consisting of—

- 1 Foreman,
- 4 Tindals,
- 44 Khalassees,
- 2 Coachmen, and
- 4 Syces.

12. Four fire-engine stations were established in the town: one at each of the three police stations, consisting of one small engine, worked and drawn by 8 men and one tindal, and one at the office, consisting of the large engine, drawn by horses, and worked by 20 men and a tindal, and of one small auxiliary engine.

13. When the station at the office was first opened, two pairs of horses were maintained—one to draw the van containing the men, and the other the fire-engine. This arrangement was, however, found to be very expensive, and steps were at once taken to make alterations in the carriage of the large engine, so as to accommodate all the men. The engine was handed over to Messrs. Barn and Company, and the necessary alterations were carried out by them at a cost of Rs. 150. With this improved arrangement one pair of horses was found sufficient, and accordingly the Commissioners disposed of the second pair.

* Of this, the sum of Rs. 100 was for the arrears of the previous year.

† Of this amount Rs. 110 appertained to the preceding year, and Rs. 330 to this year.

‡ For an explanation of this item see para. 13.

14. As soon as a full brigade was formed, all the men were systematically trained for the work, and the stations were regularly visited by the foreman.

15. A fire-watch was regularly kept up at the top of the kutchery building which commanded an extensive view of the town, and information of all fires was promptly given to the several stations. An abstract shewing the number of fires (together with certain information regarding them) which occurred during the year is given in Appendix C.

16. The following is an abstract of the expenditure in the Fire-brigade Department during the year :—

I.—Establishment.

	Rs.	As.	P.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 10th July 1875.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN.	1 Burdwan, July 12,* '75	2.30	Rainfall at Culna 3.01, Cutwa .84, Bood-bood 1.01, Rancegunge 0.59, Jehanabad 0.44 inches. Prospects of crops fair as before.
	2 Bankoora, „ 10, „	2.68	Rain fell during the first part of the week; dry since the 7th instant. Rain very much wanted. Transplantation of the hemanti , or late rice, is progressing, but slowly for want of rain.
	3 Beerbhoom, „ 10, „	1.85	Showery weather. State and prospects of crops continue good.
	4 Midnapore, „ 10, „	5.37	Constant rain during the first four days of the week, and sunshine for the last three days. Thus far the season is all that could be desired. The fall of rain had been a little excessive, but now there seems to be a break in the wet weather, just when it was required.
	5 Hooghly, „ 10, „	2.01	Fine the last three days. State and prospects of crops are very good indeed. The fine weather of the last three days is very favorable. Health fair.
	Howrah, „ 10, „	5.37	There has been heavy rain during the week. All crops are in a satisfactory condition.
Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6 24-Pergunnahs, July 12,† '75	3.31	Weather rainy during the first four days; latterly sunny and hot. Weather favorable to crops. Early rice and jute look promising. Transplantation of the aman , or late rice, progressing very fairly. Fever decreasing at Barrapore. A few cases of cholera reported from Busseerhat, and a case of small pox from Sathkera.
	7 Nudda, „ 10, „	4.17	Moderate rain. The rice is promising everywhere, and the weather has been favorable during the week. The prospects of indigo are poor.
	8 Jessore, „ 10, „	2.18	Weather partly clear and partly cloudy; moderate rain. Wind generally from south-east. State and prospects of crops continue good.
	9 Moorshedabad, „ 10, „	0.18	There has not been much rain during the week; character of weather therefore is very hot and oppressive. Paddy plants look healthy and promising. Sugar cane good; indigo and mulberry pretty fair. Prices much the same as last week. Cholera prevalent in Soojangunge, Gorabazar, and Gokurn.
RAJSHAHIE DIVN.	10 Dinagepore, „ 9, „	1.45	Not much rain. Sun hot. Wind for the last three days south-south-west. Progress in all the matters noted in the last report. Present prospects of everything are favorable.
	11 Maldah, „ 10, „	1.18	Weather cloudy and cooler, with occasional rain. A moderate bhadon , or early autumn rice crop, is expected. The indigo crop is fair.
	12 Rajshahye, „ 10, „	.79	There has been no rain for the last few days, and the weather has been warm. Transplanting of rice has commenced in Tannore and Godagattee. The general cessation of rain for some days is not favorable, but no injury has yet resulted. More rain is very desirable. Jute in the north of the district is doing well, and indigo is being cut. There is no sickness.
	13 Rungpore, „ 9, „	.17	Weather very hot and oppressive; a little rain has fallen. The few showers have done good to the crops, but now more rain is called for in places to south and west.
	14 Bogra, „ 10, „	.23	Weather fair. Rain is urgently wanted, and if there be no rainfall soon the crops will suffer.
	15 Pubna, „ 10, „	1.16	Nearly all the rain fell on the 3rd; since then the weather has been hot, with occasional light showers. The cutting of the aus , or early rice, has commenced. The prospects of the aman or late rice, and jute, are good. The Padma has risen, and is flowing into the Ichamutty. Public health is generally good, but there are many cases of fever of a mild type in the town of Pubna.

* Telegram of the 12th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 12th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.—(Contd.)
Central Districts.—(Contd.)
COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	16 Darjeeling, July 10, '75	4.45	Weather wet; rain fell almost daily, with occasional sunshine. All the crops are progressing favorably. In the terai the keotee dhan , or winter rice, is being sown. In the hills the bhoota , or maize crop, is ripening.
	17 Julpigoree, „ 10, „	5.58	The weather has been unusually hot, and rain was beginning to be needed, when, on the morning of the 9th instant, there was a very heavy fall (4.10), and it has been raining since that day. Early rice is in ear; in some few places it is being cut; and is a full crop. Transplanting of the late rice still goes on, and the crop promises well. Jute is a fair crop all round. Cholera disappearing.
	Cooch Behar, „ 8, „	4.22	Some heavy showers during the first two days of the week; the weather then cleared up. There has been no change in the favorable prospects of the early rice and jute crops.
Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN.	18 Dacca, July 12,* '75	0.05	Weather fine, with occasional showers. State of crops good.
	19 Fureedpore, „ 10, „	0.18	Weather clear during the week, with occasional rain. The inundation is fairly advancing. The rice crops are doing well. The general health of the district continues good.
	20 Backergunge, „ 8, „	2.69	All is well save that cattle-disease is still present in the thanas of Bowfal, Gola-chipa, Gulsakhali, Dowlat Khan, and Baranaddi.
	21 Mymensingh, „ 9, „	0.79	Rain has been much less this week all over the district. Weather on the whole is clear at Mymensingh, but reported cloudy in the sub-divisions. The aus , or early rice, is being reaped in parts of the district. Transplantation of the roa , or late rice seedlings, has begun. The bawa crop, as already reported, seems to have been much injured by the rains.
CHITTAGONG DIVN.	22 Chittagong, „ 8, „	.78	Weather very suitable; some rain, and a good deal of hot sunshine. Progress of cultivation is good.
	23 Noakholly, „ 8, „	4.19	Weather cloudy. Heavy showers on the 3rd and 5th instant. Wind occasionally strong in the early part of the week. The early rice crops are going on well. The transplantation of the late rice crop continues.
	24 Tipperah, „ 9, „	.37	Rainfall at Brahmanberiah 2.80 inches. Weather hot, close, and sultry; only slight rain during one night in the week in the sudder division. The winter crops in the low lands have been somewhat damaged in the sub-division of Brahmanberiah in the north, and in Thana Chaghalnaya in the south-east; no other damage reported. The aus , or early rice, is in good condition.
	25 Chittagong Hill Tracts, „ 6, „	2.66	Rain throughout the whole week. Jooming nearly finished. The young paddy and cotton in the jooms are thriving well. Prospects good.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 7, „	2.9	Showers of rain frequent throughout the week, but not heavy. Weather seasonable and favorable for the crops. Small-pox has broken out amongst the hill people in the Koilashur sub-division.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN.	26 Patna, „ 12,* „	.15	Weather partly cloudy and partly clear; hot sun for the last two days. Prospects of bhadoi crops are excellent owing to abundance of rain. Cholera still prevalent, but is fast decreasing.
	27 Gyn, „ 10, „	.40	Weather warmer, and less rain than last week. Highest reading of dry maximum thermometer during the week was 95 degrees. In Nawadah and Jehanabad sub-divisions the rainfall has been 2.47 and 1.94 inches respectively. Prospects of all crops are favorable. Cholera decreasing.
	28 Shahabad, „ 10, „	0.65	The weather was rainy at first, but afterwards it became very close, with occasional showers. The bhadoi crops have been mostly sown. Murma millet is being transplanted out. What rice has been sown has germinated, but all the rice land is not yet sown. The lull in the rains has permitted ploughing.
	29 Durbhunga, „ 10, „	2.07	Alternate rain and sunshine. At Madhubanee no rain fell during the week, and is reported that unless rain falls in the next week, serious damage to the young crops will ensue. Elsewhere the rainfall has been sufficient, and prospects are favorable.

* Telegram of the 12th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR —(Contd.)
PATNA DIV. —(Contd.)	30 Mozufferpore, July 10, '75	23	Very hot weather; little rain fell. The rainfall in Hajeeopore sub-division during the week was 1.25, and in Seetamurhee .60. More rain is wanted everywhere. Transplantation of paddy is going on rapidly, and bhadoi crops are progressing well.
	31 Sarun, „ 10, „	.99	Weather close and sultry; some rain has fallen. Both east and west wind. Cloudy at the time of report. There has been a break in the weather. Ploughing and sowing going on briskly. Bhadoi fields are being weeded. Manufacture of indigo going on. State and prospects of crops are favorable. General health good. Cholera abating.
	32 Chumparan, „ 9, „	0.6	Rain is wanted in some parts of the district, especially in the south-west. If the rain which was falling at the time of report has extended throughout the district, it will do much good. The prospects of the crops are at present good.
BHAGULPORE DIV.	33 Monghyr, „ 10, „	3.35	Weather cloudy, with occasional showers. Dry weather and some sunshine are now required. Report from sub-divisions is good.
	34 Bhagulpore, „ 12, „	3.18	Rain has fallen during the week, but it is much wanted in Muddelpoora and Soopool sub-divisions both for bhadoi crops and aghani , or late rice, transplantation. Prospects of crops are very good in the Sudder and Banka sub-divisions. General health is very good, except in Muddelpoora, where fever is said to be prevalent.
	35 Purneah, „ 10, „	0.38	Weather hot and close; occasional storms from the east. Rain is much wanted for the transplanting of the late rice. The fall this week has been very small.
	36 Southal Pergas „ 10, „	2.66	Alternating heavy rain and hot sun. State and prospects of crops are excellent everywhere.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION	37 Cuttack		Return not received
	38 Pooree, „ 9, „	2.22	Weather cloudy and hot. Cultivation after sowing of the late rice crop has begun, and the early rice crop is being weeded with fair prospects. Miscellaneous crops are getting on well. There is some cholera.
	39 Balasore, „ 9, „	2.12	Rainfall at Bhudruk 2.99 inches. The young crop is well grown. The process of earthing up has commenced. A good many cases of cholera reported from all parts of the district.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
	40 Hazareebagh, July 9, '75	5.01	Seasonable weather. The past week of general fine weather has benefited the crops, but they are still very backward. The ensuing week will determine whether the bhadoi crop will be a failure or otherwise.
	41 Loharungga, „ 10, „	5.58	Very wet weather. The bhadoi crop have been slightly damaged in Chota Nagpore Proper by the continued heavy rain, and some fine weather is now required. In Palamow prospects are most favorable. Small-pox and cholera still prevalent, particularly the latter, in Palamow.
	42 Singbhoon, „ 9, „	2.92	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are very favorable. District is healthy.
	43 Maunbhoon, „ 10, „	4.65	Weather generally favorable, especially for seedling paddy. The Gobindpore sub-divisional officer still reports fear of the Indian-corn and other rubbee crops owing to excessive rain.

* Telegram of the 12th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer, 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 19th July 1875.

READ—

A memorandum (No. 2261, dated 8th July 1875,) from the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, submitting an application for a loan of Rs. 7,000, required by the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee under the provisions of the Local Public Works Loan Act of 1871.

WHEREAS it appears probable to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal that the loan of Rs. 7,000 (seven thousand) applied for by the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee should be granted,

It is hereby ordered that the application be published in the Calcutta Gazette, as required by the fifth of the rules passed by the Governor-General in Council under section 4 of the Local Public Works Loan Act XXIV of 1871, and published on the 15th of October 1873:—

Application to the Government of Bengal for a loan to the Manbhoom District Road Fund Commissioners, made under the provisions of the Local Public Works Loan Act XXIV of 1871.

THE work for which the loan is applied for is the completion of the turfing of certain embankments thrown up on the several roads of the Manbhoom district during last year, at a cost, in round figures, of Rs. 1,25,000, in order to permanently protect the embankments. The work is of public utility, and for the benefit of the general community dwelling within the local limits of the District Road Fund Commissioners.

2. The amount of loan applied for is Rs. 7,000.

3. The cesses on the security of which this loan is applied for are those levied in the Manbhoom district under the Road Cess Act X of 1871, which, from and after the 1st October 1875, are estimated to realize about Rs. 36,000 per annum.

4. The loan is required in one lump sum, and on the earliest possible date. It is proposed to repay the loan in one lump sum on the 30th September 1876.

5. The income and expenditure of the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee during each of the years 1871-72, 1872-73, and 1873-74, is shown in the following schedule:—

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—The following rules for the guidance of Revenue Officers in certain matters connected with the enforcement of the Land Acquisition Act X of 1870, have been sanctioned by the Governor-General of India in Council, and are published for general information, in conformity with section 59 of the Act, and in supersession of the rules published at page 1921 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of November 1870:—

WHEREAS the basis of compensation to be awarded for revenue-paying lands taken up under the provisions of Act X of 1870 is intended by the said Act to be the actual price for which the land, subject to all its burdens, and among others to the burden of the payment of land revenue, would sell in the market, it is necessary that the exact amount of the revenue demand should be ascertained and recorded before the award of compensation can be determined; and whereas under the provisions of the existing law the revenue authorities, and none other, can regulate the amount of the revenue charge to be enforced against an estate, or a portion of an estate; and whereas some of the rules already promulgated under section 59 of the said Act proceed on assumptions which are at variance with the principle above enunciated, the following revised rules are issued by the Government of Bengal, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, in supersession of those previously in force:—

I.—Wherever any revenue-paying land shall be acquired under the Act, the proprietor shall, except as provided in Rule VI, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

II.—In such cases the Collector shall, before making a tender, or a reference to a court regarding compensation, ascertain in accordance with the following rule, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in event of a reference being made to a court, furnish the court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

III.—If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

IV.—If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules:—

1st.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of commencement of proceedings for acquisition of any land situate thereon, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under division under Regulation XIX of 1814, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or division proceedings.

2nd.—When there may have been no such settlement or division as aforesaid, then if the area of the estate is known with accuracy, the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the area of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the area of the whole estate.

3rd.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e. the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

V.—In determining the amount of compensation to be tendered, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land is acquired subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

VI.—In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount tendered on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed more than one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion, on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate without abatement; provided that in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e. the tender of compensation, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at 12 years' purchase, the capitalised value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than 12 years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

VII.—When there is any doubt whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall, before making the reference to the court, which under the circumstances he would be required to make by section 15 of the Act, determine the amount of revenue which would be deemed payable in respect of the land acquired, in the event of the land being adjudged by the court to be a portion of the revenue paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

VIII.—To enable the Collector to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 42 of the Act, and to enable him to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 24 of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land, and also the specific portion of the compensation which he may award for any houses, trees, or crops upon the land.

IX.—The procedure laid down for a reference under section 15 shall be held applicable to a reference under section 43.

X.—The procedure to be followed in the apportionment of the compensation awarded on account of lands taken up for temporary occupation shall be in accordance with the provisions of Part IV of the Act.

XI.—On the date on which payment of compensation in any case may become due under section 41 of the Act, the Collector shall tender the amount to such of the persons entitled to receive it as may be present at his office in person, or by agent duly authorized to receive the same, informing them at the same time that in the event of their refusal to accept the amount tendered, no claim to interest will be entertained. Should any such person be absent and have no authorized agent at the Collector's court, the Collector shall serve a notice upon him, calling upon him to attend in person or by agent, within one week of his receipt of the notice, to receive the amount due to him; and warning him that on failure to appear within the period abovenamed no interest whatever will be paid to him. Should such person neglect to appear within the time specified, the Collector shall, on being satisfied of the due service of the notice, invest the amount of the compensation money due to such person in Government securities, and hold the same in deposit until the amount shall be applied for by the person entitled to it.

On the application of such person, the Collector shall give him the option of receiving the Government securities plus any cash balance which has been too small for investment, or the sum which would have been paid to him had he come according to notice. The Collector shall follow the same course in regard to any compensation money which may be refused by a person entitled to receive it, provided that such investment shall be limited to even sums of Rs. 500, or multiples of Rs. 500. The amount of compensation, if less than Rs. 500, and any fractional part, if the compensation is above that sum, shall be held by the Collector in deposit.

READ—

RESOLUTION.—Questions having recently arisen as to the extent to which officers in the service of Government are permitted to connect themselves with the Press, the Governor-General in Council thinks it desirable that the existing orders on the subject should be clearly understood :—

I.—No officer in the service of Government is permitted, without the previous sanction in writing of the Government under which he immediately serves, to become the proprietor, either in whole or in part, of any newspaper or periodical publication, or to edit or manage any such newspaper or publication. Such sanction will only be given in the case of newspapers or publications mainly devoted to the discussion of topics not of a political character, such for instance as art, science, or literature. The sanction will be liable to be withdrawn at the discretion of the Government.

II.—Officers in the service of Government are not prohibited from contributing to the public Press; but their position makes it incumbent upon them to confine themselves within the limits of temperate and reasonable discussion, and they are prohibited from making public, without the previous sanction of Government, any documents, papers, or information of which they may become possessed in their official capacity. These rules have been hitherto in most cases honorably observed. In case of a departure from them, or if the Government should consider the connexion of any officer with the Press to be contrary to the public interests, his liberty to contribute will be withdrawn.

III.—The Government of India will decide, in case of doubt, whether any engagements of officers with the Press are consistent with the discharge of their duties to the Government.

IV.—Nothing in this Resolution is intended to relax the provisions of any regulations on this subject which now apply to the Army.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, and circulated to Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

No. 609.—The 9th July 1875.—Establishments—Mr. G. Graham and Mr. W. T. Martin, of Her Majesty's Bengal Civil Service, have been granted by the Secretary of State for India one month's extension of leave on medical certificate, and one year's extension of furlough respectively.

NOTIFICATION.

The 15th July 1875.—Under section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1871, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to approve of the following revised Registration Rules, and to direct that they may be substituted for those now bearing the same numbers, and which were published at page 1444 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th December 1873.

86. Except in rural offices in the charge of Sub-Registrars unacquainted with English, all indexes shall be kept in that language, and shall be prepared in accordance with Rules 87—93.

94. In rural offices in the charge of Sub-Registrars unacquainted with English, the indexes shall be kept in the vernacular, the names being merely arranged according to their first letters. Rules 83, 84, 85, 89, 90, and 92 above, apply to indexes in the vernacular. In all rural offices, one copy of indexes I, II, and III shall be made for office use in a bound volume, and a duplicate of the entries made each month shall be submitted at its close to the Sub-Registrar at sub-divisional head-quarters. In the head-quarters sub-division, and wherever the sub-divisional system has not yet been introduced, the duplicate will be sent to the Registrar.

95. The Sub-Registrar, on receiving vernacular indexes I and II from rural Sub-Registrars, shall translate the same and incorporate them in his own indexes, noting the place of registration of each document; English indexes he shall directly incorporate in his own. He shall also, at the end of each year, or at such shorter intervals as the Registrar shall direct, prepare, on hand-laid medium paper, a copy of the incorporated index and submit it to the Registrar.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—It is hereby notified for general information that under Section 85 of Act III (B.C.) of 1864, the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to approve of and confirm the following—

Bye-laws prepared and passed by the Municipal Commissioners of Dacca, for the Regulation and Cleansing of Private Privies and Premises situated within the limits of that Town.

Whenever it shall appear to the Municipal Commissioners to be advisable that they should, through servants appointed by them, undertake the disposal of night-soil of any portion or portions of the town of Dacca, they shall give public notice, by advertisement or otherwise, that they will, from and after a certain date, not less than one month after date of issue of notice, undertake the disposal thereof, subject to such conditions as may seem fit.

2. The Municipal Commissioners shall, after giving notice as aforesaid, make arrangements for the removal of all night-soil from all private privies within such portion or portions of the town as aforesaid.

3. Any person who wishes to undertake the cleaning of his own premises may apply to the Municipal Commissioners for exemption from the above rule. If the Municipal Commissioners are satisfied that the applicant is competent to make arrangements for cleaning his own premises, they may exempt him from the operation of the above bye-law. Occupiers of privies who have not been so exempted shall pay to the Municipal Commissioners quarterly in advance, at the following rates per mensem, viz. eight annas per mensem if the house occupied along with the privy be built in whole or in part of burned bricks, and two annas per mensem if it be not so built, in accordance with the provisions of Section 11 of Act VII of 1870.

4. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises liable to the rate, shall give free access to the servants of the municipality to his house, land, or premises for the removal of any night-soil or filth, within such hours as may have been fixed on by the Municipal Commissioners.

5. Every person shall construct his privy above ground, and shall provide his privy or premises with a suitable moveable receptacle of tin, iron, or earthenware.

Penalty for infringement after notice, Rs. 20.

6. No householder having made payment as aforesaid shall, during the continuance of the period for which such payment has been made, be subject to any domiciliary visit of inspection of his privy or premises by any overseer or other officer of the municipality unless he neglects to comply with the provisions of bye-law 5: provided always that any overseer or other officer of the municipality shall be at liberty to inspect any privy or premises during the hours fixed for the removal of night-soil.

7. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, the disposal of whose night soil the municipality may not have undertaken, shall, after 6 hours' notice, give free access to his house, land, or premises to any officer, not under the rank of an overseer, who may wish to inspect the same, within such hours as the municipality may from time to time determine.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 5.

8. On receipt of a notice from the Municipal Commissioners, every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises, in or on which any well, privy, or other noxious or improperly constructed privy may be situated, shall fill up, close, or otherwise alter the construction of the said privy as may be directed in the notice; and if the orders contained in the notice be not carried out within 15 days, the Commissioners may fill up, close, or otherwise alter the said privy, and any expense incurred in so doing shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

9. No owner or occupier of any house, land or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, shall allow night-soil or filth of any kind to flow or be discharged from such privy into any drain, water-course, river, tank, hollow, or excavation (or any place containing waste and stagnant water), or into any other receptacle but one of the nature described in bye-law 5.

10. No person shall throw, deposit, or discharge any night-soil, sewage, or the contents of any drain, privy, or cesspool, into any river, tank, khal, water-course, or receptacle for water, or dispose of the above-mentioned kinds of offensive matters in any other way than as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 20.

11. The Municipal Commissioners may direct the use of lime, coal-tar, carbolic acid, or other deodorants or disinfectants in any privy or premises if at any time it seem to them necessary for the preservation of public health, or for the prevention of infection or spread of disease: provided that the Municipal Commissioners shall be bound to supply such deodorants, &c., at cost price, and the price shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

12. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to charge a fee, at a rate to be fixed hereafter by the Municipal Commissioners, according to circumstances, for the reception of night-soil to be deposited at their depôts by any mehter or person other than their own servants, and such fee shall be paid in advance for not less than one month. Unless such charge be paid, the soil will not be received.

13. No person shall carry night-soil through the streets otherwise than in a closely covered receptacle, of such description and pattern as shall be required from time to time by the Municipal Commissioners, and between such hours as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

NOTIFICATION.

The 13th July 1875 —Whereas it appears that Buxa, the present temporary head-quarters of the Western Dooars sub-division, in the Julpigoree district, is situated some 2,000 feet above the plains on the lower ranges of the hills, at the foot of which, too, there is an extensive forest, and that this position is inconvenient and unfavorable for the agricultural inhabitants of the Dooars who live in the plains, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct the removal of the head-quarters of the sub-division from Buxa to Alipore, which is situated in the plains, near the bank of the river Kalyani, and is central between the eastern and western boundaries of the sub-division.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—Under Section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1871, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to approve of the following amended rules of the Registration Rules published at pages 1438 and 628 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th December 1873 and 25th March 1874, in modification of Rules 125, 129, and 145 :—

Rule 125.—A permanent advance, not exceeding Rs. 200, will be allowed for each District Registrar on account of (1) contingencies, (2) service postage, and (3) refund of registration fees; but he need not draw the full advance of Rs. 200 where his ordinary expenses fall much below that amount. The Registrar will apportion the amount drawn according to the requirements of each subordinate office, care being taken that for Rural Offices a sum is allowed sufficient to meet charges for refunds only; while in the case of other Sub-Registry Offices, it should be such as to cover charges for contingencies as well as refunds. In cases of the dismissal or death of Rural Sub-Registrars, the District Registrar will be held responsible for the amount of the advances made by him. At the close of each official year the District Registrar will send an acknowledgment of the entire advance to the Accountant-General, Bengal, in A. G. B. form No. 151, of which a supply should be kept at hand.

Rule 129.—All official letters and covers sent by post from any Sub-Registry or District Registry office must be prepaid by service labels. These labels will be supplied to Sub-Registrars (on application) by District Registrars, who will disallow unreasonable and excessive demands. A monthly statement of the distribution of service labels should be submitted by each District Registrar for the information of the Inspector-General. The cost of these labels will be met from the consolidated advance mentioned in Rule 125. All bills for bearing covers must be accompanied by the covers on which the payments were made as vouchers. Service labels will be purchased by District Registrars as they require them, the expenditure being included in their monthly contingent bill, supported by the Treasury Officer's receipt as vouchers.

Rule 132.—The advance received by a Sub-Registrar will never be repaid into the Treasury, but recouped from time to time, when necessary, by the submission to the Registrar of an abstract bill or bills supported by needful vouchers. On the first Office day after the 25th March in each year, the officer receiving the advance will forward an acknowledgment of its receipt to the District Registrar. Whenever there is a change of incumbency, the relieving officer shall also address to the Registrar an acknowledgment in the following form :—

To the Registrar of

relieved officer.
relieving officer.

And I the relieving officer acknowledge to have received Rupees of the permanent advance of Rupees , and that the full amount of such advance is due from and to be accounted for by me.

Dated the 18 .
relieving officer.

Rule 145.—When the expenditure during any month on account of contingencies, service postage, and refunds, in any Registrar's Office exceeds the amount of the permanent advance, the amount expended may be drawn by an abstract bill or bills (see Accountant-General's form No. 119) submitted during the month under the Registrar's signature. But in such cases a detailed bill (see Accountant-General's form No. 138), accompanied by vouchers, must also be submitted to the Inspector-General at the end of the month.

The Hymns of the Rig-Veda, in the Samhita and Pada Text, by Professor F. Max Müller, M.A., in two Volumes. Price Rs. 24; packing and postage, Re. 1-12.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholarlike knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend Act XI of 1849, Act XXI of 1856, and Act XXIII of 1860, together with the amended Bill, is by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, to which the Bill to amend Act XI of 1849, Act XXI of 1856, and Act XXIII of 1860 was referred, have the honor to make the following report :—

Memorial of the Bengal Temperance Society, dated 17th March 1873.
Petition of the licensed vendors of liquors of Calcutta and suburbs, dated 22nd March 1873, with 99 signatures.
From R. S. T. MacEwen, Esq., Judge, Calcutta Court of Small Causes, dated 3rd April 1873.
From Commissioner of Burdwan, dated 26th August 1873, and enclosure.
From R. S. T. MacEwen, Esq., Judge, Calcutta Court of Small Causes, dated 15th May 1875.
Minute by A. Money, Esq., C.B., Member of the Board of Revenue, dated 26th January 1875.
Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 18th February 1875.
To Secretary to Board of Revenue, dated 22nd February 1875.
From Secretary to Government of India, Financial Department, dated 29th April 1875.
From Officiating Secretary, Board of Revenue, dated 20th December 1874.
From Baboo Bhobhun Mohun Sincar, Licentiate in Medicine and Surgery, dated 31st May 1875.
Memorandum by R. S. T. MacEwen, Esq., Judge of the Court of Small Causes, Calcutta, dated 16th June 1875.
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 14th July 1875.

The Bill, which deals with the amendment of the abkaree administration in Bengal, was first referred to a Select Committee of this Council in the early part of 1873, but that Committee recommended that the further consideration of it should be postponed until sufficient materials for a complete revision of the law had been collected. In the interval that has elapsed petitions were presented to the Government, and a correspondence between the Government and the Board of Revenue ensued.

We have considered the papers noted in the margin.

We have remedied some defects in Act XI of 1849 (for securing the abkaree revenue of Calcutta) by the introduction of some new sections into that Act. We have made it illegal for any person to manufacture spirituous and fermented liquors and intoxicating drugs without a license from the Collector of Calcutta; we have provided for the confiscation of materials and implements used in illicit manufacture; we have given additional powers to abkaree officers in respect of the seizure of such liquors and drugs, and in respect of search and entry; and have provided a more convenient form of procedure for the payment of rewards to informers and captors.

Sections 4 and 5 of the amended Bill confer certain powers on the Commissioner of Police and on police officers which before were exclusively confined to the Collector and to abkaree officers.

Section 6 is introduced with the object of getting rid of the short Act III of 1856 from the Statute Book, which is accordingly repealed.

Section 7 introduces several amendments into Act XXI of 1856, which deals with the abkaree administration in the mofussil. The Board of Revenue is empowered to make rules subjecting the cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced to supervision. Persons imprisoned under Section 73 of Act XXI of 1856, or on account of the non-payment of any fine levied under that Act, may be confined either in the civil or in the criminal jail. And a more convenient form of procedure for the payment of rewards to informers and captors is substituted, as in the case of Act XI of 1849.

Section 8 enacts that all the provisions of Act XXI of 1856, which relate to puchwai, shall apply to any fermented liquors other than those specified in that Act. The reason for the introduction of this section is that other fermented liquors are manufactured which escape the operation of the Act. The Lieutenant-Governor is empowered to exempt any fermented liquor from the provisions of the Act within any specified tract of country.

Section 9 corrects a verbal inaccuracy in Section 40 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1866.

Section 10 prohibits the cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced without a license from the Collector.

Section 11 directs that Magistrates shall follow the provisions of Sections 67, 68, 69, and 70 of the Indian Penal Code in awarding a period of imprisonment in default of payment of fines, and adopts the provision of Section 307 of the Criminal Procedure Code for the levy of fines.

Sections 12 and 13 embody the provisions of Section 12 of 24 George II., Cap. 40 (The Tippling Act), and 25 and 26 Vic., Cap. 38, the adoption of which was suggested by Mr. R. S. T. MacEwen, Third Judge of the Small Cause Court, and is approved by a majority of the Committee. The object of these sections is to discourage tavern-keepers from giving credit for small amounts of liquor consumed on the premises, and so to put a check on what is known as tippling. An exception is made in favor of hotel-keepers suing for liquors consumed by persons residing on the premises. These sections apply to Calcutta, the Suburbs, and Howrah only.

We have considered the propriety of making wholesale dealers in Calcutta take out licenses, a change suggested by Mr. A. Money; but on ascertaining the practice in the other presidency towns, we have not thought it advisable to adopt the suggestion.

We have also considered the proposal for subjecting chemists' shops and dispensaries to supervision and inspection with a view to check the sale of intoxicating drinks; but it appeared to us that the law as it now stands is sufficiently stringent to meet the evil, and the majority of the Committee do not therefore recommend any further legislation in this direction.

We recommend that the Bill be passed as now presented by us.

The 16th July 1875.

AMENDED BILL.

A Bill to amend Act XI of 1849, Act XXI of 1856, Act XXIII of 1860, and Act IV (B.C.) of 1866.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act XI of 1849 (for securing the Abkaree Revenue of Calcutta), Act XXI of 1856 (to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Abkaree Revenue in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal), Act XXIII of 1860 (to amend Act XXI of 1856), and Act IV (B.C.) of 1866 (for regulating the Police of the Town of Calcutta, &c.)

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act shall take effect in all the territories under the government of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal from the 1875.
Local extent.
2. The Acts mentioned in the Schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column thereof.
Repeal of Acts.

PART II.

AMENDMENT AND EXTENSION OF ACT XI OF 1849.

3. Act XI of 1849 shall be read as if, for sections four, eight, sixteen, nineteen, twenty, thirty-three and thirty-four of the said Act, the following sections were substituted :—
Amendment of certain sections of Act XI of 1849.

“4.—Every person who shall manufacture, or sell by retail, any spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs specified in this Act, within the Town of Calcutta, without a license from the Collector of Calcutta, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding five hundred rupees, for every such sale; but this enactment shall not apply to the sale by wholesale dealers of such small quantities of beer, wines, or spirits, as may appear to the Collector to be used only as samples.”
Prohibition of unlicensed manufacture or sale of spirits, liquors, or drugs.

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall affect the arrangements under which tarce is supplied to retail vendors, or the sale of such article, or any preparation of the same, when supplied or used for the manufacture of goor or molasses.

- “8.—Every person taking out a license for the manufacture or sale of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs as aforesaid, shall execute a counter-part engagement in exact conformity with the tenor of such license.”
Licenses to execute a counter-part engagement.

“16.—Besides the penalties above specified for the illicit manufacture, sale, possession, and carrying of spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs, all the materials and implements used, or intended to be used, in the manufacture of the same, and all the liquors or drugs so manufactured, and all such liquors and drugs found in the possession of any offender contrary to the provisions of this Act, shall be seized and confiscated; and the vessels, packages, and coverings in which such liquors and drugs are found, and the animals and conveyances used in carrying them, shall also be liable to seizure and confiscation.”
Additional penalties for illicit manufacture, sale, or possession of spirits, liquors, or drugs.

“19.—Any Abkaree or Police officer may stop, detain, or arrest any person in whose possession may be found any spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs not covered by such a pass as is required by this Act, or otherwise liable to confiscation, and may seize the liquors and drugs, with the vessels, packages, and coverings in which the liquors or drugs are found, and the animals and conveyances (if any) used in carrying them.”
Power to arrest persons in possession of contraband liquors or drugs, and to seize the same.

“20.—Whenever the Collector has good reason to believe, either from information given by any person, which shall be taken down in writing, or from his own knowledge, or from the proceedings in any case, that spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs are being unlawfully manufactured or sold in any place, or that any such liquors or drugs which are liable to confiscation under this Act, are kept or concealed in any place, the Collector may, by warrant under his hand, empower any Abkaree officer above the rank of jemadar, by day or by night, but always in the presence of an officer of Police not being under the grade of a head constable, to enter into any such place, and to seize and carry away all such liquors or drugs, and all the implements or materials used in the manufacture thereof, and in case of resistance, to break open any door, and to force and remove any other obstacle to such entry, search, seizure, or removal as aforesaid, and to arrest and detain the owner or occupier of the premises, with all parties whom he suspects to be concerned in the unlawful manufacture or sale, or in the unlawfully keeping or concealing of such liquors or drugs, whom he shall find on the premises :

provided that, where there is ground to suspect that such liquors or drugs are unlawfully concealed in any zenana, the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall follow, as closely as may be, the rules for the seizure of property so concealed adopted by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William."

Disposal of confiscated articles. "33.—All articles confiscated under this Act except opium, shall be disposed of by public sale under such rules as the Board of Revenue may prescribe in that behalf. Confiscated opium shall, after examination by a competent officer, be disposed of as the said Board may direct by a special or general order."

Division of fine or forfeiture among Abkaree and Police officers. "34.—Whenever any fine or forfeiture is levied from a person convicted of the unlawful manufacture of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs; or of the unlawful sale, purchase, or possession of such liquors or drugs; or of the unlawful cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced, the Magistrate who adjudicates the case shall direct the amount of the fine or forfeiture to be divided in such proportions as he may think fit between any persons (whether they be Abkaree or Police officers or otherwise) who were instrumental in the detection of the offence, the seizure of the articles in respect of which the offence was committed, or the capture of the offender. The Magistrate shall also determine the proportions in which the proceeds of the sale of the confiscated articles, except in the case of opium, shall be distributed among the said persons; and in the case of opium confiscated, shall direct that, if such opium be declared fit for use by competent authority, a reward of one rupee and eight annas for each seer so confiscated shall be similarly distributed.

Provided that if any confiscated article shall have been sold or may be sold by the Collector for a price which includes the duty leviable on the said article, such amount as the Collector may determine to represent such duty shall be deducted from the sale proceeds and credited to Government, and the remainder only of the price realized by the sale shall be deemed to be sale proceeds to be distributed under the order of the said Magistrate.

The Board of Revenue, with the sanction of the Local Government, may lay down rules for the prompt payment of rewards to officers of such Government and others who have been instrumental in the detection of offences, seizure of illicit articles, or capture of offenders under this Act, and any sum which may have been paid to any person under such rules may be taken into account as a part or the whole of the payment which may be awarded by a Magistrate to such person under this section.

4. The powers of seizure, search, and arrest given to Abkaree officers by section twenty of the said Act XI of 1849, shall also be exercised by any Police officers who may be specially selected by the Commissioner of Police for such purpose; and the powers which are conferred upon the Collector by the said section, as regards the issue of warrants directed to Abkaree officers, shall also be vested in the Commissioner of Police, in respect of the issue of warrants directed to Police officers, selected in the manner aforesaid; provided that, under the said section, it shall not be competent to the Collector to issue a warrant directed to a Police officer, nor shall it be competent to the Commissioner of Police to issue a warrant directed to an Abkaree officer.

5. Whenever any Police officer, under the provisions of section nineteen or of section twenty of the said Act XI of 1849, shall arrest any person, or shall seize any spirituous or fermented liquors or intoxicating drugs, he shall carry the person arrested, or the illicit articles seized, or both, as the case may be, with all convenient despatch, to a Magistrate of Police, and shall, within twenty-four hours thereafter, make a full report to the Commissioner of Police, and the Commissioner of Police shall at once inform the Collector of the fact of the arrest or seizure, and of the circumstances of the case; and the Magistrate of Police shall proceed to adjudicate the case according to law.

6. The Commissioner of Revenue of the division within which the Town of Calcutta is or may be situated shall possess the powers and perform the duties vested by Act XI of 1849 in the Commissioner of Abkaree.

PART III.

AMENDMENT AND EXTENSION OF ACT XXI OF 1856.

7. Act XXI of 1856 shall be read as if, for sections thirty-three, fifty, seventy-four, seventy-five and seventy-six of the said Act, the following sections were substituted:—

Amendment of certain sections of Act XXI of 1856. "33.—The Board of Revenue may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, from time to time prescribe rules consistent with this Act, for regulating the mode in which fermented liquors shall be supplied to licensed vendors of the same;

for subjecting the cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced, and the preparation of the said drugs, to such restrictions and supervision as may be deemed necessary to secure the duty leviable thereon; and for granting licenses or passes to persons cultivating, preparing, storing, possessing, purchasing, or transporting the said plants or drugs.

All such rules shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and when so published, shall have effect as if they were contained in this Act.

Every person who refuses, or neglects to obey, or contravenes any rule issued and sanctioned under the provisions of this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees."

"50.—The provisions of the two last preceding any such plant, or any preparation made therefrom, to any person other than a licensed vendor, or person duly authorized to purchase the same by pass or license from the Collector, or failing to account for any quantity of such plant, or of any preparation thereof, which shall have been in his possession, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees."

"74.—Every person who shall be imprisoned

Imprisonment may be in the civil or criminal jail under the last preceding section, or on account of the non-payment of any fine levied under this Act, if the offence of which he has been convicted be one with respect to which the information of the Collector or an Abkaree officer is required by section seventy-one of this Act, or under the provisions of section three of Act XXIII of 1860, may be confined either in the civil or in the criminal jail."

"75.—All articles confiscated under this Act,

Disposal of confiscated articles except opium, shall be disposed of by public sale under such rules as the Board of Revenue may prescribe in that behalf. Confiscated opium shall, after examination by a competent officer, be disposed of as the said Board may direct by a special or general order."

"76.—Whenever any fine or forfeiture is levied from a person convicted of the unlawful manufacture of spirituous or fermented liquors, or intoxicating drugs; or of the unlawful sale, purchase or possession of such liquors or drugs; or of the unlawful cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced, the Magistrate who adjudicates the case shall direct the amount of fine or forfeiture to be divided in such proportions as he may think fit between any persons (whether they be Abkaree or Police officers or otherwise) who were instrumental in the detection of the offence, the seizure of the articles in respect of which the offence was committed, or the capture of the offender. The Magistrate shall also determine the proportions in which the proceeds of the sale of the confiscated articles, except in the case of opium, shall be distributed among the said persons; and in the case of opium confiscated, shall direct that, if such opium be declared fit for use by competent authority, a reward of one rupee and eight annas for each seer so confiscated shall be similarly distributed.

Provided that if any confiscated article shall have been sold or may be sold by the Collector for a price which includes the duty leviable on the said article, such amount as the Collector may determine to represent such duty shall be deducted from the sale proceeds and credited to Government, and the remainder only of the price realized by the sale shall be deemed to be sale proceeds, to be distributed under the order of the said Magistrate.

The Board of Revenue, with the sanction of the Local Government, may lay down rules for the prompt payment of rewards to officers of such Government and others who have been instrumental in the detection of offences, seizure of illicit articles, or capture of offenders under this Act, and any sum which may have been paid to any person under such rules may be taken into account as a part or the whole of the payment which may be awarded by a Magistrate to such person under this section."

8. All the provisions of the said Act XXI of Provisions relating to puchwai applicable to fermented liquors not mentioned in the Act.

1856, which relate to puchwai, shall apply to any fermented liquor other than those specified in the said Act.

Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may within any specified district or tract of country exempt any fermented liquor from the provisions of the said Act.

PART IV.

AMENDMENT OF ACT IV (B.C.) OF 1866.

9. Act IV (B.C.) of 1866 shall be read as if, Amendment of section 40 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1866 for section forty of the said Act, the following section were substituted:—

“40.—Any person committing a breach of any of the conditions which, in accordance with section thirty-seven of this Act, are included in a license granted under the said Act XI of 1849, or of any of the conditions subject to which a license is given under section thirty-nine of this Act, shall, on summary conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and such fine shall be recovered from the person licensed, notwithstanding that such breach may have been caused by the default or carelessness of the servant or other person in charge of the shop or place of sale. Any person so convicted shall also be liable to the forfeiture of his license, at the discretion of the Commissioner of Police, subject to the direction and control of the said Lieutenant-Governor.”

PART V.

GENERAL.

10. It shall not be lawful for any person Prohibition of unlicensed cultivation of plants producing intoxicating drugs, and of abetment of the same. within the territories to which this Act applies, to cultivate plants, from which intoxicating drugs are produced, without a license from the Collector of the district in which such plants are cultivated; and any person who shall so cultivate, or in any way cause, encourage, or promote such illegal cultivation, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees; and the plant so cultivated shall be liable to seizure and confiscation.

11. When any person is sentenced to pay any fine or forfeiture under the said Act XI of 1849, or the said Act XXI of 1856, or under this Act, the Magistrate shall follow the provisions of sections sixty-seven, sixty-eight, sixty-nine, and seventy of the Indian Penal Code, in awarding a period of imprisonment in default of payment thereof. Any such fine or forfeiture shall be recoverable in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and seven of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

12. No person shall be entitled to maintain Petty debts for liquors and drugs not recoverable by action any action or suit for, or recover in any court of law, any sum or sums of money, debt, or demand whatsoever, for or on account of any spirituous or fermented liquor, or intoxicating drug not supplied for medicinal purposes, sold within the Town or the Suburbs of Calcutta, or in Howrah, unless such debt shall have been bona fide contracted at one time, to the amount of ten rupees or upwards; and no item in any account or demand in any such suit for such articles of drink or such drug shall be allowed or maintained in any court of law as aforesaid, where the said articles delivered at one time, and mentioned in such item, shall not amount to the value of at least ten rupees, and that without fraud or collusion; provided that nothing herein contained shall affect any action brought to recover any sums for such spirituous or fermented liquors sold to be consumed elsewhere than on the premises in quantities not less at any one time than a reputed quart; provided also that nothing herein contained shall affect any action brought by a hotel-keeper to recover any sums for any articles of drink consumed by persons who were, at the time when such articles were supplied, residing on the premises.

13. Any person (whether holding a license or otherwise) selling spirituous or fermented liquor, or intoxicating drugs for other than medicinal purposes, within the said Town or Suburbs of Calcutta, or in Howrah, who shall take a pledge from any person by way of security for the payment of any sum of money owing by such person for such liquor or such drugs, shall be liable, upon conviction, to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees; and the person to whom such pledge belongs, shall have the same remedy for recovering the same as if it had never been pledged.

THE following further Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the survey of land, and for the establishment and maintenance of boundary marks, together with the Bill as now amended, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

We, the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill to provide for the survey of land, and for the establishment and maintenance of boundary marks, have the honor to submit the following report :—

From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 19th April 1875.

From Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, dated 5th February 1875.

From Superintendent of Revenue Survey, Upper Circle, dated 14th April 1875.

From Settlement Officer, Midnapore, dated 19th April 1875.

Demn-official letter from Officiating Senior Superintendent of Survey, Midnapore, dated 24th March 1875.

From Commissioner of Burdwan, dated 22nd April 1875.

From Collector of Midnapore, dated 28th April 1875.

From Officiating Collector of Hooghly, dated 6th May 1875.

From Officiating Senior Superintendent of Survey, dated 30th April 1875.

From Collector of Midnapore, dated 8th June 1875.

From Officiating Senior Superintendent of Survey, dated 7th June 1875.

From Commissioner of Patna, dated 17th June 1875.

From Officiating Collector of Hooghly, dated 22nd June 1875.

From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 16th July 1875.

prepared under the Act, or giving notice of objection to such maps or papers. We have laid down the procedure to be observed by the Collector where objections are stated, and have provided that a zemindar making an objection after the time allowed will have to bear the costs of further inquiry.

We have exempted rent-free holdings, of which the annual value is less than five rupees, from liability to pay any portion of expenses incurred in erecting boundary marks (Section 17).

We have provided that the Collector shall cause boundary marks to be put up by his own employe's, instead of requiring occupants to put them up; but that he may cause them to be put up by occupants with their consent (Section 21).

No tenure-holder is made liable to pay any portion of the expenses incurred by the erection of boundary marks on an estate, unless some portion of his tenure is situated within 1,500 feet of some such boundary mark.

We have simplified the procedure of Part IV for the apportionment of expenses on estates and tenures, and have provided for a summary apportionment of expenses between the zemindar and the tenure-holders, which the Collector may adopt whenever he has sufficient information to enable him to make such apportionment, whether derived from papers compiled for the purposes of the road cess, from inquiries made in the course of proceedings under the Act, or otherwise (Sections 31, 32, and 33).

In Part V we have clearly defined the powers of the Collector in respect to determining disputed boundaries, and also in respect to relaying boundaries which have been demarcated and mapped on previous occasions by competent authority, when it shall appear to him desirable to do so. We have omitted the reference to the powers exercised under Regulation VII of 1822.

We have provided for the imposition and levy of a daily fine in the case of persons delaying the proceedings by failing to comply with requisitions made under the Act (Section 51).

We have clearly defined the powers of control and the appellate jurisdiction of the different revenue officers (Sections 58, 59, and 60).

We have provided that no suit shall be brought to set aside any order of a Collector Superintendent of Survey, Assistant Superintendent, or Deputy Collector, in a boundary dispute, unless an appeal has been presented against the order (Section 62).

We have omitted the proviso of Section 32 of the Bill as first published, to the effect that suits to set aside the orders of Commissioners and Collectors must be instituted within six months of the date of the orders. The effect of this omission is to allow twelve months as the period within which such suits must be instituted, as they will now come under the Indian Limitation Act, being suits to set aside "any act of an officer of Government in his official capacity, not herein otherwise expressly provided for," as defined in Schedule ii (16) of that Act.

We have allowed the Board of Revenue to lay down rules, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, for the preparation of maps and registers, and for the collection of any information in respect of any land to be surveyed under the Act.

We have made other alterations in form and words.

We have considered the papers noted in the margin which were laid before us.

We have struck out the definitions of the words "Lieutenant-Governor" and "Board" as unnecessary (Section 1).

We have amplified the definition of the word "Estate."

We have defined the word "Survey" (Section 1).

We have made considerable changes in the form of the Bill.

We have recognized the appointment of a Superintendent and Assistant Superintendents of Survey (Section 4).

With a view to expediting proceedings, we have inserted sections (11, 12, and 13) empowering the Collector to require the attendance of persons interested within a specified time, for the purpose of signing and admitting the correctness of maps or papers

"Tenure."

"Tenure-holder" means all or any of the holders of a tenure.

"Tenure-holder."

"Zemindar."

"Zemindar" means all or any of the holders of an estate.

PART II.

OF THE SURVEY.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor may, whenever he shall think fit, order that a survey shall be made of the lands situated in any district, or in any part of a district, or in any specified tract of country, and that the boundaries of estates, tenures, mouzahs, or fields be demarcated on the lands so to be surveyed :

Provided that in any district, of which a survey may have been completed and approved by the Government, it shall not be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to order a new survey of lands on the banks of rivers or on the sea-shore to be made for the purposes described in Act IX of 1847 (an Act regarding the assessment of land gained from the sea or from rivers by alluvion or dereliction within the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa), until ten years shall have expired from the completion and approval of any such previous survey.

4. For the purpose of carrying out any survey directed to be made under the last preceding section, or for any or all of the purposes of this Act, Lieutenant-Governor may appoint Superintendent of Survey.

the Lieutenant-Governor may appoint a Superintendent of Survey, who may exercise all or any of the powers of a Collector under this Act ; and may appoint one or more Assistant Superintendents and Deputy Collectors, who shall exercise all the powers of a Collector in respect to such matters under this Act as may be delegated to such Assistant Superintendents or Deputy Collectors respectively by the Collector or Superintendent of Survey, and not otherwise :

Provided that, notwithstanding the appointment of a Superintendent of Survey for any tract of country, it shall be competent to the Board of Revenue to direct that the Collector shall perform any duties under the Act within the said tract.

5. Before entering on any lands for the purpose of a survey, the Collector shall cause to be published a proclamation addressed to the occupants of the lands which are about to be surveyed, and of the contiguous lands, and to all persons employed on, or connected with the management of, or otherwise interested in, such lands, calling upon them to attend, either personally or by agent, before the Collector or any officer authorized by the Collector in that behalf, at such places and at such times as shall be stated in such proclamation, during the demarcation and survey of the land, for the purpose of pointing out the boundaries and of rendering such aid as may be necessary in setting up or repairing such boundary marks as may be required, and of affording such assistance and information as may be needed for the purposes of this Act.

Such proclamation shall be published by posting a copy thereof at the Court of the Judge and at the office of the Collector of every district within which any portion of the lands about to be surveyed may be known to be situated; at every sub-divisional office, police station, moonsiff's court, and sub-registrar's office within the jurisdiction of which any portion of the land about to be surveyed may be known to be situated;

at one or more māl cutcherries on each estate; and at such other place or places as to the Collector may seem fit.

6. After issue of a proclamation as aforesaid,

Collector may enter upon land. the Collector and any persons acting under his authority may enter upon such lands, and do all things and make all enquiries necessary for effecting the survey and demarcation of the boundaries thereof.

7. The Collector may also, by a special notice,

Collector may serve special notice. require any such person to attend before him, or before any person authorized by the Collector in that behalf, within a specified time, which shall not be less than fifteen days after the service of the notice, at any places, for any of the purposes aforesaid; and every person on whom such special notice may be served shall be legally bound to attend as required by the notice, and to do any of the things mentioned in section five, and to give any information which may be required, so far as he may be able to give it.

8. When any materials or labor shall have

Collector to pay the price of materials or labor supplied. been supplied for any of the purposes mentioned in section five, the Collector or other officer making a requisition under that section shall forthwith cause the price of such materials or labor to be paid to the person by whom the same were supplied.

9. The Collector may, by a special notice,

Collector may require occupants to clear boundary lines. require any occupant to clear any boundary or other line which it may be necessary to clear for the purposes of the survey, by cutting down and removing any trees, jungle, fences, or standing crops.

10. If any demand for compensation be made,

Compensation. in respect of the clearance of any line in accordance with a requisition under the last preceding section, the Collector shall ascertain and record the nature and estimated value of any trees, jungle, fences, or standing crops which may have been cut down or removed, and shall offer adequate compensation to the owners thereof, together with payment for all expenses incurred in carrying out the said requisition.

11. The Collector may, by a special notice,

Collector may require zemindar to attend for the purpose of signing maps or papers. require any zemindar or other person to attend personally, or by duly authorized agent, before him, or before any person authorized by the Collector in that behalf, within a specified time, which shall not be less than seven days after the service of the notice, for the purpose of signing and thereby admitting the correctness of any maps or other papers which have been prepared under this Act in respect of any boundary in which such zemindar or other person is interested, or of stating in writing the substance of any objection which he may wish to prefer against the correctness of such maps or papers; and if any person so summoned shall fail to attend and to sign the said map or papers, or to give in a written statement of his objections within the time prescribed, the Collector or other person duly authorized in that behalf shall make a note to that effect on the said map or papers.

Provided that if within the said seven days such duly authorized agent deposits with the Collector the necessary expenses of making copies of the said maps or papers, the Collector shall order such copies to be prepared, and as soon as they are prepared, shall cause a notice to that effect to be posted in his office, and the said agent shall be allowed fifteen days from the posting of such notice for the purpose of signing or stating objections under this section.

12. When a written statement of objections has Procedure when objection is stated been given in, as mentioned in the last preceding section, the Collector, after holding any further inquiry which he may deem necessary, shall pass such order in respect of such objections as to him shall seem fit; and if the objections shall seem to him not to be well founded, shall direct that all expenses of such further inquiry, and all expenses entailed on any other person by such inquiry, shall be recovered from the person who made the objection.

13. Whenever any person on whom a notice has

Person making subsequent objection may be required to deposit costs of further inquiry been served as required by section eleven, but who has failed to sign the maps and papers, or to give in his objections in writing within the time prescribed, shall prefer any subsequent objection against the correctness of any maps or papers in respect of which such notice was served on him, the Collector shall require him to deposit the estimated costs of any further inquiry which it may be necessary to make in respect of his objection; and if the said person shall fail to deposit such costs within the time specified by the Collector, he shall be deemed for all purposes of this Act to have admitted the correctness of the said map and papers. If the costs of any inquiry which may be deemed necessary be deposited, the Collector shall make such further inquiry at the expense of the person so objecting; and if the objection shall seem to the Collector not to be well founded, he may pass such order as he shall think fit in respect of the recovery from the objector of any sum expended by the Collector on the enquiry in excess of the sum deposited, and of any necessary expenses incurred by any other person on account of such inquiry.

Provided that no person on whom a notice has been served under section eleven, and who has failed to state his objection in writing within the time prescribed under that section, but who shall prefer any subsequent objection, shall, under any circumstances, be entitled to recover the expenses which he is required to deposit before any further inquiry is made in respect of such subsequent objection.

PART III.

OF BOUNDARY MARKS.

14. The Collector may cause to be erected temporary boundary marks of such materials, and in such numbers and manner as he may direct, on any lands to be surveyed under this Act;

Collector may erect temporary boundary marks.

and may require any occupant of land to maintain and keep in repair such marks, or any boundary marks, until any survey operations shall be concluded and a final award given as to any disputed boundary, or until permanent boundary marks may be erected in lieu thereof as hereinafter provided.

15. The Collector may at any time cause to be erected, on any land which is to be, or which has been surveyed under this Act, Collector may erect permanent boundary marks.

permanent boundary marks of such materials, and in such number and manner, as he may determine to be sufficient to distinguish the boundaries of the estates, tenures, mouzahs, or fields for which the same are to be erected.

Provided that seven days before he proceeds to the erection of any permanent boundary marks, the Collector shall, for the information of all concerned, cause to be posted in his office, and in the mâl cutcherry, or at some other convenient place on every estate concerned, a specification of the number and character of the marks which he proposes to erect on the estate and an estimate of their cost.

16. All expenses incurred by the Collector

Apportionment of expenses

in erecting temporary or permanent boundary marks under this Act shall, in manner hereinafter provided, be apportioned among, and levied from, the zemindars and tenure-holders on their estates;

Provided that no tenure-holder shall be liable to pay any portion of the expenses incurred by the erection of boundary marks on an estate, unless some portion of his tenure is situated within fifteen hundred feet of some such boundary mark.

17. All lands held without payment of rent,

Lands not subject to rent to be deemed to be part of a tenure.

not being entered on the Collector's register of revenue-free tenures of the district, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to form a part of the tenure within the local boundaries of which they may be included; and if they be not included within the local boundary of any tenure, then to be a part of the estate within the local boundaries of which they are included, and if they be not included within the local boundaries of any one estate, then to be a part of such conterminous estate as the Collector, in whose district such conterminous estate is situated, shall, by an order under his seal, appoint.

Provided that no rent-free holding of which the annual value is less than five rupees, shall be liable to pay any portion of the expenses of erecting boundary marks under this Act.

18. If any occupant on whom a requisition

Procedure when occupant fails to maintain boundary mark has been made under section fourteen, fails to maintain, or keep in repair, any temporary boundary mark, the Collector may maintain, keep in repair, or restore any such boundary mark, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be recovered as provided in section fifty-seven from the person so failing to maintain, or keep in repair, any such boundary mark.

19. Every zemindar, tenure-holder and Zemindar, &c., bound to preserve boundary-marks and give notice to Collector when they are injured.

farmer of land shall be legally bound to preserve, as far as lies in his power, such of the permanent boundary marks lawfully erected on his estate, tenure, or farm, or on the boundary between his estate, tenure, or farm, and any other estate tenure, or farm, as may be assigned to him in that respect entirely, or jointly with other persons, under the provisions of section twenty-nine, and shall give immediate notice to the Collector if any such marks are injured, destroyed, or removed, or require repairs.

20. Whenever it shall come to the notice of the Collector that any permanent boundary mark erected under the provisions of this Act, has been injured, destroyed, or removed, or requires repairs, the Collector may cause such boundary mark to be re-erected, restored, or repaired, and may recover any expenses incurred in respect of such re-erection, restoration, or repair in such proportions as he shall think fit from the zemindars and tenure-holders to whom such boundary mark may have been assigned in that respect under the provisions of section twenty-nine, and all such expenses shall be recoverable as provided in section fifty-seven.

21. Nothing contained in this Act shall be held to prohibit the Collector from causing any temporary or permanent marks to be erected, maintained or repaired by any occupant of land, under the directions of the said Collector, and with the consent of such occupant.

The Collector shall repay to such occupant the expenses incurred in such erection or repair, and such expenses shall be apportioned and recovered as provided in Part IV.

PART IV.

OF THE APPORTIONMENT AND RECOVERY OF EXPENSES.

22. Upon the completion of the erection of Collector to prepare statement of all expenses incurred in respect of boundary marks boundary marks on any tract of land of which the survey may have been ordered, or on any convenient portion thereof, the Collector shall forthwith prepare a statement of all expenses incurred in respect of such boundary marks.

23. Such statement shall show the total number of marks of each description which have been erected on such tract, or portion of such tract, the aggregate cost of erecting all the marks of each description, the names of the estates and mouzahs within, or on the boundaries of which any marks have been erected, and the total number of marks of each description erected within or on the boundary of each estate.

24. Upon the completion of such statement, the Collector shall provisionally apportion the aggregate expenses of erecting the marks among the estates specified, with reference to the number of boundary marks of each description which have been erected within or on the boundary of each estate.

25. So soon as the provisional apportionment shall have been made as required by the last preceding section, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served on the zemindar of every estate on which the expenses have been apportioned,

- (a) specifying the sum which has been apportioned on his estate, and as far as can be calculated, the sum which he will be required to pay on account of the service of notices on him under this section and section twenty-nine;
- (b) informing him that the said statement is open to inspection in the office of the Collector;
- (c) calling on him to appear in person, or by agent properly authorized, at the office of the Collector on a date to be specified in the notice (not being less than two months after the issue of the notice), on which date the Collector will proceed to consider any objections which may be made to the provisional apportionment of expenses,
- (d) warning him that if he does not appear on the date fixed in pursuance of the notice he will be deemed to have waived all objections to the share of the expenses apportioned to his estate; and (unless as otherwise hereinafter provided in sections thirty-one, thirty-two, and thirty-three)
- (e) informing him that under this Act he is entitled to recover a portion of the amount which shall be finally made payable in respect of his estate under section twenty-six, from such tenure-holders on his estate as are made liable to bear a portion of such expenses by sections sixteen and seventeen of this Act, (of which sections a copy shall be annexed to the notice); and that in order to enable the Collector to apportion the said amount among the said tenure-holders, he may give in a list of all such tenures as defined in this Act, held directly from him, with a specification of the number of boundary marks of each description which are erected within or on the boundary of each tenure; and
- (f) warning him that if he fails to give in a list of tenures as aforesaid on or before the said date, he will be deemed to have given up all claim to recover from the tenure-holders any part of the amount for which he may be held liable under section twenty-six of this Act.

26. On the date fixed in such notice, the Collector shall proceed to consider all objections which may be made to the provisional apportionment, and to make such final apportionment of the expenses as shall seem to him fit; in making such final apportionment, the costs of serving all notices under section twenty-five shall be distributed rateably among the estates concerned, in proportion to the share of the expenses of erecting boundary marks which may be apportioned to each estate; and the amount so finally apportioned as payable in respect of each estate, together with the costs of serving notices rateably distributed as aforesaid, shall be due to the Collector from the zemindars of such estates.

27. Notwithstanding anything contained in the last preceding section, the Collector may postpone the final apportionment if it shall appear to him that a notice under section twenty-five has not been served on the zemindar of any estate which should be made liable for a portion of the expenses, or for any other sufficient reason.

28. Any zemindar failing to appear on the date fixed in the notice served on him under section twenty-five will be deemed to have waived all objections. Any zemindar failing to give in a list of tenures (when called upon under section twenty-five to give in such list), on or before such date, will be deemed to have given up all claim to recover from the tenure-holders any part of the amount which may have been apportioned as payable in respect of his estate under section twenty-six.

29. So soon as the expenses shall have been finally apportioned under section twenty-six among the estates concerned as hereinbefore provided, the Collector shall issue a notice in respect of every estate, specifying the amount finally apportioned as payable in respect of the estate, and requiring the zemindar to pay such amount to the Collector, together with the costs of serving such notice, within one month of the issue of the notice. If such amount be not paid to the Collector within such period, the same, with interest, at such rate, not exceeding six per centum per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time determine, may be levied as provided in section fifty-seven.

The notice issued under this section shall assign to the zemindar, or to the zemindar jointly with tenure-holders, the boundary marks which they are legally bound to preserve under the provisions of section nineteen, and in respect of which they will be held liable to pay the costs of re-erection, maintenance, and repair, under the provisions of section twenty.

30. If the zemindar of any estate shall give in a list of tenures, as referred to in section twenty-five, with an application to the Collector to apportion between his estate and the tenures the amount which has been apportioned as payable in respect of his estate as aforesaid, the Collector shall proceed to make a provisional apportionment of the said amount between the zemindar and the tenure-holders, to serve notices on the said tenure-holders in the manner provided in section twenty-five, and to make a final apportionment among the said zemindar and tenure-holders in the manner provided in sections twenty-six and twenty-seven; and the provisions of section twenty-eight shall be applicable to such tenure-holders.

Provided that no separate notice shall be served under this section in respect of the provisional or final apportionment of the sum payable in respect of any tenure, if such sum be less than two rupees; but in respect of all such sums it shall be sufficient to publish a list showing the sums apportioned as payable. Such list shall be published by being posted at the office of the Sub-divisional Officer and at a conspicuous place in some village within which lands appertaining to the tenure are situate.

31. Notwithstanding any thing in this Part contained, whenever the Collector may consider that he has sufficient information (whether derived from papers compiled for the purposes of the road cess, from enquiries made in the course of proceedings under this Act, or otherwise), to enable him in a summary way to make an apportionment of any expenses recoverable under this Act in respect of any estate, between the zemindars of and the holders of tenures in such estate, the Collector may, as soon as possible after he shall have made a provisional apportionment under section twenty-four of the sum payable in respect of such estate, and without calling on the zemindar to give in any list of tenures as provided in clause (e) of section twenty-five, proceed to make a provisional apportionment between the zemindars and the tenure-holders of such estates of the sum which has been provisionally apportioned under section twenty-four as payable in respect of the estate.

32. Whenever any provisional apportionment of the sum payable between the zemindars and the tenure-holders may have been made summarily, as provided in the last preceding section, the notice to be served on the zemindar under section twenty-five, shall inform the zemindar, in addition to the particulars specified in clauses (a), (b), (c) and (d) of the said section, and instead of those specified in clauses (e) and (f), that under this Act he is entitled to recover a portion of the amount which shall be finally apportioned as payable in respect of his estate under section twenty-six, from the tenure-holders on his estate; and that the Collector has made a provisional apportionment of the said sum between the zemindar and tenure-holders, according to a list which shall be annexed to the said notice;

and shall warn him that if he fails to prefer any objection to such provisional apportionment on or before the date specified, he will be deemed to have given up all right to prefer any such objection at any future time; and that the Collector will proceed to make such apportionment final, or to make any modifications in it which he may think fit; provided that the sum finally made payable by the zemindar shall not exceed the sum apportioned upon him in the said provisional apportionment between the zemindars and the tenure-holders.

33. As soon as a provisional apportionment between the zemindar and the tenure-holders shall have been made summarily as provided in section thirty-one, the Collector shall proceed to serve notices on the tenure-holders concerned in the manner provided in section thirty, and to do all other things as if the said provisional apportionment upon tenure-holders had been made on a list given in by the zemindar under section thirty.

34. In apportioning the amount among the zemindar and the tenure-holders, the Collector shall first deduct such sum as he shall consider to be fairly payable by the zemindar in respect of lands not included in any tenure, and in respect of his interest in lands which are included in tenures; and in apportioning the remainder among the tenures, he shall take into consideration the numbers of pillars erected within or on the boundary of each tenure, the extent of each tenure, and the distance at which it is situated from the boundary marks; but no tenure shall be made liable for any portion of the sum so apportioned, unless some part of it be situated within fifteen hundred feet from some boundary mark.

35. So soon as the final apportionment among tenure-holders under section thirty shall be completed, the Collector shall cause to be issued notices to each of the said tenure-holders, stating the amount payable in respect of each of their tenures, with interest (if any) calculated at the annual rate of six per centum from the date on which the zemindar paid to the Collector the sum which was apportioned on his estate under section twenty-six, and the cost of serving upon the tenure-holder the notice under this section, and calling upon him to pay the total amount so due to the zemindar of the estate of which the tenure is a part, within one month of the date of the notice.

Provided that no separate notice shall be served under this section on any tenure-holder who is required to pay a sum of less than two rupees as his share of the expenses apportioned under this Act; but in respect of such sums it shall be sufficient to publish a list in the manner prescribed by section thirty, and no costs incurred in respect of the publication of any such list shall be recoverable from any person mentioned therein as liable to pay less than two rupees.

36. Notwithstanding anything contained in section thirty-five, the Collector shall not issue the notices therein mentioned to the tenure-holders until the zemindars concerned shall have deposited with the Collector the full amount of the costs of serving all the notices, and of publishing the lists as required by that section.

37. The provisions of sections twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-four and thirty-five shall be applicable, as far as possible, to every case in which any tenure-holder, who has been made liable for the payment of any share of expenses under this Act, may apply to the Collector to apportion the amount for which he has been made liable, between himself and the holders of subordinate tenures direct from himself; and the provisions of sections thirty-one, thirty-two and thirty-three, regarding the procedure for making a provisional apportionment in a summary way between zemindar and the tenure-holders on his estate, shall be applicable, as far as possible, to the provisional apportionment of expenses between the holder of a tenure and the holders of under-tenures within his tenure; provided always that no such apportionment shall be made in respect of ryots who have a right of occupancy only, and whose rent is not fixed in perpetuity.

38. Every zemindar or tenure-holder, to whom any sum is payable under the preceding sections, may recover the same with interest as aforesaid in the manner provided by any law for the time being in force for the recovery of arrears of rent in respect of the tenure for which the sum is due.

39. The provisions of this Part shall apply to all sums expended by the Government since the first day of November one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four in erecting boundary marks.

Recovery of sums expended by Government since 1st November 1874.

PART V.

BOUNDARY DISPUTES.

40. If it shall come to the notice of the Collector, in the course of Procedure in case of dispute as to any boundary.

a survey under this Act, that a dispute exists as to any boundary which should be surveyed, the Collector, after holding such enquiry as he may deem necessary, may determine such boundary as hereinafter provided.

41. The Collector shall determine the boundary according to actual Powers of Collector when boundary not determined by Court or laid down by Revenue Survey.

possession, and cause it to be secured by boundary marks; and the order of the Collector under this section shall, until it be reversed or modified by competent authority, have the force of an order of any Civil Court declaring the parties to be in possession of the land in accordance with the boundary as determined by the Collector.

42. If after holding the necessary enquiry, the Collector is unable to to any boundary under the last preceding section, he may, with the consent of the parties concerned, refer the same to arbitration.

The procedure laid down in Chapter VI of Act, VIII of 1859 (the Code of Civil Procedure) shall, so far as may be practicable, be applicable to disputes so referred to arbitration.

44. If the boundary regarding which the dispute exists as mentioned in section forty shall at any previous time have been determined by any Court of competent jurisdiction; or shall have been laid down and shown on a map in the course of any previous Revenue Survey or Settlement, and no objection to the boundary as then laid down and mapped shall have been preferred before any authority competent to decide on such objection;

whenever the dispute relates to the boundary of an estate which is liable for revenue, or to any other boundary by which the interests of the Government may be affected, the Collector shall,

and whenever the dispute relates to any other boundary, the Collector may, if he thinks fit, relay, as nearly as may be possible, the boundary as previously determined or laid down and shown on the map, and cause such boundary to be shown on the survey map, with an explanatory note to the same;

provided that the relaying and record of a boundary by the Collector under this section shall not affect the possession of any land by any party; and shall be in addition to the determination and record of the boundary according to actual possession required by section forty-one.

Nothing in this section contained shall be understood to prohibit the Collector from deviating from a boundary as held by actual possession or as shown on a former map, and laying down a new boundary, if all the parties concerned agree to such new boundary, on the ground that the boundary held by actual possession, or as shown on the former map, was incorrect, and if it appears to the Collector that there is no objection to the adoption of such new boundary.

The reason for every such deviation shall be recorded in the Collector's proceedings.

45. If it shall come to the notice of the Col-

Power of Collector at any time when doubt or dispute exists as to any boundary.

lector at any time, or in any manner, that a doubt or dispute exists in respect to any boundary

(a) which has at any time been determined by a competent Court; or

(b) which has been laid down and shown on a map, in the course of a previous Revenue Survey or Settlement, or other proceeding of a revenue officer for any special purpose, and against which no objection has been preferred to any authority competent to decide upon such objection; or

(c) which has been laid down by a Survey under this Act, the Collector may, if he thinks it desirable for any reason that the boundary so determined or laid down shall be relaid, proceed to relay the boundary in the manner prescribed in section forty-four of this Act, and for the purpose of so relaying the boundary he may make any enquiries and surveys which may be necessary, and such enquiries and surveys shall be deemed to be proceedings under section six, and the Collector shall exercise in respect thereof all powers which he may exercise in respect of enquiries and surveys under that section.

46. Whenever the Collector shall have determined a boundary which was in dispute, and the order shall have become final, and whenever a boundary which has been supplied by the survey officers, or has been determined under this Act, has been altered by a decree of any Civil Court, which has become final, and whenever it shall come to the notice of the Collector that any boundary has been determined by a competent Court or authority, the Collector may cause such marks as he may think fit to be erected in order to secure the boundary permanently, and the provisions of Parts III and IV shall, so far as is possible, be applicable to boundary marks which are erected under this section, and to the apportionment of the cost thereof.

PART VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

47. Whenever any estate or tenure is held

Joint zemindars to be subject to every liability imposed on single zemindars.

jointly by two or more zemindars or tenure-holders, all such zemindars and tenure-holders shall be jointly and severally liable in respect of every liability imposed on zemindars or tenure-holders respectively by this Act;

And any shareholder in any estate or tenure who may have paid the amount finally apportioned to such estate or tenure, may recover from his co-sharers such sums as may be payable in respect of their shares as arrears of rent, or may take credit for such sums in any adjustment of accounts between himself and his co-sharers.

48. Every notice in and Service of notice.

by this Act required to be served on any person may be served—

- (1) by delivering the same to the person to whom it is directed, or on failure of such service, by posting the same on some conspicuous part of the house in which the said person resides, or by delivering the said notice to a general agent of the person to whom such notice is directed; or
- (2) by sending a registered letter containing such notice directed to the said person at his usual place of abode, or to the place where he may be known to reside; or
- (3) by posting a copy of the notice at any māl catcherry of the estate or tenure of the person to whom the notice is directed; or if no such māl catcherry be found, on some conspicuous place on the said estate or tenure to which such notice relates, and by delivering, in the case of estates paying their annual revenue by four instalments, another copy thereof to any agent who shall have paid an instalment of revenue next after the preparation of such notice. In all cases where two or more persons are holders of an estate or tenure, service of notice under this clause shall be deemed to be good and sufficient service on each and all of such persons.

49. No proceedings under this Act shall be affected by reason of any mistake in the name of any person thereby rendered liable to pay any sum of money, or in the description of any estate or tenure or land in respect of which he is rendered liable to pay, or by reason of any other informality, provided the directions of this Act be in substance and effect complied with; and no proceedings under this Act shall be affected by reason of the omission to serve any notice on any zemindar whose name is not recorded on the Collector's registers as owner of the estate in respect of which the notice is required to be served.

No proceedings under this Act to be affected by any mistake or misdescription.

50. For the purpose of any enquiry under

Power of Collector to enforce attendance of witnesses.

this Act, the Collector shall, in addition to every power conferred specially by this Act, have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and compel the production of documents by the same means (as far as may be), and in the same manner, as is provided in the case of a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

51. If any person shall fail to comply with a Daily fine for failure to comply with requisition in notice.

requisition contained in any special notice served under section seven of this Act, or in any notice served for the purpose of any inquiry under Part V of this Act, within the time specified in such notice, the Collector may impose upon him such daily fine as he may think fit, not exceeding fifty rupees, and such fine shall be payable daily until the requisition is complied with; and the Collector may proceed from time to time to levy any amount which has become due in respect of any such fine, notwithstanding that an appeal against the order imposing such fine may be pending:

Provided that whenever the amount levied under any such order shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner of the Division, and no further levy in respect of such fine shall be made otherwise than by authority of the said Commissioner.

52. Any person, being bound by the pro-

Penalty for failing to give notice of injury to boundary mark.

visions of section nineteen to give notice to the Collector in respect of any boundary mark having been injured, destroyed, or removed, or requiring repairs, who shall fail to give such notice, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, to be imposed by order of the Collector.

53. Any person convicted before a Collector of Penalty for removing boundary marks.

wilfully erasing, removing, or damaging any boundary mark (not being a landmark fixed by the authority of a public servant within the meaning of section four hundred and thirty-four of the Indian Penal Code) which has been lawfully erected, may be ordered by the convicting officer to pay such sum, not exceeding two hundred rupees, for each mark so erased, removed, or damaged, as the said officer may think fit in addition to such sum as may be necessary to defray the expense of restoring the boundary mark so erased, removed, or damaged.

54. The Collector may award any portion of a fine imposed under either of the two last preceding sections, and which may be realised, to any person who may have given information leading to the imposition of the fine.

Collector may award portion of fine to informer.

55. A fine under sections fifty-one, fifty-two, and fifty-three may be levied, as far as may be practicable, in the manner provided in section three hundred and seven of the Code of Criminal Procedure, but if no moveable property belonging to the person from whom the fine is due is found in the district within which the order was passed, then such fine may be levied as if it were an arrear of revenue.

Levy of fine.

56. Whenever the person erasing, removing, or damaging any boundary mark cannot be discovered, or if found, Collector may repair. for any other reason it is found impracticable to recover from him the sum which he has been so ordered to pay, the boundary mark shall be restored or repaired by the Collector, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be recovered from the occupants of such of the contiguous lands, and in such proportions as to the Collector may seem fit.

When person removing boundary mark cannot be found, Collector may repair.

57. Every amount which may become due to the Collector under the provisions of this Act in respect of any expenses incurred, or of any notices served, or of any costs payable by any party in an appeal, shall be deemed to be a demand under section two of Bengal Act VII of 1868 (an Act to make further provision for the recovery of arrears of Land Revenue and Public Demands recoverable as arrears of Land Revenue) and shall be leviable as such.

Every amount due deemed to be a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868.

58. Except as provided in sections fifty-nine and sixty, no appeal shall lie, as of right, against any order passed under this Act by any officer; but the proceedings and orders of Assistant Superintendents and of Deputy Collectors under this Act shall be subject to the supervision and control of the Superintendent of Survey or Collector; the proceedings and orders of the Superintendent of Survey, and of the Collector, to the supervision and control of the Commissioner of the Division; and the proceedings and orders of all officers to the supervision and control of the Board of Revenue.

No appeal to be against any order passed under this Act

59. An appeal, if presented within one month of the date of the order appealed against, shall lie to the Collector or Superintendent of Survey, against every order of a Deputy Collector or of an Assistant Superintendent, Appeal to lie to the Commissioner against order of Superintendent of Survey, Collector, Assistant Superintendent, or Deputy Collector.

- (a) determining under section eight the amount to be paid as the price of materials or labor supplied;
- (b) determining under section ten the amount to be paid as compensation;
- (c) deciding a boundary dispute;
- (d) imposing a fine under this Act.

60. An appeal, if presented within one month of the date of the order appealed against, shall lie to the Commissioner of the Division against every order of the Collector or Superintendent of Survey,

- (a) determining under section eight the amount to be paid as value of materials or labor supplied,
- (b) determining under section ten the amount to be paid as compensation;
- (c) determining a disputed boundary;
- (d) imposing a fine of more than fifty rupees on any person, provided that the order appealed against under clause (a) (b.) and (c) shall not have been passed by the Collector or Superintendent of Survey on an appeal preferred against the order of a subordinate officer.

61. The Commissioner, Collector, or Superintendent of Survey may pass such orders as they shall think fit in respect of the payment of costs incurred by any party in an appeal.

Orders as to costs on appeal

62. No suit shall be brought to set aside an order of a Superintendent of Survey, Collector, Assistant Superintendent, or Deputy Collector deciding a boundary dispute, unless an appeal shall have been first preferred under section fifty-nine or section sixty, or unless the person suing was at the time when such order was passed a minor, or insane, or an idiot.

No suit to be brought unless appeal first preferred to the Commissioner

63. With the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor the Board of Revenue may lay down rules with sanction of Lieutenant-Governor, rules, not being inconsistent with this Act:

to provide for the preparation of maps and registers, and for the collection and record of any information in respect of any land to be surveyed under this Act;

and generally to provide for the proper performance of all things to be done, and for the regulation of all proceedings to be taken under this Act.

All enquiries ordered to be made for the collection of information under such rules, shall be deemed to be enquiries under section six, and the Collector shall exercise in respect thereof all powers which he may exercise in respect of enquiries under that section.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY FOR THE YEAR 1874.

RESOLUTION.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 20th July 1875.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipality for the year 1874, submitted by the Secretary to the Justices with his letter No. 1316, dated 11th instant.

Read again—

The Administration Report for the year 1873, with the Government Resolution thereon.

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipality now submitted is, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe, a favorable one as regards the financial results of the year. The total sum at the disposal of the Justices for police and municipal purposes amounted to Rs. 46,12,464, compared with Rs. 44,96,118 in 1873, as shown in the following table :—

	1873. Rs.	1874. Rs.
Revenue account income	24,98,300	26,68,395
Capital account receipts	11,95,774	12,59,618
Suspense account	1,00,141	1,45,879
Cash balances	7,01,903	5,38,572
Total	44,96,118	46,12,464

2. The improvement which these figures show in the ordinary income of the Municipality is due chiefly to an increase in the receipts under the heads of "police rate," "water rate," "rent," "jute warehouses," and "miscellaneous," and to the revenue now derived from the municipal markets, which, in the year under review, exceeded half a lakh of rupees.

3. While the collections on account of "house rate" were somewhat more than was estimated in the budget, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that they were less than in the year previous by Rs. 19,644. That this is not attributable to any remissness on the part of the collecting establishment is shown by the fact that the arrears outstanding at the close of the year amounted only to Rs. 18,724, of which Rs. 7,000 are merely nominally due. The assessments in a considerable part of the town were revised during the year with some advantage, it would seem, from a financial point of view: and though some complaints arose at one time, still the Lieutenant-Governor does not gather that any hardship has ultimately resulted from the proceedings; any inequalities in the assessments having been remedied when brought to light on appeal.

4. As regards the other rates also levied by the Municipality, the collections were in excess of what was anticipated. Including those made on account of the house rate, they are stated to have amounted to Rs. 18,71,155, against a budget estimate of Rs. 18,41,965; while the total amount remaining unrealized at the close of the year was Rs. 51,558. These results are favorable to the system adopted of paying the collecting establishment by a percentage on the amount realized by them.

5. The receipts on account of licenses on professions, trades, and callings, and for carriages and horses, slightly exceeded those of the previous year; and Sir Richard Temple is glad to observe that while collections have increased, there has been a considerable decrease during the year under review in the number of prosecutions for not taking out licenses.

6. Comparing results with those of the previous year, it appears that the total expenditure of the Justices, including that on police, was as follows:—

		1873	1874
		Rs.	Rs.
Revenue account expenditure	..	25,19,433	26,13,922
Capital account expenditure	14,48,123●	15,04,490
Total	...	39,67,556	41,18,412

Deducting the total expenditure from the total amount available, the balance in the hands of the Justices at the close of the year appears to have amounted to Rs. 4,94,052, against Rs. 5,28,562 at the close of 1873. Adding, however, to the revenue account expenditure stated above a sum of Rs. 4,50,791 provided for in the budget, but not disbursed till after the close of the year, it would seem not only that the amount really at the credit of the Municipality was very inconsiderable, but that the ordinary expenditure of the Justices exceeded their ordinary income by no less than Rs. 3,96,318.

7. To meet the extraordinary or capital account expenditure, it became necessary for the Justices to add a sum of Rs. 12,20,000 to their debt, which now amounts to Rs. 1,46,60,600, against an accumulation of Rs. 14,88,317 only in the Sinking Fund. Including payments to this fund, the charges on account of the debt incurred amount to no less than Rs. 10,04,740 annually. Having to provide for the payment of this sum, the Justices are necessarily prevented from carrying out many minor improvements in the town which are obviously desirable. Still the Lieutenant-Governor thinks (and he is glad to learn that the opinion is gaining ground among the ratepayers) that the money spent has been well applied.

8. In reviewing the circumstances under which the introduction of a complete system of drainage into Calcutta was determined upon, the Chairman of the Justices notices prominently the fact that at first the difficulty and expense of the work were much under-rated. In the twenty years which have elapsed since the first scheme was drawn out, much may have occurred to change the conditions under which the work has been executed; and the Lieutenant-Governor accepts the statement that no more economical plan could have been devised than that which has so far been carried out. The length of sewers constructed in the year under review was 44,283 lineal feet, and the total expenditure Rs. 5,37,635. Sir Richard Temple observes that it is anticipated that the whole of that portion of the works, the undertaking of which, at a total cost of Rs. 21,20,242, was determined on in 1871, will be completed by the middle of the current year. It is clear, however, that further provision will be necessary to guard against the floods which are stated to have proved a source of inconvenience in several streets, and to be due in part to obstructions caused by the new drainage works. This may be an additional reason for completing these according to Mr. Clarke's original design. When the detailed estimates now under preparation for the construction of the 3rd class sewers are ready, the Lieutenant-Governor will be happy to learn what determination the Justices have come to in the matter, and to receive any proposals they may have to make for the purpose of providing funds to meet the cost of any further works which it may be desired to undertake. The completion of the drainage works in the native part of the town is, no doubt, an object of prime importance.

9. Excluding interest and contributions to the Sinking Fund, the total expenditure in connection with the water-supply of the town during the year was Rs. 2,86,981, of which Rs. 36,839 were spent in providing an additional pumping engine at Tallah, and Rs. 21,334 on the Chandpal Ghât works, which supply unfiltered water for conservancy purposes. Notwithstanding the completion during the year of the subsidiary scheme at a total cost of Rs. 2,38,224, it is found that the demand for filtered water still continues to increase, and often exceeds the supply which the works were designed to provide. If the constant supply system is to be maintained, the present demand would seem to require a further outlay of some 23 lakhs of rupees, and the question whether additional works are to be undertaken is now under the consideration of the Justices. The Lieutenant-Governor, though quite aware of the need for a larger quantity of filtered water, would be disposed to make further efforts to meet this requirement without undertaking costly additional works, which must, if executed, add to the already heavy charges on account of the municipal debt. By increasing the number of filters at Pultah, which can be made at no great expense, it is probable that some relief will be afforded. At any rate, before farther expenditure is incurred, which might necessitate additional taxation, the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see some practical measures devised, and submitted, if necessary, for the sanction of the Legislature, to check the present waste of water which is complained of.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor congratulates the Justices on the completion, at a total cost of Rs. 6,50,000, of the new Municipal Market. He is glad to learn that the receipts derived from it, and from the Dhurruutollah Market, are sufficient to cover all expenses, including interest on the money borrowed, and contribution to the Sinking Fund. The improvements which the Maharajah of Burdwan has carried out in the Tietta Bazar are satisfactory and commendable, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that they may be followed by the completion of the works which the Health Officer alludes to as necessary to render the bazar a perfect one.

11. A somewhat increased sum was devoted during the year under review to the ordinary purposes of conservancy and road-making. The thanks are due to Mr. E. S. Gubboy for the liberality which has rendered the very marked improvements carried out in Lindsay Street possible. He will watch with interest the effect, as regards sanitary improvements in the town, of the amalgamation which has been carried out since the close of the year of the Drainage and Conservancy Departments. The Justices have already been apprised of the importance attached, as well by the Home as by the Indian Government, to the introduction of some measure of sanitation. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Justices will now devote their attention to this important subject in connection with the improvement of the native villages within the town. He cannot express too strongly his conviction that the condition of these native villages in the heart of the city is unworthy of our municipal administration: that the evil is one which ought not to be—indeed cannot be—tolerated much longer. He is sanguine that the Justices themselves appreciate the necessity of devising some remedy. In meeting the difficulties before them, they may rely on every assistance which it is in his power to afford them.

12. No attempt was made during the year to work the Municipal Tramway, the failure of which, from a financial point of view, was reported in 1873. The question of the terms on which private parties should be permitted to undertake the task of supplying Calcutta with a complete system of tramways has continued to be a subject of discussion, and no final conclusion of the matter has yet been possible, partly owing to a difficulty in reconciling the claims of the Port Commissioners with those of the Municipality. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the matter is one in which he may find it possible to effect an arrangement satisfactory to both parties.

13. From the report of the number of prosecutions under the Jute Act, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that its provisions would seem to have been enforced with sufficient strictness. He trusts that, by the amendments recently made in the law, a sufficient measure of relief has been given to those who found matter for complaint in the original Act.

14. The number of fires which occurred during the year is stated to have been twenty-two. It is satisfactory to find that four only of these happened in Calcutta. The Lieutenant-Governor would, however, have been glad had the means of judging in some measure of the efficiency and usefulness of the Fire Brigade been afforded him by a statement of the number of cases, especially in the suburbs, where it arrived in time to be of any material assistance in extinguishing the fire or in saving property.

15. Sir Richard Temple notices with much pleasure the assiduity with which certain of the Justices, and notably Mr. A. M. Vardon, have devoted themselves to the disposal of municipal cases. It is also gratifying to him to find that there has been no abatement in the interest taken by the Justices as a body in the control and management of all municipal measures having any bearing on the financial arrangements of the year. He trusts that in the future, as in the past year, no ground of complaint will exist with regard to friction in the relations of the Chairman with the Justices. Mr. Hogg deserves much credit for the large measure in which he has secured to himself the support of the Justices generally, and the thanks of Government are due to him for the continued success of his administration during the past year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. L. MANGLES,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS DURING THE YEAR 1874.

RESOLUTION.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 20th July 1875.

READ—

The Annual Report by the Commissioner of Police on the Police Administration of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs during the year 1874; also the Annual Reports of the Police Magistrates of the Town of Calcutta for the same year.

Read again—

The reports of the previous year and the orders passed thereon.

The number of offences, cognizable as well as non-cognizable, reported in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta during the past three years is shown in the report now submitted by the Commissioner of Police to have been as follows:—

			1872.	1873.	1874.
Town	38,879	39,169	29,833
Suburbs	8,659	9,153	7,821
			<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
			<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find from these figures that the increase in crime, which was noticed in reviewing the report for 1873, has not been sustained during the past year. He observes that Mr. Hogg attributes the decrease of 10,668 cases which has occurred, on the whole, chiefly to instructions issued by him enjoining moderation on the part of the Police in the exercise of the very wide powers of arrest given to them by the Police Acts. Manifestly, it is very desirable, in a crowded city like Calcutta, to prevent persons being arrested without adequate reason (the word adequate is emphasized, because it is presumed that there will always be some reason, more or less, whenever an arrest is made). Anything like a tendency to indiscriminate arresting would inspire the urban population with a dread of authority which is really established for the public convenience. The Lieutenant-Governor can readily believe that Mr. Hogg has done well in issuing these instructions. Their effect is most apparent on a reference to the number of persons tried in Calcutta for offences under chapter XIV of the Indian Penal Code, which fell from 6,476 in 1873 to 3,742 during the past year. In reviewing the report for 1873, the Lieutenant-Governor noticed that the intervention of the Police in these cases required some explanation. It is now stated that the power to arrest in them is exercised by the Police under the provisions of Act XXI of 1864. This Act was passed with the view merely of enabling the Police Magistrates to punish cases of nuisance summarily, and it seems very doubtful to the Lieutenant-Governor whether it really confers on the Police the power of arrest claimed. Under any circumstances, it seems to him that in cases of simple nuisance, the immediate arrest of the offender should very seldom be necessary. In the Suburbs, where the Police have to be guided in this matter by the provisions of section 93 of the Criminal Procedure Code, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the number of persons charged with the offences in question was very insignificant compared with the number charged in Calcutta; and he thinks that it would be sufficient if, in the Town, the Police were, in these and other petty cases, to arrest only where the offence is committed in their view, and the name of the offender is unknown and cannot be ascertained. These, in fact, are the requirements of section 237, Act VI (B.C.) of 1863; but from an examination of the returns of the past and previous years, it would appear to be doubtful whether the requirements of the law have been strictly adhered to, even as regards cases under the Conservancy Acts. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Commissioner of Police will give his continued attention to the matter. It is to be added, however, that, in a large city, the prevention of nuisances committed by individuals is a matter of public importance, and that, in cases where such nuisances are committed in sight of the Police, or where such offender may be brought to the Police on credible testimony, and his name and residence cannot be ascertained, it is desirable that the Police should exercise any power of arrest which they may lawfully possess.

2. Distinguishing crime as cognizable or non-cognizable, and according as it was triable under the Penal Code, or under miscellaneous Acts, the chief results for the past year, for both Town and Suburbs, were as follows:—

	COGNIZABLE.		NON-COGNIZABLE.		Total.
	Penal Code.	Miscellaneous	Penal Code.	Miscellaneous.
Cases	6,706	11,912	6,957	13,079	37,654
Number of persons summoned .. .	6,418	15,618	6,167	9,810	38,343
Convictions	3,405	8,312	3,777	9,032	24,524

These figures, taken in connection with Mr. Hogg's explanation noted above, are satisfactory as showing that the number of persons brought to trial was 38,343 only, against 58,290 in the previous year, and of persons convicted 24,524 only, against 38,558. The fact that, of 9,810 persons appearing before the courts charged with non-cognizable offences under miscellaneous Acts, 9,032 were convicted, bears favorable testimony to the discretion with which prosecutions under these Acts have been instituted.

3. The total number of persons and cases shewn by the Police Magistrates in their returns to have been disposed of by them were as follows:—

	Number of cases instituted.	Total number of persons put on trial.	Acquitted.	Convicted.	Committed.
Northern Division	5,337	7,884	1,334	6,366	170
Southern	6,933	7,125	1,154	5,804	73
Total	12,270	15,009	2,488	12,260	243

Compared with the previous year, these figures show the large decrease of 7,390 in the number of cases instituted, of 11,377 in the number of persons brought to trial, and of 9,885 in the number of persons convicted. While the business of both courts has fallen off, the decrease is most apparent in that of the Northern Division. The Lieutenant-Governor would hope that the increase in the number of committals to 243, against 182 in the previous year, may be the result of a desire on the part of the Magistrates to deal more strictly with old offenders.

4. Cognizable crime.—The report of the Commissioner of Police shows the number of cognizable offences reported during the year in both Town and Suburbs, including cases under miscellaneous Acts, as well as under the Penal Code, to have been 18,618, or a little less than the number reported in 1871; but while in that year more than two-thirds of the persons arrested in such cases were convicted, in the past year the proportion was very little over one-half. This result is in some measure attributable to the large increase in the number of persons released without trial, which rose to 8,195 in 1874, against 6,737 in the previous year. As the number of false cases preferred was only 1,803, against 2,348 in the previous year, the reason for this increase must be otherwise accounted for, and it is to be found probably in the fact that the Commissioner of Police appears to have exercised his discretion more freely in discharging persons accused in petty cases with a warning against a repetition of the offence, instead of pressing such cases.

5. In Calcutta itself the total number of cognizable offences accepted as true was only 13,561, against 17,778 in the previous year. It is satisfactory to find that the decrease has been marked under every class of crime, except minor offences against the person and against property, where a slight increase is observable. The number of cases of murder was 2 only, against 7 in the previous year; of these, one occurred on the high seas and was followed by the conviction of four of the offenders. For the failure to secure a conviction in the other case, where a child was murdered for the sake of her ornaments, the Police are in no way responsible. While the acquittal of the accused is much to be regretted, the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied to observe that they were subsequently successfully prosecuted for stealing the ornaments. Of culpable homicide there was but one case, and in this a conviction was obtained. The other case reported was one of attempt only by a lunatic, in which injury was caused to no one. The defect in the law which the Commissioner of Police notices with regard to a case of unnatural offence, in which the Police Magistrate was unable to secure the attendance of the witnesses before the Sessions, will, the Lieutenant-Governor observes, be remedied, should the Bill now before Council to regulate the procedure of Police Courts in Presidency towns be passed.

6. Another benefit to be anticipated from the proposed law is the power which it will give the Police to deal effectually with notorious thieves. The movements of these are at present subject to no legal control, and to this may fairly be attributed in part the increase observable in the returns of thefts. The difficulty noticed by Mr. Hogg in dealing with cases of thefts by servants is a serious one: but the Police cannot be held responsible when persons without characters and complete strangers are engaged as domestic servants.

7. The following table gives the number of cases of thefts, burglaries, and house-trespass taken together, which have occurred during the past three years in the Town and Suburbs respectively, with the amount of property stolen and recovered:—

	TRUE CASES.		DETECTED.		AMOUNT STOLEN.		AMOUNT RECOVERED.
	Calcutta.	Suburbs.	Calcutta.	Suburbs.	Calcutta.	Suburbs.	Calcutta.	Suburbs.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1872	2,377	1,392	716	415	1,12,913	42,600	44,305	17,405
1873	2,141	1,476	812	370	99,307	21,175	52,346	9,354
1874	2,306	1,204	907	424	1,46,662	24,505	80,388	9,579

While the large increase in the amount of property stolen is to be regretted, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that an increased measure of success has attended the operations of the Police in detecting the criminals, and that the percentage of stolen property recovered amounted to 55·17 in the Town and to 39·09 in the Suburbs.

8. In the Suburbs, also, there has been a decrease, though not so marked as in the Town, in the number of cognizable offences accepted as true. It is to be regretted that the efforts made to trace the criminals in two out of the four murders which occurred were unsuccessful. Dacoity and robbery may be said to be now non-existent in the Suburbs. Serious crime of other kinds was rare during the past year, and cases of theft and house-breaking, which, though less numerous than formerly, are still of frequent occurrence, were dealt with with greater success than usual.

9. Non-cognizable crime.—The chief offences classed in the returns under this head, which were dealt with by the Police in Calcutta, were forgery, cheating, and offences under the Arms' and Post Office Acts. The result of the prosecution of the Burmans who smuggled arms to Akyab is doubtless discouraging to the Police, but His Honor trusts will not lead them to relax that vigilance which is so necessary to the proper enforcement of the rules under the Arms' Act. The Commissioner of Police is to be congratulated on the successful issue of the investigation of the case where a whole bag of registered letters was stolen by a Post Office clerk, whose subsequent conviction appears to have been chiefly due to the exertions of Inspector R. Reid. There is nothing calling for notice in the returns of non-cognizable crime in the Suburbs. There is little variation in the number of assault and conservancy cases, which form the bulk of the offences reported. On the whole, a slight decrease of 554 cases is observable compared with the previous year.

10. Shipping Act.—The Lieutenant-Governor observes with the greatest regret that the Magistrate of the Southern Division reports that the seamen of the merchant service are becoming more troublesome than formerly, and that cases of refusal of duty and absence without leave are common. He admits, however, that, in one case, the allegation of the men that the vessel was not in a fit state to proceed to sea was well founded. The Lieutenant-Governor fears that in other cases allegations to this effect have been made by the offenders, and though not accepted by the Magistrate, they might have been true for all that, inasmuch as there are not sufficient means of testing them. A copy of the Magistrate's remarks, pointing out that in the absence of a survey prior to leaving port the seamen have no guarantee that the vessels they ship in are good and seaworthy, will be forwarded to the General Department (Marine) of this Government for immediate consideration, inasmuch as the matter is, in the Lieutenant-Governor's estimation, one of grave and urgent importance. As compared with the previous year, there is a slight increase in the number of persons brought to trial and convicted.

11. Arms' Act.—It is satisfactory to find that the rules prescribed by the Government of India have had the desired effect of restricting the importation of cheap fire-arms, and that the rules have generally worked well and are found amply sufficient for all purposes. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad also to learn that the registers of the Calcutta dealers are now kept with tolerable accuracy and are carefully checked. The question whether or not the rules should be rigidly enforced as regards the trade in lead and saltpetre is under the consideration of the Government of India.

12. Strength and Cost of the Police.—There was no change made in the strength or cost of the Calcutta Police during the year. A slight reduction was effected in the River Police, and in the Suburbs the strength of the lower grades has been brought down to the sanctioned scale. It is satisfactory to find that the number of dismissals from the force has largely decreased. The number of minor departmental punishments inflicted, however, continues to be great. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that though the endeavours made to increase the number of Bengallee constables have not been altogether satisfactory in their results, still a considerable number of men of education and promise have been enlisted. He desires that the enlisting of Bengallee constables may continue to receive consideration.

13. Old Offenders —In reviewing the report for 1873, the Lieutenant-Governor impressed upon the Police Magistrates the necessity of their assisting in the suppression of habitual crime by committing to the High Court old offenders who may be found to be persevering in their evil courses. The table showing that no less than 291 persons previously convicted were dealt with summarily during the year would seem to indicate that the Magistrates have paid but insufficient attention to those instructions. Sir Richard Temple must insist upon the Magistrates adopting the course pointed out to them in this respect in future. Meanwhile, he will be glad to receive separately an explanation which they may have to offer of the apparent failure to resort sufficiently to committal.

14. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor has to express his approval of the manner in which the administration of the Police has been conducted throughout the year by Mr. Stuart Hogg, and, under his orders, by Mr. J. Lambert, the Deputy Commissioner of Police, and he desires that an expression of the approbation of Government may be conveyed to the subordinate officers who are mentioned in the report as having discharged their duties in an efficient manner.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 17th July 1875.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIV.	1 Burdwan, July 19,* '75	·95	Rainfall at Culna ·77, Jehanabad 3·19, Raneegunge 3·25, Bood-hood ·82, and Cutwa 2·74 inches. High wind and stormy weather on the 14th and 15th instant. Barometer fell about ·30. Crops thriving, and not injured by the stormy weather. Health fair.
	2 Bankoora, „ 17, „	1·06	Slight showers, generally accompanied by wind. Rain is much wanted for transplanting rice; other crops are doing well.
	3 Beerbhoom, „ 17, „	1·91	Showery weather. State and prospects of crops continue good.
	4 Midnapore, „ 17, „	3·49	Very stormy on Wednesday and Thursday morning. The rainfall increases as one goes south, and apparently there was a storm out at sea. Hardly any of the crops are advanced enough to be seriously injured by the storm. At Contai, however, the rainfall (over seven inches) is reported to threaten some damage to the young rice.
	5 Hooghly, „ 16, „	2·57	Wind north, then north-east, then east, and very strong for about 50 hours. Every appearance of a cyclone at some distance. No damage reported. Fine since morning of the 15th instant. State and prospects of crops are very good.
PASSERBY DIV.	Howrah, „ 17, „	6·24	There has been heavy rain during the week. All crops are in a satisfactory condition. The storm did no injury to the crops.
	6 24-Pergunnahs, July 19,† '75	6·49	During the first five days of the week the weather has been incessantly wet, with strong winds blowing from the north-east, during the last two days it has been dry and exceedingly clear. A large quantity of rain fell during the week, especially in sub-divisions Barripore and Diamond Harbour, which and the storm have done some injury to seedlings and the early rice coming out in ears. Transplantation of aman , or late rice, going on rapidly. Desultory cases of cholera reported from Satkhira, Barripore, and Busselhat. Fever on the increase at Diamond Harbour and decrease at Barripore.
	7 Nuddea, „ 17, „	1·32	Strong wind from the north-east, on the 13th, 14th, and 15th instant. Some rain has fallen. Rice crops are promising. The early rice may almost be said to be safe. The prospects of indigo are no better than they were last week.
	8 Jessore, „ 17, „	3·77	Weather cloudy, with seasonable rain. A stormy wind from the north-east prevailed on Tuesday and Wednesday, but on Thursday it veered round to the east, thence to the south-east. The strong wind and heavy rain have damaged the early rice and also indigo to some extent. Transplantation of the aman , or late rice, continues. Prospects generally are good.
	9 Moorshedabad, „ 17, „	1·10	Weather hot and fair. Some rain has fallen. Aous , or early rice plants, in flower in parts of Jungypore. Transplantation of aman , or late rice plant, still going on in Raupore Haut and Jungypore. The late high wind has done some harm to the aus rice crop in the Sudder division. Sugarcane, indigo, and mulberry are good. Cholera still present in Soojagunge, Gorabazar, Gokurn, and Kallyangunge thanas. Slight fall in prices.
RAJSHAHY DIV.	10 Dinagepore, „ 16, „	Nil	There was no rain during the week at the head-quarters. Elsewhere only slight showers fell. Nowhere more than ·18 inch fell. Weather dry and very hot, with a high east wind. The bhadai and sugarcane crops are promising well; bhadai is being cut in Thakoorgon; jute is also being cut. The transplanting of hemanti , or late rice, and the preparation of soil, are actively carried on. Rain is wanted. There has been little or none during the last week. No mischief, however, has been done as yet. This was written on the 14th instant. The bhadai has already been damaged, and if the rain holds off much longer, will be seriously injured.
	11 Maldah, „ 17, „	0·08	Weather sunny and dry; rain on 1st and 6th day of the week; the other days were warm, with no rain. Fair crop of indigo expected. Its cutting has commenced. Bhadai crop expected to be fair.
	12 Rajshahye, „ 17, „	·68	There has been slight rain in most parts of the district during the week, and high winds all along the bank of the Ganges for some days. The want of rain for the crops is much felt, especially for the ropa or transplanted rice in the Bhurind lauds. The aous , or early rice crops, on high lauds also much requires moisture. There is no marked sickness.
	13 Rungpore, „ 16, „	·56	Weather clear and hot. State of crops good.
	14 Bogra, „ 17, „	·20	Weather dry and windy. Rain much wanted. A small fall within the last two or three days. The crops are not yet affected, but some more rain is required to bring them on, and assist transplanting. Cholera has entirely disappeared.
	15 Pubna, „ 17, „	1·09	Seasonable weather. Prospects of rice, turmeric, sugarcane, and jute, are good. Cholera has disappeared. Public health generally good, but the much fever in and about the town.

* Telegram of the 19th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 19th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	16 Darjeeling, July 16, '75	5.71	Rain more or less every day of the week. The early crops of maize, buckwheat, potatoes, and murwa millet, are all ripening in the hills, and promise a good outturn. The rice in the terai , and the minor crops there, are progressing very favorably.
	17 Julpigoree, „ 17, „	5.40	Nothing could be more favorable than the weather, and the prospects of all crops are as good as could be desired.
	Cooch Behar, „ 15, „	1.17	The weather was very hot during the week, and there was very little rain. The transplanting of late rice has not yet been finished, and some heavy showers of rain are wanted.
Eastern Districts.
Dacca DIVN.	18 Dacca, July 19,* '75	3.06	Seasonable weather. Crops are very good. At present there is every prospect of a full harvest.
	19 Fureedpore, „ 17, „	2.63	Alternate sunshine and rain. The crops are getting on well. The general health of the district continues good.
	20 Backergunge, „ 15, „	6.73	There is nothing worthy of serious complaint. There has been sufficient rain. High winds have prevailed within the last five days. A little fever and a little cattle-disease continue.
	21 Mymensingh, „ 16, „	1.79	Seasonable showers. Transplantation of the roa , or late rice seedlings, is still in progress.
CHITTAGONG DIVN.	22 Chittagong, „ 15, „	6.63	Weather windy, with frequent showers. Except in a few places in the northern thanas, where insects have appeared, the crops generally continue to do well.
	23 Noakholly, „ 15, „	7.26	Weather cloudy and rainy. Heavy showers on the night of the 11th instant. Strong wind from south and south-east. The early rice crops in the high lands are going on well, but in the low land in some parts of the district are reported to have been submerged from the heavy rain. The transplantation of the amra crop continues. Accidental deaths of children from drowning are frequent as usual at this time of the year. General health most favorable. No particular diseases prevalent.
	24 Tipperah, „ 16, „	2.92	Occasional heavy showers, but the weather has been finer than is usual at this season. Rain at Brahmunberiah '87. The winter rice in the low lands has been slightly damaged by inundation, caused by the heavy rainfall last month, but the crops generally are in a very flourishing condition.
	25 Chittagong Hill Tracts, „ 13, „	7.70	Rain throughout the whole week. Indian-corn is now ripe, and is brought for sale in small quantities. The paddy and cotton crops have suffered somewhat from excessive rain.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 14, „	1.11	There has been very little rain during the past week. The state and prospects of the crops remain good.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN.	26 Patna, „ 19,* „	1.32	Weather very hot, close, and sultry. Little rain during the week. Prospects of the crops continue favorable. Health generally good.
	27 Gya, „ 17, „	12	Weather cloudy, rainy, and cool; most rain has fallen at Nowadah, where it measured 3.81 inches. Highest reading of thermometer during week was 93° degrees. Very favorable prospects, but in Nowadah some injury to bhadoi crops feared from much rain. Cases of cholera show an increase again during the week in Aurungabad sub-division.
	28 Shahabad, „ 17, „	3.22	Heavy rain on Wednesday. Occasional showers during the week. Strong easterly wind on Wednesday and Thursday. Prospects of crops are good. Bhadoi crops germinating.
	29 Durbhanga, „ 17, „	.61	Weather generally fine, with occasional showers. Rain has fallen in the Mudhoo-bani sub-division, but more is required, as is also the case in the head-quarters sub-division. In the south of the district the rainfall has been ample.
	30 Mozufferpore, „ 17, „	1.68	Weather hot, with high winds. The prospects of the bhadoi crops are favorable, but rain is much wanted for transplantation of rice throughout the district, especially in Beetamurhee sub-division, where the fall has been only .10 during the week.

* Telegrams of the 19th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BHAR.—(Contd.)
PATNA DIV.—(Contd.)	81 Saran, July 17, '75	2.67	Weather rainy during the first three days, latterly sunny and hot. East wind prevailing. Rainfall at Sewan 3.61 inches. There was more or less rain throughout the district. Bhadoi crops are being weeded, and are progressing well. Manufacture of indigo and transplantation of the late rice are going on. State and prospects of crops are favorable. General health good. Cholera in a mild form has broken out in Sewan.
	32 Champaran, „ 16, „	3.60	The rainfall throughout the district has been much better than last week, but the falls have been partial, and more rain would do good everywhere. The prospects of the crops continue good.
BHAGULPORE DIV.	33 Monghyr, „ 17, „	1.46	Seasonable weather. No change since last week. The bhadoi prospects continue good.
	34 Bhagulpore, „ 19,* „	1.07	Reports from South Bhagulpore are very good. Weather favorable for Indian-corn, which will be a first-rate crop. Reports from North Bhagulpore are not so good. More rain is very necessary. Murwah millet and bhadoi , or early rice, are likely to be short crops for want of sufficient moisture, but with heavy rain next few days the outturn may yet be good. General health very good, though fever, cholera, and small-pox cases are reported here and there.
	35 Purneah, „ 17, „	0.58	Weather hot and sultry. Rain is much wanted in the centre and south of the district for the aughany , or late rice crops. The bhadoi is coming into ear, and promises fairly.
	36 Sonthal Perghe, „ 17, „	1.01	A good deal of rain in the west of the district—Jamatra 2 inches, Deoghur 2.9, Godda 2.74, Doonika 1.01, and Rajmehal 1.4. It blew hard from the east from last Thursday. State and prospects of crops are excellent except in Deoghur, where a short crop of janera is expected. There has been too continuous rain. Rice-planting well begun.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION.	37 Cuttack, „ 10, „	3.74	Weather cloudy and clear by turns, with showers of rain—sharp but soon over. Early rice crop coming on splendidly. Late rice crop promising well. Cholera accompanying the pilgrims, who are now coming back from the Rith festival at Pooree.
	38 Pooree, „ 15, „	2.47	Rainy and cloudy weather. The sowings of the sarud , or late paddy, are in progress. In some places the transplantation of early seedlings has commenced. Sugarcane, urhur pulse, and mandia (millet) plants, are thriving.
	39 Balasore, „ 16, „	11.16	Two fine days at the commencement of the week, succeeded by showery, uncertain weather, which culminated in heavy squalls and incessant rain on Thursday. The weather is now fine again. The rainfall this season has been in excess of what is required for any useful purpose. The Subunrekha and Bura-bullong rivers are in high flood, but no damage has yet come to notice. The prospects of the young crop continue favorable. Cholera still lingers in a sporadic form, but the number of cases reported has decreased considerably during the week.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
	40 Hazareebagh, July 16, '75	4.53	Seasonable weather. There has been more or less rain every day during the week. The Indian-corn crop has been severely damaged, and will not recover itself. Murwah and goondli millets are still very backward, but may recover yet. Health of the district is good.
	41 Lohardugga, „ 17, „	5.39	Weather stormy and wet. There has been too much rain for the bhadoi crops, and fine weather is now looked for. Prospects continue favorable. In Palamow cholera is increasing.
	42 Singbhoom, „ 16, „	5.14	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of crops are very favorable. District healthy.
	43 Maunbhoom, „ 17, „	3.71	Character of weather is generally favorable. Reports are conflicting. In some pergunnahs a poor crop is expected of Indian-corn, millet, and gora dhan . The reports from Gobindpore are more promising in regard to Indian-corn. Throughout the district the winter paddy is promising.

* Telegram of the 19th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

CALCUTTA,
The 17th July 1875.W. G. WILLSON.
Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

Abstract of Observations as received in the Meteorological Office, Calcutta, during the month of May 1875.

N.B.—The barometric data are reduced for temperature and not for height above sea-level.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet, are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Deppe's tables, as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahr. for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky; a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines, and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 19th July 1875.

READ—

A memorandum (No. 2261, dated 8th July 1875,) from the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, submitting an application for a loan of Rs. 7,000 required by the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee under the provisions of the Local Public Works Loan Act of 1871.

WHEREAS it appears probable to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal that the loan of Rs. 7,000 (seven thousand) applied for by the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee should be granted,

It is hereby ordered that the application be published in the Calcutta Gazette, as required by the fifth of the rules passed by the Governor-General in Council under section 4 of the Local Public Works Loan Act XXIV of 1871, and published on the 15th of October 1873:—

Application to the Government of Bengal for a loan to the Manbhoom District Road Fund Commissioners, made under the provisions of the Local Public Works Loan Act XXIV of 1871.

THE work for which the loan is applied for is the completion of the turfing of certain embankments thrown up on the several roads of the Manbhoom district during last year, at a cost, in round figures, of Rs. 1,25,000, in order to permanently protect the embankments. The work is of public utility, and for the benefit of the general community dwelling within the local limits of the District Road Fund Commissioners.

2. The amount of loan applied for is Rs. 7,000.

3. The cesses on the security of which this loan is applied for are those levied in the Manbhoom district under the Road Cess Act X of 1871, which, from and after the 1st October 1875, are estimated to realize about Rs. 36,000 per annum.

4. The loan is required in one lump sum, and on the earliest possible date. It is proposed to repay the loan in one lump sum on the 30th September 1876.

5. The income and expenditure of the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee during each of the years 1871-72, 1872-73, and 1873-74, is shown in the following schedule:—

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—It is hereby notified for general information that under Section 85 of Act III (B.C.) of 1864, the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to approve of and confirm the following—

Bye-laws prepared and passed by the Municipal Commissioners of Dacca, for the Regulation and Cleansing of Private Privies and Premises situated within the limits of that Town.

Whenever it shall appear to the Municipal Commissioners to be advisable that they should, through servants appointed by them, undertake the disposal of night-soil of any portion or portions of the town of Dacca, they shall give public notice, by advertisement or otherwise, that they will, from and after a certain date, not less than one month after date of issue of notice, undertake the disposal thereof, subject to such conditions as may seem fit.

2. The Municipal Commissioners shall, after giving notice as aforesaid, make arrangements for the removal of all night-soil from all private privies within such portion or portions of the town as aforesaid.

3. Any person who wishes to undertake the cleaning of his own premises may apply to the Municipal Commissioners for exemption from the above rule. If the Municipal Commissioners are satisfied that the applicant is competent to make arrangements for cleaning his own premises, they may exempt him from the operation of the above bye-law. Occupiers of privies who have not been so exempted shall pay to the Municipal Commissioners quarterly in advance, at the following rates per mensem, viz. eight annas per mensem if the house occupied along with the privy be built in whole or in part of burned bricks, and two annas per mensem if it be not so built, in accordance with the provisions of Section 11 of Act VII of 1870.

4. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises liable to the rate, shall give free access to the servants of the municipality to his house, land, or premises for the removal of any night-soil or filth, within such hours as may have been fixed on by the Municipal Commissioners.

5. Every person shall construct his privy above ground, and shall provide his privy or premises with a suitable moveable receptacle of tin, iron, or earthenware.

Penalty for infringement after notice, Rs. 20.

6. No householder having made payment as aforesaid shall, during the continuance of the period for which such payment has been made, be subject to any domiciliary visit of inspection of his privy or premises by any overseer or other officer of the municipality, unless he neglects to comply with the provisions of bye-law 5: provided always that any overseer or other officer of the municipality shall be at liberty to inspect any privy or premises during the hours fixed for the removal of night-soil.

7. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, the disposal of whose night soil the municipality may not have undertaken, shall, after 6 hours' notice, give free access to his house, land, or premises to any officer, not under the rank of an overseer, who may wish to inspect the same, within such hours as the municipality may from time to time determine.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 5.

8. On receipt of a notice from the Municipal Commissioners, every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises, in or on which any well, privy, or other noxious or improperly constructed privy may be situated, shall fill up, close, or otherwise alter the construction of the said privy as may be directed in the notice; and if the orders contained in the notice be not carried out within 15 days, the Commissioners may fill up, close, or otherwise alter the said privy, and any expense incurred in so doing shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

9. No owner or occupier of any house, land or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, shall allow night-soil or filth of any kind to flow or be discharged from such privy into any drain, water-course, river, tank, hollow, or excavation (or any place containing waste and stagnant water), or into any other receptacle but one of the nature described in bye-law 5.

10. No person shall throw, deposit, or discharge any night-soil, sewage, or the contents of any drain, privy, or cesspool, into any river, tank, khal, water-course, or receptacle for water, or dispose of the above-mentioned kinds of offensive matters in any other way than as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 20.

11. The Municipal Commissioners may direct the use of lime, coal-tar, carbolic acid, or other deodorants or disinfectants in any privy or premises if at any time it seem to them necessary for the preservation of public health, or for the prevention of infection or spread of disease: provided that the Municipal Commissioners shall be bound to supply such deodorants, &c., at cost price, and the price shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

12. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to charge a fee, at a rate to be fixed hereafter by the Municipal Commissioners, according to circumstances, for the reception of night-soil to be deposited at their depôts by any mehter or person other than their own servants, and such fee shall be paid in advance for not less than one month. Unless such charge be paid, the soil will not be received.

13. No person shall carry night-soil through the streets otherwise than in a closely covered receptacle, of such description and pattern as shall be required from time to time by the Municipal Commissioners, and between such hours as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 386.

The 27th July 1875.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of Monghyr, Bhagulpore, Purneah, and Sonthal Pergunnahs, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1873-74, together with the review thereon by the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Captain, M.S.C.,Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.Report of the Monghyr District Road Committee for the year 1873-74.

THE Executive Engineer's report, showing the actual work done and money expended during the year, has been submitted, and I propose now to make, on behalf of the Road Cess Committee, the following remarks on the working of the road cess and the general state of the district roads.

The marginally noted gentlemen formed the Road Cess Committee during the year.

E. Lockwood, Officiating Magistrate and Chairman, H. J. Newberry, Vice-Chairman, Major H. E. Waller, Baboo Gungapershad Shah, Abdul Hossein, H. Dear, Esq., Moharaja Si Joy Mungul Singh, K.C.S.I., Baboo Ram Iroshad Pasa, and Taz Ali, recently appointed members at the end of the year under report.

Those gentlemen who live at or near the station are very regular in their attendance at the meetings; but those who live at a distance, although occasionally present, are little more than sleeping members. It is a subject for regret that Shah Abdool Hossein, by far the most active zemindar in the district, lives fifty miles from Monghyr, as on the few occasions when he has attended his suggestions have been invariably sound and valuable. The presence of two lines of railway in the district, which pass through the most important places, however, enable the members of the Committee to go about the country in luxury, without having recourse to the ordinary roads, and consequently Major Waller, the District Superintendent of Police and I, are the only members who know much from inspection what is the actual state of the roads. Last year, during the season of scarcity, as I had only been recently appointed Magistrate, I rode over all the roads in the district and carefully inspected them, but I came to the conclusion that as roads are chiefly intended for wheeled traffic, the only satisfactory method of inspection was driving over them. One is apt to overlook obstructions easily surmounted on horse-back, but which make the road almost impassable for carts, particularly when dragged by the half-starved bullocks usually exhibited in Behar. I accordingly procured a wheeled conveyance of the kind known as a "bamboo cart," and during the recent cold weather have driven over every road that I inspected. I find, as I anticipated, that my knowledge of the state of the roads is complete, and I think that the bullocks and their drivers will have no cause to regret my present mode of inspection.

I first drove over the road from Monghyr to Kharuckpore via Barriarpore. This road, which last year was unmetalled, and, in consequence of the pitfalls and wave-like inundations, only to be ridden over at a foot-pace, is now metalled, and, as far as Barriarpore, would make a good bicycle race-course.

I was so much impressed last year by the amount of traffic which I saw on it, that I was determined to put this road in good order. The road from Barriarpore to Kharuckpore, although metalled, is in an unsatisfactory state. I never ride or drive over it but my horse loses a shoe, and Mr. Roberts, the manager of the Durbhanga raj, tells a similar story. The reason is that close to the roadside extensive iron works were carried on in old days, and an immense amount of slag is buried a few yards below the ground, and is easily procurable. The Engineer, whoever he was some years ago, could not resist utilizing this metal, but in a slovenly manner he neglected to break it up into small pieces. Consequently the sharp points crop up everywhere, and make the road very awkward for horses' feet.

It was suggested to me that these moles should be broken off, but I have determined to have the road entirely remetalled as soon as possible.

For two miles beyond Barriarpore the road runs through lowlying country, and during the rains the flood extends on either side as far as the eye can reach. If the east wind blows, a ripple or rather waves dash against the bank in such a manner as almost to wash it away in a few hours if left unprotected.

The Engineer has now, however, procured huge stones from the adjacent hills, and we are walling up the bank, sowing pampas grass in the interstices of the stones. This road opens out the Kharuckpore pergunnah, celebrated for the finest rice in the country, for wood cut in the Kharuckpore hills (which supplies the town of Monghyr with fuel), and other commodities too numerous to mention.

The bridges and culverts on this road are in good order, and the timber bridge near Barriarpore stands so well that I see no necessity for supplanting it with masonry.

I next drove over the road from Kharuckpore to Gangta, made by the Kharuckpore Raj, and which opens out a fine country. The road is unmetalled, but well bridged.

I took a note of every obstruction on the way, and Mr. Roberts has since kindly had these put to order.

This road communicates with the Jamooe station on the chord line, and I think it would be worth the while of passengers for Calcutta to drive from this via Gangta and catch the train at Jamooe. It would save the trouble of going round by Luckeeserai. I have driven over a portion of the road between Gangta and Jamooe. I was glad to find that a European has been appointed by the special department to put this road in good repair, but it struck me the overseer is rather too young and inexperienced to do the work effectually. Last year I took a good deal of trouble about this road, and a very little labour now will make it first rate.

A road is much wanted between Kharuckpore and Arzisingunge (7 miles). I rode over this part of the country a short time ago, and wondered why a road has not been made there. I should have had one made myself there last year, only the rice crops being good the people were well off, and work was not much required.

The Rajah, Lilanund Singh, will give the land, and directly we have money and leisure the road must be made.

The next road which I notice is that from Monghyr to Seetakoond via Pirpahar. This road, so much frequented by sight-seers and pilgrims, has been a standing disgrace to the ferry fund and road cess, which could be tolerated no longer, so it is now being repaired and metalled with stones from the adjacent hills.

The Patna road last year received much attention from the Committee. It runs through low inundated land between the Ganges and the railway. I went over it on several occasions last year, and the earthwork afforded a vast amount of labour to the famine-stricken people from the neighbouring rice pergunnahs. I have recently been over it, and my determination to accomplish the journey on wheels was received by the special department which has charge of it with considerable amusement. I however accomplished the journey in safety, riding as far as Surjgurra and driving the rest of the way.

It took me ten hours to come thirty miles, and my notes by the way have already been submitted. They may be briefly stated as follows. This road requires no more earthwork anywhere; surface repairs only are necessary. The high flood last year has breached the road in many places where there ought to have been waterway. These gaps should be merely rounded off to admit the passage of carts. It is useless building up the bank again, for it will certainly be washed away during the rains.

Light wooden bridges are necessary all along the road, and until these are made, the road must remain impassable during the rains.

It is satisfactory, however, to think that travellers have the railroad on one side and the river on the other, so that there is no necessity even to build wooden bridges on this road—at least until other more urgent work is accomplished. The Engineer in charge, early in November, should drive over this road accompanied by a gang of coolies, in order to round off the water-worn edges of the breaches. The road will thus in a few days become first-rate for fair-weather traffic; but leaving it, as I found it last month, to take care of itself, it must remain impassable alike during the dry and rainy seasons.

The next road which demands notice is that between Luckeeserai and Jamooe (20 miles). I have lately driven over it, and found it in capital order, except where it was under repair.

It is a very common fault for slovenly overseers to pile up loose earthwork on these roads without giving a thought as to how carts are to pass, and thus put a stop to all wheeled traffic just at the very time when the roads are most needed; and I find it necessary to have the following note entered in the first page of overseer's field-book:—"When you repair a road, make ample provision for traffic, either by completing each yard as you proceed, or by clearing a good leek by the roadside. Any breach of this rule coming to the Magistrate's knowledge will be severely noticed."

In England such breach of professional knowledge and smartness would probably meet with condign punishment from the hands of carters themselves, but in India the gariwans humbly resign themselves to what they consider their fate.

I found a small spring of pure water close to the roadside at Luckunpari village, and have requested the Engineer to build a small pucca trough there for the use of travellers and cattle.

The road between Jamooe and Mullypore stations is in fair order. I hope eventually we may bridge the two intervening streams, but the matter is of no great importance at present.

I next drove over the road between Jamoore and the Buttea Pass in Chakae. This road is under the Jamoore Branch Committee. All it requires, like the Patna road, is a gang of coolies to round off breaches and the river banks to make generally a first-class road. The gravelly nature of the soil in Gidhour and Chakae forms a high road whenever the jungle is cleared away.

The famine road from Jamoore to Sekundra, towards Nowadah, and from Sekundra to Luckeeserai, only require smoothing down and having wooden bridges at intervals to make them serviceable to the people and open out the neighbouring country. These roads, which are now under the special department, are not subject to much inundation, and the repairs are easily effected. This part of the country is now fully opened out, and very little remains to be done to make communication perfect.

I went over the Sekundra and Luckeeserai road several times during the year; and if the overseers will only strictly observe the above-mentioned golden rule which I have given them, this road will remain a very good one.

The Gyreack road has for years been a bugbear to the Engineers connected with it. Like the Patna road, it is subjected to the Ganges flood. At present it forms a capital cold-weather flush road, and with a very little trouble might be made as good for all seasons. A light railway on this road would probably pay better than elsewhere on the district.

I have lately been over the Rajrah and Sooroojgurah road. This is a metalled road, and is in good order. The wooden bridge at the 3rd mile is exactly the kind of bridge wanted on various parts of the adjacent Patna road. It is light, strong, cheap, and effective. I noticed that the flood had come to within a few inches of the top of the bridge—20 feet high—and the consequent rush of water must have been immense.

I now go on to the road north of the Ganges; and here road making is very difficult and an unsatisfactory undertaking. I am inclined to think that it was a mistake to have any earth-work here at all. The rush of the Ganges, Gunduck, and other streams in flood is so overwhelming that unless the roads are bridged at almost every point, they are breached year by year, and what is built up one year is washed away the next. But still the Mozufferpore is a very important road, and I propose, during this cold weather, coming to some definite conclusion regarding it. It has been proposed to make an embankment south of the road, not only to protect it, but also to secure a bhadai harvest for the ryots; but this proposal, though good in theory, would, I suspect, prove futile in practice. It would, I think, be almost as easy to bank up the Atlantic as to stop the Ganges in this part of the country.

A good deal of money was spent on this road during the famine, and the work gave work to the coolies, but every time I went over it I felt that money was being spent for a doubtful advantage.

The bridge over the Lakho nullah has stood well; and I may remark here that all the bridges built by Baboo Ram Ratan Mozomdar are first-class; my unit of comparison being the bridges on the East Indian Railway. This officer has the merit, which I find of very rare occurrence, that of knowing a good brick from a bad one—and bad bricks and mortar are instantly condemned by him. The other roads north of the Ganges are fair-weather roads only, the country being under water during the rains. That from Manjhoul to Khagria is in very good order, and it was repaired to some extent during the year. I got faster over this road than over any other road in the district. The new road from Bucktearpore to Bullia, which was made during the year under review, is a good work, and it saved many a poor coolie from starving. This road forms an exception to my above statement, that all the roads north of the Gunduck are fair-weather roads only; for it runs through a rice country not deeply inundated, and its bank is above high water-mark during the rains.

There is also a road which we made from Khagria towards Gogree during the famine. I went over it on several occasions, and indeed drew out the line myself. It is a very useful work so far as it goes, forming an embankment to keep the flood from Khagria.

There is still a good deal to be done in this district by the Road Cess Committee; but if we accomplish as much in future years as we have already accomplished since the Act came into force, we shall have means of communication all over the country, and, as regards roads, be second to no other district in Bengal.

E. LOCKWOOD.

Offg. Magistrate and Chairman, D. R. C.

No. 139R., dated Monghyr, the 1st May 1875.

From—E. Lockwood, Esq., Chairman, District Road Fund Committee, Monghyr,
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagalpore Division

With reference to his No. 35P.W., dated 29th ultimo.

The first work to be done this year is to make a good pucca road from Monghyr to Seetakoond via Pirpahar. The work is in hand, and will, I hope, soon be finished. This road much used by pilgrims and visitors to Monghyr.

2 The members of the Committee have not made up their minds what to do on the Patna and Tirhoot roads. They are waiting until our proposed Engineer, Mr. King, is appointed, to settle something definite regarding these roads. At all events the roads will be made first rate fair-weather roads. We are also waiting to see if any part of the Tirhoot road is taken for the imperial railway.

3. The Kharuckpore road will be remetalled and the banks walled. There is some talk of the Durbhunga Raj officers taking over this work; we shall be very glad if they will take it. The work is sure to be well done.

4. We do not propose to metal any more roads at present. I am constantly driving over the district, and prefer the kutchra roads to metalled roads, unless they can be kept in first rate order. The fact is the country carts with the light wooden wheels only turn up the metal, but fail to crush it into the ground again.

5. The Gungta famine road will be bridged with wooden bridges and completed during the year, as will all the other roads in the Jumooe district. For my part I prefer wooden to brick bridges.

6. We shall send a pioneer in a bamboo cart over the Chakae road. A few coolies can put this road in first rate order. The geological formation being gneiss and metamorphic rocks. A road appears wherever the jungle is cleared away. Left to itself, this road after the rains is impassable, but a few coolies can make it good enough for a tandem or bicycle.

There is nothing like a tour in a bamboo cart to find out weak places in roads; every jolt and every bump is a black mark against the overseer; whereas in a palkee or riding such things are not noticed.

The Bucktearpore road is bridged and in first-rate order. We shall see that it is kept so.

Our attention will this year also be particularly turned towards making use of the indigo planters, all of whom are interested in having good roads and understand the work.

Directly Mr. King arrives, which I trust he may do soon, I shall go carefully over the position of affairs with him, and I have no doubt our roads will be in first rate order.

We do not intend to make any new roads during the year; our object is to place those at present existing in thorough repair.

REPORT FOR THE CESS YEAR 1873-74.

No. 29, dated Bhagulpore, the 12th December 1874.

From—V. TAYLOR, Esq., Chairman, District Road Fund Committee, Bhagulpore,
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report of the working of the Road Fund Committee for the cess year 1873-74.

2. The Committee.—The year opened with a gloomy prospect of the future. The early cessation of rain in the autumnal months caused anxiety about the prospect of rice harvest in this as in many other districts of Bengal and Behar; Government sharing the anxiety of the people, and desirous of mitigating and averting, if possible, the effects of the drought which it was anticipated would result in severe distress, if not in actual famine in several districts, issued instructions for the organization and conduct of relief works in the districts that were believed to be distressed. By these instructions (vide Calcutta Gazette, dated the 10th December 1873, page 1627) all district roads were to be considered as relief works, and all relief works were placed under a special supervising department. These instructions were understood as superseding the action and control of the Committee in respect of the district roads. Relief roads were opened without the Committee being consulted; and although its functions were in theory revived by Government letter No. 79—S.R., dated 12th January 1874, forwarded with Commissioner's No. 1318—S.R., dated 20th January 1874, practically it had nothing to do with relief roads. Several roads which were included in the estimate prepared by the Committee were classed as relief works, and in respect of them the new system of supervision also applied. But though the Committee's action was actually suspended for a time (and it was practically so in respect of all relief roads during the year under review), its books and establishments were used for keeping the accounts of all relief works whether in the shape of roads, bunds, or tanks, and the district and relief accounts kept together. Money also passed through its hands, but the Committee acted as a mere channel for receiving and crediting all relief grants in its books, and then making them over to the Public Works Department. Although the Committee has not had the opportunity of rendering such assistance to Government as was in its power by supervising and controlling the conduct and expenditure of all district works at a time when Government was most anxious to alleviate distress among the people, it has the satisfaction of observing that it has been of some use, however slight, inasmuch as its works and establishment have been made serviceable for the purposes of famine relief.

3. There was a slight change in the personnel of the Committee during the past year. Moulvi Hossain Ali, a member, resigned, and Bahoo Radha Churn Gangooly, a zemindar, was appointed in his place.

4. The following gentlemen were members of the Committee at the end of the year:—

1. V. Taylor, Esq., Magistrate and Collector, Chairman.
2. The Senior Covenanted Officer under the Magistrate.
3. Major W. Gordon, District Superintendent of Police.
4. W. Graham, Esq., indigo planter and manager of an indigo concern.
5. Baboo Hurbullub Narain Singh, zemindar.
6. James Hennessy, Esq., indigo planter and zemindar.
7. Baboo Radha Churn Gangooly, zemindar.
8. „ Hurry Mohan Thacoor, zemindar.
9. „ Surjee Narain Singh, pleader and landholder, Vice-Chairman

5. Chairman and Vice-Chairman.—The present Chairman and the present Vice-Chairman, Baboo Surjee Narain Singh, filled those offices during the year under report.

6. Meetings of the Committee.—There were six meetings of the Committee during the year: all the meetings convened were attended by a quorum. The two subjoined tables show the number of meetings attended by different members and the number of attendance at each meeting.

7. Branch Road Cess Committees.—Branch road cess committees were appointed during the year—one at each of the sub-divisions in the district; but they appear not to have commenced actual operations. The distress interfered with the action of the District Committee as well as the branch committees.

8. Statement of Roads.—The statement and supplementary statement of roads prepared last year were classified in accordance with Government Circular Order No. 56, dated 18th August 1873. There was great delay in submitting the classified list, which was done only on the 2nd of October last, after the expiry of the year, although the order for classification was received on the 30th August 1873; but as the Committee had to depend entirely on the District Engineer for a properly classified list, the Committee was powerless in the matter. The list forwarded by the Executive Engineers, North and South, were incorrect, and had to be sent back for rectification, and the revised lists were also somewhat inaccurate, but the necessary corrections were made in the Committee office, and they were duly submitted to the Commissioner. By this classification the roads are divided into four classes.

Under 1st class come metalled roads.

„ 2nd „ „ raised roads, unmetalled and bridged.

„ 3rd „ are included raised roads, unmetalled, not bridged.

„ 4th are included all roads not metalled or raised.

The result of this Classification is given below :—

9. Estimate of Income and Expenditure.—The estimate for the year 1873-74 was prepared at a meeting held on 30th July 1873. The estimated receipts were Rs. 99,505-15-4, and the expenditure Rs. 95,772, leaving a balance of Rs. 3,733-15-4. This estimate was unanimously passed by the Committee and approved by the Commissioner. The annual account gives the difference between the estimates and actuals on each head of receipt and disbursement. The total result is shown in the margin. The difference is very great on both sides of the account, as the actual receipts were much more than the estimated figures, on account of extraordinary grants from Government for relief purposes and sales of rice given out to laborers being included in

	Rs.	A.	P.
Estimated receipts	99,505	15	4
Actual ditto	2,39,141	8	9
Estimated expenditure	95,772	0	0
Actual ditto	3,08,221	0	3
Estimated balance	3,733	15	4
Actual ditto	69,079	7	6

them; and similarly the relief expenditure has swollen the actual expenditure. The balance at the end of the year is Rs. 69,079-7-6, but the actual balance is likely to be much more when the relief expenditure has been adjusted, as much money belonging to the District Road Fund was diverted to relief works. The estimate for the current year was also passed at a meeting held on the 22nd August 1874.

10. Declaration of the rate of cess.—At a meeting of the Committee held on 5th September 1874 the rate of cess leviable for the ensuing year was fixed at half the maximum rates on lands and houses. This was also the rate at which the cess was levied in the year under review.

11. Review of the heads of income.—The year opened with a large balance of Rs. 11,716 inclusive of outstanding advances other than those in the hands of the District Engineer. The road cess was collected this year at half the maximum rates, and yielded an income of Rs. 46,380-12-2. This is exclusive of the cess on houses, no collections on account of which are shown in the treasury accounts, although the cess was leviable on them. The actual collection of the cess on lands is about Rs. 8,000 less than the estimated amount; but in view of the novel nature of the rate, the distress occasioned by the failure of crops, and the suspension of collection in a part of the district by the orders of Government, the collection made reflects credit on the Deputy Collector and his establishment in charge of it, and on the landholders who have met this demand with more promptitude than could reasonably be expected. The one per cent. road fund was also collected this year. The collection from ferries is much less than the estimated sum, and this was the case last year also. The Committee is not in a position to account for the backwardness of it, as the collection is not in its hands. The ordinary grant from Government for the year was Rs. 20,000, but grants for relief were largely made. They were for roads, bunds, and tanks. The total amount of this extraordinary grant is Rs. 1,64,192. Besides this express grant, there is an indirect grant amounting to Rs. 66,001-0-7 shown in the accounts of the Public Works Department, which have been incorporated with those kept by the Committee from the sale of rice distributed to labourers working under that department. They have been entered as deposit with a view to square accounts; for the whole of this sum is shown on the expenditure side as paid for work. There are some minor items of receipt, among which the Committee notices, with satisfaction, that the actual miscellaneous receipts are more than the estimate.

12. Review of the heads of expenditure.—The expenditure on account of collection establishment and Committee's control, inclusive of the salary of clerks entertained in some Government offices chargeable to the district road cess fund, as also that of contingencies of the road cess Deputy Collectors and Committee's offices, is within the estimate; the expenditure on account of contingencies being less than half of the estimated sum. The outlay on district works, both original and repair, by which those included in the year's estimate, and also those that remained unfinished at the end of the year 1872-73, are only meant as distinguished from relief works which were not included in the estimate, and in several instances not given in the statement of roads passed by the Committee, was Rs. 55,994-14. Out of this sum, Rs. 48,441 were from the allotment of the year for roads, amounting to Rs. 88,685, and the remainder from the previous year's allotments. This result is very poor, seeing that only a little more than half of the total allotted sum was expended on legitimate road fund work; and thus several roads provided for by the Committee could not be touched, and others could only partly be done.

13. By far the largest expenditure was on account of relief works, original and repairs. They, together with the establishment employed on them, tools and plant, and a small sum embezzled, cost Rs. 2,47,265-3-7. Out of this, Rs. 56,559-12-7 were for tanks and Rs. 12,205-0-6 for a bund in a Government estate. The Committee had no concern with this expenditure and with the corresponding receipts, but they have been referred to in this report, as the annual account embraces them, and some explanation of the items may be deemed requisite.

14. The Committee had had to pay nothing yet for the service of the District Engineer and his ordinary establishment; but it would seem that the Government contemplates charging the District Road Cess Fund for this service. The Committee has not however been informed yet of the intentions of Government in this matter.

15. Works.—Something about the works done has already been said when reviewing the items of expenditure, but what has been stated is by no means exhaustive. The two causeways on the Bhagulpore and Bowsce road were completed. The Committee allotted a large sum, viz. Rs. 10,868 (by transferring it from this road), to the repairing of the broken bridges on the Sooltangunge and Arjusingunge road—a very urgent work; but it is to be regretted that only Rs. 4,711 were expended on it up to September last. The Committee had unfortunately no separate agency of its own for executing the district works, and was entirely dependent on the Public Works Department for their prosecution, with the exception of some minor works, the agency in regard to which was separate. It may be that frequent changes of Executive Engineers and the pressure of relief interfered with the prosecution of legitimate district works. Sometime before the end of the year the district was divided into two charges, and additional hands were placed under the District Engineer for coping with additional work entailed by relief operations. At any rate, the experience of two successive years proves that the district works cannot be successfully prosecuted without the entertainment of work establishment directly under the Committee; and it is anxiously looking for the time when it may be enabled to have its own Engineer and working staff, as it believes is contemplated in the Road Cess Act. The separate agency spoken of consisted of the service of Mr. J. Hennessy, a member of the Committee, and of the Sub-divisional Officers at Madhipara and Soopole. Mr. Hennessy expended a sum of very nearly Rs. 2,000 on two roads on the north of the Ganges for the Committee, and it is likely to continue them this year. The best thanks of the Committee are due to him: for though his labours may not be quite disinterested, as the roads are in his zemindaree, they cannot fail to be useful to the ratepayers about that part. Mr. Martin, the Sub-divisional Officer of Muddehpooora, expended Rs. 990-9-3 on the Muddehpooora and Atkela road; but it was not included in the year's estimate; and Mr. Smith, Rs. 100 on the Soopole sub-divisional station roads.

16. The report of work done and in progress forwarded with this office letter No. 29, dated 12th item, gives very detailed information of the roads and other works done last year, and supplies the particulars required by Government order No. 3857, dated 23rd July 1873. It, and the statement marked A. accompanying it, may be considered a part of the report. The allotment and expenditure were divided into two periods: namely (1) prior to and (2) for the year under review. The estimate for each work of it was estimated for: the allotment made for the year 1874-75, what is proposed to be done during the current year, and the progress on each work up to the month of September last, copied from the progress report forwarded by the Executive Engineers, are all exhibited in the one statement. It will show that several important roads were neglected, and on others only portions of the allotments given by the Committee were used.

17. The attention of the District Engineer was drawn to this slow progress, but without any good result. The Special Superintending Engineer for Relief Works appears to have stopped many roads included in the Committee's budget estimate; and when a reference was made to him by the Executive Engineer, in consequence of the communication received from the Committee, he made the following observation among others:—"The Vice-Chairman appears to have forgotten that all district works were declared by order of Government famine works, and that as Special Superintending Engineer of Famine Works it is my duty to advise both with the Commissioner and Collector as to the works that should be carried on." This, however, was a misapprehension of the Special Superintending Engineer, as the Vice-Chairman's letter did not refer to purely famine works, but rather to those that were included in the Committee's budget, and in regard to which provision had been made by it; the District Engineer being only requested to work to the extent of the provisions made.

18. The district and famine works were, during the year under review, in charge of the Executive Engineer of the district for a time. Later on in the year the district was divided into two charges, north and south, presided over by one Executive Engineer each, and subsequently the relief works were placed under a special department. Perhaps the last arrangement, if inaugurated from the beginning, would have left the Committee to deal more successfully with district works than they have been.

19. Mr. Barnfather filled the office of District Engineer for a very short time in the beginning of the year: he knows the district well. The office was then filled successively by Messrs. Grant, Sibold, and Atkinson.

The Committee cannot express any opinion of the work done by each of these officers respectively, as there are not sufficient materials in its office; but Messrs. Grant and Sibold appear to have done much; Mr. Grant especially having worked exceedingly well. Mr. Sibold recommended the giving of a bonus to his accountant, Baboo Sree Kissen Bose, for closing the relief accounts; but as the supervision of famine expenditure was not in the hands of the Committee, it is beyond its power to give effect to this recommendation.

20. Adjustment of Famine Accounts.—The adjustment of the relief accounts is a question of great importance, and one in which the Committee is much interested. The account cannot be considered to have been closed yet, for receipts and disbursements on account of famine relief are shown in the accounts of the current year. Apart from the question of the legality of appropriating the district road cess fund to purposes unconnected with the Act, and in a manner not contemplated by it, has to be considered the propriety of burdening that fund with famine charges. The distress was not general throughout the district, but was confined to certain parts, and the relief works were mainly opened on the north of it, where the collection of the cess, moreover, was suspended. It is hardly fair to the large body of ratepayers that the bulk of the cess money should be expended in a certain locality—much less so when that portion did not contribute to the income. The Committee therefore kept its accounts in a manner which, in its opinion, was based on principles of equity and fairness. It had provided for the prosecution of important works in the estimate before there were any indications of distress both in the north and south of the district; and all expenditure on roads provided for by it, although subsequently classified as relief works not exceeding the allotment made for them, were charged to road cess fund; and all expenditure on them beyond the allotted sums, as also on other roads started for purposes of relief, were marked F, as indicating famine relief with a view to subsequent adjustment. Against this expenditure may be set off the extraordinary grant made by the Government and the proceeds from sale of rice, and by this process the true state of the relief accounts may be disclosed. This mode of accounting would leave a large balance in favor of the Committee at the end of the year, and it is hoped that the money will be held to be available for the current year.

Correspondence.—The Committee wrote 800 letters and received 205.

Miscellaneous.—The head clerk and accountant of the Committee's office received an increase of salary for giving satisfaction in the performance of his duties. The Monghyr Road Cess Committee has admitted the claim of the Committee to a refund of the cost of valuation, and instructed the treasury officer of this district to place a sum of Rs. 866-8-6 to its credit; but the treasury officer has not yet shown it in the accounts. A further sum is also recoverable from the Monghyr Committee for the toll bar on Ghorghat nullah; and, although it was asked to make the remittance on account of it, the Committee has not yet received the money.

The Committee is entitled to a proportionate amount from the Monghyr district fund for the cost of collection of cess creditable to the Monghyr district, and this matter will shortly be represented to the Commissioner on the subject.

23. Conclusion.—The Committee has endeavoured, as much as it lay in its power, to work with success the District Road Cess Act. Its failure, if in any way, must be set down to the exceptional circumstances of the year under review, and to the want of an independent agency of its own for the execution of work. I would specially commend to notice the zeal of the Vice-Chairman, and the interest taken by him in everything connected with the work he has to do; and I may remark that the Road Cess Committee in this district is a real Committee, and one of the most satisfactory that I have ever had any connection with.

Baboo Hem Chunder Roy.

„ Bishen Chand.

„ Bunshee Lall Jha.

„ Monohur Dass.

Mirza Mahomed Hossein.

3. The following changes occurred in the Committee during the year. Mr. J. W. Badcock was elected Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee, in the absence of Mr. F. Wyer, when he was appointed the Magistrate-Collector of Maldah for three months. After this Mr. F. Wyer took charge of the office till 27th April 1874. Subsequently Mr. H. P. Mulock was appointed Vice-Chairman and remained till 3rd October 1874. Messrs. H. Cave and G. J. Burnell, Baboos Monohur Dass and Bishen Chand, were elected during the year; and we lost one member, Mirza Mahomed Hossein, by death.

4. The following table shows the names of members, the number of sittings during the year, and their attendance :—

No.	Names of Members.	Number of meetings attended.	Number at which absent.	Total number of meetings.
1.	W. Kemble, Esq., Chairman	4	2	6
2.	F. Wyer, Esq., Vice-Chairman	4	0	4

4.	29th March „	5	7	12
5.	29th August „	8	7	15
6.	14th September „	8	7	15

6. There were six meetings during the year, and I presided at each save two, when I was out in camp. In every meeting there was a quorum except one, which was held on 22nd November 1873 to pass the annual accounts of the district road fund for 1872-73. The accounts were passed at a subsequent meeting. Ten days' notice was given, the business to be transacted at each meeting was duly notified, and no business which had not been previously notified was submitted for the consideration of the committee.

7. The following were the principal subjects which engaged the attention of the committee :—

- (a.) To examine and pass the annual accounts for the cess year 1872-73.
- (b.) To advance money from the district road fund to the headmen of the villages for repairs of village roads, &c.
- (c.) To pass the estimate of receipts and expenditure prepared by the Vice-Chairman for the year 1874-75, to determine the rate of cesses to be levied, to pass the supplementary classified statement under section 68, and to elect new members under section 49.

8. The meetings were not so regularly attended by the members as could be wished; most of them, however, live at long distances from the station, and owing to the difficulties of locomotion in the rainy season and to the pressing nature of their private business cannot come in often.

Most of the members interest themselves in attending to the repairs of roads in their neighbourhood.

9. There were two branch road cess committees appointed at the two sub-divisions; the branch committee of Kishengunge held a meeting on the 27th October 1873 for the purpose of taking into consideration which of the village roads in Kishengunge sub-division should be repaired. This committee work well; the Arrareah arrangements are not so forward owing to the sub-divisional officer keeping all relief works in his own hand.

10. The supplementary classified statements under section 68 of the Road Cess Act were prepared this year by Mr. H. P. Mulock, and were passed at the committee and forwarded to you. The statement under section 70 of the above Act was prepared by me in August 1873, for the expenditure of the year under review, principally from the estimates proposed by Mr. Anley for repairs of district roads and bridges. It consisted of the following items of expenditure :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Establishment	4,580	0	0
Repairs	31,885	12	0
Village roads	11,000	0	0
Famine reserve	4,000	0	0
Contingencies	1,952	0	0
Reserve for original works	18,468	8	0
Total	71,886	4	0

The above sum was also the estimate of the annual receipts from all sources of income. This estimate was unanimously passed by the committee and approved of by you in August 1873.

11. The accounts of the fund opened on the 1st of October 1873 with a deficit of Rs. 759-12-7, and with Rs. 1,482-11-0 as outstanding advances in the hands of the several indigo planters and the District Engineer, who undertook the repairs of the several roads under their supervision in the cess year 1872-73. The total income from several sources during the year amounted to Rs. 2,99,409-9-5, the details of which are shown below :—

Particulars of receipts.	Amount as per budget estimate.			Amount actually received.
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.
Net balance of 1872-73				722	14	5
Cess on lands	53,156	4	0	33,532	8	1
„ houses	2,250	0	0	17	4	0
Other cesses	150	0	0	119	13	5
Ferry tolls	1,330	0	0	923	4	0
Government grant	15,000	0	0	2,60,000	0	0
Fines and refunds				4,093	9	6
Miscellaneous receipts				0	4	0
Total	71,886	4	0	2,99,409	9	5

(a.)—This was the first year that cesses under the Road Cess Act were based at three-fourths of the maximum rate and were available for expenditure. The reason of this year's deficiency in the collections of cesses on lands and houses is that the cesses were remitted in the pergunnahs named in the margin, as per your No. A—16Ct., dated Camp Purneah, the 27th February 1874, on account of the scarcity and on account of which Government gave an increased grant as will appear from the figures shown against item "Government grant."

(b.)—Under the head "fines and refunds" a very large amount is shown owing to the re-credit of Rs. 3,919-13-4 shown as actual expenditure under head "Repairs" in the second and third quarter of the year under review.

12. The total expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 3,41,320-13-3. Rs. 41,911-3-10 were expended in excess of the receipts of the year. The Executive Engineer of the Purneah district exceeded the amount placed to his credit by the Road Cess Committee by Rs. 58,518-8-11. Part II of the annual accounts shows in sufficient details the amounts budgetted and actually expended on each head of expenditure.

(a.) Rs. 3,723-5-5 were expended on account of contingencies and office establishment entertained under the Road Cess Deputy Collector and the Vice-Chairman.

(b.) Rs. 17,643-1-7 were expended on working and office establishments employed by the District Engineer for carrying out the relief and the ordinary district works. Considering the amount of work done in the last year on account of famine, the expenditure of Rs. 17,643-1-7 on working establishment is moderate.

(c.) No bridges were constructed this year except some petty repairs done to three or four old existing bridges which requires no comment.

(d.) Rs. 2,68,050-1-3 were expended on original works, i.e. for construction of roads by the Public Works Department. All of them were unmetalled and are as follows :—

Road No. 1, Purneah to Keat Gomah, length 40 miles.—Rs. 11,410-13-8. In cash Rs. 5,870-15-0 and Rs. 5,539-14-8 in grain were expended for 3,170,435 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 28,863 square feet, and turfing 762,842 square feet, and clearing jungle 1,276,797 square feet.

This road has been well laid out by the Executive Engineer, on the railway principle of renewing a high bank in a straight line between two given points, it will be completed by the special Public Works Department officer.

Road No. 2, Nathpore to Atwaree, length 86 miles—Rs. 98,131-6-6. In cash Rs. 90,539-11-1 in grain Rs. 7,591-11-5 were expended for 284,829 cubic feet earthwork, dressing and turfing 1,435,709 square feet.

This is entirely a relief work, the earthwork being in a great measure finished, but as the road runs right west and east across the drainage of the country, a large number of bridges will be required; as this is the great emigration road, it is to be expected that imperial funds will be allowed for its completion.

Road No. 4, Kishengunge to Nekmard, length 15 miles—Rs. 13,464-13-7. In cash Rs. 7,976-14-9 and in grain Rs. 5,487-14-10 were expended for 4,597,210 cubic feet earthwork and turfing 802,587 square feet.

This will be a useful work, it is being completed by the special department. In my opinion the embankments are unnecessarily high.

Road No. 5, Joorkete to Dengra, length 44 miles—Rs. 35,482-11-7. In cash Rs. 28,949-6-1 and in grain Rs. 6,533-5-6 were expended for 8,929,843 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 1,273,423 square feet, and turfing 1,069,256 square feet. Works were in progress up to 26th mile.

The above remarks on road No. 4 apply to this.

Road No. 6, Dengra ghat to Bhapla Jajpore, length 18 miles—Rs. 18,418-15-6. In cash Rs. 12,476-5-9 and in grain Rs. 5,942-9-9 were expended for 5,200,449 cubic feet earthwork, turfing 801,875 square feet, and dressing 2,249,220 square feet.

This is partly an old district road, it has been straightened and improved by the famine Public Works Department officers and continued from Raneegunge to Bhapla as a new work. The line has not been well chosen.

Road No. 7, Bulrampore to Tarapore, length 19 miles—Rs. 49,103-1-4. In cash Rs. 33,985-5-11 and in grain Rs. 15,117-11-5 were expended for 14,143,108 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 1,273,423 square feet, and turfing 1,069,256 square feet.

This road, a relief work, runs partly along an old bund; the earthwork has been nearly finished out. Some bridges will be wanted.

Road No. 8, Maldah to Harin Khoree, length 20 miles—Rs. 230-1-2 were expended on preliminary survey operations.

This road will not be made. The country is unsuitable.

Road No. 9, Kudha to Barsoe, length 16 miles—Rs. 28,266-9-10. In cash Rs. 24,598-15-6 and in grain Rs. 3,667-0-4 were expended for 8,816,824 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 1,207,153 square feet, and turfing 423,650 square feet. A large amount of earthwork has been thrown up here, but as the line of country was not well chosen, I fear that the road will not be a success.

Road No. 10, Chownagara to Bulrampore, length 9 miles—Rs. 7,319-14-7. In cash Rs. 4,942-6-2 and in grain Rs. 2,377-8-5 were expended for 2,236,316 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 23,000 square feet, and turfing 807,050 square feet. A continuation of road No. 7 will be a useful work, as being finished by the special department. Rs. 158-15-3 were also, before the regular work began, expended on petty surface repairs.

Road No. R, Bahadoorgunge to Tarapore, length about 10 miles—Rs. 4,418-5-10. In cash Rs. 2,758-10-3 and in grain Rs. 1,659-11-7 were expended for 1,791,553 cubic feet, earthwork and turfing 159,450 square feet. This is now under the Department Public Works; will be kept up as a useful fair-weather road.

Road from Dalmalpor to Jhola—Rs. 100-4-2 were expended on this road for preliminary survey operations, but no work was undertaken. These complete the roads classed as original works undertaken by the Department Public Works' officers, who expended Rs. 1,043-9-6 for construction of rice golahs for storing grains for payment to the coolies employed on all the roads, and Rs. 659-6 for the construction of inspection bungalows for officers who superintended the works.

13. The total expenditure by the committee and the Department Public Works under the head of "repairs and maintenance" was Rs. 43,654-7-9, and the works were undertaken by the District Engineer, the sub-divisional officer of Kishengunge and Arracah, and several indigo planters and other gentlemen both Europeans and natives.

I.—BY DISTRICT ENGINEER.

The following are the details of all the roads repaired by the District Engineer:—

Road No. 16, Purneah to Kudha, length 20 miles—Rs. 11,840-6-4. In cash Rs. 9,983-5-3 and in grain Rs. 1,857-1-1 were expended for 276,3204 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 550,400 square feet, and turfing 292,825 square feet. The part of this road lying furthest from the station has been well done during the famine time, the remaining portion is now under repair by the special ex-engineer.

Road No. 35, Saifgunge to Mohenderpore, length 15 miles.—Rs. 2,209-6-2. In cash Rs. 2,032-3-11 and in grain Rs. 177-2-3 were expended for 927,500 cubic feet earthwork. Dressing and turfing 54,000 square feet, but better work was done on this road; it has not been taken up by the special department and is now made over to the charge of an indigo planter.

Road No. 23, Kishengunge to Bahadoorgunge, length 12 miles.—Rs. 3,562-6-8. In cash Rs. 3,252-4-11 and in grain Rs. 330-1-9 were expended for 1,511,733 cubic feet earthwork. This road was newly laid out and well repaired by the Department Public Works' officers during the time of scarcity.

Road No. 3, Kishengunge to Titulya, length 40 miles.—This was only partly repaired. It is now being repaired by the sub-divisional officer at Kishengunge; Rs. 3,905-7-7 were expended for 1,451,444 cubic feet earthwork and turfing 474,900 square feet.

Road No. 12, Purneah to Mattiary, length 51 miles.—Rs. 3,721-3-7 were expended partly by the District Engineer and partly by the sub-divisional officer of Arrareah. The amount was expended on surface repairs, and this cost has put the road into very good order. No heavy embankment have been made, but a good fair-weather tract has been made just suited to the nature of the country and the wants of the people.

Road No. 10, Purneah to Nathpore, length 51 miles.—Rs. 692-10-0 were expended on surface repairs in petty patches by the District Engineer. This amount has put the road into tolerable order, but as there was not much distress in this part of the district, much money was not allotted.

Road No. 22, Kishengunge to Bheriadangi, length 3½ miles.—Rs. 531-5-5 were expended for surface repairs including bridges. This amount has put the road in good order.

Road No. 24, Titulya to Puttehpore.—Rs. 100 were expended on surface repairs in petty patches and the road was put into fair order. Its repairs will in future be carried out by the Dinagepore authorities who have more to do with the road than we have.

Road No. 15, Illuabary to Kalleagunge, length 9 miles.—Rs. 370-6-11 were expended on surface repairs in petty patches and the road was put into fair order. More money is wanted this year for bridges.

Purneah embankments.—Rs. 254-6-6 were expended for repairing them. They are considered necessary by the Department Public Works' officers. They are in good order.

II.—BY SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICERS.

(a.) The sub-divisional officer of Kishengunge was advanced Rs. 1,000 for repairs of village roads in his sub-division, of which he expended Rs. 991-1-5 on the following village roads and the work, as he informs me, was most satisfactorily done by adopting the system of making advances to the headmen of villages to carry on their repair by which the expense of entertaining a staff of overseers and mohurrirs was saved :—

			Rs.	A.	P.
Kalliagunge to Arlabore	100	0	0
Chakabea to Sanwar	200	0	0
Bolangha to Bujakore	52	8	0
Ditto to Illuabary	47	8	0
Gysal to Nando	50	0	0
Khogra to Chakaba	100	0	0
Bahadoorgunge to Beebegunge	150	0	0
Ditto to Powakhala	143	5	0
Panjepara to Singhia	50	0	0
Sanwar to Gopalpore	97	12	5
Total	991	1	5

(b.) The sub-divisional officer of Arrareah was advanced Rs. 5,700, Rs. 3,000 for village roads and Rs. 2,700 for Mattiary road; he expended Rs. 3,703-15-2 on the following roads and the work was executed well and afforded relief to a large number of people :—

			Rs.	A.	P.
Arrareah to Raneegunge	1,423	10	1
„ to Muzkuri...	1,649	4	1
„ to Sikta	631	1	0

III.—BY INDIGO PLANTERS AND OTHER GENTLEMEN.

Road No. 15, Purneah to Manbary, length 36 miles.—Mr. C. A. Shillingford was advanced Rs. 1,008 for the repairs of this road and he expended the whole amount on surface repairs and the work has been done well.

Road No. 13, Purneah to Sawraguddi, length 27 miles.—Mr. J. N. MacQueen was advanced Rs. 400 for repairs of this road and he expended Rs. 377-12-0 on surface repairs and the work has been done satisfactorily.

Road No. 18, Bishenpore to Gondwara, length 17 miles.—Mr. J. N. MacQueen was advanced Rs. 510 for repairs of this road and he expended Rs. 394-3-0 on surface repairs.

Road No. 19, Gondwara to Sawraquddi, length 15 miles.—Mr. H. Cave was advanced Rs. 750 for repairs of this road and he expended Rs. 485-15-0 on surface repairs. Mr. Cave, as he always does, superintended this work in a very satisfactory manner.

Road No. 21, Koory to Sohoria, length 25 miles.—Mr. H. Cave was advanced Rs. 625 for repairs of this road; he expended Rs. 709-11-8.

Road No. 14, Purneah to Modunchuck, length 34 miles.—Mr. G. W. Shillingford was advanced Rs. 1,320 for repairs of this road, including two culverts. He expended the whole amount on surface repairs; he rendered accounts of Rs. 500 within the year under review, and of the balance in the current cess year. The expenditure has put the road into fair order.

Road No. 22, Saifgunge to Gondwara, length 16 miles.—Mr. G. W. Shillingford was advanced Rs. 340 for repairs of this road. He expended the whole amount on surface repairs, and I hope to visit these roads shortly and will inspect the work.

He rendered accounts of this money after the submission of the annual statements to you, and hence they were not accounted for in them.

Road No. 23, Shahabgunge to Hurdah, length 24 miles.—Mr. G. W. Shillingford was advanced Rs. 55 for repairs of this road. He expended the whole amount on surface repairs and the work has been done fairly.

He rendered accounts after the submission of the annual statements.

Road No. 20 Saifgunge to Horinkhoree, length 16 miles.—Mr. G. J. Burnell was advanced Rs. 835 for repairs of this road.

He expended the whole amount. The road is said by the Executive Engineer to be the best in the district.

Monihary to Hyatpore.—This is a continuation of road No. 15. Mr. W. Cumming was advanced Rs. 550 for repairs of this road. He expended Rs. 151-7-0 on surface repairs and in clearing jungles. The work has been done fairly. The soil is very light and sandy and not suited for a good road.

Road No. 11, Purneah to Dhamdaha, length 20 miles.—Mr. J. N. Pyne and Mr. R. Crow were jointly advanced Rs. 515 for repairs of this road. They expended Rs. 511-8-10 and the work has been done indifferently, especially the bridge work.

Road No. 13, Chaklah to Koary, length 10 miles.—Mr. J. L. Shillingford repaired this road and was paid Rs. 640-2-0 by the Road Cess Committee. The work has been done well.

14. Village roads.—Particular attention was paid to the state of village roads, so that the advantages of the road cess works might be diffused as widely as possible among the road cess payers. The following European and native gentlemen received the sums opposite their names for repairs of village roads for relief purposes.

They did the work most satisfactorily and took interest in it, by which the expense of keeping up a staff of overseers and mohurriss was saved :—

15. Rs. 8,249-13-3 were expended for the purchase of kodalties for supplying the District Engineer and other gentlemen to carry on the relief works.

16. The people are becoming more reconciled to the tax on seeing that the expenditure is all made in the district and is in the hands of their local representatives.

17. The whole of the original works and other district road repairs executed by the Public Works Department were under the immediate superintendence of Mr. R. A. Corder, deputed last year on account of scarcity and relief. My thanks are due to Mr. Corder for the energy with which he supervised the numerous and large works started last year on account of famine relief, and to the following gentlemen, namely, Mr. J. N. MacQueen, Mr. J. A. Shillingford for undertaking the repairs of several roads and general interest they took in all road cess matters.

No. 904, dated Purneah, the 1st May 1875.

From—W. KEMBLE, Esq., Chairman, Road Cess Committee,

To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division.

WITH reference to your letter No. 35P.W. of the 29th ultimo, I have the honor to submit the sketch report as required.

2. Rs. 75,082-1 was estimated to be the receipts of the cess year 1874-75 from several sources of income, the details of which were given in the budget estimate. Of this sum, Rs. 2,784 was estimated for expenditure under head "establishment and contingencies employed on collection of revenues and committee's control;" Rs. 15,986 was kept for expenditure under head "working establishment;" and Rs. 12,615 for repairs of the following district roads:—

	Rs.
Kishengunge to Titalya	600
Purneah to Nathpore vid Mattiary	1,000
„ to Damdaha	400
„ to Madanchuck	680

Belgachee to Kudleah	250
Purneah embankments	500
Total ...	12,615

Of these, the roads named in the margin have been made over to Mr. Anley for repairs. The repairs of the other roads are made over to the indigo planters, sub-divisional officers of Kishengunge and Arrareah, and other members of the Committee.

Purneah to Nathpore.
 „ to Sawraguddi.
 „ to Hyatpore.

3. Rs. 12,000 was set aside for repairs of village roads through the headmen of villages, as this system works well and the people have an opportunity of seeing that the road cess realizations are expended in their interests.

4. Rs. 9,857 was set aside for repairs of existing bridges of the district roads. The details are given below:—

	Rs.
Repairs of four bridges on the road from Purneah to Madanchuck	1,674
„ of two „ „ „ Gondwara to Sawraguddi ...	3,237
„ of four „ „ „ Bishenpore to Gondwara ...	821
„ of one „ „ „ Purneah to Hyatpore ...	612
„ of two „ „ „ from Gondwara to Saifgunge ...	588
„ of eight „ „ „ from Purneah to Damdaha ...	2,750
„ of bridges on the Illuabary and Kaliagunge road ...	175
Total ...	9,857

In addition to above, Rs. 16,540 was set aside for completion of those bridges which will be made over to the Road Cess Committee in an incomplete state by the special department; see paragraph 3 of your letter No. 634L.F., dated 20th August 1874. It is not proposed to spend any money on bridges until a proper establishment under a competent engineer or overseer is appointed.

Rs. 5,000 was set aside as a famine reserve. This amount can be expended on the roads of the special division should they be made over to the Road Cess Committee in an unfinished state.

I regret my inability to report on the works which will have to be undertaken when the special roads have been made over to the Committee. I do not yet know how far they have been finished or what bridges will be necessary. This work should stand over till we can provide ourselves with a competent establishment.

No. 174L.F., dated Doomka, the 13th March 1875.

From—JOHN BOXWELL, Esq., Offg. Deputy Commissioner, Sonthal Pergunnahs, To—The Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Bhagulpore Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit a report on the district works done during the cess year 1873-74.

- The works were both original and repairs on roads, bridges, tanks, and lands.
- All works were indiscriminately "relief" and "district."
- The fact that to give relief was one of the principal ends, has left its mark on the works in many ways. They are costly in a double sense, laid out on a costly plan, and dear for the results, and also more incomplete than if we had been able to concentrate our energies.
- All this is a common place of relief work, and is universally understood.
- I go on to give a sketch of our plans and how we carried them out.
- In the middle of the rains of 1873, before there was any idea of the quick-coming necessity, I was called on to prepare a list of works to be reserved for famine time.
- Previously to the time I speak of, the question has been raised whether certain habi-made feeder roads to the Loop Line, East Indian Railway, should be finished, or the head-quarters of the district connected by roads with the sub-divisions.
- It was decided that these sub-divisional roads should take precedence of the feeder roads.
- When I was asked what works should be reserved for famine, I said "the next but one set of works to be done at any time."
- As the sub-divisional roads were the next works, and the feeder roads the next to them, I proposed that the feeder roads should be reserved for famine.
- My meaning of course was that we should at once go on with the sub-divisional roads, and if there was no famine till they were finished, then finish the feeder roads, having in the meantime ascertained and reserved the next most pressing work.
- However, scarcity came on the very year and work was begun on both sub-divisional and feeder roads, as well as on others in neither list. Tanks and bunds, both new and old, were dug, cleaned, and repaired.

14. It is needless to say that much more work was begun than there was any chance of finishing, and that much work was begun and left undone, to finish which would be mere waste of money.

15. I have often explained that one of the most pressing needs of the district is water storage; I am happy to say that we had very many excellent bunds made, which will spread in all directions.

16. One fine bund in the Damon near Katikund, which cost nearly Rs. 2,500 to build, and which reached the size of a lake in September, was carried away by the unusually heavy rains of last October. This is, I think, the worst piece of work I have had since I joined the district.

17. Of the sub-divisional roads, that from Doomka to Jamtara was laid out, begun, and about one-fifth of the work done. That from Jarmondi to Deoghur was laid out and had a small quantity of earthwork done. Five miles of a good straight road were laid out, and the earthwork done from Moheshpore towards Doomka by Mr. Wood.

The Godda and Hansdiha road was laid out.

18. The original four feeder roads were taken in hand. That from Tinpahar to Borio was made an excellent and serviceable road with very little delay.

A little work not worth particular mention was done on the other three.

15. Seven other roads were projected and begun or finished.

1.—Deoghur to Baidya both station; 3 miles finished, excellent.

2.—Patool to Madhupore projected and finished; 3 miles, good.

3.—Godda to Peerpointee, projected and finished; about 35 miles in the district: very good in September, much damaged by the October rain.

4.—Barhait via Borio to Sahibgunge, projected and begun, in fair progress; expensive and difficult.

5.—Godda to Borio; projected, begun, abandoned.

6.—Doomka to Mullarpore, projected, laid out, abandoned.

7.—Moheshpore to Hiranpore, projected, begun, still subject of controversy.

20. I may add here that I travelled over the line of this last road a fortnight ago. The first three miles from Moheshpore are through populous cultivated country, are fairly advanced, and may be worth keeping up. It is also just possible that some people in this neighbourhood may have felt a little pressure in the scarcity.

21. The next four miles are over a shoulder of Dhorun Pahar, through rock and jungle. To the right for miles there can be seen nothing but woody hill. To the left are few rather large Sonthal villages; but I don't believe 10 acres of rice land could be found in 50 square miles of country. There is nothing but high Jurabari land.

22. It is out of the question that there can have been any distress here.

23. For the three or four miles between the Torai River and Hiranpore the country is a low flat rice plain, but at the Torai the Moheshpore and Hiranpore road joins the Pakour and Hiranpore road, on which abundance of work might have been given.

The Bhagulpore and Soory road was metalled from Doomka to the More. This was one of the best pieces of work done.

The work done on roads are shown in a table. The tanks and bundhs are too numerous and of too unequal value to be shown in such a form. They number 131.

* Details received with Deputy Commissioner's No. 456L. F. dated 1st June 1875

C. F. BANSON,

For Offg. Deputy Commissioner.

No. 31P.W., dated Bhagulpore, the 28th April 1875.

From—G. N. BARLOW, Esq., c.s.i., Offg. Commr. of the Bhagulpore Division and S.P., To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Department Public Works.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report on the working of the district road cess committees in the districts of this division for the year ending September 1874.

2. Copies of the annual reports and statements furnished by the committees and by the Deputy Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs are herewith submitted.

3. I very much regret the delay in submitting this report. The district reports revised under my instructions were received in this office on the dates noted in the margin; but they were not ready for submission to Government, as references had to be made regarding them and revised accounts called for from some of the districts. The last information required reached this office on the 16th instant only.

4. It will be observed that the year commenced with a gloomy prospect as regards the condition of the crops; and as distress began to show itself, relief measures in the shape of public works were introduced by Government. When the severity became intense, relief measures on a very extensive scale were carried on under a special department, and the action of the road cess committees in consequence was much interfered with. As observed by the Chairman of the Bhagulpore Committee, all district works were at the commencement, under the orders of the Government, ordered to be considered as relief works, and all relief works were placed under the special department formed. Moreover, relief roads were, as necessity required, opened without the committees being consulted; and although their functions were in theory subsequently revived, practically they had little or nothing to do with the relief roads. Thus it came to pass that the committees' proceedings during the year were confined chiefly to keeping up the books and accounts of all relief works, and acting as a channel for receiving and crediting all relief grants in their books and making them over to the special department.

5. Committees.—There were but slight changes in the personnel of the committees. The attention of all officers having been engrossed in the famine, meetings were not held as regularly and often as they should have been. In Bhagulpore and Purneah six meetings were held during the year, and with the exception of one meeting in Purneah all the others in the two districts were attended by a quorum. In Monghyr report the number of meetings held during the year has not been stated, but it is mentioned that the members who lived at or near the station were very regular in their attendance; but in this, as in the other districts, those living at a distance were not so.

6. Branch Committees.—A branch committee was formed at each sub-division, but owing to press of work on account of the famine their work was not brought into full swing. The branch committee in the sub-division of Kishengunge, however, convened a meeting, and is said to have done well in looking after the construction and improvement of village roads.

7. Statement of roads.—The statement of roads required under the Act, and submitted with this office No. 19P.W. of the 22nd instant, under Government orders No. 56, dated 18th August 1873, in a classified form, will show the state of the roads in each district. There has been great delay in the submission of the statements, which was caused in consequence of their not having been received in a correct and complete shape. The statements for the Southal Pergunnahs have not yet been received, and supplementary statements of roads, which were not included in the original statements, are still due from the district of Purneah. I set considerable stress upon the keeping up of these statements in a complete and clear manner.

8. Works.—The annual accounts of the district committees, submitted with this report, will show the work done and the amount expended on each road. But as matters stood, no distinction was made except in the case of Bhagulpore district accounts between the regular district roads and the famine road works on both classes of works, and many of these originated from the necessity of giving work to the famine labourers. I shall therefore confine my remarks to the important works of both kinds.

9. MONGHYR.

(a). Class I.—Original works. Ghoregat section of the Bhagulpore and Monghyr road.—Work was taken up on this road, and a sum of Rs. 3,801 was expended in executing earth-work and turfing.

(b). Class II.—Tirhoot road and Patna road.—These two roads have always heretofore been deemed important ones. The former is undoubtedly so, as it is the only line of road running through Begoesra sub-division and leading to Tirhoot. The latter has the rail and river on either side, which somewhat detracts from its usefulness: nevertheless the Committee have always entertained the idea of completing these works; and at the time of the famine a partially complete scheme, prepared by the District Engineer for the Tirhoot road, was ready and was submitted to the Chief Engineer. This officer raised objection to the scheme upon the score of difficulty and expense; but the necessity for providing employment for labour as the scarcity advanced left no choice in the matter; and with the sanction of Government the earthwork only was proceeded with throughout a portion of the line. Circumstances almost exactly similar led to the prosecution of work upon the Patna road; these two lines from their special situation affording more opportunity for heavy embankment work than is usually to be found in the case of works in the Monghyr district.

During the famine upwards of Rs. 25,000 were expended for raising and bridging the Tirhoot road. (The latter kind of work being paid for out of the road cess grant of the year).

Upwards of Rs. 11,100 were expended for raising the Patna road. Additional waterways and bridges were also provided with a view to make certain portions of it properly connected and rendered fit for communication during the flood season. With this object two bridges and two culverts on the 5th and 6th miles and two additional spans on the 20th and 21st miles were constructed and have stood well. The last season's rains, however, have made great havoc with these two lines of road, which are immediately affected by Gauges' floods. So much indeed has this been the case that the Chairman of the District Committee has announced his opinion that the general question of their construction as anything more than fair-weather roads must be reconsidered. I have accordingly ordered that no further expenditure shall be incurred upon the works until the matter is decided.

(c). Jamoe and Luckeesera road.—One bridge on the 8th mile and 12 irrigation gullets were constructed, and another bridge on the 3rd mile was in progress and will be completed during the current year. Upwards of Rs. 2,400 were expended on these works during the year. This is perhaps the most satisfactory road in the district.

(d). Sheikpoorah road.—Upwards of Rs. 10,800 were expended for raising the whole length of this road, and it has been made over to the special department for completion. It is a simple work, and will be useful.

(e). Class III.—Gyriak road.—This road is subject to the Ganges flood throughout a portion of its length between Luckeeserai and Sheikpoorah. At present the Chairman remarks that it forms a capital cold-weather road, and it might with very little trouble be made a good road for all seasons. As respects the latter portion of Mr. Lockwood's observation, I know professional opinion differs from his. During the famine work of last year the first section of the road from Luckeeserai was left untouched owing to the difficult nature of the work. I should like to see the line completed some day, as there would then be through communication from Monghyr to Luckeeserai via Khurruckpore, Gungta, Jamooe, Secundra, and Sheikpoorah; but the question must be left to be decided on its merits hereafter. A sum of Rs. 7,218 was expended on this road during the year.

(f) Mulleepore and Jamooe road.—This road is reported to be in fair order. Rs. 2,331 were expended on it for earthwork and metalling. It is the railway communication from Jamooe sub-division, and should be metalled throughout. The difficulty is the midway interruption presented by the Keul river.

(g) Secundra to Jamooe road.—A sum of Rs. 12,616 was expended on this road during the year for earthwork, turfing, and temporary bridges. This road now requires only smoothing down and wooden bridges at intervals to make it serviceable to the people and to open out the neighbouring country more fully.

(h). Gungta to Mulleepore road.—A sum of Rs. 16,488 was expended for earthwork, turfing, &c., in this road. It completes the communication between Monghyr and the chord line through Khurruckpore.

(i). Secundra to Luckeeserai Road.—A new road. A sum of Rs. 12,017 was expended on this road for earthwork, turfing, and temporary bridges. This road, the Magistrate says, if properly maintained, will continue a good road.

(j). North of the Ganges, upon works other than the Tirhoot road, Rs. 4,753 were expended upon an old existing line, Bhutkur to Roshra, and Rs. 5,784 on a new line from Bucktearpore in Farkyah to Bhatcea on the Bhagulpore frontier. This last must be a useful work, as the country is backward and requires opening out, and the line unites with the whole system of Bhagulpore roads.

10. The total expenditure on original works executed during the year was Rs. 1,32,042, a greater portion of which was expended on the above roads. The minor works do not call for any particular remarks.

11. Repairs.—A sum total of Rs. 19,648 was expended on repairs.

(a). Bhagulpore road.—Rs. 8,778 were expended for metalling the Bhagulpore road. The work has now been completed and opened to traffic.

(b). Burriarpore road.—This is a railway feeder road. The repairs, executed at a cost of Rs. 1,147, were very slight, consisting of repairs to the slopes, and protecting them during the flood with stone turfing and by other means.

(c). Kujra road.—This road, which is five miles long, was also repaired at a cost of Rs. 824, but a portion of it was washed away by flood.

BHAGULPORE.

12. The excellent report and statement of work done and in progress furnished by the Chairman and forwarded herewith gives very detailed information of the roads and other works done during the year, and requires no comment. The total expenditure on original works, both district and famine, was Rs. 2,01,031, and Rs. 39,648 were expended in repairs.

13. (a). Class I.—Original Works.—Bhagulpore and Soory road.—This road runs over a distance of 103 miles, of which the first 42 are within this district, and require a vast outlaying to bring them into proper order. Two causeways were constructed on the 8th and 22nd miles of this road, and a sum of Rs. 10,282 was expended on them during the year.

(b). Two other original district works, viz. the road from Kutooriah to Simultolah, and the road from Banka to Kutooriah, were taken up, and Rs. 5,584 and 2,701 respectively were expended on their partial construction. The other works appearing in the report were famine works, and were worked upon for famine purposes. Besides these, several tank works were executed during the year at a total cost of Rs. 56,559-12-7.

PURNEAH.

14. In Purneah the total expenditure on original works was Rs. 2,68,050, and Rs. 43,654 were expended on repairs. The history and progress of each work in this district have been given in detail in the Chairman's report herewith sent, and need not be repeated here.

SONTHAL PERGUNNAHS.

15. The expenditure on original works in this district was Rs. 78,640, and 9,010 were expended on repairs.

(a.) Original Works.—The Bhagulpore and Soory road was metalled from Doomka to the Moor at a cost of Rs. 14,916. This was the heaviest and best piece of work in the district.

(b.) I consider the two original famine works, viz. (1) the road through the Damin-i-koh from Sahebgunge to Burhait, and (2) from Godda to Peerpointee, most useful lines of communication.

(c.) The statement of works done on the several roads during the year, furnished by the Deputy Commissioner, a copy of which is herewith submitted, gives detailed informations regarding them. There were several bunds and tanks executed during the year for relief purposes, which do not call for any remarks. The bunds, as a rule, may be considered the most useful works.

16. It may suffice to observe regarding relief works that in all cases the most useful works available, local and general considerations being duly accounted, were selected and prosecuted as long as the distress required it. After cessation of the demand for labour, a special department was continued, and a moderate outlay sanctioned from Government funds to carry on and render useful the most important works thus commenced upon. The arrangements having been completed, the works, it may be concluded, will shortly revert to the district committees. I think it desirable that some orders upon this point should be issued shortly.

17. Accounts, receipts, and expenditure.—The annual accounts of receipts and disbursements submitted herewith show the different sources of income and the charges incurred in each district under the several heads. The total receipts and expenditure of each district are given below :—

	Receipts, including balance of previous year.			Expenditure.			Balance
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.
Monghyr	2,24,825	1	3	2,08,320	0	9	16,505	0	6
Bhagulpore	2,39,141	8	9	3,08,222	0	3	69,079	7	6

Sonthal Pergunnahs	3,02,530	5	2	1,05,291	6	9	1,97,238	14	4
Total

(a.) Of the total receipts in the Monghyr district, Rs. 1,45,000 were granted by Government from provincial reserve fund for famine works, Rs. 57,825 from other sources, and Rs. 22,000 were nominal receipts, being the amount of advance credited and debited as refunds in the account. The total disbursement in this district was Rs. 2 08.320-0-9, leaving a balance of Rs. 16,505-0-6, inclusive of the outstanding balance of Rs. 411-14-5. The following are the heads of expenditure :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Office establishment	4,481	4	9
Contingent charges...	1,282	1	3
Original Works	1,32,042	1	0
Repairs	19,680	7	5
Refunds	22,336	2	0
Work establishment	17,546	0	9
Tools and Plant	10,951	15	7
Total	2,08,520	0	9

BHAGULPORE.

(b.) The income of this district consists of Rs. 1,61,192 granted by Government from provincial reserve fund, and the remainder Rs. 74,949-8-9 from other sources. The total disbursement was Rs. 3,08,221-20-3, which was expended as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Office establishment	4,509	12	5
Contingent charges...	419	15	3
Original Works	2,01,031	7	5
Repairs	83,757	12	8
Work establishment	12,046	1	3
Tools and Plant	6,455	15	3
Total	3,08,221	0	3

thus showing an excess expenditure of Rs. 69,079-7-6 over the receipts.

PURNEAH.

(c.) The Government grant to this district from provincial reserve fund was Rs. 2,60,000, and the remainder was received from other sources. The disbursement was Rs. 3,41,320-13-3 under the following heads :—

				Rs.	A.	P.
Office establishment	366	10	11
Contingent charges	356	10	6
Original Works	2,68,050	1	4
Repairs	43,654	7	8
Work establishment	17,643	1	7
Tools and Plant	8,249	13	3
Total	3,41,320	13	3

showing an expenditure of Rs. 41,911-3-10 in excess of receipts.

SONTHAL PERGUNNAHS.

(d.) Of the total receipts, Rs. 3,02,530-5-2, the Government grant from provincial reserve fund was Rs. 2,89,000, and the remainder from other sources. This district not being a road cess district, there was no income from that source. The disbursement, amounting to Rs. 1,05,291-6-9, was under the following heads :—

				Rs.	A.	P.
Office establishment	683	15	4
Contingent charges	515	5	9
Original Works	78,640	5	0
Repairs	9,018	0	2
Work establishment	13,082	3	0
Tools and Plant	3,349	9	6
Other charges	2	0	0
Total	1,05,291	6	9

leaving Rs. 1,97,238-14-4, including outstanding balance amounting to Rs. 1,83,344-6-7.

18. The collection of road cess having been suspended by order of Government in certain most distressed tracts of the regulation districts, the receipts from that source fell short of the estimates under that head.

19. The results of receipts and expenditure as shown above will show that the difference is very great on both sides of the account in all the districts. The cause is attributed to the actual receipts being much more than the estimated income on account of extraordinary grants from Government for relief purposes and sales of rice given out to labourers being included in them, and similarly the relief expenditure has swollen the actual expenditure far above the receipts in some cases. But it appears that there will be an actual balance in favor of the road fund when the relief expenditure has been adjusted, as much of their money was diverted to relief works.

20. The Bhagulpore Committee, as observed in the Chairman's report, have kept their accounts in very careful detail, showing receipts and charges on account of relief works separately from those of the regular district works. They apparently are in hopes that a settlement of account may take place on the part of Government, when it is anticipated that the available funds will be increased by the repayment of road cess money advanced for relief works. The other district committees do not appear as yet to have observed any distinction as to monies dealt with in their accounts.

21. Rates of cess—The cess was levied at the following rates in the several district during the year under review :—

Monghyr	...	}	Half the maximum rates.
Bhagulpore	...
Purneah	...
		Three-fourths of ditto.

22. Establishment.—First amongst the committees in this division, the Committee of Bhagulpore were anxious to have their own establishment, and applied for some—vide my report to Government, Public Works Department, No. 400Ct., dated the 25th January last. The subject has finally been disposed of in Government resolution of the 8th March last, No. 1209, and proposition statements of establishment have been submitted for orders.

23. Offices.—The following District Engineers, who held charge of the districts mentioned opposite their names, are well spoken of by the Magistrate. They have done their work with zeal and energy :—

Baboo Ram Ruttun Mozoomdar, Monghyr.

Messrs. Grant and Sibbold, Bhagulpore.

Mr. Corduer, Purneah.

And I can readily affirm that the district officers of Monghyr, Bhagulpore, and Purneah, as Chairman of the district committees, have been most zealous and earnest in the discharge of their duty.

J. E. T. NICOLLS, Colonel, R.E.,

The Hymns of the Rig-Veda, in the Samhita and Pala Text, by Professor F. Max Müller, M.A., in two Volumes. Price Rs. 21; packing and postage, Re. 2-12.

* * The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholarlike knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 15th July 1875 :—

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to regulate the trans-

Office memorandum from Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, No. 114E, dated 2nd May 1873, and enclosures.

Office memorandum from Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, No. 23E, dated 18th January 1874, and enclosures.

From Messrs. Gillanders, Arbuthnot and Company, No. 3253, dated 18th February 1874, and enclosure.

From Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces, No. 1100A, dated 21st April 1874, and enclosures.

From Secretary to Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 521-B, dated 29th April 1874.

„ Chief Secretary to Government, Madras, No. 500, dated 5th May 1874, and enclosures.

„ Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 463-105, dated 20th May 1874, and enclosures.

that the contract of an emigrant would be made with some individual employer for his whole term of service. Since that time, however, a considerable amount of emigration from peninsular India to British Burma has been effected under a system of contracts entered into by the emigrant directly with the Secretary of State in Council. The funds have been provided by the Government of British Burma, which is repaying itself out of the earnings of the emigrant. It has therefore been thought better to work on this hitherto successful line, and to adapt the provisions of the Bill to the system actually in existence.

3. The portions of the Bill, as now settled by us, which bear most strongly on the change of principle, are contained in sections 35 and 48. But it is obvious that many other parts of the Bill must have been modified by such a change, such as the amount of labor rate, the conditions under which emigrants are assigned to private employers, the terms of redemption of contracts, the proviport of native labourers to British Burma, and their employment therein, was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

2. The principal alteration we have made in the Bill is one which depends upon the system of emigration adopted for British Burma, and a system has sprung up since the Bill was introduced into Council. At that time it was not supposed that funds for the promotion of emigration would be forthcoming from any body but the employers who wanted laborers, and the Bill was accordingly framed on the principle vision for return passages, and in particular that much of the protective machinery provided by the original Bill may be safely left to be provided by the Local Government either in the shape of statutory rules or in the shape of executive orders.

4. We now proceed to state in detail the principal alterations we have made in the Bill.

5. As the Bill now contains no clause prohibiting emigration save under the proposed Act, we have struck out the saving of contracts with native seamen, domestic servants, and, skilled artisans.

6. We have omitted from the interpretation clause the definitions of "employer," "vessel," and "master;" we have shortened the definition of "immigrant;" and we have defined "Chief Commissioner."

7. We have provided that the Emigration Agent shall be removeable at the pleasure of the Chief Commissioner, and that the Medical Inspector of Emigrants shall be remunerated as the Government of India may direct.

8. We have relieved the Emigration Agent from the duty of spontaneously instituting inquiries into the treatment of emigrants on the return voyage. He will, however, receive and enquire into any complaints actually made.

9. We have struck out the clause as to recruiters' badges, which are objected to in many parts of the country as favoring oppression and fraud.

10. We have empowered officers who have countersigned recruiters' licenses to require them to produce the licenses, and either to cancel the signature or impound the license for cancellation by the Emigration Agent.

11. Under the new system to which we have referred, it is impossible to specify in the emigrant's contract (vide section 13) the district in which he is to serve or the nature of his work, and in Burma it is unnecessary to specify the price of his food. We have, therefore, struck out the provisions relating to these matters.

12. We have provided for the medical examination of persons accompanying a recruit as his dependents.

13. We have reduced to eight annas the fee for registering a recruit, and struck out the provision for refunding it in case of his desertion.

On the latter point we are clear enough. There is no reason why, if the fee is proper to be paid for the work done, it should be repaid because of the subsequent misbehaviour of one of the parties who required the work. But it may be questioned whether the work should not be done without any fee at all. If the matter were new, we should be of opinion that the district officers might properly be called upon to discharge it gratuitously. But inasmuch as a fee is, under the General Emigration Act, charged for similar services, we have not ventured to omit it altogether from this Bill, though we are of opinion that a smaller one may properly be charged. We are not informed in what manner the fees are disposed of. The point is one on which the local authorities will have full information, and we shall be glad to receive advice whether it is desirable to abolish the fee altogether, or to lower it as now proposed.

14. We think that the Medical Inspector should examine in detail and individually all emigrants and their dependents immediately after their arrival at the dépôt, but that any subsequent inspection by him should be of a more general character, and for the purpose mainly of seeing that there is no danger of infectious diseases. We have made provision for the case of emigrants or dependents suffering from such disease. We have struck out the penalty imposed on the Emigration Agent by section 27 of the Bill as introduced, and we have provided a procedure where a dependent is dangerously ill.

15. We have slightly modified the procedure of the Emigration Agent in registering contracts.

16. In section 35 we have declared that, when any contract has been ratified by the Emigration Agent, the emigrant shall be deemed to have contracted with him on behalf of the Chief Commissioner to proceed to British Burma, and there to labor according to the terms of his contract in any place and mode which, consistently with such terms and with the provisions of the proposed Act, the Chief Commissioner may from time to time direct.

17. We have struck out the sections relating respectively to suits against the Emigration Agent for breach of contract and to the recovery of certain sums payable by him to emigrants.

18. We have provided that Emigration Agents shall furnish the masters of emigrant vessels with proper lists of the emigrants on board.

19. We have struck out the provision contained in section 40 of the original Bill, that the Emigration Agent is to ascertain that the emigrants are in a fit state of health to proceed to Burma. All duties of this kind should be discharged by the Medical Inspector.

20. We have made it clear that the offices of Emigration Agent and of Medical Inspector of Emigrants may be held by the same person.

21. Considering the shortness of the voyage from peninsular India to Burma, and the circumstance that the emigrants will be under the care of Government until their arrival, we have struck out the sections (35—44) of the Bill as introduced relating to emigrant vessels and the embarkation of emigrants. All that they do can be done by subsidiary rules to be framed by the Local Government.

22. In section 48 we have modified the clause relating to the assignment of immigrants, and have authorized the Chief Commissioner to make rules regulating the terms on which immigrants shall be allowed to labour on their own account. We have provided (in section 49) that, in assigning immigrants to particular employers, the Immigration Agent shall, so far as practicable, take care that they are not separated from their dependents.

23. For reasons similar to those stated in paragraph 21 of this report, we have struck out the clauses (51—65) of the Bill as introduced, relating to the transit of immigrants to the place of labour. The matter will be more fitly provided for by rules to be made by the Chief Commissioner.

24. We think that under the changed aspect of the Bill no labour rate will be wanted. The expenses will be recovered from the employers under the terms of the assignments. If they are not recoverable from any employer, we have empowered the Chief Commissioner to declare the assignment of immigrants to such employer to be void. In such case their labour will again be at the disposal of the Chief Commissioner.

25. We have struck out the clauses relating to the books to be kept and the reports to be made by Inspectors of Immigrants. These matters can, if necessary, be provided for by subsidiary rules or by simple executive orders.

26. We have also omitted the two sections (74, 75) of the Bill as introduced, which relate to the fixing of the immigrant's daily tasks and to the revision of the schedule of tasks. They are inconsistent with the conditions under which emigrants are now and will be employed in British Burma.

27. By section 60 where an Inspector finds an immigrant to be permanently unfitted for labour, he will report the case to the Local Government, which will then either provide for the employment and support of the immigrant and his dependents, or send them back to the place at which they registered.

28. Fines for breach of rules as to house accommodation will, where the persons fined are agents and fail to pay, be charged on the employers' lands and be recoverable as if they were land revenue.

29. We have struck out, as unnecessary in Burma, the clauses relating to unhealthy estates (sections 83 and 84 of the original Bill).

30. We have struck out the clauses (sections 85, 89 of the Bill as introduced) empowering the employer of an immigrant convicted of absence from labor or desertion to assign him to another employer.

31. We think it inexpedient to provide that the punishment for desertion shall in all cases be rigorous.

32. We have simplified the procedure in cases of complaints against employers. When any such complaint is frivolous and vexatious, we have provided (in section 77) a small penalty for the complainant. Compensation awarded, where wages are in arrear for more than two months, will be paid to the immigrant.

33. By sections 83 and 84 we have completely altered the redemption clauses contained in section 102 of the original Bill. The contract being made with Government, who will also in many cases be the actual employer of labour, it is intended to make it redeemable, as the present practice is, on repayment by the immigrant of the expenses properly chargeable to him according to accounts kept by the Immigration Agent. When the immigrant has been assigned to a private employer, the proper compensation to that employer for the loss of his labour will be best ascertained by the special conditions of the assignment, or by rules whenever the local Government can find its way to some general principle applicable to all cases.

34. We have struck out the clause (section 104 of original Bill) providing for a return passage for immigrants whose contracts have been completed. Such a provision is not only not required, but would be inexpedient in the case of British Burma—at all events under the contemplated system.

35. We have struck out, as useless, the section empowering the Governor-General in Council to make subsidiary rules, and we think it unnecessary to require the sanction of the Government of India to rules made by the Chief Commissioner under the proposed Act.

36. We have expressly empowered the Chief Commissioner to make rules to regulate the notice to be given, and forms to be observed, on the termination of assignments of immigrants and the terms on which contracts and assignments of service may be renewed. We have provided a penalty for wilfully contravening any rule for the breach whereof no penalty is specially provided.

37. We have added four clauses (89, 90, 91, 92) to the Bill: the first providing for the renewal of instruments which have been lost or destroyed; the second declaring that copies made under the proposed Act shall be evidence of the contracts to which they respectively relate; the third providing for the recovery of money due under the Act from employers of immigrants; and the fourth supplying a technical defect in the contracts for service in British Burma under Government which have heretofore been entered into by emigrants from peninsular India.

38. The schedule giving a form of a pass permitting immigrants to proceed to their labour district has been struck out in consequence of the omission of the section (51) which refers to it.

39. We have made, besides these substantial changes, several transpositions and verbal amendments.

40. We think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication: we accordingly recommend that it be republished, as now amended, in the Gazette of India, the Calcutta Gazette, the Fort Saint George Gazette, and the British Burma Gazette, and that its further consideration should be postponed for the present.

SCHEDULE A.—RECRUITER'S LICENSE.

SCHEDULE B.—CERTIFICATE OF MEDICAL OFFICER
AS TO HEALTH OF INTENDING EMIGRANT.A Bill to regulate the transport of native labourers to British Burma, and their employment therein.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the transport of native labourers to British Burma, and their employment therein under contracts of service; It is hereby enacted as follows:

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The British Burma Labour Law, 1875:"

Local extent.

It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force at once.

2. Madras Act No. V of 1866 (to regulate the manner of engaging and contracting with native inhabitants within any of the Districts subject to the Government of Fort St. George, for labour to be performed in any part of India beyond the territorial limits of the Presidency of Madras) is repealed as to engagements hereafter made in the Presidency of Madras for labour to be performed in British Burma, and as to the emigration of natives of India from such Presidency to British Burma.

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—
Interpretation clause.
"Chief Commissioner." "Chief Commissioner" means the Chief Commissioner of British Burma.

"Emigrants" and "emigration" respectively mean emigrants and emigration under this Act.
"Emigrant."

"Magistrate" means a Magistrate of a district or of a division of a district, or any Magistrate deputed by the Magistrate of the district for the control of emigration or labourers, or any Magistrate of Police for a Presidency Town.

"Immigrant" means any emigrant who has gone to British Burma in accordance with a contract made under the provisions of this Act.

PART II.

OF EMIGRATION.

Emigration Agents, Medical Inspectors, and Depôts.

4. At every port of embarkation the Chief Commissioner shall, with the consent of the Local Government, appoint an Emigration Agent, to whom such remuneration shall be assigned as the Government of India may from time to time direct. Such Agent shall be removable at the pleasure of the Chief Commissioner.

At every such port the Local Government shall appoint a competent person to be Medical Inspector of Emigrants, and such remuneration shall be assigned to him as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time direct.

5. Every such Emigration Agent and Medical Inspector shall be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

6. In addition to the special duties hereinafter assigned to him, every such Emigration Agent shall—

- (a) protect and aid with his advice all emigrants;
- (b) cause, so far as he can, all provisions of this Act to be complied with;
- (c) inspect on arrival all vessels bringing return emigrants to the port at which he is Agent;
- (d) receive and enquire into the complaints (if any) of the treatment of such emigrants during the voyage and (if necessary) report thereon to the Local Government;
- (e) aid and advise such returned emigrants when requested by them to do so.

7. Every Emigration Agent, and all persons in charge of, or employed in, any depôt or in any vessel licensed to carry emigrants as hereinafter provided, shall give the Medical Inspector every facility for making such inspections, examinations, and surveys as may be necessary or proper under this Act, and shall afford him all such information as may be reasonably required by him.

8. At each port of embarkation the Emigration Agent shall establish a suitable depôt for emigrants.

Recruiters.

9. Each Emigration Agent shall license as many fit persons as he thinks necessary to be recruiters of labourers for British Burma.

Every recruiter shall be licensed to obtain labourers from one or more districts to be named in the license.

10. The license granted to a recruiter under section nine may be in the form set forth in Schedule A, hereto annexed.

No license shall be in force for a longer period than one year; and in case of misconduct on the part of the recruiter, the Emigration Agent may cancel his license before the expiration of the period for which it was granted.

11. A recruiter shall not be deemed to have obtained authority in any place other than a Presidency town to engage or attempt to engage a native of India to become an emigrant until his license has been countersigned by the Magistrate of the district or of the division of the district, or to have obtained such authority in any Presidency town until his license has been countersigned by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police.

12. No such officer shall countersign a recruiter's license unless, and until he has satisfied himself, by such enquiry as he thinks fit, that the licensee is not by character or from any other cause unfitted to be a recruiter under this Act.

If any officer who has countersigned a license afterwards finds reason to think that the licensee is by character or other cause unfitted to be a recruiter under this Act, he may require the licensee to produce the license and may cancel his signature; or he may, if he thinks fit, impound the license and send it to the Emigration Agent for cancellation.

Every such officer refusing to countersign a recruiter's license, or cancelling his signature, shall without delay report his refusal or cancellation and the grounds of it to the Emigration Agent to whose authority the recruiter is amenable.

Contracts and Registration and Journey to Depôts.

13. Any person desiring to emigrate under this Act may enter into a contract with a recruiter to proceed to British Burma and there serve for a fixed period of not more than three years from the date of his arrival at the port of debarkation.

Every such contract shall be in writing and shall specify—

- (a) The term of service;
- (b) The number of days and hours of work;
- (c) The monthly wages in money;
- (d) The persons (if any) intending to accompany the recruit as his dependents.

The monthly rate of wages shall in no case be less than seven rupees for an adult male labourer. No recruit shall be required to work more than six days in one week, or more than six consecutive hours, or more than nine hours a day.

No deduction shall be made from the wages of a recruit on account of the rest for one day in each week. The obligation to provide on holidays for the care of animals, and the necessities of daily life, shall not be considered as work.

No emigrant shall be bound by the provisions of this Act unless he has entered into a contract in accordance with this section.

14. Every recruit who has entered into such a contract as aforesaid shall be brought by the recruiter before the Civil Surgeon of the district or such other medical officer as the Local Government appoints in that behalf or, in default of such appointment, before such medical officer as the Magistrate directs.

The medical officer shall thereupon examine the recruit, and shall either reject him or shall certify that he is in a fit state of health and able, in point of physical condition, to proceed to British Burma and to work there.

If it is intended that any persons shall accompany the recruit as his dependents, the recruiter shall also bring them before the medical officer for the purpose of obtaining certificates that they are in a fit state of health and able, in point of physical condition, to perform the journey to British Burma; and the medical officer shall examine the dependents and shall give or refuse certificates according to his opinion as to their fitness and ability.

Certificates shall be in the form set forth in Schedule B, hereto annexed, and the recruiter shall pay to the medical officer such fee for each person examined as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe.

15. Every certified recruit and every accompanying dependent shall appear with the recruiter before a Magistrate in the district or Presidency town within which the contract with the recruit was entered into.

16. The Magistrate shall thereupon inspect the instrument of contract and the medical certificate of the recruit, and shall, apart from the recruiter, examine the recruit with reference to his contract, and if it appears that the recruit understands the nature of the contract he has entered into as regards the particulars specified in section thirteen, and that he is willing to fulfil the same, the Magistrate shall register—

(a) the name, the father's name, and the age of such recruit;

(b) the name of the village or place in which he resides;

(c) the port of embarkation to which it is intended that he shall proceed;

(d) the several particulars specified in the instrument of contract made under section thirteen.

The recruit shall thereupon be deemed an emigrant under this Act.

If the Magistrate thinks that the recruit does not understand the nature of his contract, or has been induced to enter into it by fraud or misrepresentation, he shall refuse to register him.

17. On the appearance of any person claiming to be dependent on an emigrant, the Magistrate, after inspecting the medical certificate, shall, apart from the recruiter, examine such person, if able to give intelligent answers to questions as to his dependence upon the emigrant whom he is about to accompany, and as to his willingness to accompany such emigrant.

If the Magistrate is satisfied as to the said dependence and willingness, he shall register the dependent as a dependent on such emigrant.

But if the Magistrate sees reason to doubt such dependence or willingness, he may refuse to register the alleged dependent.

18. The Magistrate shall furnish to every emigrant an authenticated copy on substantial paper of the matters registered under sections sixteen and seventeen.

Such copy is hereinafter called "the emigrant's instrument" or the "immigrant's instrument."

Another authenticated copy of the matters so registered, together with the original certificate of the medical officer, shall be forthwith forwarded by the Magistrate to the Emigration Agent at the port of embarkation to which the emigrant is about to proceed.

For each registration of a recruit under this Act the recruiter shall pay to the officer making it a fee of eight annas.

19. When the registration under this Act is completed, the emigrant and his dependents may be moved to the depôt at their port of embarkation.

20. The recruiter himself, or a competent person appointed by him with the approval of the Magistrate by whom such emigrants have been registered, shall accompany and take care of all emigrants and their dependents while journeying to the depôt.

The Magistrate shall give to every person so appointed a certificate under his signature, stating that he has been appointed to accompany and take care of certain emigrants during their journey to the depôt.

Every recruiter by whom any emigrant or dependent is forwarded to a depôt shall, throughout the journey, provide him with proper and sufficient food and lodging.

21. Whoever, being a duly licensed recruiter, removes for the purpose of emigration any recruit before the completion of such registration as aforesaid; and whoever by means of intoxication, violence, fraud, false pretences, or misrepresentation induces any native of India to enter into a contract for labour to be performed in British Burma, or to proceed to or towards any sea-port for the purpose of proceeding to British Burma without having entered into any contract; and whoever wilfully neglects to supply any emigrant or dependent under his care with proper and sufficient food and lodging, or otherwise treats such emigrant or dependent on his journey to the depôt;

and whoever forwards, sends, or conveys any such emigrant or dependent with intent to contravene the provisions of this Act; shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Procedure on arrival of Emigrants at Depôt.

22. The Emigration Agent shall, within twenty-four hours after the arrival at the depot of any emigrant, give to the Medical Inspector notice in writing of such arrival.

23. The copy of the matters so registered and the medical certificate of every emigrant forwarded to the Emigration Agent as provided by section eighteen, shall be shown to the Medical Inspector at the port of embarkation, and all emigrants and their dependents shall be examined by the Medical Inspector immediately after their arrival at the depôt.

24. The Medical Inspector of emigrants shall also, at least once in every week, inspect the emigrants in the depôt, and examine into the state of the depôt and the manner in which the emigrants are therein lodged, fed, clothed, and otherwise provided for and attended to.

25. It shall be the special duty of the Medical Inspector to take care that no emigrant or dependent is suffering from any disease calculated to be dangerous to his neighbours, and to isolate or to exclude from the depôt and from embarkation persons who are so suffering.

Any person so suffering may, if the Medical Inspector thinks fit, be removed to a proper hospital for treatment.

26. If the Medical Inspector has reason to think that any emigrant is in such a state of health that his journey to British Burmah, or detention in the depôt, would be dangerous to himself or others, or that he is unfit for labour in British Burma, he shall so certify to the Emigration Agent; and in case any emigrant is in such a state of health as aforesaid, the Emigration Agent shall pay to such emigrant such sum as is necessary to enable him to return to the place at which he was registered:

And any emigrant who, from his state of health, is, in the opinion of the Medical Inspector, unfit to undertake such journey, shall be entitled to be fed, lodged, and attended to at the port of embarkation at the expense of the Emigration Agent, until he is reported by the Medical Inspector fit to undertake such journey.

27. If a dependent has accompanied such emigrant, the Emigration Agent shall pay such sum as is necessary to enable him to return to the place at which he was registered, as well as to feed and lodge him during the detention (if any) of the emigrant in the depôt.

28. If the Medical Inspector sees reason to think that any dependent is in such a state of health that his journey to British Burma, or his detention in the depôt, would be dangerous to himself or others, he shall so certify to the Emigration Agent; and thereupon the emigrant to whom such dependent is attached shall be entitled, if he so wishes, to return as if he himself had been certified to be unfit to proceed under section twenty-six.

If the emigrant still desires to proceed, then the dependent shall be kept and be returned to the place at which he was registered as if he were an emigrant falling under section twenty-six.

29. If the Medical Inspector sees no reason to certify in the manner provided in section twenty-six or section twenty-eight of any emigrant or dependent, he shall countersign the copy of the emigrant's instrument which is in the possession of the Emigration Agent.

30. If, upon the arrival of any emigrant or dependent at the depôt, it appear that he has suffered any ill-treatment, or that the recruiter has failed to provide him with proper and sufficient food and lodging during the journey to the depôt, the Local Government may order the Emigration Agent to pay him a reasonable sum by way of compensation.

31. When the copy of an emigrant's instrument has been countersigned by the Medical Inspector under section twenty-nine, the Emigration Agent shall ratify the contract into which the emigrant has entered, by countersigning the emigrant's instrument and the authenticated copy thereof forwarded to the Emigration Agent under section eighteen.

32. A copy of every such instrument shall be entered in a register to be kept by the Emigration Agent for the purpose, and a copy of such entry authenticated by himself shall be forwarded by him to the Emigration Agent at the port of debarkation.

33. Any emigrant who, without reasonable cause, refuses to produce his instrument when required by the Emigration Agent, or in any respect to comply with the terms of his contract, shall be punished with a fine equal in amount to the cost incurred in engaging, registering; and conveying him to the depôt, and in default of payment of such fine, with imprisonment which may extend to two months, and such emigrant may forthwith be discharged from the depôt.

A certificate signed by the Emigration Agent that reasonable cause for refusing to produce the emigrant's instrument has not been shown, shall be admissible as prima facie evidence in proceeding taken under this section.

A certificate signed by the Emigration Agent stating the cost incurred in engaging, registering, and conveying the emigrant to the depôt shall be conclusive evidence of the amount of such cost.

Every fine levied under the provisions of this section shall be paid to the Emigration Agent.

34. If within thirty days after the arrival at a depôt of any emigrant, the Emigration Agent does not offer to ratify such contract in manner aforesaid, or if the Emigration Agent, without the consent of the Local Government, refuses to be bound by the contract made with the emigrant, the Local Government may order the Emigration Agent to pay to such emigrant such sum of money as is necessary to enable him, together with the dependents (if any) upon him to return to the place where he was registered, and in such case the emigrant shall be released from his contract.

tated for the performance thereof by reason of sickness or other sufficient cause :

Provided that every such immigrant shall, during such incapacity, receive from his employer such subsistence money, not exceeding his wages, as the Inspector thinks sufficient.

59. If any immigrant is compelled to perform

Penalty for compelling immigrant to perform work for which he is unfit.

any species of labour for which he is at the time manifestly unfit, or which is at variance with the terms of his assignment, the person so compelling him shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

60. If, in the opinion of the Inspector of Immigrants any immigrant is Power to discharge immigrants permanently unfitted for labour.

permanently incapacitated for the performance of his contract, according to the terms of his assignment, the Inspector shall certify to that effect in writing, and deliver such certificate to the employer of such immigrant, or to his manager or agent, and from the date of such delivery the assignment of such emigrant shall be wholly vacated.

The Inspector shall report every such case to the Local Government, and the Local Government shall either provide for the employment and support of the immigrant and of his dependents, or return them to the place at which they were registered.

Provisions for the health and comfort of Immigrants.

61. Every employer of immigrants shall be Sufficient house accommodation, &c., to be provided.

bound to provide for them sufficient and proper house accommodation, water supply, and sanitary arrangements, and such food as the Chief Commissioner may from time to time direct.

62. Any Inspector or Assistant Inspector

Powers of Inspector as to house accommodation, &c.

who is himself a Magistrate, may institute within the local limits of his jurisdiction, a local enquiry whether any employer has provided for his immigrants sufficient and proper house accommodation, water supply, sanitary arrangements, or food.

At the instance of any Inspector or Assistant Inspector, a similar enquiry may be made by any Magistrate.

Every such enquiry shall be dealt with and conducted as an enquiry by a Magistrate under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

63. Any person disobeying rules passed under Penalty for breach of rules as to house accommodation.

section eighty-seven, clause (e) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and the convicting

Magistrate may order compliance with such rules by the person bound to obey the same within a reasonable time to be fixed in the order.

If such person wilfully omits to comply with such order, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees a day for every day that such omission continues.

If such person is an agent and fails to pay the fine, such fine shall be charged on the employer's land and shall be recoverable in the manner provided by section ninety-one.

64. Wherever such hospital accommodation

Penalty for breach of rules as to hospital.

or medical charge as required by rules made under section eighty-seven, or medicines of such quality and kind, and according to such scale as aforesaid, have not been provided, the employer or other person wilfully neglecting to provide the same shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every week during which any such default continues.

Complaints against Immigrants.

65. Any immigrant who Penalty on immigrant absconding himself without sufficient cause.

voluntarily and without reasonable cause absents himself from his employer's service, or without reasonable cause neglects or refuses to labour as required by his employer or according to the terms of his contract, may, on conviction by a Magistrate, be sentenced to lose all claim to wages or allowances during such absence, neglect, or refusal, and also to forfeit to his employer a sum not exceeding eight annas for each day during which such absence, neglect, or refusal has continued; and in case such absence, neglect, or refusal has exceeded seven days, or in case such emigrant has been already convicted of the same offence within a period of three months, he may be further sentenced at the request of the employer to imprisonment for fourteen days.

Explanation.—Ill-treatment of such immigrant by his employer, or the neglect of the employer to fulfil any condition of the contract, may be 'reasonable cause' within the meaning of this section.

66. If any immigrant deserts or attempts to Immigrant deserting may be apprehended without warrant.

desert from his employer's service, such employer or any other person acting in his behalf may, without warrant, and without the assistance of any police officer (who, nevertheless, shall be bound to give such assistance if called upon to do so), apprehend such immigrant wherever he may be found :

Provided that if he be found in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without a warrant.

The employer or other person apprehending an immigrant under this section shall, within a reasonable time after such apprehension, give him in charge at the nearest police station, and there enter the charge upon which he has been apprehended.

67. Any immigrant so given in charge shall be conveyed, without delay, to the nearest Magistrate having jurisdiction.

Immigrant, when made over to police, to be taken before nearest Magistrate.

If the place from which such immigrant is charged with having deserted be within the jurisdiction of such Magistrate, he shall himself adjudicate upon the charge; but if not, he shall forward the said immigrant, under custody, to the Magistrate within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such place is situate, who shall adjudicate upon such charge.

68. Every immigrant deserting from his Punishment for desertion.

employer's service shall be liable to imprisonment which may extend to one month.

Every immigrant who after having been so convicted again deserts from his employer's service shall be liable to imprisonment which may extend to two months.

Every immigrant who after having been twice so convicted again deserts from his employer's service, shall be liable to imprisonment which may extend to three months..

69. Whenever any immigrant has actually suffered imprisonment amounting in the whole to six months for desertion or unlawful absence from his employer's service, the Inspector shall, if the employer so desire, cancel the assignment of such immigrant by endorsement on the immigrant's instrument, or, if that is not forthcoming, by any writing under his hand.

70. All the provisions of this Act regarding the desertion or unlawful absence of immigrants shall apply to immigrants who desert while in transit to the district in which they are assigned to labour; and such immigrants may be tried either in such district, or in the district in which they may be apprehended.

71. Whoever knowingly and wilfully entices away, harbours, or employs, or attempts to entice from his employment, any immigrant before he has been lawfully released from his contract, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and the convicting Magistrate may award to the employer of such immigrant the whole or any portion of such fine.

72. The employer, or any person authorized to act for the employer, of any immigrant sentenced to imprisonment for any offence under this Act, may apply to the Magistrate, at any time before the expiry of such sentence, that such immigrant be made over to him for the purpose of completing his term of labour; and the Magistrate may, if he see good cause, make over such immigrant to his employer, and in that case the Magistrate shall cancel the remainder of the sentence passed on the immigrant, and shall endorse on his instrument, or, if such instrument is not forthcoming, shall give him a memorandum of such cancellation.

73. When any immigrant has been sentenced to imprisonment for any offence under this Act, the Magistrate shall (subject to the provisions of section sixty-nine) make over such immigrant on the termination of his imprisonment to any person appointed on the part of his employer to receive charge of him; and no conviction under this Act, or imprisonment under such conviction, shall, save as aforesaid, operate as a release to any immigrant from the terms of his contract;

The period of imprisonment shall in no case be prolonged by reason of there being no person present on the part of the employer to take charge of the immigrant at the expiry of his sentence; but such immigrant shall, in that case, be sent to the place, or principal place of business of such employer, and the expense of so sending him shall be levied from the employer in the manner provided by section ninety-one.

74. The duration of every unlawful absence from labour, of which any immigrant may be convicted, and every period of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, shall, on the request of the employer, be endorsed by the convicting Magistrate on the employer's instrument, and no such period of imprisonment or unlawful absence so endorsed shall be reckoned as part of the term for which the immigrant is bound to serve, but such term shall extend to such further period as is equivalent to the aggregate amount of the imprisonment and unlawful absence so endorsed.

Complaints against employers.

75. If any immigrant states to his employer, or to any person acting for such employer, that he desires to make a complaint to the Inspector of Immigrants of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act on the part of such employer or other person, the person to whom such statement has been made shall within forty-eight hours, send notice thereof in writing to the Inspector, and in default of so doing, such person shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

76. Whenever any Inspector of Immigrants receives such notice in writing as aforesaid, or has other reasonable grounds for believing that any immigrant within the local limits of his jurisdiction has been injured by personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid, he shall, so soon as conveniently may be, make full enquiry into the matter complained of.

77. If, upon such enquiry, the Inspector finds that the complaint is untrue or frivolous or vexatious, he shall enter in his book the particulars of such complaint, and a short statement of the grounds of his finding respecting it, and shall dismiss the complaint; and in such case shall endorse on the employer's instrument the number of days during which the complainant has been absent from work in consequence of such enquiry, and such number of days shall be added to the period for which the complainant had contracted to serve, and every such endorsement shall be conclusive evidence that such immigrant has absented himself from his labour without sufficient cause during the number of days so endorsed.

When the complaint is frivolous and vexatious, the complainant shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

78. If, upon enquiry as aforesaid, the Inspector is of opinion that the complaint is well founded, he shall, if a Magistrate, dispose of the case in due course of law.

If the Inspector is not a Magistrate, he shall without delay send the complainant and his witnesses to the nearest Magistrate, and such Magis-

35. When the contract has been ratified by the Emigration Agent, the emigrant shall be deemed to have contracted with the Secretary of State for India in Council to proceed to British Burma, and there to labour according to the terms of his contract in any place and mode which, consistently with such terms and with the provisions of this Act, the Chief Commissioner or any officer appointed by him in that behalf may from to time direct.

Emigrant vessels and embarkation of Emigrants.

36. When the contract of any emigrant has been duly ratified as aforesaid, he may be forwarded to British Burma, together with his registered dependents, if any.

37. It shall not be lawful to receive any emigrant on board any vessel, unless a license to carry emigrants in such vessel has been obtained from the Local Government of the port of embarkation.

The granting or withholding of any such license shall be in the discretion of the Local Government.

38. Every person obtaining a license under the last preceding section shall be bound to comply with the provisions of this Act and the rules made hereunder, so far as such provisions and rules relate to him.

And any such person failing to comply with any of such provisions or rules shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

39. Before leaving the port of embarkation, the Emigration Agent shall furnish the master of any vessel licensed to carry emigrants with a list specifying as accurately as may be the names, ages, and occupations, and the names of the fathers of the emigrants on board, and the master shall obtain from the Emigration Agent and the Medical Inspector of Emigrants certificates under their respective hands, to the effect that they have in respect of the emigrants proceeding in such vessel done all that is hereinbefore required to be done on the part of such Emigration Agent and Medical Inspector respectively, and that, to the best of their knowledge, all the directions herein contained for ensuring the health, comfort, and safety of the emigrants have been duly complied with, as well as all rules for the time being in force under section eighty-six.

40. If any emigrant without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to embark when called upon by the Emigration Agent so to do, it shall not be lawful to compel such emigrant or his dependents (if any) to embark, or to put him or them on boardship against his will or to detain him or them against his or their will, at the depôt or elsewhere; but nothing in this section shall diminish or affect the civil or criminal liabilities which such emigrant incurs by reason or in respect of his refusal or neglect aforesaid.

Explanation.—The arbitrary refusal of any such dependent to embark shall not be deemed 'sufficient cause' within the meaning of this section.

Every case in which an emigrant is charged under this section before a Magistrate of Police in a Presidency town shall be heard and determined in a summary manner; and every such emigrant shall on conviction, whether by such Police Magistrate or any other Magistrate, be punished in the manner provided in section four hundred and ninety-two of the Indian Penal Code for the punishment of offences under that section.

41. The Emigration Agent shall, before the embarkation of any emigrant, ascertain that he has in his possession the instrument mentioned in section eighteen.

If it appear to the satisfaction of the Emigration Agent that any emigrant has lost such copy, the Agent may furnish him with another copy of such instrument, to be made from the copy forwarded by the Magistrate under section eighteen, and shall thereupon allow such emigrant to embark.

42. The offices of Emigration Agent and of Medical Inspector of Emigrants may be held by the same person; but in such case he shall perform only such of the duties hereinbefore prescribed for the two offices as are necessary for carrying out in substance the provisions of this Part.

PART III.

DEBARKATION AND TRANSIT TO DISTRICTS OF LABOUR.

Officers and Depôts at ports of debarkation.

43. The Chief Commissioner shall, at each port of debarkation, appoint an Immigration Agent and a Medical Inspector of Immigrants, and shall, by notification in the British Burma Gazette, define the local limits within which every such Agent and Inspector shall exercise the powers conferred upon him by this Act.

44. At every such port the Immigration Agent shall establish a suitable depôt for immigrants under this Act, and provide them with proper and sufficient lodging, food, clothing, and medical attendance in such depôt until they are despatched to the place of labour.

Such depôt shall be at all times open to the inspection of the Medical Inspector of Immigrants.

Procedure on arrival of Vessel carrying Immigrants.

45. Upon the arrival at any port of debarkation of any vessel carrying immigrants, the master of such vessel shall at once report his arrival to the Immigration Agent, and no immigrant on board shall be allowed to land without the permission of such Agent first obtained.

Any master of a vessel who allows any immigrant to land without such permission may be punished by a fine which may extend to fifty rupees for each person so landed.

46. Upon receipt of the report of arrival of any vessel carrying immigrants, the Immigration Agent or such other officer as he deposes in this behalf shall forthwith go on board such vessel and satisfy himself that the vessel has on board its proper list of immigrants, and shall compare the immigrants on board with the list.

The Medical Inspector shall also, as soon as may be, examine the immigrants, in order to ascertain whether any of them are suffering from contagious or infectious disease.

Any immigrant suffering under any such disease may, if the Medical Inspector thinks fit, be removed to a proper hospital for treatment.

47. The Immigration Agent may, if he thinks fit, and shall, on complaint made by any of the immigrants, inquire into the treatment of the immigrants during the voyage and submit a report thereon to the Chief Commissioner.

Assignment of Immigrants.

48. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act regulating—

- (a) applications to the Immigration Agent by persons desiring to employ immigrants,
- (b) the terms on which the Agent shall assign immigrants to such persons respectively,
- (c) the terms on which immigrants shall be allowed to labour on their own account.

All such rules shall be published in the British Burma Gazette.

49. In assigning immigrants to particular employers, the Immigration Agent shall, so far as may be practicable, take care that they are not separated from their dependents.

50. The assignment may be made in such form as the Chief Commissioner shall by rule direct, and the Immigration Agent shall send each employer a copy, authenticated by himself, of the entry forwarded to him by the Emigration Agent under section thirty-two.

Such copy is hereinafter called "the employer's instrument."

51. The Immigration Agent shall endorse on the instrument of every immigrant assigned under section fifty an entry showing—

- (a) the name and residence of his employer, and
- (b) the period for which the immigrant is so assigned.

PART IV.

THE LABOUR DISTRICTS, AND RELATIONS OF EMPLOYER AND IMMIGRANT.

Inspectors of Immigrants.

52. The Chief Commissioner may appoint so many Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors of Immigrants as he thinks proper, and may from time to time define, by notification in the British Burma Gazette, the local limits within which each such Inspector and Assistant Inspector shall exercise and perform the powers and duties conferred and imposed on him by this Act.

The Chief Commissioner may confer all or any of the powers of a Magistrate on such Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, and they shall be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

53. Every employer of immigrants under this Act shall, on such days and in such mode as may from time to time be prescribed by rule, under section eighty-seven, make out in writing, and deliver to the Inspector of Immigrants, a return of the number of immigrants so employed by him, and a return of the sickness and mortality among them during the preceding six months.

54. Any employer refusing, or wilfully omitting, to send in any such return as mentioned in the last preceding section, or knowingly sending in an incorrect return, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees;

and a certificate under the hand of the Inspector to whom such return ought to have been sent, stating that such return has not been received, or is incorrect as aforesaid, shall be received as prima facie evidence of the truth of such statement.

55. Every Inspector of Immigrants shall, so often as may be directed by the Chief Commissioner, visit all lands and houses within the limits of his authority on or in which any immigrant is employed, and inspect every building or place in any way used by or for any such immigrants, or in or on which any such immigrants are employed and investigate the condition of such immigrants; and for such purpose the Inspector may require that any immigrant shall be produced before him with all papers relating to his contract under this Act, and may make such enquiries as may to him seem proper.

56. Any Magistrate exercising jurisdiction in the district, and any person authorized by him in writing in this behalf may at any time—

- (a) enter and inspect any building or place wholly or partially used by or for immigrants,
- (b) require that any immigrant be brought before him, and
- (c) make any enquiries which he thinks proper touching the condition or treatment of any immigrant.

57. Any employer, and any person acting under his orders or on his behalf, who wilfully obstructs or impedes any visit, entry, inspection or enquiry under section fifty-five or section fifty-six, shall be liable for every such offence to a fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Suspension or Cancellation of Assignment.

58. The Inspector of immigrants, within the local limits of whose authority any immigrant is employed, may suspend, for such period as he thinks fit, the assignment of such immigrant, or any particular term of his contract under this Act, if he be in the judgment of the Inspector temporarily incapacitated.

trate shall thereupon dispose of the case in due course of-law.

79. If, upon the complaint of any immigrant, it is proved to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the wages of such immigrant are in arrear to an amount exceeding the total of his wages for two months, such Magistrate may award to the complainant the amount which appears to be then due to him; and also, by way of compensation, such further sum, not exceeding that amount, as appears to the Magistrate to be just; and in case of default, the entire sum shall be recovered in manner provided by section ninety-one, and shall be paid to the complainant.

80. If any employer, or any person placed in authority over any immigrant by such employer, is convicted of any offence causing injury to the person or property of such immigrant and triable under the Code of Criminal Procedure by the Court of Session; or if any such employer, or other person as aforesaid, is twice convicted of any such offence against such immigrant triable under the said Code by a Magistrate;

or if it be proved before a Magistrate that the wages of such immigrant are in arrear to an amount exceeding the total of such wages for three months;

or if a Magistrate, on the report of the Inspector, and after due inquiry in the presence of the parties, is satisfied that any immigrant has been subjected to ill-usage by such employer or any other person placed in authority over the immigrant by such employer, or has been compelled by such employer or person to perform any labour when known to such employer or person to be unfit for it;

the Magistrate may, if he think fit, on the application of the immigrant, in each of such cases cancel the assignment of such immigrant, and award to him, in addition to the wages (if any) due for service performed, compensation not exceeding thirty rupees.

Every such cancelment shall be certified by the Magistrate on the back of the immigrant's instrument, or if such instrument be not forthcoming, by writing under the Magistrate's hand delivered to the immigrant.

The compensation may be recovered in manner provided by section ninety-one.

Determination of Assignments and Contracts.

81. Every immigrant assigned under this Act, on completing the term of his assignment or on the avoidance of the same, may appear before the Inspector or Immigration Agent, who shall, on being satisfied that the term has come to an end, make an entry to that effect on the immigrant's instrument.

82. Any employer or agent forcibly or fraudulently detaining an immigrant after the completion or avoidance of his assignment, or wilfully failing to give notice of such completion in accordance with rules prescribed under section eighty-seven, shall be liable to fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

83. Any immigrant who is not assigned under this Act may redeem the unexpired term of his contract of service by paying to the Immigration Agent such sum of money as will repay the expense incurred by Government under this Act and chargeable to such immigrant after taking into account any repayment already made by him; and the certificate of the Immigration Agent shall be conclusive evidence of the sum so chargeable.

84. Any immigrant who is assigned under this Act, and who is desirous to redeem the unexpired term of his contract, may demand to be taken or allowed to go before the Inspector of Immigrants within the local limits of whose authority he may be employed.

The Inspector shall then inform him what is the price at which his contract may be redeemed; and on his depositing that price in the hands of the Inspector, the Inspector shall give notice to the employer that such immigrant requires him, within one week, to show cause why such immigrant should not redeem his contract for the sum so deposited;

and if no sufficient cause be shown within that time or such enlarged time as the Inspector deems reasonable, he shall require the production of the immigrant's instrument and endorse thereon a certificate of redemption, and out of the sum in deposit the employer of such immigrant shall be paid the value of the unexpired term of assignment.

From and after the date of such endorsement the immigrant's contract shall be deemed to have determined.

The value of the unexpired term of assignment shall be such as is provided for by the terms of the assignment or as may be fixed by any rules made under section eighty-seven, clause (g), and in force at the date of the assignment.

85. Every immigrant whose contract has been completed or otherwise determined, shall be entitled to receive forthwith from the Immigration Agent a certificate of release in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Chief Commissioner.

PART V.

SUBSIDIARY RULES.

86. The Local Government of every port of embarkation under this Act may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act to regulate the following matters:—

- (a) the fees payable under section fourteen;
- (b) the form of notice of the arrival of emigrants at depôts;
- (c) the management and regulation of depôts;
- (d) the medical care of emigrants during their residence at the depôts and during transport;
- (e) the clothing to be supplied to emigrants during transport;
- (f) the mode of applying for licenses under section thirty-seven;
- (g) the survey of emigrant vessels;

- (h) the procedure on embarkation ;
- (i) the space to be provided for emigrants on board ships sailing from ports of embarkation under this Act ;
- (j) the provisions, fuel and water to be laden on board such vessels, and the daily allowance to be issued to each immigrant ;
- (k) the medical officers, medicines and medical requirements to be on board such vessels ;
- (l) the ventilation and cleanliness of vessels during the journey, the control of officers, cooks and other servants, and generally the accommodation of immigrants.

87. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act to regulate the following matters :—

- (a) the transport of immigrants from ports of debarkation under this Act to the places of their respective employments, their medical inspection during such transport, their detainer at any place on the way on account of sickness, and the accommodation, support and medical treatment of immigrants so detained ;
- (b) the diet, clothing, medical attendance and management of immigrants in transit ;
- (c) the hospital accommodation, medicine and medical attendance to be provided by employers for their immigrants at the place of employment ;
- (d) the periodical inspection of immigrants ; the books to be kept by Inspectors of Immigrants ; and the returns to be made by employers of immigrants ;
- (e) the house accommodation, water-supply, sanitary arrangements, and supply of suitable food to be provided by employers for their immigrants ;
- (f) the notice to be given and forms to be observed on the termination of assignments of immigrants ;
- (g) the terms on which contracts and assignments of service may be redeemed ;
- (h) the hospital accommodation and medical care of labourers, and the nature, quality, and quantity of medical drugs and other stores to be provided for them ;
- (i) and generally to provide for the security, well-being, and protection of immigrants.

88. All rules made under sections eighty-six and eighty-seven shall be published.— in the case of rules made under section eighty-six, in the local official Gazette ;

in the case of rules made under section eighty-seven in the British Burmah Gazette ; and shall thereupon have the force of law.

Whoever wilfully contravenes any of the said rules, for the breach whereof no penalty is hereinbefore specially provided, may for every such offence be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and in default of payment, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months.

PART VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

89. If any employer's instrument or nay immigrant's instrument be lost or destroyed, the Immigration Agent shall, on application of the employer or immigrant (as the case may be); and on payment of such fee as the Chief Commissioner may fix in this behalf, send the applicant a copy of the instrument so lost or destroyed; and for the purposes of this Act, every copy so delivered shall be deemed to be the original.

Copies made under Act to be deemed evidence of contract.

90. All copies made under this Act shall be evidence of the contracts to which they respectively relate.

91. All balances due from any employer of immigrants under the terms of the assignments made to him under this Act, may be levied by the Deputy Commissioner either by distress and sale of any moveable property belonging to such employer, or as if they were land-revenue due on account of the estate on which the immigrants assigned to such employer are placed.

If the full amount is not recovered by the means aforesaid, the Chief Commissioner may declare the assignment of immigrants to such employer to be void so far as regards all or any of such immigrants, and the labour of the immigrants whose assignment is so vacated shall be again at the disposal of the Chief Commissioner according to section thirty-five.

92. All contracts for service in British Burma under the Chief Commissioner which have heretofore been entered into shall be construed as if, after the words "Secretary of State for India," the words "in Council" were inserted.

A Bill to amend the law relating to Telegraphs in India.

Whereas it is expedient to amend the law relating to Telegraphs in India; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

I.—Preliminary.

Short title. 1 This Act may be called "The Indian Telegraph Act, 1875."

Local extent. It extends to the whole of British India, and so far as regards subjects of Her Majesty, to the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty;

Commencement. And it shall come into force at once.

2. Act No. VIII of 1860 (for regulating the establishment and management of Electric Telegraphs in India) is hereby repealed.

But all licenses granted, declarations made, and rules framed under the said Act or under Act No. XXXIV of 1854, and now in force, shall be deemed to have been respectively granted, made and framed under this Act.

Interpretation-clause. 3. In this Act—

"Telegraph." "Telegraph" means an Electric or Magnetic Telegraph.

"Telegraph Officer" means any person employed either permanently or temporarily* in connection with a Telegraph established or maintained and worked by the Government, or by a Company or person licensed under this Act; and

"Message" means any communication sent by Telegraph, or given to a Telegraph Officer to be sent by Telegraph or to be delivered.

II.—Privileges and Powers of Government.

4. Within British India, the Governor-General in Council shall have the exclusive privilege of establishing lines of Telegraph:

Provided that the Governor-General in Council may grant a license to any person or Company to establish or to maintain a line of Telegraph within any part of British India, which license shall be revocable on the breach of any of the conditions therein contained.

5. On the occurrence of any public emergency (as to which an order signed by a Secretary to the Government of India shall be conclusive evidence), the Governor-General in Council may take temporary possession of any line of Telegraph established or maintained by any Company or person licensed under this Act.

6. Any Railway Company, on being required so to do by the Governor-General in Council shall permit the Government to establish upon the land of such Company adjoining the line of Railway a line of Telegraph, and shall give every reasonable facility for establishing and using the same.

7. The Governor-General in Council may from Power to frame rules for the conduct of Government Telegraphs.

time to time frame rules consistent with this Act, for the conduct of Telegraphs heretofore or hereafter established by Government, and may therein prescribe the regulations, conditions and restrictions according to which all messages and signals shall be transmitted thereby.

8. The Governor-General

Power to frame rules for Telegraphs established by license.

in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India,

(a) prescribe rules for the conduct of any Telegraph established or maintained by any Company or person licensed under this Act;

(b) declare what portions of this Act shall be applicable to such Telegraph and to persons using the same, or employed in connexion therewith;

(c) declare that this Act or such portions thereof as may be specified and to declare Act applicable to Telegraphs established within British India by Foreign Powers.

in the notification shall be applicable to any Telegraph established or to be established within British India by any Foreign Prince or State with the consent of the Government of India, and to persons using such Telegraph or employed in connexion therewith.

All rules prescribed under this section shall have the force of law.

9. The Government of India shall not be res-

Government not responsible for loss or damage.

pensible for any loss or damage which may occur in consequence of any Telegraph Officer failing to transmit with accuracy or to deliver any message given to him for transmission or delivery; and no such officer shall be responsible for any such loss or damage, unless he causes the same negligently, maliciously, or fraudulently.

III.—Penalties.

10. Whoever otherwise than under a license or being required by a Telegraph Officer to deliver up any such message neglects or refuses to do so, shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or to fine, or to both.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Doubts having been raised whether under the present Telegraph Act (VIII of 1860) rules can be framed for Telegraphs established under the repealed Act XXXIV of 1854, the present Bill has been prepared with the primary object of repealing and re-enacting Act VIII of 1860, with such change as will preclude all question as to the extent of the power above referred to.

The opportunity has been taken to make certain other alterations in the law, of which the chief are as follows:—

The present law declares that Railway Companies shall permit Government to establish Telegraphs on their land, but provides no penalty for refusing such permission; the Bill (section 12) supplies this defect.

The section relating to injuries to Telegraphs has been made more specific, the wording of 24, & 25 Vic., cap. 97, section 37, being here followed.

A clause founded on sections 14 and 15 of the Police Act V of 1861 has been introduced to empower the Local Government to employ additional Police in places where mischief to Telegraphs is repeatedly committed, and to charge the inhabitants with the cost of the Police so employed.

The clause imposing penalties for sending fabricated messages has been made to apply to messages sent by Telegraphs established by a Company or person licensed under the proposed Act, as well as to messages sent by Government Telegraphs.

Fraudulently retaining or wilfully secreting telegraphic messages is made penal. An analogous clause is contained in the Post Office Act (XIV of 1866), section 45.

Sections 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20 of Act VIII of 1860, which relate to fines and jurisdiction, have been omitted, as rendered unnecessary by Acts I of 1868 and X of 1872.

THE DURBAR AT DACCA.

ON Monday, the 19th July, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal held a Durbar in Dacca for the purpose of publicly presenting to Nawab Abdul Gunny, c.s.i., and his son Khajeh Ahsunoollah the usual khilluts on their being invested by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council with the titles of Nawab and Khan Bahadoor respectively.

The Durbar was held on board His Honor's yacht Rhotas, and was attended by all the officials, European and Native; by the principal zemindars, European, Armenian, and Native; and by the leading pleaders and merchants of the place.

Shortly after 5 p.m. His Honor entered, and having taken his seat, the proceedings commenced by the Commissioner presenting Nawab Abdul Gunny, Kally Narain Rai Chowdry, Bahadoor, of Bhowal, and Khajeh Ahsunoollah, Khan Bahadoor, to the Lieutenant-Governor. The Nawab and his son then withdrew to put on their dresses of honor, and the presentation of the natives was proceeded with; the officials being introduced by the Commissioner, and the zemindars, pleaders, and merchants by the Collector. On the conclusion of this ceremony, Nawab Abdul Gunny, c.s.i., and Khajeh Ahsunoollah, Khan Bahadoor, re-entered the Durbar, and were conducted, the former by the Commissioner, and the latter by the Collector, to the foot of the dais, where the sunnuds were read by Mr. C. E. Buckland, c.s., His Honor's Private Secretary.

Having tied the pearl necklaces round the necks of the Nawab and his son, His Honor addressed them as follows:—

“Nawab Khajeh Abdul Gunny, I congratulate you and your worthy son Khajeh Ahsunoollah on the distinction which has been conferred upon you both. It has afforded me pleasure, from time to time, to bring your conduct and services to the notice of the Viceroy. In common with all your friends, European and Native, I rejoice that His Excellency's selection has fallen upon you.

“In justice to you, Nawab, I will briefly recount before this assembly the facts and reasons on account of which the Government has chosen you for honorable distinction. You had but recently succeeded your father in his position and estates when the mutiny and disturbances of 1857 broke out. At a time when Dacca was threatened by mutineers and others from various quarters, when you also were threatened with personal violence and with the destruction of your property by plunder, you stood to your quarters, armed your followers, and materially contributed to the preservation of the peace in the city and neighbourhood. Subsequently, you evinced confidence in the financial stability of the Government by subscribing largely to the public loan then open.

“Subsequently, you showed munificent liberality on several occasions, such as the distress in Lancashire consequent on the American civil war; the loss of the ship Captain in European waters; the famine in the kingdom of Persia.

“During the recent famine in Bengal and Behar, although fortunately the distress did not reach Dacca in any severe form, you placed your steam vessel at the disposal of the authorities for carrying grain, you subscribed Rs. 25,000 to the Famine Relief Fund; you purchased grain at dear rates in order to dispose of it at cheap rates to your suffering fellow citizens in Dacca.

“In Dacca itself your charities and works of public utility have long been famous. You have long maintained a large almshouse, and have given stores and supplies regularly to the Mitford Hospital. You support a first-class school for poor students, with education free of charge. You contributed largely to the river embankment which is within our sight at this moment. Just one year ago you gave Rs. 1,50,000 for the construction of the water-works for this city, of which works the first stone was laid by His Excellency the Viceroy—which works I now find to be far advanced, and for the completion of which all expedition will be used. During the last year, again, you have given Rs. 20,000 for the addition of a new female ward to the Mitford Hospital, and Rs. 5,500 for the purchase of a site for the Mahomedan Madrassa, thereby showing a commendable interest in the education of your poorer co-religionists.

“In your good works you have been well seconded by your excellent son Ahsunoollah; and it is indeed an auspicious circumstance that both father and son should be to-day decorated together in the same Durbar. Ahsunoollah also has a son, who is being educated carefully in the ways of his father and grandfather. I hope that you may see your children's children growing up worthily, according to the traditions which now become hereditary in the family.

“Doubtless your good example as a citizen, a nobleman, and a landlord, will be duly appreciated by your Hindoo fellow subjects throughout the provinces under the Government of Bengal. Even more particularly will it be observed by your Mahomedan fellow subjects and co-religionists in Eastern and North-Eastern Bengal, who (irrespective of the Mahomedans in the rest of Bengal and in Behar) number full eleven millions of souls. You are now the first man in all that great community. It is well known that though remarkable still for agricultural skill and industry, they have of late years fallen somewhat behind in the race for intellectual eminence and social progress. It is well, therefore, that they should be able to contemplate in your family an instance of men raising themselves by their own thrift, their own exertions, and their own good management, to the first position in this division of Bengal.”

On the conclusion of his speech, the Lieutenant-Governor left the Durbar and the proceedings terminated.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES AT THE DACCA MADRASA.

On the 20th of July the Lieutenant-Governor distributed the prizes at the Mahomedan Madrasa at Dacca, and delivered the following address to the students and others assembled on that occasion. :—

“Gentlemen, before we separate I wish to announce that Kishoree Lal Rae, Zemindar, the founder and supporter of the Jugannath School, has declared his intention of giving an annual silver medal, to be awarded to some student of the Dacca Mahomedan Madrasa, under such conditions as may be determined on by the Committee of that institution. Of course the Committee will, in awarding the medal, exercise their independent judgment. I venture, however, to suggest for their consideration whether the medal might not well be awarded for proficiency in English. During the visit which I have just paid to the class rooms, I found that while the lower classes were studying English, the upper class was mainly studying Persian and Arabic, though the latter, on being asked as to their hopes and plans for their future careers, replied that they were aspirants for Government employ. Now I must point out that, without a word of disparagement of the study of such noble languages as Arabic and Persian, these two languages cannot possibly help young men to obtain Government employment in Eastern Bengal. The same remark, too, is applicable to all other professions, such as that of the bar, of medicine, of civil engineering, and the like. The two languages in public use in Eastern Bengal are, and must continue to be, English and Bengalee. If Mahomedan youths cannot be expected to study Bengalee, still they may well learn English, as the best means for earning a livelihood and for advancing in the contests of life. Considering that in maintaining this institution we are administering the trust formed by the late Mahammad Mohsin, considering also the express wishes of the Mahomedan community, we may continue to afford the best instruction possible in Arabic, Persian, and Oordoo, which languages, according to the usages of Mahomedan society, must be properly known by every Mahomedan gentleman. But together with Arabic, Persian, and Oordoo, it is quite possible to combine instruction in English, which is the language by which, under the circumstances of Eastern Bengal, a Mahomedan can win either a competency or a position in life. In inculcating this, I am sure we are fulfilling what would have been the wish of Mahammad Mohsin had he lived to this time, inasmuch as he wisely took thought for the benefit of those who should come after him, and must have desired that the Mahomedans of Bengal should by learning and virtue be able to enter into generous competition with their Hindoo fellow subjects.”

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MARINE DEPARTMENT, 1874-75.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MARINE—No. 2180

Calcutta, the 22nd July 1875

READ—

The Annual Report of the Marine Department for 1874-75.

1. The Pilot Service.—The strength of the Pilot Service on the 31st March 1875 was—

Pilots of the covenanted service	{ Salaried pilots	7
at work	{ Free list	43
Licensed pilots at work	25
	Total	75
Pilots on leave	{ Covenanted	2
	{ Licensed	3
Pilots under suspension	1

Since the 31st March 1874 the Pilot Service, partly owing to reductions, partly to casualties, decreased from 101 members to 81. Since the close of the year it has been further reduced by casualties to 71 pilots and 6 leadsmen. The service at present contains only 1 pilot more than the number fixed by the orders of Government as the maximum number to be maintained in future. By the same orders the number of leadsmen was fixed at 20, and proposals for recruiting the service in future are now under consideration.

2. Arrivals and Departures.—In the following statement the number and tonnage of the vessels visiting the port during 1874-75 are compared with those of 1873-74 :—

YEARS.	Arrivals.	Tonnage.	Departures.	Tonnage.	Total arrivals and departures.	Total tonnage.
1873-74	981	1,220,549	946	1,210,598	1,927	2,437,147
1874-75	927	1,280,604	961	1,321,093	1,828	2,602,596

This statement shows a decrease in the number of arrivals, an increase in that of the departures, and a total decrease of ships, taking arrivals and departures together, of 99 as compared with last year. In the Port Commissioners' report for 1874-75, the number of departures is given as 901 instead of 961 here given. The Officiating Master Attendant should explain the cause of this discrepancy, as well as that shown between the tonnage figures of the departures as given by him and by the Port Commissioners. Whichever figures, however, are accepted, the general conclusion is the same, that the number of vessels visiting the port is decreasing, while the aggregate tonnage carried by them is increasing; and the annual figures may be accepted as showing to what degree the size of the vessels employed in the Calcutta trade has increased since the opening of the Suez canal. The average tonnage of steamers and sailing vessels in 1873-74 was 1,264, against 1,423 in 1874-75; whilst the gross total tonnage in 1873-74 was 2,437,447, and in 1874-75 it was 2,602,597.

The average number of vessels per mensem which fell to the share of each pilot in the several grades of the Pilot Service during the last four years is shown in the subjoined statement —

GRADES.	1871-72.		1872-73.		1873-74		1874-75.
	No.	Average.	No.	Average.	No.	Average.	No.	Average.
Branch Pilots	10	4.05	9	3.00	10	3.33	8	2.68
Brevet Branch Pilots . . .	3	2.44	6	2.11	4	3.41	3	4.36
Masters	65	5.44	68	1.40	56	1.81	46	2.22
Mates	18	1 nearly	12	1.04	8	2.13	7	2.59

In 1871-72 the total number of ships which entered and left the port was, according to Appendix A, 1,889; in 1874-75 it was 1,828; giving 61 ships less in the latter year. The number of pilots decreased in the same period by 30. It seems clear from this that the averages of 1874-75, when compared with those of 1871-72, cannot be relied on altogether. It was to have been anticipated that the averages of 1874-75 would have shown a considerable improvement over those of 1871-72; but, at any rate, it was not to be expected that the position of the Branch Pilots should have altered so materially for the worse, as must have been the case if these figures are correct. It cannot be attributed to loss of tonnage, for it is well known that the number of vessels of the Branch Pilots' tonnage visiting the port has, for some time past, steadily increased, and is still increasing; and the tabular statement at the foot of page 2 of the report shows that no less than 1,604 vessels of their tonnage were piloted by the other grades of the service. The abolition of the special privileges of privileged Branch Pilots may have had some effect in producing this result, but that effect must have been very small. It would scarcely be sufficient to account for the interchange of position which has taken place between the Branch Pilots and the Brevet Branch Pilots. In order to enable him to see exactly how the question stands, the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to have a tabular statement giving the names of the Branch Pilots and Brevet Branch Pilots, the actual time run by each, and the number of ships piloted by each, for the two years 1871-72 and 1874-75. In Appendix A the total number of vessels which entered and left the port in 1874-75 is stated to be 1,828, but in the statement at the foot of page 2 of the report, the total number of vessels said to have been piloted is 1,863. This is explained by a note attached to the statement at the head of page 3, to the effect that to the former number must be added 25 pilot and light vessels.

3. Groundings, Collisions, and Marine Court.—It is satisfactory to observe that the number of groundings diminished from 68 in 1873-74, to 49 in the year under review. Out of these, there were two total losses. The number of collisions also decreased from ten to six. Although there were a few instances of inattention and carelessness on the part of pilots, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that "the conduct generally of the officers of the Pilot Service as a body has been very good," and that it has been necessary to place only one officer before the Marine Court for trial during the year. Two officers were, however, punished with suspension by Government without being brought to trial.

4. Channels of the Hooghly and River Survey.—Captain Laycock is reported to have conducted his duties ably during the year. The channels of the river are, on the whole, in a satisfactory condition; but some apprehensions exist regarding the gradual narrowing of the channels immediately below Calcutta. This subject has for some time past been under the consideration of the Government, and, as was mentioned in the review of the Port Commissioners' Annual Report, it has been referred by the Government of India to the Secretary of State, with the view of obtaining the opinion of Mr. Robertson, the Harbour Engineer, on the proposals submitted to Government by the Port Commissioners. Owing to financial considerations, the Government of India was unable to sanction the proposals for the reorganization of the River Surveying Flotilla and establishments. The Lieutenant-Governor has, however, under his consideration fresh proposals on the same subject from the Port Commissioners.

5. Vessels of the Department.—The vessels are reported to be generally in fair condition. The Comet, floating light vessel, has recently been condemned, and will be replaced by a new vessel now under construction in the Dockyard.

6. Wreck and Anchor Concern.—The income realized by the Vulcan in 1873-74 was Rs. 1,836-15-7, and the expenditure for establishment was Rs. 5,208. Her income for the past year was Rs. 7,771-13-6, and her establishment expenses Rs. 5,208. This shows a great improvement. In last year's Resolution the Officiating Master Attendant was called on to submit a complete report on the future prospects of this Department, with carefully considered suggestions as to the means which should be adopted to improve its financial position. The matter would seem, however, to have been overlooked by that officer, and he has also omitted to refer to it in the report now under consideration. It is requested that he will submit the report called for without further delay, and will explain the cause of his having omitted to do so before.

7. Miscellaneous.—The houses of refuge are reported to be in good order. One hundred and twenty-seven certificates of survey were issued under Acts V of 1862 and I of 1868; eight certificates of service, and twenty certificates of competency were granted. Ten vessels were registered under the English Merchant Shipping Act, and one under Act I of 1841. The Government Dockyard performed an unusual amount of work on account of the various requirements of the famine. Four paddle-steamers and twelve flats were built in Calcutta; all the other vessels of the famine fleet, comprising ten steamers and five flats, were put together and fitted out in the Dockyard; and a considerable quantity of work was executed for other Government Departments and for private companies.

MANUFACTURE OF CINCHONA ALKALOIDS.

RESOLUTION.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 27th July 1875.

READ—

Mr. Wood's report on manufacturing cinchona products, dated 24th May 1875.

1. BEFORE entering on the review of this report, it will be advantageous to reconsider the papers regarding the cultivation of C. succirubra, or the red bark trees. In his report for the year ending 31st March 1874, Dr. King made the following remarks as to the relative values of the succirubra and calisaya :—

"The great preponderance of succirubra trees in the plantation is not due to a preference for that species over calisaya, but to the fact that the red bark tree is hardier, much more easily propagated, and has a much wider range as regards conditions of growth than calisaya. Artificial propagation of calisaya by cuttings proved very much more difficult than similar propagation of succirubra, and until two years ago (owing to the slowness of the calisaya trees to yield seed) we had to depend entirely on such means for multiplying it, whereas succirubra has been seeding freely for years. At last, however, we have raised a large supply of calisaya seed, and I trust before many months are over to be able to report half a million of plants in the nursery beds; and if the funds at my disposal be sufficient, a large proportion of these may be permanently planted out before the end of the current financial year. Red bark, although rich in its total yield of alkaloids, contains less quinine than yellow bark, and in a less easily extracted form. It is therefore less esteemed by manufacturers of quinine. Moreover, red bark can still be procured in considerable quantity from South America, while yellow bark, on the contrary, is scarce. The yellow bark tree promises to grow well in Sikkim; and now that Government have the means of extending its cultivation, I am strongly of opinion that they should do so."

2. On this report the Secretary of State* made the following remarks :—

* Despatch of 5th November 1874.
Communicated with Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce Department, No. 2763, dated 9th December 1874.

"So much importance need not be attached to the cultivation of quinine-yielding species, if the species rich in cinchonidine is more suitable to the soil and climate of Sikkim; for the reports of the Cinchona Commissions are unanimous as to cinchonidine being equal to quinine as a febrifuge. If this view is confirmed by the medical officers whose duty it will be to watch and superintend the administration of the large quantity of cinchonidine which has lately been despatched to India, this question may be considered to have been finally settled. The cheap form of the febrifuge manufactured at Rungbi will contain all the alkaloids formed in the bark; but as the C. succirubra trees are by far the most numerous, cinchonidine must always predominate. Hence, very considerable importance attaches to the results of the use of the latter alkaloid, 1,700 ounces of which have now been despatched to Calcutta. I therefore desire that full reports may be called for on the efficacy of this form of the cinchona febrifuge, the successful use of which in India will so much increase the value of the Sikkim plantations."

3. Before this despatch arrived and was communicated to Dr. King, the first report of Mr. Wood, the Government Quinologist, had been considered, and orders passed on it. This report shewed that the succirubra trees seven years old, which were examined, yielded from 0.90 per cent. to 2.20 per cent. of quinine, and from 1.73 to 2.87 of cinchonidine; whilst the calisaya trees of five and seven years old yielded from 4.53 to 6.92 per cent. of quinine, and no cinchonidine. Mr. Wood was of opinion that, by selecting the best varieties of calisaya, there was a possibility of growing very rich bark capable of easily furnishing pure sulphate of quinine; to which he added the following remarks :—
"On comparing the analyses of the barks thus far examined, it will be found that certain varieties of calisaya are decidedly superior to any of the succirubra. It is true that the total alkaloid in the latter species is as much, or even a fraction per cent. more than in the former; but in the one case the total is made up of a mixture in nearly equal proportions of different alkaloids, while in the other it consists almost entirely of quinine. For the manufacture of alkaloid in this country, a great advantage would be gained by the employment of a bark yielding quinine to the exclusion of the other alkaloids, because the product would be more readily obtained in a pure and well-defined condition. Operating upon succirubra bark, the total yield must either be issued as a mixture of alkaloids in no very definite proportions, or methods of separation must be resorted to which will necessarily complicate the process. In addition to this, succirubra bark presents peculiar obstacles to the extraction of the alkaloids in a state of purity, which is not the case with calisaya."

4. On this report Dr. King recommended, and this Government sanctioned his recommendation, that all further planting of the succirubra species should cease. Dr. King has now reported, in his annual report on the cinchona plantation for 1874-75, that the experiments with calisaya seed have proved a failure. As far as the Secretary of State's despatch is concerned, the final decision of the question of the species which it is most advantageous to cultivate depends upon the reports which he called for from the medical officers on the 1,700 ounces of cinchonidine which he sent to India.

5. No report has been received by Government upon this point, and accordingly the Surgeon-General will now be asked to report specially on the cinchonidine received from the Secretary of State, and also on any febrifuge sent to him by the Quinologist for trial.

6. The Government Quinologist now reports the results of his further inquiries and experiments for maturing the details of a process for the manufacture of a cheap febrifuge from the bark of C. succirubra. He calculates that each tree will yield $2\frac{1}{4}$ lb of dry stem bark, and that, if these trees were regularly cut at the completion of their seventh year, there would be an average of 328,000 trees to cut furnishing 738,000 lb of dry bark annually. To be on the safe side, however, in his calculations, he takes the number of trees at 2,000,000; and allowing them to attain eight years before cutting, he would obtain 244,000 trees every year. Assuming that they only furnished an average of $1\frac{1}{2}$ lb each, the yield would be 366,000 lb of dry bark per annum. He further calculates that the cost of producing the 366,000 lb of bark is Rs. 80,000, or $3\frac{1}{2}$ annas per lb, and that the bark will yield 4 per cent. of total alkaloid. Mr. Wood has been informed that the legitimate requirements of Bengal for quinine amount to from 12 to 16,000 lb per annum, whilst the cinchona plantations at their present limit will only yield from 10 to 12,000 lb a year of the total alkaloid in its precipitated form, of the efficacy of which Mr. Wood understands both Dr. Chevers and Dr. Ewart are fully satisfied, and are quite prepared to recommend its adoption in all Government hospitals and dispensaries. This should not, however, be left as a matter of speculation, but should be definitely ascertained; otherwise the calculations may be materially vitiated. A report has been called for on the subject in the resolution of this date on the annual report of cinchona cultivation. Mr. Wood gave up the spirit process for the manufacture on account of the heavy expenditure of capital involved and the cost of spirit, and confined his attention to the process involving the use of acid and alkali. By this method he estimates the results of the full working power of the plantations as below:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Dry bark 366,000 lb, at $3\frac{1}{2}$ annas	80,000	0	0
Chemicals, carriage, and labour	35,455	0	0
Quinologist	10,000	0	0
Interest on capital for Quinologist's establishment	1,200	0	0
Total	1,26,655	0	0
Produce ($2\frac{1}{4}$ per cent.) 8,235 lb, at Rs. 15-7	1,27,127	8	0

He adds that, if such a simple method were observed, the exclusive services of a professional chemist would scarcely be required; and further, that "if the cultivation of cinchona and production of alkaloid be regarded as one operation, then Government, by simply extending existing appliances, will be in a position to supply the dispensaries with large quantities of an efficient febrifuge at a rupee an ounce, after covering every expense and paying interest at 4 per cent. on all the capital sunk on cinchona in Sikkim from the commencement down to the present time."

7. His experiments in Calcutta for exhausting the finely-powdered bark with acidulated water by the aid of steam heat proved entirely successful, and he obtained an average of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of product from the bark, which showed by analysis 4 per cent. of total alkaloid. The best computation he can make as to the financial results of this process is—

			Rs.	A.	P.
Bark 366,000lb, at 3½ annas per lb	80,000	0	0
Working expenses	68,000	0	0
Total			1,48,000	0	0
Produce 12,810lb (3½ per cent.), at Rs. 11-9 per lb	1,48,115	0	0

8. The Rs. 68,000 includes carriage of bark to Calcutta, chemicals, fuel, rent, Quinologist, labour (with European foreman), repairs, and interest on machinery. The adoption of this method would enable Government to produce febrifuge at a cost price of about 12 annas the ounce. He therefore recommends that a factory should be fitted up in Calcutta upon a moderate scale for working on this plan. The appliances in Sikkim he would still maintain in full operation to work up the inferior bark from the branches, the richer bark alone being transmitted to Calcutta.

9. These proposals commend themselves to the Lieutenant-Governor as deserving of consideration; but the final acceptance of them must manifestly depend on the reports which may be received from the Medical Department upon the value of the febrifuge which it is intended to produce by the process which Mr. Wood proposes to adopt.

10. At the same time, the Lieutenant-Governor would make the following remarks for the particular attention of the Quinological Department under the Government of Bengal.

11. Mr. Wood has virtually recommended that the bark available from the Sikkim cinchona plantations should be used solely for the production of what he has termed "cinchona alkaloid," and it is further proposed to issue this new compound authoritatively to the medical institutions of Government as a febrifuge in lieu of quinine.

12. No doubt the proposals would be very good if sufficient medical testimony of the value of the new compound, namely cinchona alkaloid, were forthcoming, but as such is not the case, it would appear to be inadvisable to issue, under the authoritative stamp of the Government, and for the treatment of the most prevalent disease of the country, a drug of which the medical officers have had as yet no experience, and which is, as far as the great majority of practitioners are concerned, an untried remedy.

13. The remedy (cinchona alkaloid) may ultimately prove to be a good one, but probably medical authorities will at the outset be unwilling to consider it as an equivalent for quinine in any case involving anything like serious responsibility; and the result will be a call upon Government for the latter remedy, quinine, which would cause as great an expense as if no cinchona plantation in Sikkim existed.

14. Mr. Wood, in making his recommendation, appears to have been actuated by a commendable desire to obtain for Government a good financial return for the capital outlay on the Sikkim plantation: but nevertheless it might be premature to adopt his valuable suggestions in their entirety, and the better plan would be to consider them purely as experimental until sufficient medical testimony to the efficacy or otherwise of the new drug had been collected.

15. In the meantime, the Quinologist may be directed to continue to manufacture the "new drug" from a certain proportion of the succirubra barks available; but from the remainder, and from the calisaya, he might be asked to prepare the orthodox cinchona alkaloids, namely, cinchonidine, cinchonine, quinine, &c., which have been proved by experience to be specific in the treatment of Indian fevers.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. REYNOLDS,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CINCHONA PLANTATIONS, BRITISH SIKKIM.

RESOLUTION.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 26th July 1875.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantations, British Sikkim, for the year ending the 31st March 1875.

1. THE operations connected with the Cinchona cultivation exhibit a continued measure of success which is satisfactory. The number of trees planted out during the year in the permanent plantations was—

Red bark trees	310,000
Yellow bark trees	60,000
Hybrids	15,000
Total							385,000

This brought up the total number of plants in the permanent plantations to—

Red bark trees	2,390,000
Yellow bark trees	354,000
Hybrids	21,000
Total							2,765,000

Or, in round numbers “the Government Cinchona property in Sikkim consists of three millions of red bark trees, of half a million of other sorts, and a nursery stock of about half a million plants.” The red bark trees, the younger plantations in particular, have been in good condition during the year. The experiments with calisaya seed have proved a failure, owing to the uncertainty which was found to attend the result of planting those seeds which appeared to promise best. The following account is given of the analysis of some plants and of the trial of their seeds:—“Mr. Wood’s analysis, and also those of Mr. Broughton, go to prove that difference in these respects (i.e., in results) is accompanied by difference in the chemical composition of the bark. Of six varieties of our calisaya analysed during the year by Mr. Wood, one was found to contain as much as 7·4 per cent. of total alkaloid, of which no less than 6·2 were of crystalline sulphate of quinine; a second yielded 7·1 per cent. of total alkaloid, of which 6·9 were crystalline sulphate of quinine; while a third specimen gave so poor a result as 1·6 per cent. of total alkaloid, of which no part was quinine. The seed saved from the finer sorts was carefully collected and sown. It produced, however, a large proportion of seedlings with such unmistakable resemblance to the worst varieties, that it was decided not to plant out any of them, and in future to trust to propagation by cuttings alone for any extensions which may be made in our plantations of this species.” The hybrid plants promise great success; they yield a bark rich in alkaloids and are of a vigorous growth.

2. The extension of the red bark tree cultivation meets the views of the Secretary of State expressed in his despatch of the 5th November 1874. It appears that though the red bark is not so rich in quinine as the yellow variety, it nevertheless yields a greater total of alkaloid, which is as efficacious a febrifuge as quinine itself. If the further enquiries which are now being instituted should prove this to be the fact, the resolution of the 15th December 1874, which prohibited the extension of C. Succirubra cultivation, will require to be modified. The reports called for in the same despatch, as to the efficacy of cinchonidine, have not been received; but Mr. Wood, in his report of the 24th May 1875 (paragraph 9), states that he supplied to the medical authorities an alkaloid consisting of cinchonidine and cinchonine, and he understands that both Dr. Chevers and Dr. Ewart are fully satisfied of its efficacy, and are quite prepared to recommend its adoption in all Government hospitals and dispensaries. It also appears that this alkaloid was administered in some cases to coolies suffering from fever on the Sikkim plantation and at the Botanical Garden in Calcutta, and was found to be an efficient febrifuge.

3. With reference to the remarks made in the 5th paragraph of last year's review regarding Dr. King's recommendation of an alternative preparation of bark instead of the sulphate of cinchonidine, he has explained that he did not make the proposal to use a decoction of twig bark in ignorance or depreciation of the merits of that alkaloid as a febrifuge, but merely as a means of utilising twig bark from which the Quinologist informed him he would not be able to extract any of the alkaloids with profit, and which was not worth sending to England.

4. Some experiments were made during the year in taking bark by Mr. McIvor's mossing process. Dr. King reports that sufficient time has not elapsed to allow him to report decidedly regarding the result, but that it does not promise well. The result of coppicing, on the other hand, has been quite satisfactory. The coppicing and pruning operations produced 39,405lb of dry bark, of which 15,160lb were made over to Mr. Wood, and 4,047lb were supplied to the Medical Storekeeper. The remainder was kept in stock until Mr. Wood was ready to receive it. In these cases there are no separate reports of the results obtained. Dr. King sees no difficulty in furnishing 200,000lb of dry bark during 1875-76.

5. Owing to the long-protracted and severe cold season, the yield of bark did not reach the estimate of 70,000lb, but the 30,000lb by which the amount fell short was collected in the first month of the financial year 1875-76.

6. The enquiries of the Government Quinologist have resulted in a cheap and efficient method of extracting the febrifugal alkaloids from cinchona bark. The report of these enquiries and their result has been reviewed in a separate resolution. The Lieutenant-Governor approves of the measures taken to effect a survey of the plantation.

7. The experiments made on the application of manure to the plants had no appreciable effect upon the proportion of total alkaloid yielded. Further experiments must be made before any opinion can be formed on the subject.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the approval expressed by Dr. King of the services of the resident manager of the plantation, Mr. Gammie, and of the subordinate gardeners.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 24th July 1875.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date
BENGAL.
Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN.	1 Burdwan, July 26,* '75	·25	Rainfall at Cutwa ·32, Culna ·90, Raneegunge 1·25, Bood-bood 1·59, and Jehannabad ·25. Rain is wanted in all parts of the district. Transplantation stopped in places, and the seedlings not looking well. Sugarcane and sons paddy are fair. Fever decreasing.
	2 Bankoora, „ 24, „	1 18	Slight and partial showers, with some heavier rain on the 19th instant. The rain that has fallen has benefited the growing crops, but has not been sufficient to materially assist the business of transplanting. Prices are rising slightly.
	3 Beerbhoom, „ 24, „	1·73	Weather showery. State and prospects of the crops continue good.
	4 Midnapore, „ 24 „	1 12	The weather is seasonable, but in the north of the district more rain is wanted. Prospects of the early rice are very good, and of the late rice are fair. Sugarcane is also doing well. Indigo, which was thought to be a very promising crop, has turned out a very indifferent one, and the yield will, it is feared, not be large.
	5 Hooghly, „ 24 „	1 06	Rainfall at Chinsurah 1·39, Bansberiah 1·08, Panduah ·78, Serampore 2·51, Chauditolla 3·11, Huripal 1·87,PHONEKHALLY 66, Ballagur 93, and Kristonagore 66 inches. Weather sultry. State and prospects of the crops are good, but rain is wanted. Health fair.
	Howrah, „ 24 „	·91	Weather good. State and prospects of the crops are very good.
Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6 24-Pergunnahs, July 26,† '75	·93	Weather very hot and close, with occasional light showers. Transplantation of the late rice is going on rapidly; the early rice and jute progressing very fairly. Fever and cholera decreasing at Barripore. Two cases of small-pox reported from Satkhira.
	7 Nuddea, „ 24 „	2·03	Very hot weather; rain generally insufficient. The early rice harvest has begun in Koostea. On the average, rice is likely to be good, but more rain is wanted. Indigo is rather better, the produce is, on the whole, better than was anticipated. Public health good.
	8 Jessore, „ 24 „	·44	Clear and hot weather; not much rain. The early rice has begun to be cut. Transplanting of the late rice still continues, the prospects are good. Indigo prospects are not entirely satisfactory, but the weather having changed it should improve the produce.
RAJSHAHY DIVN.	9 Moorsshedabad, „ 24 „	·16	Weather was hot and oppressive in the beginning of the week, but slightly cooled down towards the end by fall of rain on the 21st and 22nd instant. Rain much wanted almost throughout the whole district for the cultivation of both bhodai and hemanti (early and late) rice crops. Indigo, mulberry, sugarcane, and teel (oilseed), are doing well. Prices much the same as last week. The average of twelve stations in the sudder subdivision gives 16½ seers per rupee approximately. Cholera still lingers in the stations of Gorabazar and Soogaunge, and there were 11 deaths reported during the week.
	10 Dinagepore, „ 23 „	12	Very slight showers here and there, high wind from east with intervals of great heat. The drought has destroyed half the bhodai crops, and unless rain falls within a day or two, the entire crop will be lost. The seed beds and transplanted hemanti , or late rice, have also suffered, but the case is not so urgent. If rain falls a fortnight hence, the transplanting will be carried out in time. The jute—a very fine crop—is reported to have suffered somewhat, a little, however, has already been cut. The price of rice has gone up to 19½ seers per rupee: a fortnight ago it was 24 seers.
	11 Maldah, „ 24 „	53	Weather sultry, with little rain in the first half of the week, during the second half it was generally cloudy, with rain on one day, and strong easterly winds prevailing. The crops in the north are badly in want of rain; partial rain has done some good to the rice crops, but more is much wanted, the continued dry weather in most places having already done harm.
	12 Rajshahye, „ 24 „	·85	There has been slight rain in all parts, except the south-west, during the week. The rain of the week has not been sufficient to benefit the rice crops, and a heavy rainfall is much needed, as the crops are withering for want of moisture. Rice is dear at head-quarters and in the immediate neighbourhood, owing probably to the present unfavorable prospects of the crops. No sickness reported.

* Telegram of the 26th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 26th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

BENGAL.—(Contd.)
Central Districts.—(Contd.)
RAJSHAHY DIVN.—(Contd.)	13 Rungpore, July 23, '75	·52	Weather clear and hot; a slight rainfall. Early aus rice is being harvested; late aus rice is being damaged for want of rain; transplantation is backward for the same cause.
	14 Bogra, „ 24, „	·24	Fair weather; a little fall of rain during the week. Early rice is being cut now; three-fourths outturn is expected. Want of sufficient rain has impeded both ploughing and sowing of the late rice crop. A small fall of rain has enabled the people to begin ploughing and transplanting, but the want of rain in the western part of the district is said to be considerable.
	15 Pubna, „ 24, „	·51	Weather hot, with occasional showers; 1·23 inches of rain at Serajgunge. The rivers are very low for the time of year, and the ground is becoming very dry. The crops are still looking well, but heavy rain is now much needed; and unless the rivers soon rise considerably, the aman , or late rice, will suffer. Fever of a mild type prevails in Pubna.
COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	16 Darjeeling, „ 23, „	4·07	Rainfall almost every day; strong sunshine on the 19th July. In the hills, the maize and other crops are progressing favorably; in the Tarai, the bhadoi , or early rice, looks favorable. Transplantation of late rice is going on, but more rain is wanted.
	17 Julpigoree, „ 24, „	2·38	Seasonable weather. Prospects of crops are good. A few cases of endemic cholera at Julpigoree itself; there is less than before in the district.
	Cooch Behar, „ 22, „	1·07	The weather was extremely hot; there were some slight showers of rain during the week. The transplanting of the late rice cannot, for want of rain, be finished. The prospects of this important crop will be very much injured if there be not some heavy showers within a few days.
Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN.	18 Dacca, July 26,* '75	1·48	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are good.
	19 Fureedpore, „ 24, „	1·18	Weather very hot and sunny, with occasional showers. The inundation has somewhat decreased, but the prospects of crops continue fair. General health of the district is good.
	20 Backergunge, „ 22, „	2·23	High winds occasionally. All is well.
	21 Mymensingh, „ 23, „	·62	A rainfall of about two inches is reported from the northern, eastern, and western sub-divisions of the district. There is a general want of rain for the young crop just planted out. The early rice crop is being cut, and is a good yield. The floods up to this time have been three feet less than the highest point last year.
	22 Tipperah, „ 23, „	2·69	Weather rather close and sultry, with occasional heavy showers of rain and thunder-storms. The first of the aus , or early rice, has already been commenced to be reaped: this crop promises well. Owing to the fall in the inundation, aman , or late rice, is being sown and transplanted largely.
CHITTAGONG DIVN.	23 Chittagong, „ 22, „	·96	Weather cloudy, with occasional showers. Reports on the state and prospects of the crops continue to be favorable.
	24 Nonkholly, „ 22, „	2·44	Heavy thunder-storm on Sunday; there was alternate bright sunshine and heavy showers on the other days. The early rice crops on high land are going on well; some of the late crops on the low lands have been injured by the heavy rain. The transplantation of the aman , or late rice, continues. An insect called " kata gandhi " has attacked the rice crops in Begumgunge and Amingunge. Cattle disease is bad in Hatya.
	25 Chittagong Hill Tracts, „ 20, „	·18	A heavy fall of rain on the 18th instant; cloudy throughout the whole week. Indian-corn is ripe now, and is brought for sale. The paddy and cotton crops are thriving well. Present prospects on the whole are good.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 21, „	1·01	There has been very little rain, but the state and prospects of the crops remain good.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN.	26 Patna, „ 26,* „	·47	Weather close and sultry; some rain has fallen at the time of report. Bhadoi and rice crops are doing well. Health generally good.
	27 Gya, „ 24, „	·37	Weather generally fair and warm; sometimes very hot. Rainfall at Aurungabad 1·27, at Nowdah ·29, at Jehanabad ·40; highest reading of dry maximum thermometer 95·2°. State and prospects of all crops are favorable. Cholera is still bad in the west of the district, and not wholly disappeared in some other places.

* Telegrams of the 26th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BRHAR—(Contd.)
PATNA DIVN—(Contd.)	28 Shahabad, July 24, '75	15	Weather cloudy and hot; prevailing wind easterly. The lull in the rains has been on the whole good for the bhadoi , or early crops, which promise very well; rain is wanted for the rice crop.
	29 Durbhunga, „ 24, „	05	Weather intensely hot, with westerly wind up to Wednesday, when it veered round to the east; no rain has fallen at either Mudhoobunnee or Tajpore sub-division. The murwa millet crop has been already seriously injured by want of rain. Transplantation of rice has ceased, and unless rain falls shortly, the prospects of the main rice crop will be seriously affected. Sugarcane has not suffered yet.
	80 Mozufferpore, „ 24, „	Nil.	Weather exceedingly hot and dry; rain every where much wanted, but most urgently in Seetamurhee sub-division, where very little rice has been transplanted and where total rainfall of last three weeks has been only 1.10 inches. In Mozufferpore sub-division much rice remains to be transplanted; prospects of the bhadoi crops are generally favorable throughout the district. Rainfall at Hajepore during the week “nil,” at Seetamurhee 60 inches.
	81 Saran, „ 24, „	20	Weather very hot, close, and sultry; east wind prevailing. There was a slight fall of rain in the sudder sub-division, but none in Sewan. The prospects of the bhadoi crops are favorable. Rain is much wanted for transplantation of rice throughout the district. Manufacture of indigo going on. General health is good; a little cholera still about Sewan.
	32 Champaran, „ 23, „	13	Though the dry weather of the past week has been rather favorable than otherwise for the maize and kado (millet) crops, yet rain is very much wanted, especially in the south of the district, for the rice crop, and the consequences may be serious if it keeps off much longer. The rice crop is in want of rain; the other crops are doing exceedingly well.
BHAGULPORE DIVN.	33 Monghyr, „ 24, „	1.68	Seasonable weather. The bhadoi prospects continue very good; the rice prospects are also favorable.
	34 Bhagulpore, „ 26,* „	12	Rain still holds off. The Indian-corn in South Bhagulpore is very good; murwa millet and bhadoi , or early rice, in North Bhagulpore partially damaged by the drought. Transplantation of the auhani , or late rice, is retarded throughout the district for want of moisture, and nearly half of this work ought to be completed by this time, but it is not yet commenced. General health very good.
	35 Purneah, „ 24, „	1.76	Weather very hot, with east winds. Rain is very much wanted for both the bhadoi and auhani rice crops all over the district; with the exception of a few heavy showers on Wednesday and Thursday, scarcely any rain has fallen in the district. In Arraonah only .38 and in Kishengunge only .64 inches has fallen in this week. Transplanting operations are at a standstill everywhere.
	36 Sonthal Pergba, „ 24, „	1.21	Weather dryer than last week; rain wanted in Rajmehal. State and prospects of the crops are generally excellent. No further remarks about janera millet in Deoghur.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION.	37 Cuttack, „ 17, „	4.76	A good deal of rain off and on all the week. Crops coming on excellently. At Kendraparah rainfall 5.8. Cholera has rather increased.
	38 Pooree, „ 22, „	9.14	There has been heavy rain throughout the district, and the sky was cloudy at the time of report. Saral , or late paddy, has all been sown; subsequent cultivation and transplantation of seedlings are going on busily. The early rice, or beali crop, is being weeded; the crops promise fairly. Miscellaneous crops are doing well. Cholera still lingers in the city; the pilgrims have all gone away.
	39 Balasore, „ 23, „	1.65	The weather has been showery and seasonable; the rainfall has been moderate, and the floods in the rivers have gone down without damage to the young crops, which promise well. Weeding and earthing up are in full progress. Cases of cholera are frequent and severe.

* Telegram of the 26th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, July 23, '75	·91	Weather seasonable, cool and pleasant. Murwa and goondli millets improving, but still backward; gora dhan promising well, as also the cold-weather rice. Health of the district is good.
41	Lohardugga, „ 24, „	1·88	Showers and sunshine. The crops are growing well, and prospects continue favorable both in Chota Nagpore Proper and in Palamow. Cholera prevalent in the latter, and a few cases of small-pox are still reported.
42	Singbhoom, „ 23, „	3·05	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are very favorable. A few cases of cholera have been reported from Dhulbhoom.
43	Manbhoom, „ 24, „	1·58	Weather generally favorable; rain wanted in the two pergunnahs of Simlapal and Soopur in the south-east of the district. State and prospects of the crops are fair throughout the district, except the above pergunnahs. In those parts of the district, owing to want of rain, the Indian-corn and seedling rice have both suffered severely.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 19th July 1875.

READ—

A memorandum (No. 2261, dated 8th July 1875,) from the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, submitting an application for a loan of Rs. 7,000 required by the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee under the provisions of the Local Public Works Loan Act of 1871.

WHEREAS it appears probable to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal that the loan of Rs. 7,000 (seven thousand) applied for by the Manbhoom District Road Cess Committee should be granted,

It is hereby ordered that the application be published in the Calcutta Gazette, as required by the fifth of the rules passed by the Governor-General in Council under section 4 of the Local Public Works Loan Act XXIV of 1871, and published on the 15th of October 1873:—

Application to the Government of Bengal for a loan to the Manbhoom District Road Fund Commissioners, made under the provisions of the Local Public Works Loan Act XXIV of 1871.

THE work for which the loan is applied for is the completion of the turfing of certain embankments thrown up on the several roads of the Manbhoom district during last year, at a cost, in round figures, of Rs. 1,25,000, in order to permanently protect the embankments. The work is of public utility, and for the benefit of the general community dwelling within the local limits of the District Road Fund Commissioners.

2. The amount of loan applied for is Rs. 7,000.

DECLARATION.

The 19th July 1875.—Whereas it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal that land is required to be taken up at the expense of the Ranaghat Municipality for a public purpose, viz. for widening Chakravartypara Lane within Ranaghat Municipality, in the district of Nuddea, it is hereby declared that for the above purpose a piece of land measuring about 42 feet in length and 2 feet in breadth, more or less, is required.

The land is within the town of Ranaghat. It is bounded on the north and west by Chakravartypara Lane, on the east by a piece of land belonging to Baboo Mathuranath and Binud Behari Dey Chowdhri, and on the south by a piece of land belonging to Baboo Srinarain Dey Chowdhri.

This declaration is made under Section 6, Act X of 1870, to all whom it may concern.

R. L. MANGLES,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION.—No. 387.—The 31st July 1875.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of Hazareebagh, Lohardugga, Singbhoom, and Manbhoom, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1873-74, together with the review thereon by the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Capt., M.S.C.,

Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.

No. 21, dated Hazareebagh, the 28th January 1875.

From—H. S. BEADON, Esq., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Hazareebagh,

To—The Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following annual report on the operations of the District Road Fund during the cess year ending 30th September 1874. This report has been revised in consequence of the remarks made in the Government Resolution of last year, received after the submission of the former report.

2. The following table will show the names of the gentlemen who were members of the Committee during the year under review, and the number of meetings attended by each:—

3. The name of Shaik Amir Ali is not given in the list of members for the year, as the gentleman died shortly after he was gazetted member of the Committee in 1871-72. Another member, Colonel E. Money (No. 9), left the district in November 1873; his name is therefore to be removed from the list of members for the current year 1874-75.

4. There were eight meetings during the year, of which three were not attended with quorum, the members present being less than one-third of the total number of members forming the Committee. The business for which these meetings were called were transacted at adjourned meetings.

5. The proceedings of every meeting were recorded in the Minute-book kept for this purpose under Section 61 of the Road Cess Act.

6. The Chairman presided at all the meetings of the Committee except three, which were presided at by the Vice-Chairman.

7. Previous notice of more than 10 days was given of every meeting, and the business to be transacted at each meeting was duly notified.

8. The attendance of the members at each meeting held during the year under report is shown in the subjoined table.

Number and dates of Meetings.					Number of Mem- bers present.	Number of Mem- bers absent.	Total number of Members.

9. From the above it will be seen that at least two-thirds of the members were absent at every meeting held during the year, and that most of them took very little interest in the discharge of the duties imposed by the Act.

10. The Committee has no separate office building of its own. The business is generally transacted in a room in the Office of the Deputy Commissioner, where the Committee meets.

11. The Committee had no separate office establishment during the year. The Collector's Road Cess Establishment performed the duties of both the offices, but as the Collector's establishment is debited against the road cess, this is immaterial.

12. The principal business transacted by the Committee during the year under review was as follows :—

- (1) The annual accounts of the cess year ending 30th September 1873, previously examined by the Vice-Chairman and three members of the Committee appointed for the purpose, were passed.
- (2) The examination and sanction to the estimates of the several roads submitted by the Committee's engineers.
- (3) Selection of village roads.
- (4) Preparation of estimates of receipts and disbursement for the cess year 1874-75.
- (5) Determination of the rates of assessment for the ensuing year 1874-75, viz., at three-fourths of the maximum rates.
- (6) In consequence of distress that prevailed during the year, a certain number of roads were added to the general list of works, and a revised statement of works was submitted to the Commissioner for transmission to Government.

13. No branch Committee has up to date been appointed in the district, though long since recommended to the Government. The former recommendations are now out of date, but a revised list could be submitted, if it should be the wish of Government at any time to put in force the branch system.

14. The year 1873-74 was the first year of road cess collections in this district. The income from the several sources is fully detailed in the accounts, and would not seem to require repetition.

15. The amount which was available for expenditure during the year was Rs. 1,06,325-5-3 (vide Part I. of the Annual Accounts), to which a sum of Rs. 30,644-7-6, on account of value of rice spent in payment to the coolies employed on relief works, has been added, making the gross receipts Rs. 1,36,969-12-9.

16. The total expenditure under the several heads, both in cash and rice, amounted to Rs. 1,28,917-1-10, as detailed in the annual accounts.

		Rs. A. P.
The unexpended balance at close of the year was	8,052 10 11
Viz. , in treasury	2,925 1 3
Advance outstanding	5,127 9 8

17. The total outlay on works during the year amounted to Rs. 1,14,216-9-11, namely, Rs. 1,10,859-11-9 on original works and Rs. 3,356-14-2 on repairs; whereas the amount provided in the budget estimate of the year was only Rs. 27,000, as detailed in the margin.

	Rs.	A.	P.
	27,000	0	0

The excess expenditure (Rs. 87,216-9-11) was met partly from the additional allotments made by Government and partly from the Government rice supplied to this district for relief purposes, for which a sum of Rs. 30,644-7-6 may be set down as the value at the time the rice was taken.

18. The total charge for establishment employed on works amounted to Rs. 2,873-7-4, against Rs. 8,640 provided in the budget. Early in November 1873 the Government placed at the disposal of the Committee the services of an Assistant Engineer and an Overseer of the Public Works Department, and thus a large saving under the head of Establishment was secured during the year.

19. The following are the details of the several works executed during the year under review :—

ORIGINAL WORKS.

Road from Giridi to Khurukdeha, length 26 miles.—This is a feeder to the railway. Khurukdeha and Mirzagunge, which are close to each other, are the great trading places of the north of the district. This road, when completed, will render communication with the railway certain all the year round, the traffic being at present liable to obstruction during the rains. During the dry seasons this road will not be much used for through traffic, though locally of much utility.

In 1872-73, owing to the unauthorized action of the Executive Engineer on the portion of this road between Giridi and Pachumbah, about 3½ miles in length, a sum of Rs. 6,923 had to be sanctioned, and though liabilities to this extent were incurred during that year owing to delay in making payments, Rs. 2,536-12-4 only were expended within the year. In 1873-74, for the remaining work a further sum of Rs. 9,621 was sanctioned, making a total of Rs. 16,544. This total sanctioned grant was expended within the year and an excess sum of Rs. 29-9-5. The Engineer reports that all the earthwork is complete, and a great number of culverts built, but more are required. The road is at present impassable for carts owing to these unfinished culverts.

Old Benares road, 4 miles in length, commencing from Hazareebagh towards the west.—In 1872-73 a sum of Rs. 3,930 was sanctioned by Government for this road, and in the following year Rs. 4,419 for the Chhurwa bridge on it. The amount disbursed on the road in 1872-73 and 1873-74 was Rs. 1,837-2-7, the total outlay on the bridge in two years being Rs. 969-12-9 and Rs. 628-8-0 respectively. The works on the road were said to be completed by the Public Works Department and made over to the Committee in November 1873. The bridge, which is yet incomplete, still remains in the hands of the Executive Engineer. The Committee fears that no steps are being taken to complete it.

Station roads.—The original grant for these roads was Rs. 10,000, to which Rs. 12,000 was subsequently added, making the total grant Rs. 22,000. These roads are still supposed by the Committee to be in the hands of the Executive Engineer, though they fell into so great disrepair during the last rains, that on the occasion of the Viceroy's visit to Hazareebagh the Chairman felt bound to advance money for absolutely necessary repairs. The Executive Engineer expended Rs. 8,214 in 1872-73 and Rs. 9,465-13-11 in 1873-74, total Rs. 17,680-2-11, on the roads, and Rs. 1,785-7-0 has been debited to station roads, which was incurred on the Gonda bridge, for which no separate allotment has yet been intimated by the Accountant-General, though Rs. 6,895 has been sanctioned by Government. The total outlay up to date has been Rs. 19,465-9-11. The system of roads has been left incomplete by the Executive Engineer, and the Committee sees no signs of the work being carried on. The Committee desires, in its annual report, to draw attention once again to the fact that, except under the direct orders of Government, it cannot accept the charge for these station roads as one properly pertaining to the Road Cess Funds, and for that reason the following extract is made from its Chairman's letter No. 270, dated the 7th September last, and upon which no order have as yet been passed :—

“The next subject on which I most earnestly solicit clear and early orders is the subject of the station roads. My previous letters have fully explained how burdensome the Committee fears these roads will prove to it. These roads were made by order of the late Lieutenant-Governor to beautify the station, and on some verbal estimate of the Executive Engineer, Rs. 10,000 was sanctioned in the Public Works Department. The grant was in no way communicated to the Committee, but by a stroke of the pen some months afterwards the Lieutenant-Governor ordered the grant to be made local, and the works to be entered as part of the district roads. These roads, so far from being completed for Rs. 10,000, have cost up to date Rs. 19,465-9-11, and still the largest bridge has been suppressed by the Engineer, and the whole system is incomplete, three nullas remaining unbridged. As I have written several times before, so I repeat the district road cess ought not to be saddled in any way for roads made for the convenience of the European station,—made without any reference to the Committee, and without any estimates being submitted to it. The roads are unfinished, and to finish them properly a further sum of Rs. 10,000 would probably be required by Mr. Parkinson. The Committee in its budget estimate has entered the modest sum of Rs. 1,000 for the repairs of these roads during the year. I am convinced this amount—more than we can spare—is altogether insufficient for the purpose of maintaining this useless, not only because unfinished, luxury.”

Road from Ramghur to Gola and from Gola to Pitredi, about 21 miles in length.—These are old and important roads in the district. They carry a considerable amount of traffic, but had fallen into a state of great disrepair. These roads have since been remodelled with necessary culverts, and excepting a short piece of one mile at the Pitredi end, have been made very good unmetalled and partly bridged roads. The total amount sanctioned for these roads in 1872-73 was Rs. 5,076, but they were left incomplete during the last year after a cost of Rs. 4,568-1-10, leaving a balance of Rs. 507-14-2 for the portion that remained during the last year; however, this had to remain untouched owing to greater necessities in other parts of the district.

Road from Hazareebagh to Chuttra via Sila Echak, 38 miles in length.—The road is now under construction; when completed it will be a very useful road in the district. It connects with head-quarters the Town of Chuttra, the greatest grain mart in the district, the seat of the Extra Assistant Commissioner's Court, and a thana.

The Committee sanctioned Rs. 10,898 for the construction of this road. Nearly the whole of this amount, viz. Rs. 10,561-0-6, was disbursed during the year on earthwork and culverts. The Engineer reports that 25 miles of the road were completed during the year, and that nearly all the culverts necessary in this length have been constructed. This report is, however, rather more favorable for the year under review than a recent inspection has disclosed. Work is being pushed on in the current year, but at the close of that year there were few culverts, and certainly not more than 21 miles of earthwork completed.

No provision was made for the following roads in the budget estimate for 1873-74, except Rs. 10,000 for village roads, but they were taken in hand as necessity arose in consequence of the distress that prevailed during the year. The following table will show the amount sanctioned by the Committee for each work, the amount expended during the year, and the length of the road as reported by the Engineer to be completed :—

NAMES OF WORKS.	Estimate sanctioned.	Amount disbursed.	Length of the road completed.	REMARKS.
	Rs.	Rs. A. P.
Burhee and Gowan road, 48 miles.	27,342	29,499 10 9	28 miles ..	This is a most important road for the district. It will connect the two distant thanas of Kodarma and Gowan with the Grand Trunk Road and head-quarters. Though incomplete, great traffic already passes over it. A good deal of work, such as altering the course of stream, heavy jungle-cutting, high embankments bridges, and culverts, has been done along the length completed. The cost has exceeded the estimated amount in consequence of the distress.
Continuation of the old Benares road from Pitiz, 114 miles.	4,714	2,730 9 3	6 „ ...	The sum of Rs. 2,730-9-3 was expended on earthwork necessary in putting the road in good order, construction of culverts, making side drains, &c.
Baloomut and Sherghutty road, length 50 miles.	10,084	2,385 7 0	13 „	This is a very important road in the district, being one of the grain feeders to South Behar, and the north from Lohardugga and Sumbulpore. The Committee is making culverts on it throughout the district with necessary surface repairs, so as to render facilities for cart traffic throughout the year.
Huntergunge and Ghornghat road, 12 miles in length.	2,158	2,404 6 9	12 „ ...	The expenditure was incurred only on earthwork, and in the absence of some culverts, for which funds were not available, it is only so far improved that a definite track now exists.
Chuttra and Daltongunge road, 28 miles.	2,917	4,126 0 3	3 „ ...	It is a direct road from Chuttra to Daltongunge. It commences at the Lilajan; but the road between Lilajan and Chuttra (6 miles), which forms a portion of the Baloomut and Sherghutty road, was considered by the Engineer to be a continuation of this road, and the charges incurred in this portion were accordingly shown against it. The actual charge to his road is Rs. 750 only.

NAMES OF WORKS.	Estimate sanctioned	Amount disbursed.	Length of the road completed.	REMARKS.
	Rs.	Rs. A. P.
Chuttra and Koonda road, length 16 miles.	3,030	2,776 2 3	6 miles...	The sum of Rs. 2,776-2-3 was disbursed on earthwork and small culverts. It was undertaken on account of the distress.
Paharpore and Bogodhur road, length 32 miles.	4,182	7,265 7 9	25 „ ...	This is a direct road from Bogodhur Police Station to Pachumbab and Giridi. The road is resorted to by all palki travellers and foot-passengers. When completed it will be one of the very useful roads in the district. The road has been gravelled throughout, and will therefore last for some time, even if heavy traffic passes over it.
Kodarma and Jainuggur road, 7 miles.	...	2,347 4 8	7 „ ...	This work was done under the superintendence of Mr. Tobin, Assistant Commissioner, without estimate. It was undertaken as a relief work.
Ramghur and Jainuggur, 10 miles.	630	482 2 3	10 „ ...	This road may be considered to be a village road; it is only 12 feet broad, without culverts. Four miles of this road is still remaining to be completed.
Ilkhuri and Pudma, 12 miles.	2,509	971 15 2	8 „ ...	Earthwork throughout the length of eight miles completed. The road had to be given up owing to the early cessation of distress and its otherwise unimportance.
Bishemghur and Goormia road, 18½ miles.	1,000	827 6 3	16 „ ...	This work was done under the superintendence of the District Superintendent of Police chiefly on account of relief.
Giridi and Toondi road, 24 miles.	8,074 3 0	24 „ ...	This work was done under the superintendence of the Extra Assistant Commissioner of Pachumbab by Mr. A. Campbell, in connection with a road from Toondi in the Maunbhoom district.
Mohesmoondi and Bengabad, 14 miles.	1,478 15 0	14 „ ...	This was personally superintended by the Extra Assistant Commissioner of Pachumbab, and Major Preston, Relief Officer. It connects the villages on the north with Mohesmoondi Railway Station, and was undertaken on account of the distress.
Surundah and Dorundah	3,511	2,308 15 4	6 „ ...	This road branches off from the Paharpore and Bogodhur road at Surundah, and is said to be completed up to Jurridi with necessary culverts, but has not as yet been inspected.

Gya and Deoghur pilgrim road, length 50 miles.—This is a most important road. It connects within the limits of this district Gya and Deoghur. Lakhs of pilgrims pass over this road annually, and it was formerly passable for carts. It has fallen into complete disrepair in many parts. It is not properly a district road, as the interests affected are not local. It is the main high road from the north-west to Deoghur for the lakhs of poor and orthodox pilgrims who cannot, or may not, avail themselves of the railway.

An allotment of Rs. 20,000 besides grain was sanctioned by Government for the construction of this road as a relief work. It was in the hands of the Executive Engineer during the year, and a sum of Rs. 2,797-9-6 in cash and grain was disbursed in the allignment and commencement of the road.

The orders of Government are necessary as to the continuance of this road. It must be remembered that it was first recommended as a provincial road connecting Gya and Deoghur with the proposal that a toll should be put upon it of a pice on each person in each district each way. There is an excellent pass at Gowan, admirably suited for the collection of the toll in this district. Instead, however, of the work being sanctioned as a provincial road it was made a famine relief road, and Rs. 20,000 and grain sanctioned for the construction of earthwork only. In this form the grant was practically useless, as the work could not be completed in the year, and the earthwork was exactly the portion of the road which was least necessary. In the high lands of Chota Nagpore the roads do not require to be “bundled;” a small ditch on either side is sufficient to make a track upon which the cultivators will not encroach, and which is a self-made road. It is only at the streams and strips of rice cultivation which must be banked, bridged, and crossed by culverts, that the roads become impassable. To construct heavy embankments at such places without putting the bridges or culverts in, is to render an already difficult road thoroughly impassable. The Executive Engineer who never supplies estimates to the Committee has, as a fact, raised a low embankment where the original good ground was sufficient, and has not touched the really bad parts. The Committee is unable to continue this road as a district road, and the sum expended on it, except so far as it gave relief, may be considered wasted, unless bridges are now made.

REPAIRS.

Chuttra and Chowparon road.—This is a metalled road ; it connects Chuttra with the Grand Trunk Road ; it carries considerable traffic.

The Committee sanctioned Rs. 6,561 for the metalling of this road in 1872-73. The total outlay during that year was Rs. 2,362-0-10. The work was carried on in 1873-74 at a further cost of Rs. 1,769-13-8.

Baloomut and Sherghutty road (north of Chuttra).—A sum of Rs. 624-6-6 was spent in the repairs of this road, as in consequence of the distress, it was considered necessary to lay out more money in remodelling the road with a view to give labour to the needy. There has been great improvement in this road, which is one of great traffic. The Grand Trunk Road excepted, perhaps the most important in this district.

Old Benares road from Hazareebagh towards the west.—Rs. 16-13-9 was disbursed for the maintenance of this road during the year.

Old Ranchee road.—This road has long been abandoned. It was taken in hand during the last year as a relief work, and slight repairs effected, so as to make the road tolerably passable for bullocks, at a cost of Rs. 298-14-6.

Gola and Govindpore road.—Repairs were in scattered places made to this road under the superintendence of the District Superintendent of Police, the gross outlay being Rs. 599. The work was undertaken on account of the distress.

Chowparon and Pitiz Inspection Bungalow.—These inspection bungalows having been made over to the Committee by the Public Works Department along with the Chuttra and Chowparon road, a sum of Rs. 146-12-3 was disbursed in putting them in repair.

Dhanwar and Jamooi road.—This is a village road. It was completed during 1872-73. The sum of Rs. 300 charged against this road was given to Mr. Peppe, the Manager of the Dhanwar Estate, who had undertaken the construction of the road, as the amount was stolen from his box out of the money previously made over to him for the execution of the work. The thief was convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

20. The following works have been proposed to be taken in hand during 1874-75. The sums allotted by the Committee are noted against them ; but the late alteration in the Government assignment will render it necessary in all probability to modify this allotment and reduce the grants, especially that on account of the pilgrim road :—

RAJGOPAL ROY,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 3036, dated Ranchee, the 17th November 1874.

From—H. L. OLIPHANT, Esq., Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga,
To—The Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

In pursuance of Government orders contained in Circular Nos. 4952 of the 24th September 1872 and 50 of the 23rd July 1873, I have the honor to submit herewith my annual accounts together with the required report of the expenditure incurred on roads in this district during the year ending the 30th September 1874.

2. My preliminary report on the subject was, I may observe, forwarded with my letter No. 2323 of the 22nd August last.

3. Under Government Notification No. 257 of the 14th July 1873, a sum of Rs. 30,000 was allotted as the ordinary grant for roads in this district during the current year; but subsequent to this, in consequence of the great scarcity which prevailed in the Palamow Sub-division, it was found necessary to open extensive relief works in that part of the country, and certain special and additional grants, aggregating Rs. 1,85,000, were sanctioned by the Government for roads, as well as a sum of Rs. 5,535 for petty irrigation works. The several sums sanctioned from time to time are detailed below:—

	Rs.
Ordinary allotment,—Government Notification No. 257, 14th July 1873	30,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 249S.R., 24th January 1874	15,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 1896S.R., 28th March 1874	50,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 2816S.R., 1st May 1874	50,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 4400S.R., 11th July 1874	20,000
Road Total	1,65,000
Petty irrigation works, Palamow,—Government letter No. 891S.R., 21st February 1874*	5,535
Grand Total	1,70,535

* This sum of Rs. 5,535 was credited to this District Road Fund under orders contained in Accountant-General's letter No. 15255T of the 9th March 1874.

The total expenditure returned amounts to Rs. 1,67,313-6-7, or Rs. 3,221-9-5 less than the total amount sanctioned.

4. This district is divided into two large tracts,—Chota Nagpore Proper, comprising the sudder division, with an area of 7,784 square miles, and the Sub-Division of Palamow, comprising the three Pergunnahs of Palamow, Belanjah and Jupla, with an area of 4,260 square miles.

5. In Chota Nagpore Proper there was no real distress, and no money was expended in this part of the district except from the ordinary allotment. Out of the ordinary grant of Rs. 30,000, a sum of Rs. 21,000 was allotted for the roads in Chota Nagpore Proper, and the aggregate expenditure amounted to Rs. 20,081-8-5, as shown in the margin.

	Rs.	A.	P.
Expenditure on roads	19,787	8	1
Office establishment	234	5	4
Conveyance of tools	80	0	0
Total ...	20,081	8	5

	Rs.	A.	P.
Expended on roads	1,28,251	11	9
Famine relief establishments	11,938	14	2
Conveyance of tools	167	4	3
Total Roads ...	1,40,342	14	2
Grand Total ...	1,47,231	14	2

6. The remaining sum of Rs. 9,000 from the ordinary grant, plus the several grants aggregating Rs. 1,35,000, together with the sum of Rs. 5,535, on account of irrigation, making a total of Rs. 1,49,535, was made available for the Sub-Division of Palamow, where considerable distress prevailed for some four or five months, and the total sum expended there amounted to Rs. 1,47,231-14-2, as shown in the margin.

7. A full report in connection with the expenditure in the Palamow Sub-Division having already been furnished by Mr. Forbes, the Assistant Commissioner, under his letter No. 722A* of the 28th September last, forwarded to you with my Office letter No. 2912½ of the 31st ultimo, it is unnecessary for me now to do more than give a brief account of the expenditure on each road for the purpose of making the annual statement of expenditure complete.

* Submitted to Government with Commissioner's No. 3539, dated 14th November 1874.

8. The total sum expended on each line of road in the district during the year will be found in the usual annual table of expenditure, and a brief account of the way in which the sums have been laid out in the statement hereto annexed.

Statement showing the Amount of Work done on the several roads in the District of Lohardugga during the year ending the 30th September 1874.

RANCHEE AND BUNDGAON ROAD (38 MILES).

At the close of the year 1872-73 the road as far as Khunti (18 miles) was in good order, so that up to that point it has only required a slight surface dressing; beyond that heavier work was required; all the wooden bridges had to be repaired, and four new approaches cut to streams.

The first section of the road from Darenda to Hatia being in good order.—A portion of the road has been gravelled, a railing added to the Hatia bridge, and drains that had been cut across the road filled in.

On the second section, from Hatia to Khunti, 17 miles.—The side drains have been cleared out between the 10th and 12th mile; a considerable quantity of earthwork has been thrown up so as to decrease a somewhat heavy gradient. The approaches to the Kanchi Nuddi have been repaired, and the roadway thoroughly repaired as far as Phudi, just beyond the 12th mile, and from that village to Khunti slight surface repairs. On this section there are three stony ridges; they do not materially interfere with traffic, but look unsightly.

Third section, from Khunti to Mundru, 8 miles.—Road drains have been repaired and embankments raised. The approaches to three streams repaired, and a deviation from the original line made.

Fourth section from Mundru to the boundary, 10 miles.—This last section having been partially neglected in previous years, more has been expended on it than on any other portion of the line. The woodwork of the bridges, which was in a dilapidated state, has been renewed; the first six miles generally repaired, and on the last four some very heavy work has been completed.

The total number of miles repaired on this line has been 14 miles 7 furlongs. Fourteen wooden bridges have been repaired, and 266,370 cubic feet of earthwork added, at a total cost of Rs. 995-9-9.

RANCHEE AND LOHARDUGGA ROAD (46 MILES).

First section, from Ranchee to Margu, 10 miles.—The first five miles, being in good order, have only received a surface dressing, three of the drains having been re-planted, and the last two miles thoroughly repaired.

Second section, from Margu to Hopa, 15 miles.—On the 1st mile the road crosses two streams with very high banks. The original approaches to the streams being very steep, new approaches have been cut, whereby better gradients have been obtained at a trifling expenditure of distance. Between Murma and Tangratola (the 13th and 18th mile) the embankments in low land have been raised and the road widened, and from Pakario to Hopa the road has been thoroughly repaired.

Third section, from Hopa to Kuru, 10 miles.—On the 1st mile from Hopa a narrow and low embankment with wooden bridge has been raised and widened, and the roadway as far as Henjala, on the 31st mile, generally repaired. From the latter village to Kuru the road has been thoroughly repaired, and from Rudh to Kuru the road has been widened from 12 to 20 feet.

Fourth section, from Kuru to Lohardugga, distance 11 miles.—From Kuru to Kaimo, 5½ miles, where the road conjoins with the Lohardugga and Chuttra road, the roadway has been widened from 12 to 20 feet and a deviation of 5 furlongs made; 3 wooden bridges made, and a considerable quantity of earthwork in low land. From Kaimo to Lohardugga the work has been confined to surface repairs and putting the approaches to the Sunk River in order. Altogether on this line 23 miles 3 furlongs have been repaired, six wooden bridges, 661,670 cubic feet of earthwork, besides 646 cubic feet of limestone and 400 cubic feet of stone; the total cost Rs. 2,465-8-4.

Ranchee and Pulkot road, 5½ miles.—This and the Bundgaon road are identical as far as Hatia; from the latter village to Lodhma the distance is 11 miles. The surface has been dressed as far as the Suburnarika River, the approaches to which have been repaired, and a wooden bridge made over a small stream with very high banks on the south-west side of the Suburnarika River. Between Cheto and Lodhma surface repairs.

From Lodhma to Laonkel, 9½ miles.—The line is in fair order, and little has been done to it, with the exception of a deviation, which has been made to avoid a rocky rise.

From Laonkel to Tilmi, 4½ miles.—The road has been thoroughly repaired, and from Tilmi to Jeria, 6 miles, a considerable quantity of earthwork has been added to the embankments.

From Jeria to Bussia, 18 miles.—With the exception of 4 miles repaired the previous year, the whole distance was in a very bad condition. Eight miles have been thoroughly repaired, on two of which a new line has been taken, whereby a much better approach has been obtained to the Karoo River, and a considerable detour avoided. Close to Bussia a bund has been widened and another deviation made, shortening the line and avoiding a number of small water-courses. Through the village of Bussia the road has been put in good order.

From Bussia to Pulkot, 12 miles.—The first 4½ miles were made during 1872-73; 3½ miles have been added during the current year; so that 4 miles have yet to be made to complete the road to Pulkot. The total number of miles thus repaired has been 25 miles; 2 wooden bridges made, 4 repaired, and 716,690 cubic feet of earthwork, at a total cost of Rs. 2,023-9-7.

From Kuru to Lateyhar towards Daltongunge, 28 miles.—Work on this line has been principally confined to the first 15 miles, where not only the road demanded most attention, but also where labour was most required.

From Kuru to Chandwa, 10 miles.—This portion of the road had in previous years been very much neglected, owing to the very difficult nature of the Hutab Ghat; the gradient being so excessive that no descent could be made of a sufficient easy gradient to admit of wheeled traffic without incurring a stupendous outlay. After much trouble, however, and a thorough inspection of the whole ghat, another pass on a different side of the hill was found, and an excellent line has now been made at a very small cost.

Beyond Chandwa a large wooden bridge has been made with high approaches, whereby the gradient has been much reduced.

The total number of miles partially re-made and repaired has been 17 miles 3 furlongs, earthwork 908,628 cubic feet, and total cost Rs. 3,275-3-1.

Lohardugga and Chuttra road, 44 miles.—The first section of the road from Lohardugga to Chandwa was in tolerable repair, and has only received slight surface dressing. The second section from Chandwa to Baloomut has received most attention, as it was on this portion of the road that there was the greatest demand for employment. At the Village of Nagar a deviation was made, whereby the line has been somewhat shortened, and the descent from the high ground to the Simersoti plain has been greatly improved.

Third section, Baloomut to the boundary of the division.—Between Baloomut and Bariatoo two short deviations have been made, whereby better drainage has been obtained for the road, and some stony ground has been avoided.

The total number of miles repaired has been 19, and 7 furlongs of new road partially repaired, at a total cost of Rs. 2,300-12-3.

Baloomut and Junjhu road, 17 miles.—This road lies in the Tori Pergunnah, and was opened under the sanction of the Commissioner with a view to afford employment to those who required labour. The whole line is very jungly indeed, so that the clearing of the ground from roots and stumps formed a heavy item in the expenditure. The line leads towards Daltongunge, in Palamow. It was carefully aligned by Mr. Brooke, and twelve miles of it was completed. The total earthwork done was 721,546 cubic feet, at a total cost of Rs. 2,390-3-6.

Khunti and Turpa road, 17½ miles.—This road connects the police station at Turpa with the outpost at Khunti, situate on the Ranchee and Bundgaon road. Previous to the current year, it was little more than a village track; but in November 1873 it was taken in hand, marked out, widened, and thoroughly repaired, and is now in good order; the line is a very easy one, passing through an open undulating country.

Length of road repaired 17½ miles; earthwork 269,120 cubic feet; cost Rs. 720-15.

Baloomut and Chamaioo road, 10 miles.—This road is a continuation eastward of the Baloomut and Junjh road, and leads to Hazareebagh. It was undertaken as a part of the previous named road, for the purpose of affording employment to the poor in the Tori Pergunnah. Four miles have been made, viz. 1½ miles east of Baloomut, 1½ miles at Sirihgurha and 1 at Churinidoo. The quantity of earthwork amounts to 178,283 cubic feet, at a total cost of Rs. 564-4-0.

Ranchee and Tamar road, 35 miles.—This was the original route from Ranchee to Chaibasa, but it was abandoned for a more westerly line, which possesses two advantages over the old line, inasmuch as it avoids a difficult ghat and heads the rivers, taking as near as practicable the watershed of the country. As, however, Bundoo and Tamar are both police stations and important marts, and as a considerable amount of produce passes over the line, it was in contemplation to take the first opportunity of improving the road. The late scarcity afforded the opportunity, and as soon as it became necessary to afford employment, work was opened at intervals along the road. The Taimara Ghat was very much improved by abandoning a portion of the old track and taking the road down another spur; the gradient was also much reduced. Five wooden bridges have been made, and 23 miles of roadway repaired. The earthwork amounts to 957,490 cubic feet, at a total cost of Rs. 2,683-12.

Tamar and Rabu road.—This is a local road eight miles in length, and was undertaken solely with a view to afford labor to those requiring employment in the neighbourhood; the road was roughly repaired and put in fair order; the quantity of earthwork being 401,300 cubic feet, and cost of work Rs. 1,100-0-3.

Gola road, 12 miles.—This road, with the exception of 5 furlongs and a bridge, was in good order; both roadway and bridge have been put in order; the earthwork added to the road being 25,400 cubic feet, and total cost Rs. 68-5-6.

PETTY WORKS.

Pitoria road.—This road is 10 miles in length; the whole line has been dressed, one drain bridge repaired, 2 furlongs of new road made, and 2 furlongs 3 chains of roadway gravelled and dressed. Quantity of earthwork 106,800 cubic feet; cost Rs. 344-2-11.

Under this heading about six miles of roads in the vicinity of the sudder station, lying outside the boundaries of the Municipality, were thoroughly repaired at a total cost of Rs. 334-12-11.

VILLAGE ROADS.

Under this heading a sum of Rs. 500 was expended, and I was greatly assisted in carrying out the works by the following gentlemen, who kindly lent their services and undertook the work of supervision:—The Revd. Mr. Whitley, the Revd. Mr. Didlanquies, Mr. Rakhal Dass Haldar, and Moonshee Moheepatal.

Mr. Haldar superintended for me the repairing of the village roads leading from the Village of Kurra towards the Turpa Police Station, and the Villages of Porakanti, Balakasmara, and Tangarkela, where there is a market, were much benefited thereby at a cost of Rs. 72.

Moonshee Moheepatal also effected improvements in the roads between the Villages of Hundroo, Bhoosur and Juggarnathpur, the work being done piece-work, through the Mahtoos and Pahans, at a total cost of Rs. 28.

The Revd. Mr. Didlanquies undertook the repairing of the roads through the villages of Murcha, Beharguda and Govindpore, at which latter place there is a large bazar, the total cost being Rs. 75-10-6. The village roads in the neighbourhood of Burjee and Doldan were further repaired at a cost of Rs. 24-5-6.

The Revd. Mr. Whitley expended a sum of Rs. 30 in improving the communication towards the Nagri village bazar. A pathway was made to connect the bazar with the main road, and a large bridge erected. Great improvements were also effected by him in the roads in the neighbourhood of Semra, Kurgi, Kesaro, Kachabari, and Bichma, at an aggregate cost of Rs. 70, and a large number of villages were benefited thereby.

Arrangements were also made by me in the Tori Pergunnah for improving the roads lying between the Villages of Perakone, Morpa, Bussia, Munniadjar, and Serum, between Baloomut and the Deonand River; these were carried out at a cost of Rs. 100.

In the neighbourhood of Choria also the roads running through the Villages of Chore, Ramdugga, Koonka, and Hesalong, were thoroughly repaired at a similar cost, and all the villages in the neighbourhood have been much benefited thereby.

For the Palamow Sub-Division a sum of money was specially allotted for the improvement of village roads, but the Sub-Divisional Officer was so fully employed in carrying out the famine relief works, that he had no time to spare to arrange for any expenditure under this heading.

PALAMOW SUB-DIVISION.

Daltongunge station roads—Three of the station roads were raised considerably, and the whole were remetalled with kunkur. Three new culverts were built and three repaired; the golas, tool-house, and godown, were also thoroughly repaired; the large tank to the north of; the town was deepened and the area nearly doubled; 711,240 cubic feet of earthwork done; 115,097 square feet of gravel spread and consolidated; three miles of drains cleared; 33,160 square feet of roadway repaired; 970 cubic feet of pucca masonry; pucca plastering 4,503 square feet; white-washing 34,340 square feet; mud-wall 885 cubic feet; one well repaired; kutchra plastering 2,227 square feet; bamboo framing 8,104 square feet; new tiling 1,264 square feet; planting trees 100; total cost Rs. 5,592-7-8.

Daltongunge and Chandwa road (42 miles).—This line of road has been much improved; it has been well raised in all low places, and the approaches and gradients properly sloped; seven new culverts constructed and two repaired; 115,740 square feet jungle-cutting; 2,039,310 cubic feet of earthwork; 12,750 cubic feet cutting; 44,666 cubic feet rock-cutting; 10 miles of road surface repairs; 996 cubic feet of foundation excavated; 2,500 cubic feet of pucca masonry work; 3,723 square feet rubble masonry; 156 square feet platforms; 2,153 square feet plastering, and one temporary wooden bridge; total cost Rs. 11,160-2-1.

Daltongunge and Behar road (36 miles).—For upwards of 12 miles this road may be said almost to have been re-constructed, for it was embanked nearly the whole way to an average height of two feet. In other places too heavy embankments have been raised where necessary, nine new culverts were re-constructed, and four repaired. 1,210 square feet jungle-cutting; 2,573,093 cubic feet of earthwork; 7½ miles of road superficially repaired; 450 cubic feet of foundation excavated; 9,664 cubic feet pucca masonry; 55 square feet platform, and 759 square feet pucca plastering; total cost Rs. 15,537-5-10.

Daltongunge and Moharajunge road (42 miles).—Much of this road was newly made this year, and it is now complete—all but 10 miles. The work has been well carried out, particularly over the very difficult Sultani Ghat, which from a steep, rocky, dangerous pass has now been converted into a broad, easy road; four new culverts were constructed and two repaired, and a 15-foot bridge was in course of erection when the works closed. 1,864,676 square feet of jungle-cutting; 3,516,849 cubic feet earthwork; 12,096 cubic feet cutting; 146,192 cubic feet rock-cutting; 74,057 square feet of gravel spread and consolidated; 3 miles of road superficially repaired; 2,700 cubic feet of foundation excavated; 1,120 cubic feet of pucca masonry; 6,712 cubic feet rubble masonry; 4,173 cubic feet kutchra masonry; 5,945 square feet pucca plastering, and 774 superficial feet white-washing; total cost Rs. 25,539-2-11.

Daltongunge and Gurwah road (18 miles).—The roadway is now complete, with the exception of bridging. Six new culverts were constructed and a rest-house for the Circle Officer at Gurwah was built at a cost of Rs. 135.

Three hundred and fifty-six thousand square feet jungle-cutting; 1,108,322 cubic feet of earthwork; 6¼ miles road superficially repaired; 4,905 cubic feet pucca masonry; 2,400 cubic feet rubble masonry; 450 square feet platform. Total cost Rs. 6,930-10-9.

Gurwah and Oontari road (30 miles).—This line had hardly been touched since it was constructed in the year 1868. It has now been put into thorough order, all but six miles. Eleven new culverts have been completed and three partially completed, and a rest-house was erected for the Circle Officer at a cost of Rs. 175.

One hundred and thirty-eight thousand and four hundred square feet jungle-cutting; 3,678,749 cubic feet of earthwork; ten miles of road superficially repaired; 5,000 cubic feet pucca masonry; 6,675 cubic feet rubble masonry, and 450 square feet platform. Total cost Rs. 28,275-14-1.

Gurwah and Majhewan road (14 miles).—A fine embankment has been thrown up near the Village of Dullali, 8 feet high, with a 20-foot roadway on the top, and 1½ miles long; the place before being a perfect swamp. One new culvert was constructed and a rest-house built at Majhewan for the Circle Officer at a cost of Rs. 50. Total cost Rs. 10,576-15-1.

Majhewan and Jupla road (26 miles).—This road has been embanked for upwards of 12 miles to a height of 2½ to 3 feet, and in some places still higher—the soil being very bad and the land very low—and the work is reported to have been particularly well carried out, though bridges are much required.

Eleven hundred and sixty-seven thousand and thirteen cubic feet earthwork, and 2½ miles superficially repaired. Total cost Rs. 8,650-1-8.

Lesligunge or Kote to Pankey towards Balomut (25 miles).—This was a new line, opened out as a relief work. It was laid down partly by the Assistant Engineer and partly by the Sub-Overseer, and approved by Mr Forbes. Eighteen miles of road were very well constructed, and two new culverts erected.

Two hundred eleven thousand and two hundred superficial feet jungle-cutting; 2,864,152 cubic feet of earthwork; 10,000 cubic feet of rock-cutting; 1,419 cubic feet rubble masonry; 55 superficial feet platform, and 367 superficial feet pucca plastering; total cost Rs. 13,042-12-5.

Naggor Oontari and Benares road (16 miles).—This was also a new line, opened during relief works. It was aligned by the Assistant Engineer, and runs due north from Oontari towards Benares to the banks of the Sone. It is a line much used. Four miles of roadway were completed, and 4 miles cleared of jungle.

Four hundred seventy thousand and two hundred superficial feet jungle-cutting and 452,222 cubic feet of earthwork; total cost Rs. 3,546-3-3.

IRRIGATION WORKS.

A large number of petty irrigation works in the shape of lands, &c., were constructed in 24 of the Government villages at a total cost of Rs. 6,889; full details of which have already been supplied in the enclosures to Mr. Forbes's Report, No. 722A. of the 28th September last, quoted above in the body of my report.

WORKS FOR THE ENSUING YEAR.

It only remains to notice briefly the works which are contemplated during the year just commencing.

Budget estimates in the prescribed form were submitted to the Commissioner under this Office letters No. 2531 of the 14th September and No. 2687 of 1st October, and approved by the Commissioner under his letter No. 3236 of the 5th October, but no regular sanction has yet been obtained from Government.

Total	5,000	0	0

The ordinary expenditure proposed to be incurred during the ensuing year is distributed as shown in the margin, and the whole amount embraced in the two first items is for ordinary repairs to existing lines of road, with the exception of a sum of original works on the roads shown in the margin. In addition to the sum of Rs. 27,462 specified above, a further sum of Rs. 17,000 has been provided in the budget estimate for original works (bridges) on some of the roads in the Palamow Sub-Division; but as it is doubtful whether so much money will be able to be made available for this district, it is not proposed to commence these works until special sanction is obtained, and even then regular estimates will have to be prepared.

B. H. HAYES, Surgeon,
Dy. Commr. and Chairman,
District Road Committee.

No. 654, dated Purulia, the 9th December 1874.

From—COLONEL E. A. ROWLATT, Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoom,
To—The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division.

I HAVE now the honor to submit the annual report on the local public works of this district for the year 1873-74.

The Purulia and Ranchee road is now a provincial work, so it will no longer find a place in this report.

The Purulia Lake road was completed during the year 1872-73, so that this also ceases to appear in these reports.

Purulia and Chaibasa road.—This is one of the most important roads of the district, connecting, as it does, Singbhoom with Manbhoom. The work on this road has been pushed on during the year under report most vigorously, and great progress has been made towards completing it. It measures 38 miles in length, of which the earthwork on 36 miles has been completed, leaving only two to be finished; the work is still going on. Thirty-seven culverts have also been completed, but a great many more are required, as well as a bridge over the Kumari, measuring about 150 feet in width. This road should be completed as soon as possible. The mails are now carried along it, and the traffic is increasing. It is quite of as much importance to the Singbhoom as to the Manbhoom District.

Purulia and Bankoora road with branch from Charra to junction near Singh Bazar.—This road, including the branch, is 32 miles long; of this 30 miles of the earthwork has been completed, together with 5 bridges and 31 culverts, but a good many more are still required. The traffic over this road is very considerable. The through traffic from the large mart at Jhalda passes along the provincial road eastward as far as the Village of Charra, and then goes straight on by the branch line till it meets the road running from Purulia to Singh Bazar, where they meet. This road was only commenced in May 1873, so that the progress made has been very rapid. A large bridge of four spans of 25 feet each is nearly completed over the Sottibahal stream, about a mile east of Purulia, and will soon be open for traffic. This road also should be completed as soon as possible.

Purulia and Burrabazar road.—This road measures 18 miles in length; it branches off from the Purulia and Chaibasa road a short distance south of the Kassai River, so that should a bridge ever be built over that river, one will do for both roads. About five miles of embankment and side drains have been completed. It will form a useful means of communication between Purulia and Burrabazar, which is a place of some consequence; but this road is of less importance than the two above referred to.

Rughoonathpore and Bankoora road.—The length of this road in the Manbhoom District is only 14 miles; it was only commenced in December last, since which time nearly the whole of the earthwork and one culvert has been completed, and some metalling collected. This is a portion of the old Benares road which, however, never appears to have been completed. It was finished from Bankoora nearly to Gourandih in this district, whilst that and the Rughoonathpore thana jurisdiction remained under the Bankoora authorities, and the remainder should now be completed as soon as possible, as the traffic on this line is considerable.

Rughoonathpore and Raneegunge road.—This road to the boundary of the Bankoora District is 18 miles in length; it also was only commenced in December last. The earthwork has nearly all been completed, and nine culverts have been built. Some materials are also in hand for further masonry works, and metalling has also been collected. This is very important line of road, and should be completed as soon as possible, as a very large quantity of the traffic of this district passes along this line both to and from Raneegunge, which is an important emporium of trade.

Rughoonathpore and Hazareebagh road.—This is a continuation of the old Benares road which, after leaving Bankoora, passes through Rughoonathpore, Dubra, and Chandankiari Chaties, and so on to Chas, a few miles beyond which it enters the Hazareebagh District. It was evidently never even nearly completed, and a few culverts that had been made were either broken through or left standing quite separated from the road which had been entirely cut away from them. In this district this portion of the road measures 42 miles, but as I am given to understand the Hazareebagh authorities do not wish to carry it on through that district; for the present it is proposed to complete this road up to Chas only, from which it might eventually be continued on to Kasmar in the Hazareebagh District, and thence on to join the Ranchee and Govindpore road, which passes a few miles west of that place. The earthwork along 38 miles has been more or less completed, and eight culverts have been finished, whilst materials in large quantities for other masonry works have been prepared and metalling collected, so that this road as far as Chas thana is in a tolerably forward state. It is an important line of road, running, as it does, through a well cultivated and populous part of the district; but its completion is of secondary importance at present to that of the roads from Rughoonathpore to Bankoora and Raneegunge, which it joins at Rughoonathpore; but the works ought not to be stopped in it, as immediately those roads are completed, the traffic along it is sure to increase considerably.

Purulia and Manbazar road.—This road is 26 miles in length. It was commenced as a relief work during the famine of 1866-67, but not much progress was made with it. The works were resumed in it in January 1874, from which time to the 30th September 21 miles of the earthwork were completed and some metalling collected, but no bridges or culverts have yet been built. Work is still going on on this road, and no time should be lost in completing it.

Ludhurka and Gourandih road.—This is a cross road branching off from the Purulia and Bankoora road at Ludhurka, whence it runs via Kashipore to Gourandih. It will prove a very useful piece of road, connecting, as it does, four large places with each other, at three of which there are police stations. It was taken up as a relief work in March last. Its length is 16 miles, of which 10 have been finished. It should certainly be finished, but its completion is not so urgently required as that of some of the other district roads.

Purulia and Chas road.—This road is 21 miles in length; by it it is intended to provide means of communication between the sudder station and the thana and large mart of Chas. It was taken up as a relief work in May last, but only three miles have been completed; it should be finished as soon as funds are available.

Manbazar and Kashipore road.—This road was also taken up in May last as a relief work; it is 25 miles long, but only 11 miles of the earthwork have been completed; some metal has been collected. It is not proposed to go on with this road at present, but if carried on by-and-bye to Rughoonathpore, it would serve as a railway feeder, and open out a part of the district which is at present totally devoid of road.

Dubra and Chilliama road.—This is a continuation of the Purulia road going towards Govindpore. This road leaves the Purulia and Burrakur road near the Village of Palaskundi and is intended to go via Dubra and Chilliama and cross the Damoodah River near the Village of Sirsakuri, and so on via Baghmara, Beliapore to Govindpore. About five miles of the six between Dubra and the river have been completed and some metal collected. When completed this road will form a very direct line of communication between the sudder and subdivisional stations, and should be carried on as quickly as possible.

Chilliama and Telkupi road.—This road branches off from the Purulia and Govindpore road at Chilliama, and crossing the Damoodah River at Telkupi Ghat, goes straight to Nirsha on the Grand Trunk Road, where there is a thana and chatti. The part south of the Damoodah was only commenced in May last: three out of the four miles have been completed and some metal collected. It will be a useful road when finished throughout, but the works on it need not be carried on just at present.

Manbazar and Bankoora road.—Eventually a road should be constructed from Chandil, on the Purulia and Chaibasa road, via Burrabazar and Manbazar to Bankoora. The trade between the Singbhoom District and the southern portion of Manbhoom is nearly all carried on with Bankoora, and at present follows a very winding and circuitous route, which is a great obstruction to the development of trade between Manbazar and the boundary of the Bankoora District: the distance is 22 miles. The greater part of the earthwork has been completed, and some metal collected, but no bridges have yet been built. This road should be completed as soon as funds are available.

Jhalda and Chandil road.—A road has been projected from Chandil to Jhalda passing through the Pergunnahs of Patkum and Beghnumdi, to accommodate the trade carried on at Jhalda with the country through which it passes and the Singbhoom District; only three miles of this road have yet been constructed, which were taken up as a relief work: it should be carried on when funds are available.

On the Purulia and Burrakur road a small expense was incurred for the construction of wells during the hot dry months of April and May, when large quantities of Government rice were being carted along this road, and water was scarce. They were also urgently required in order to check an outbreak of cholera, which occurred at that time, which was attributed in a great measure to the bad water the cartmen had been obliged to use.

The above works are all situated in the Sudder or Purulia Sub-Division; those entered below are all situated in the Govindpore Sub-Division.

Govindpore and Giridi road.—This line of road was projected and intended to open out the country lying between Govindpore and the railway terminus at Giridi. It passes right through the Pergunnah of Tundih, and then crosses the Burrakur River into the Hazareebagh District, just above the junction of that river with the Usri, whence it goes via Serampore to Giridi. The portion of this road in the Hazareebagh District has, I am informed, been completed; and no time should be lost in finishing that part which lies in Manbhoom. The Manbhoom portion of this road measures $13\frac{1}{2}$ miles in length, but only about 4 miles have been completed; it will form an important feeder to the railway, and prove a most useful piece of road.

Govindpore and Purulia road.—This is the upper portion of the Purulia and Govindpore road; it measures $11\frac{1}{2}$ miles in length, but only about 4 miles of the earthwork have been completed. It was only taken up as a relief work in March last, and the progress made has been rather slow. A bridge is being built on this road over the stream intercepting the communication between the Govindpore bazar and cutcherry, which will prove of great convenience to the people, especially in the rains, when this stream occasionally becomes unfordable. The road should be carried on as fast as possible.

Nirsha and Jamtarra road.—The road from Nirsha to the boundary of the Manbhoom District in the direction of Jamtarra, on the East Indian Railway, is a continuation of the Chilliama, Telkupi, and Nirsha road. It passes through Pandra and Podardih—both important places—in Pandra Pergunnah, at the last of which the Pandra Rancee resides, and where she maintains an English school and charitable dispensary. Within the limits of Manbhoom this road measures four miles in length, of which three have been completed, but no bridges or culverts have yet been built: this will prove a useful road when finished, and should be pushed on as quickly as possible.

Nirsha to Telkupi.—This road is a continuation of the line from Chilliama to Telkupi Ghat on the Damoodah River; it passes through the centre of Pandra Pergunnah, and measures 10 miles in length, but only about 2 miles of earthwork have been completed; it should be finished as soon as funds are available, as this, with the road from Nirsha to Jamtarra, will afford great facilities to passengers or goods going up-country by the East Indian Railway.

Pandra and Kapasara road.—This road starts from Podardih and, passing through Pandra, joins the Grand Trunk Road at Kapasara. It will form the nearest and best approach from the abovenamed places to the terminus of the East Indian Railway at Burrakur, and be the route by which all produce, goods, and passengers will pass to and fro to that station. It is only 2 miles long, out of which $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles have been completed; but all the bridges and culverts are still wanting.

It will be thus seen that during the year under report 326½ miles of road have been under construction in this district, out of which the earthwork has been completed for 226½ miles, 5 bridges, and 86 culverts built, whilst 3 bridges more are under construction, 2 of which are nearly completed. A large quantity of metalling has also been collected along the sides of the roads, which will be available for use immediately the roads are finished. Materials consisting of bricks, lime, coal, &c., and rubble stone, to the value of Rs. 12,891-5, have been collected and paid for, all of which are available for expenditure on the roads where required. But besides the abovenamed roads, 59 village tanks were repaired, enlarged, and cleaned out, the expense of which had to be borne by the Road Fund. These works were all undertaken as relief works, and not only afforded employment to a large number of persons who were unable to leave their homes to work on more distant roads, but will be the means of supplying good drinking-water to the inhabitants of the villages in which they are situated.

The sums expended in cash amount to Rs. 2,10,968-0-4, besides a quantity of Government rice, the value of which has not been shown in the statements. The sums expended on each work are shown in the returns.

The establishment and contingent charges of the Road Cess Deputy Collector's Office amounted to Rs. 2,442-9-5; of the office of the Road Cess Committee to Rs. 980-2-5; and of the road establishment, consisting of Overseers and Sub-Overseers, to Rs. 3,107-9-10, and of tools to Rs. 2,609-5-2.

Exclusive of the Road Cess Deputy Collector's Office expenditure, the establishments maintained with which to carry on all the above works amounted to less than 2 per cent on the total expenditure, which is, I beg to submit, extremely moderate; but this of course does not include any portion of the cost of the Executive Engineer and his establishments, which were made available by the Government for carrying on the local public works.

The Government having sanctioned the expenditure of all surplus rice on the local roads work, on those numbered 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 13, 15, and 16 is still being carried on by the payment of wages in rice only to the common laborers, and partly so to the masons and carpenters; the establishments, however, must be paid in cash.

The works have all been carried out in a thoroughly efficient and workmanlike style, and will, I believe, bear comparison with all similar works done on the provincial roads; nearly the whole has been paid for at contract rates, and where light labour gangs had to be employed and daily wages had to be given, nearly as much work was done as under the piece-work system, which was ensured by effective supervision being maintained over these gangs. By the allocation statement already submitted, the excess above ordinary rates has only amounted to 9·15 per cent, and this will certainly be reduced when an over-payment made to one of the contractors has been recovered. From the 1st April all the roads were carried on as relief works, and having been laid out with great care, and with a view to their ultimate utility, not only were thousands of persons provided with work at a time when great distress was prevalent, but a system of roads has been well advanced towards completion, which, when finished, will prove of the utmost advantage to the people, and be the sure means of developing the resources of the country, of stimulating trade and inter-communication in general, and thereby add greatly to the prosperity of the district.

PURULIA;
The 2nd December 1874.

R. T. HARE, Captain,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 738, dated Chota Nagpore, the 18th March 1875.

From—W. LEF. ROBINSON, Esq., Commissioner of Chota Nagpore,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

REFERRING to the Government Circular No. 50 of the 23rd July 1873, I have the honor to submit herewith the Local Improvement Reports and Returns from the several districts of this division for the cess year 1873-74.

2. It will be seen that most of the district reports were received in this office when Colonel Dalton was engaged in the interior on his annual cold weather tour, and after returning to head-quarters in February last he was too busily engaged in other work to take this report up himself. I only took charge of this office on the 1st instant, and consequently am unable to make any comments or suggestions on any of the points treated in the district reports. I must, therefore, content myself with giving a brief summary of the district reports, and add such other information as I can collect from the office records.

3. My local knowledge is of course quite insufficient to enable me to criticise or report upon any of the works which have been taken in hand, or which it is proposed to take up, until I have been able to see more of the country, and get some general idea of what has been done and what is required to be done. I trust, therefore, that Government will overlook all shortcomings in this report.

4. Up to the close of the year under review the Road Cess Act (X of 1871) was in force in only two of the four districts of this division—Hazareebagh and Manbhoom. In the former district, the operations were commenced in October 1871, and the valuations completed in March 1873; but the collection of the cess was made for the first time during the year of report. The assessment was fixed at three-fourths of the maximum rate, and the total demand of the year on account of cess on lands and mines was Rs. 22,279, and that for the house cess was Rs. 1,643. Of the former, Rs. 18,005 was collected within the year, leaving a balance of Rs. 4,274 at its close. This heavy balance was owing to the fourth instalment falling due on the last day of the year, but before the close of November last Rs. 4,166 of this balance was recovered, leaving a trifling balance Rs. 108 only. Of the house cess demand, Rs. 1,588 was collected during the year, and only Rs. 55 remained outstanding on 1st October last. This result appears to me to be satisfactory. The Officiating Deputy Commissioner, Mr. H. S. Beadon, speaks very favorably of the Road Cess Officer Baboo Rajgopal Roy, and as far as I have been able to ascertain, the Baboo well deserves the commendations bestowed on him. He is now engaged on similar duties in the Lohardugga District, where the operations under the Act have been commenced since December last.

5. The Manbhoom Committee's report does not contain any information regarding the road cess operations in that district. These operations were commenced in July 1872, and the assessment work was completed in February 1874. The collection of the cess is therefore being made since the beginning of the current cess year 1874-75, the assessment being fixed at half the maximum rate.

6. I am unable to offer any opinion on the action of the District Road Committees. Mr. Beadon is the only Officer who has given some information on the subject, and from this it is apparent that the meetings of the Hazareebagh Committee were attended with some regularity by the official members only. The non-official members were generally absent, and most of them took very little interest in the discharge of the duties imposed by the Act. This is perhaps owing partly to their ignorance, but chiefly to their residences being too distant from the head-quarters of the district.

7. The Road Fund operations of all the districts in this division were carried on by the Committee's own agency. The agency of the Public Works Department has not yet been resorted to; but Mr. Beadon reports that "early in November 1873, the Government placed at the disposal of the Committee the services of an Assistant Engineer and an Overseer of the Public Works Department, and thus a large saving under the head of Establishment was secured during the year."

8. The ordinary Government grants made to the several districts in this division during the year, under the Government Notification No. 257 of 14th July 1873, were as follows:—

			Rs.
Hazareebagh	20,000
Lohardugga	30,000
Singbhoom	15,000
Manbhoom	25,000

9. But subsequently, owing to the famine, the above grants were supplemented by the sums detailed in the district accounts herewith submitted. These were—

			Rs.
Hazareebagh	56,419
Lohardugga	1,40,535
Singbhoom	5,000
Manbhoom	.	..	1,85,184

10. The total Government grants to the several Road Committees therefore amounted to—

	Rs.
Hazareebagh	76,419
Lohardugga	1,70,535
Singbhoom	20,000
Manbhoom	2,10,184

11. In the Hazareebagh District the total amount at the disposal of the District Committee, including the Government grants, the unexpended balance of the previous year and other receipts, was Rs. 1,06,325. To this a sum of Rs. 30,645, on account of value of rice spent in payment to the coolies employed on relief works, being added, the gross receipt of the year amounted to Rs. 1,36,970. The total expenditure under the several heads detailed in the account was Rs. 1,28,917, leaving a balance of Rs. 8,053. By far the largest portion of the expenditure, viz., 1,10,860, was on account of "Original Works," and only Rs. 3,357 was spent in "Repairs."

12. In the Lohardugga District, the total available amount, as above, was Rs. 1,90,589, and the total expenditure Rs. 1,67,313. A sum of Rs. 11,341 was refunded from Palamow, and consequently the unexpended balance shown in the district account is Rs. 11,935; but this, I presume, is incorrect. The refund from Palamow ought to have been shown in the credit side of the account, and then the true balance in hand would have amounted to Rs. 23,276. In this district the greater portion of the expenditure, viz. Rs. 85,145, was on account of repairs of roads and irrigation tanks, &c., but the amount spent on "Original Works" was not far below, being Rs. 69,763.

13. In Singbhoom the total amount to the credit of the Road Fund was Rs. 22,925, and the total expenditure amounted to Rs. 16,735, leaving a balance in hand, on the 30th September last, of Rs. 6,190. The difference between the amounts spent on "Original Works" and "Repairs" was not very great.

14. The Manbhoom Committee had the largest amount in their hands, but scarcity was heaviest there. The total available sum was Rs. 2,15,837, and the total expenditure Rs. 2,10,968; the balance on 30th September last was only Rs. 4,869. Out of the sum spent, Rs. 1,98,322 was on account of "Original Works," and only Rs. 2,726 was spent on "Repairs."

15. I am unable to make any remarks on the several works done by the District Committees and detailed in their reports, as I have not, of course, been able to go over any of them yet.

16. Adverting to paragraph 3 of the Circular under reply, I would respectfully solicit attention to the lists of works resolved by the Committees of Hazareebagh, Lohardugga, and Singbhoom to be undertaken during the current year. As under orders of Government No. 7312 of the 31st December 1874 the estimates of the District Committees have been much curtailed, I do not think the works proposed can all be undertaken.

17. There can be no doubt even from the very little I have been able to see and learn during the three weeks I have been here, that want of fair road communication is one of the chief wants of the division. The whole country, it appears to me, requires to be thoroughly opened out by roads, and I have no doubt that if this can be done, trade and commerce will improve rapidly.

18. The Road Cess will in a few years afford the means of doing this efficiently, and for the present we must be content with slow progress I fear, and do the work as it were piecemeal. The natural formation of the country, while affording considerable facilities in the way of metalling and keeping roads in repair when once made and bridged, presents, on the other hand, considerable drawbacks and difficulties in getting this done. For instance, a very large number of culverts on small bridges are wanted, and across some of the streams nothing but very large bridges will suffice to keep open communication throughout the year.

19. I quite endorse the remark made by Mr. Beadon in this respect, that to throw up earthwork in a narrow valley or low ground, and then to put in no bridge or culvert is the simplest way of converting what may have been a somewhat difficult passage before, into one which is quite impracticable. I hope during the ensuing year to have the advantage of consulting all the District Officers on the subject of local communication within their districts, and so be in a position to send in next year what may be a really useful report to Government on the subject.
